The large crane employed in handling the material taken from the bed of the river, where the dredging operations are going on by the dredge Trent, was moved backwards yesterday morning. It is now handling the dredgings directly from the scows and depositing it at the uppermost end of the long bay, which stretches from Simcoe to King streets, on the western side of the Canadian Pacific spur line, and next to the pile bridge.

This is the portion of the waterfront which the Peterborough Cereal Company are filling in. Their part of the work extends half way to Charlotte street.

ONIONS A PROFITABLE CROP FOR FARMERS

Examiner Special.

Springville, Oct. 30.—Onions are proving about the most profitable crop in this section this year. F. E. Wilson is shipping a carload of 450 bags at 90c a bag. The average yield per acre is 300 to 400 bags, which, at 90c, means a pretty good return to the farmer. A. A. Preston delivered a load yesterday of 63 bags, which represented the product of less than 1-4 of an acre. Robt. Lockie had one onion which measured 16 inches in diameter. Of course they're not all that size.

Well Known Young Man Passes Away

Mr. Thomas Percy Campbell, of Keene, is Dead

It was with deep regret and grief that word was received in the city to-day of the death of Thomas Percy Campbell, in Keene, this morning. He was a young man exceedingly well known and highly-respected in this city. The deceased was a son of the late Thos. Campbell of Keene, who died ten years ago, and was born in Keene. He was educated at the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, and afterwards attended Victoria College, Toronto, from which he graduated in 1905 as a Bachelor of Arts. Soon after he was taken ill and removed to home in Keene, where he received treatment by Dr Harrison. He never recovered from the attack.

The late Mr. Campbell was a favourite with all who knew him. He was a leader in Y.M.C.A. work, and was beloved by all the members of that organization. He was a member of the Charlotte street church and of the Harriers' Club of the Y.M.C.A. The deceased was 25 years of age.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Thomas Campbell, a brother, Mr. W. D. Campbell, and a sister Miss Susie M. Campbell, residing at 77 Gilmour street, city.

The funeral will take place at Keene but the arrangements were not completed at the time of going to press.

Gave License To Chas. R. Nixon

The New Proprietor Of The Southern Hotel

At the meeting of the Licorse Commissioners of West Peterborough, held last night, the application of Chas. R. Nixon for a license for the Southern Hotel was considered, and the request granted, in view of the fact that $10,000 is being spent in improvements to the house. When these improvements are completed there will be thirty rooms in the hotel, which will make it one of the best of the smaller hotels of the city. The license dates from November 1 of this year.

Springville Hunters Leave For Woods

Advance Guard Preparing For The Annual Camp

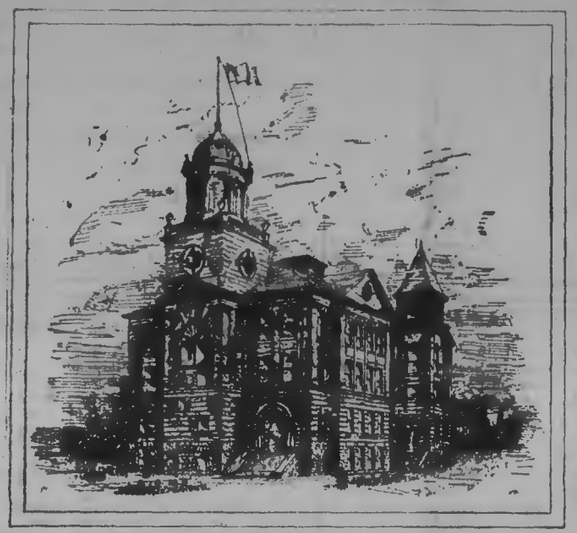
(Examiner Special.)

Springville, Oct. 30.—The advance guard of the Springville Hunt Club, Messrs. William Bothwell, Matthew Clarke and Robert Lockie, left yesterday for the scene of the hunting camp this year, about 15 miles north of Kinmount, where they will make preparations for the arrival of the nine other members of the club, who will leave to-morrow, for their annual 15 days' outing.

Preparations are being made this year to make it the most successful camp in the history of the club, and reports of many deer falling victims to their deadly aim may be expected shortly after their arrival at camp.

Of one hundred men on the railway works for the relief of the unemployed at Capetown, S. A., only six were sober one Saturday night. The works in consequence have now been stopped.

TO RE-MODEL NORMAL SCHOOL



This is the Normal School as at first proposed. Now the tower will be taken off, the dome will suffer the same fate and the roof will probably be flattened. How will you like the appearance of it then?

Climbed A Tree To Escape Being Gored By A Wild Steer

Dangerous Position in Which Mr. Bert Howden Was Placed Yesterday in Ennismore—Struck by Animal's Horn.

Chased by an angry steer Mr. Bert Howden, son of Mr. Robert Howden, city, owes his life to nature. He was out in Ennismore yesterday for a drove fo cattle, among which was two wild steers, purchased from Mr. Paul Costello. Their ferocity was well known, and the two were yoked together, to be brought down to the city.

Mr. Bert Howden, in company with others, was driving the animals, when suddenly the steers turned on him. He made a quick dash for a tree near by and was just able to climb to safety before being gored by the angry beast. One of the long horns of the animal as it shook its head, struck him on the cheek, raising the skin, and leaving a wound.

It was certainly a narrow escape, and an incident which Mr. Howden does not care to have repeated.

THREE ACCIDENTS AT SPRINGVILLE

William Laing Fell From Apple Tree—Hector Bothwell Injured in Fall From Train--Miss Dunlop, of Peterborough, Had Narrow Escape at Kendry Station.

(Examiner Special.)

Springville, Oct. 30. — William Laing, one of the most prominent residents of this section, met with an accident, which, while it was painful, was not very serious. Last Thursday he was engaged in picking apples, and fell from a tree, sustaining some injuries which will incapacitate him for work for some time. He bruised his side and was rather badly shaken up. He had to be conveyed to the house, and the services of a physician were called into requisition. Mr. Laing, it is hoped, will be sufficiently recovered in a short time to permit him to be out again.

(Examiner Special.)

Springville, Oct. 30.—Hector Bothwell, of Peterborough, was on his way to visit his father in this village on Friday, and at Kendry Station, where he alighted, he met with an accident, falling from the train as it approached the station. Mr. Bothwell's hat blew off as the train was approaching the station, and in his effort to catch it he lost his balance and fell from the vestibule. Fortunately, he was not seriously injured, but will suffer from bruises and cuts which he received on his side, head and hand. He will visit his father while convalescing.

(Examiner Special.)

Springville, Oct. 30.—Miss Dunlop, of Peterborough, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Monorief, at Springville, was on her way home on Saturday, and at Kendry Station she had an experience which she will not care to repeat, and which might easily have resulted very seriously. She was getting on the parlour car of the C.P.R. local, the vestibule door of which was closed, and just as she caught the handles the train started. She was dragged some distance before the brakeman, noticing her perilous position, signalled the engineer, who stopped the train, and she was taken on. Naturally, she was much upset by her trying experience.

Elaborate Schemes For Pleasure Park

One to be Instituted on Western Shores of Clear Lake —Will Contain About 20 Acres.

A pretentious scheme is on foot by which a mile of the western shore of Clear Lake is to be transformed within a year into a summer resort and pleasure park unrivalled in Kawarthadom—the Tadousac of Peterborough. A mere mention of this fact was made in yesterday's issue, but space would not permit of dwelling upon the elaborate plans which have been drawn up by Mr. R. B. Rogers, the disposer of nineteen lots along the water front.

The principal feature of the scheme is the construction of a park on the lake front to the north of the lots. This will be known as the Kawartha Park and is reserved by Mr. Rogers for that purpose. It will contain in the neighbourhood of 15 acres of land, is nicely wooded and commands

HERE'S A NEW GET-RICH-QUICK GAME

Examiner Special

Paris, Oct. 30.—The police have discovered a trick, new to them, which has been practised in the restaurants frequented after midnight by the better class of people. Last night a lawyer drew a louis from his pocket to pay for his refreshment, whereupon a young woman, announcing herself as a fetishist, asked permission to bite the coin for good luck. The lawyer was complaisant, but the girl instead of biting the coin, swallowed it. He called a policeman and the girl was arrested. At the station house the commissary ordered an emetic, when to the consternation of those present, there came into view, not the louis, but two ten franc pieces. The commissary urged a second effort and the patient rid herself not of one, but two coins of the desired denomination.

Hunter Attacked By Half Tamed Buck

Sharp Horn Penetrated His Leg—Strength of East City Man Saved His Life—A Unique Experience.

Attacked by a large half-tamed buck at Balsam Lake, was the singular experience of Mr. Roland Tivey Sr., of East City, who with Mr. Chas. James returned the other day from a two weeks' hunting and fishing tour in the forest lands of the north. Had it not been for Mr. Tivey's great strength which he was forced to use to cope with the ferocious animal, there is no doubt that he would have been gored to death before assistance could have arrived.

Balsam Lake is situated in Victoria County some 17 miles to the north of Lindsay. It is there that Mr. Tivey and Mr. James generally spend a couple of weeks each year in piscatorial, rabbit and duck pursuits. The camping grounds are on the big island in Balsam Lake containing

Twenty-Seven Years A Soldier; George Armshaw Needs Help

At 82 Years of Age He Has to Work and Care for an Invalid Wife.

Would Place Her in Protestant Home if He Were Able —Some Influence Required.

A Soldier's Record Which Should Bring Him More Comforts Than He Has.

At 82 years of age, compelled to work as a labourer, after having spent 27 years and nine months in the service of the Empire as a soldier, is the position in which George Armstaw now finds himself. If that were the worst it would not be so bad, but, unfortunately, it is not. If he were alone he could support himself so long as his naturally, somewhat precarious state of health would permit, but in addition to attending to his own simple wants he has to nurse and care for his invalid wife, who, at 70 years of age, is unable to work, and is practically helpless.

Cares for Wife

After his ten hours' work in the Cordage Works, where this old soldier has been given employment, he has to come home, prepare his own meals, and attend to his wife, the exertions frequently being so tiring that he is unable to go to work the next day.

The case is one of the most pathetic that has come under The Examiner's notice for some time, and should certainly engage the attention of someone who is in a position to alleviate the suffering of this most worthy family. Dr. Marshall, who has proved himself a good friend to the family, attended their son, who, about a year ago, died from consumption, and supplied The Examiner with the facts connected with the case.

Wants Her in Home

The old man is, of course, unable to properly care for his invalid wife, and is anxious to have her placed in the Protestant Home. He is said to have asked to have her admitted, but was told that he would have to pay for her maintenance, which he is unable to do. He could contribute from his none too large wages a portion of the amount required, but finds himself unable to provide the whole amount.

An Unselfish Wish

He states that he is not asking anything for himself, as he is willing and anxious to work so long as he is able, but he would like, for the sake of his wife, to have her placed where she could be given the care which he finds himself unable to supply.

An Enviable Record

Mr. Armshaw has a record which surely deserves something better than he is getting. Here it is: He was born in 1824, and in 1844, when he was 20 years of age, enlisted in the British Army and served 15 years in India, seven in Gibraltar, three in Malta, two in Montreal and nine months in Quebec. He took part in the operations for the suppression of the Fenian Raid in 1866, and has a medal and two clasps in recognition of his services.

Will Someone Help?

Surely this is a record which should have brought him better things than he has at present. The object of The Examiner in calling attention to the case is to enlist the sympathies of those in authority and secure, if possible, the admission of Mrs. Armshaw to a place where she may be properly cared for.

BUFFALO CAT CLUB THE LATEST NOVELTY

(Albany, N. Y., October 30th.—To-day for the first time in the history of man, "pussy" is to receive consideration, and as is to be expected, at the hands of woman.

For the purpose of maintaining a domestic domicile for stray pussies of the long and short-haired variety, the Buffalo Cat Club was incorporated with the Secretary of State, with headquarters at Buffalo.

"Tom" is not specifically mentioned, but it is supposed that "pussy" includes "Tom."

No mention is made of the society's countersign for admission but a "mew" for soprano pussies, and a "yaw-wl" for the basso profundo Tom will be recognized, and the portals opened for his entree.

The incorporators are Margaret Conlisk, Gowndq, N. Y., and Gertrude Buvinger, Blanche E. Leonard, Helen Morgan, Hannah Reinhard, all of the Bison City.

Flat Roof And No Towers Or Domes

The New Normal Schools Will Be Much Simpler Than at First Proposed.

The Toronto World to-day says:—Cutting the coat according to the cloth is the principle which the Department of Public Works is following in connection with the revised plans for the three new Normal Schools. All the frills are to come off, including the towers, which will be reduced and storm of domes. A flat roof may possibly be adopted. The first storey, which was to be of stone, will consist of brick, and cement concrete foundations will also take the place of stone. The saving, especially in the masonry work, it is hoped, will bring the cost within the appropriation of $50,000 each.

The accommodation of the first plans will in no way be curtailed.

Mr. Owen Visited Barnardo Home

Canadian Head of the Institution Was Here Yesterday

Mr. A. B. Owen, of Toronto, the Canadian head of the Barnardo Homes, was in the city last night on a visit to "Hazel Brae," the Peterborough branch of the Homes. Miss Pierce, the superintendent of the Home was not in when the Examiner called to-day, so that information as to the object of his visit was not available. It is learned, however, that it was on business in connection with the prosecution of the work of the Homes, which is at present in a very satisfactory state.

Mr. Owen left the city again to-day.

Cobourg To Get A New Railway

Ottawa, Oct. 29th — The Canadian Northern Railway Company has filed a new route plan, for its proposed line between Ottawa and Toronto. The new plans for entrance to the city will be discussed before the Minister on Thursday.

Will Discontinue Sunday Meetings

No More Sunday Afternoon Meetings at Y. W. C. A. For Present

The Sunday afternoon gospel meetings at the Y.W.C.A. will, for the present, be discontinued. This was decided at a meeting of the Board of Directors, held yesterday afternoon at the association building. The reason for this action having been decided upon is that sufficient interest has not been shown to warrant their continuance.

Collision At C.P.R. Station

Pilots Were Broken Off Two Freight Engines

Last night about seven o'clock while two freight trains were shunting at the C.P.R station there was a head-on collision which, fortunately, did not result disastrously. The two trains were unable to stop on account of the slippery rails and the engines clashed together. The pilots were smashed off and the trains were only stopped as the head lights came together. No other damage was done.

THE PROPER WAY

From time to time prominent Liberals have called attention to the recent undesirable conditions attending the selection of parliamentary candidates in both East and West Peterborough. With a regard for the principles of true democracy — the supremacy of the will of the people, which characterizes Liberal principles, it has heretofore been the practice in both ridings to select candidates at mass meetings, convened for the purpose, which, while theoretically open only to Liberals, in what might be called good standing, were practically open to all who chose to attend, no matter what their political colour. This has been the practice for twenty years, and has been attended, for the most part, with no undesirable conditions. The selection of a candidate was, really, only a concession to formality; for the personnel of the known available candidates was generally understood, and agreed upon, beforehand. But at the recent Liberal nomination in West Peterborough, a veritable scandal developed. There was a lively competition for the nomination, and we had the anomolous and—it is not too strong a word—scandalous, condition of a so-called Liberal convention, composed of, perhaps, one-third of self-invited Conservatives, actually voting for and assisting in, the selection of a Liberal candidate for the representation of the riding. It is quite evident that this action was taken by the opponents of the Liberals, for the purpose of bringing about the selection of a candidate who would not represent the real choice of the party concerned, and who would not, therefore, enlist their solid support, retaining in so much advantage to the opposing candidate. These remarks apply similarly to the conditions in East Peterborough, where, at a recent nomination, there was complaint that the convencion was not distinctly representative.

Such a condition of things should not be permitted to continue to exist. It is none too soon to take steps to secure properly representative conventions. A few days ago the local Conservatives held a meeting, elected officers, and, practically, initiated preparations for readiness to meet any political emergency that may arise. Though the date of the general elections may not be for a few years, there is no harm, but great good, in being in a state of readiness. In this respect, Liberals may well follow the example of their Conservative friends — in time of peace prepare for war. It will not be amiss to take prompt, and no long-delayed, steps to provide that, when a Liberal convention may require to be called, it should consist of really responsible and representative delegates. With this end in view, every township might be organized, and in every polling subdivision, meetings of Liberals held, and a fixed number — with alternates—of delegates selected who would represent the Liberal sentiment of the sub-division. When it becomes necessary to call a nominating convention, these delegates will constitute a responsible body, collectively representative of the whole of either of the two ridings. The choice they might make would practically be the selection of the whole of the Liberal electors, and would, therefore, command undivided support, with vastly increased prospects for success in a contest. No man should be selected as the the candidate of the party whose popularity, prospects for making a successful run, and fitness for the position sought, will not command the votes of a regularly constituted convention, composed of regularly elected delegates from the various sub-divisions. It stands to reason that a candidate selected under such conditions, who would naturally be the best in view of all the circumstances, would represent a stronger prospect for success and greater unity of action, than would a candidate who might, by questionable methods, succeed in manipulating a mass meeting to secure nomination. With a properly constituted convention, such manipulation, with all the disadvantages it implies, and possible under, other circumstances, would then be impossible.

A LITTLE HYPOCRISY.

When the inquiry into London election methods was instituted by the Attorney-General's Department, of the Whitney Government, we were assured with much virtuous bluster, that the investigation would be deep-reaching and impartial. No matter what party might be implicated, the truth would be brought to light. The thunder of investigation was to clear the political atmosphere. This is how the investigation hews to the line: A gentleman who was summoned to Toronto to give evidence in the London investigation, says that when he told what he could tell on the witness stand, and it was seen that it would incriminate Conservatives, he was told by Mr. Duvernet, counsel for the Whitney Government, that his presence to give evidence was not wanted. Mr. Duvernet cannot reconcile such an attitude with the profession of the Government in favour of an exhaustive, impartial investigation, no matter what party's reputation might suffer. It is bad enough for the Mail and Empire and for politicians as politically base, to hypocritically claim purity of political methods, but it is abominable for the Whitney Government to prostitute the machinery of justice in a long and costly investigation for the sole purpose of blackening the Liberal party, while evidence which would disclose as great, or greater, tottenness in its own party is rejected.

A London voter alleges the Conservatives gave him a load of hay for his vote. Although it was generally known, remarks the Toronto Star, that they handled the long green, few were aware it could be all cut and dried in this manner.

Big Price For A Clydesdale Foal

$200 Offered Mr. Jas. Baptie, Of Springville

Examiner Special

Springville, Oct. 30.—Mr. James Baptie is a successful breeder of Clydesdale horses, and this week was offered the almost fabulous sum of $200 for a foal of 1906. This foal won second prize at Peterborough Fair, and at Millbrook Fair, in a strong class, took first money. Mr. Baptie also has a yearling filly from the same dam, for which he has been offered about the same price. He prefers to keep them, however. The success of Mr. Baptie, in his efforts to improve the quality of the horses of the district has attracted considerable attention and he is being warmly congratulated.

He is himself gratified that he has met with such good fortune, and states that he intends to continue.

Lakefield Men Become Very Dry

And Come to Peterborough to Quench Their Thirst— Finish in Goal.

Last night the police were called to the hill on Hunter street, East City, to attend to two men who were fighting and swearing, in fact acting in a very disgraceful manner. The men proved to be two Englishmen, William Upfold and William Simmons. They are employed at the Ceemnt Works, in Lakefield, and as only lemon sour is sold out there now these men were beginning to feel rather dry. They yielded to the temptation and came to Peterborough yesterday in a horse and rig and immediately proceeded to relieve their thirst. Towards evening they started for home after purchasing a keg of beer. However, they did not know anything of directions about that time and started out Hunter street at a 2.40 clip. Near the end of this street a sewer is being built and only a narrow passage on the roadway remains. Through this they dashed like Wagner in his auto, and raced up the hill, until they came to the gate at the top where the rig upset, throwing the keg and the other occupants into the mud. A fight ensued accompanied by most picturesque epithets. The policeman Meharry and Adams were soon on the scene and soon brought them to their senses. This morning they pleaded guilty before Magistrate Dumble to a charge of drunken and disorderly conduct, although they stated that they really did not know what happened. They were fined $2 and costs each, amounting to $5.75 or 15 days in gaol. Their money was in Lakefield, hence they were unable to pay the fine forthwith.

A telephone message was sent to Lakefield and from that place a man here was communicated with and the fines paid. The men were then liberated and one shouldered the five gallon keg as did Rip Van Winkle of old, and departed, saying "I'd die sooner than leave that lager."

Impressions Of A Western Trip

Major and Mrs. Langford Have Returned to City.

"The more I see of other places, the more I am satisfied with Peterborough" said Major Wm. Langford, Water street, who returned to the city last night after a two months' tour of the west, in company with Mrs. Langford. Mr. Langford supplied some interesting information about the West to an Examiner reporter who called upon him to-day.

"It is a wonderful country" he remarked, "but it is no place for a man without capital. He must have enough money to make a start or he will be better off at home. "There is certainly a great deal of business going on there, but much of it is exaggerated," Westerners, according to Mr. Langford, has the same failing as our neighbours to the south. He is inclined to toot his own horn to a considerable extent.

Mr. Langford's trip was an extensive one, including visits to nearly every important place in the West. Three weeks were spent in British Columbia.

Victoria seemed a nice place to live in, but there did no appear to be very much business going on there. The reverse was with the case with Vancouver, which in Mr. Langford's opinion will be the city of the West. There is a great deal of building being done and there is every sign of prosperity and progress.

The arrival of a large number of Hindoos from India was causing trouble, when Mr. Langford was in Vancouver. These men who were old British soldiers were brought to Canada by a company under the impression that they would be good when but this had not proved to be the case. Taken to the mountains they could not stand the cold and walked back to the coast.

Mr. Langford attended the Westminster, B. C., provincial exhibition, where he saw many exhibits of fruits, etc., fine apples, pears, and plums of British Columbia, were remarkable for their size and appearance, but he was not particularly impressed with their flavours, which was not as good as those of our own district.

Mr. Langford's trip was favoured by splendid weather; in fact, only on one occasion in the two months, was there a whole day's rain and there were remarkably few showers. To arrive home in a snowstorm was rather a trying experience after the beautiful weather of the west.

Many places in the wheat section were visited, including Edmonton, Calgary, Regina, and Medicine Hat. Mr. Langford speaks in particularly glowing terms of Regina, where granolithic pavements eighteen feet wide were being placed. Regina, however, had been particularly fortunate. The city had acquired valuable land, which was being sold to cover the expenses of those improvements. They still had a great deal of property.

Mr. Langford met Peterborough people all through the West. In Victoria, he met the Hon. R. F. Green, Commissione of Mines and Works, with whom he had a long chat and who was his guide through the parliament buildings. Mr. Green is an old Peterborough boy. In Medicine Hat he encountered Mr. Alf. Terrill, formerly of the Examiner, and who is now editor of the Medicine Hat News. In Edmonton, Mr. Langford found Col. E. B. Edwards, who was very well satisfied with the place. Messrs. Kemp and Turner and other Peterborough boys were met in Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Langford visited their son Percy in Wolsey, Wales is in the centre of a great wheat raising district. Sam Clarke, M.P.P., of Cobourg has 1,100 acres of wheat land in this section, with thirty bushels to the acre and this is only a sample of what is going on there.

Mr. Langford has been travelling continuously for four months, having visited no other country for two months before going to the west.

The new republic of Panama is rich in [illegible] coal, and quantities of [illegible] fruits.

Deputation Left To-day To Visit The Lockport Plant

Ald. Johnston, Duncan and McIntyre, Will Cross the Line—Other Members of the Manufacturers' Committee Will go to Detroit To-morrow.

Ald. McIntyre, Duncan and Johnston left on the 11.45 G.T.R. train to-day for Lockport, where they will inspect the plant of the American District Steam Heating Company. They will be joined in Toronto by Mr. G. E. Bradshaw, a member of the Company, and taken to Lockport where the big manufacturing plant of the company is situated as well as the first system of transmitting heat from a central station to houses and business places by means of steam driven through pipes in the streets.

Ald. McWilliams, chairman of the Manufacturers Committee, and Ald. Adams, were to have left on the 5.10 C.P.R. train for Detroit to inspect the Company's system there, but were prevented by urgent business. They will, however, visit Detroit to-morrow.

The Revival Of Decency Must Begin At The Top

"Common Sense" Comments Upon Rev. Dr. Symond's Admirable Address at St. Luke's—Corruption Among People Would be Almost Nil if it Were Not For Corruption in Higher Classes.

Editor of Examiner.

Dear Sir,—The Rev. Dr. Symonds gave an admirable address last night at St. Luke's. He dwelt upon the necessity of people reviving their sense of decency and honour which, he said, had become dulled by prosperity and was in danger of being extinguished altogether. So rapid, he considered, and quite justly, to be rife throughout Canada.

The reverend gentleman, however, made one exception omission. Corruption among the people would be almost nil if it were not for corruption among those better off and occupying more commanding positions. It is impossible to ask the great mass of the people to excel a contemptible minority in all the virtues. They certainly excel in most. But the temptation afforded by money and the prospect of luxury weakens the already weak resolution of people who have a very slight sense of honour.

Moreover, even think, in many cases, that they have a right to sell their vote under certain conditions, since, per see, there is nothing wrong in disposing of that which is one's own.

It is of the top, therefore, that the revival of decency must begin. The country is fairly overlooded with men of easy virtue, who stand high in churches, Sunday schools, and other prominent places of good works. The weakness of humanity is their pervading characteristic. They do not fear God, but they regard everything as business, and, like St. Paul, are willing to be all things to all men that, by some means, they may gain their own ends.

Yours, etc.,
COMMON SENSE.

KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM

Or Your Hair Will Fall Out Till You Become Bald.

Modern science has discovered that dandruff is caused by a germ that digs up the scalp in scales, as it burrows down to the roots of the hair, where it destroys the hair's vitality, causing falling hair, and ultimately baldness. After Prof. Unna of Hamburg, Germany, discovered the dandruff germ, all efforts to find a remedy failed until the great laboratory discovery was made which resulted in Newbro's Herpicide. It alone of other hair preparations kills the dandruff germ. Without dandruff hair grows luxuriantly. "Destroy the cause and you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send ten cents in stamps for a sample to the Herpicide Company, of Detroit, Mich. Ormond and Walsh, special agents.

At Regina, Sask., a big mass meeting of men was held in the auditorium rink in the interests of the proposed Y.M.C.A. Halls, one thousand men were present, the worship Mayor Mc-Lea presiding. The plan to raise $100,000 was unanimously and enthusiastically endorsed.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Dog Shot.

—A large collie dog was injured this morning on the Antrim street G.T.R. crossing by the Lakefield train, having its left fore leg cut off by the wheels. The dog was in such agony that the police were called to shoot it. P. C. Newhall took a .32 calibre revolver to put the poor brute out of misery, but it required three shots to do the deed. The first shot dropped to the ground off the thick mass of matted hair behind his left fore leg, the second crashed through his brain and still he kept running round. The third shot did the necessary, after nature's great struggle.

Mrs. Kelly tells Mr. Donovan about the excitement and commotion the prevailed on their arrival in Rochester, on the eve of the day they left the quiet little town of Peterborough, caused by the assassination of President Lincoln a few hours before.

An Injnnction May Be Issued

around the country in investigating a system which does not promise anything better than that an ordinary sized store, such as the majority of the George street stores are, would cost $85 a year to heat at this rate; and the same size store, with a stove or furnace, could be heated for $35 to $40 a year. Then it must be remembered that added to $85 for the heating service is the cost of installing the piping, and radiators. Who pays this?

Have the aldermen taken into consideration the fact that in no place as far north as Peterborough, has a system of this kind been installed? In every place where this system is in operation, the frost does not go as deep as it unfortunately does in Peterborough. This means, of course, that the excavations here would have to be considerably deeper than in places farther south, all of which adds to the cost — how much, perhaps, Mr. Larmonth, or others, who have had experience in making excavations, can tell them.

The suggestion to handle it as a municipal enterprise is a bright one indeed, and the one who made it should have a monument erected to his memory.

I wonder if it has occurred to this bright mind that a municipal coal yard, or a municipal building syndicate, or a municipal grocery store, might be a good idea. They tell me that the men in these lines of business are waxing fat. Why not let the ratepayers reap some of the benefit? A municipal heating plant would be more or less of an experiment—the others are sure things.

If the council passes a bylaw giving any concessions to a company, giving them the use of the city's streets I am quite sure an injunction will be issued preventing them from carrying it into effect.

The aldermen could be serving the ratepayers who elected them better by remaining at home and attending to their respective businesses than by running around the country on a hot air scheme like this promises to be.

Yours,
BUSINESS MAN.

The large quantities of grain that are being shipped from the Northwest to Eastern points, gives the idea of the vastness of the season's crops. The different railways lines are hurrying east with train loads of wheat, etc., for Montreal and other cities. On Sunday the C. P. R. line was exceptionally busy. There were eleven to loads of grain all going east without us travelling in the opposite direction. Train No. 50 was composed of six sections, in place of the ordinary one.

Eczema on Leg for Ten Years

DOCTORS COULD NOT CURE—ITCHING WAS TERRIBLE—NO TRACE OF DISEASE LEFT SINCE USING

Dr. Chase's Ointment

What is so disagreeable and what so torturing as dreadful, itching eczema? Here is a record of father and daughter being thoroughly cured of this horrible disease by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Most doctors have given little attention to diseases of the skin, and when they come across a really severe case of eczema or salt rheum they are helpless unless they are broad-minded enough to recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment, as many do.

Every means seemed to fail in the case of Mr. Frey and his little daughter. The torturing, itching, burning and stinging sensations brought keen suffering, and nothing proved effective in healing the raw, flaming sores. But Dr. Chase's Ointment soothed the inflammation until the itching disappeared, and gradually and naturally the sores were healed until not a trace of the old disease remained. Truly, Dr. Chase's Ointment proved a blessing to this home.

Mr. Hiram Frey, Norwood, Ont., states: I was troubled for ten years with eczema on one leg. The itching was terrible, and when scratched the blood would come. The doctors could not cure me. Fortunately, I heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and its persistent use has cured me. There is now, no trace of the disease left.

"My little girl, two years old, has also been cured of eczema by Dr. Chase's Ointment. Her face was a mass of sores, and we had to bandage her hands to keep her from scratching it. To-day her face is clear of even the scars which the ugly sores made, and she is thoroughly cured. I am glad of an opportunity to let people know what a blessing Dr. Chase's Ointment has proved itself to me."

Whenever there is itching skin or a sore that refuses to heal, Dr. Chase's Ointment can be used with most satisfactory results. 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.—8

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, October 30. — Extreme dullness characterized the market today; the only interests showing any activity being Mexican Central which advanced nearly two points. Trading was confined largely to the room. Fluctuations were fairly well held but the buying power was nil, and the selling power was almost in the same state.

The professionals as usual were bearish. One or two attempts were made to raise specialties and when that failed hammering commenced with almost no result worthy of mention. A waiting attitude has fallen like a pall over the street and a narrow market may be expected to rule until uncertainties of the vital kind shall have been removed and money conditions put in good shape, which cannot be long now that the election is near. We would buy the good issues on the recessions. The close was dull but firm.

A Presentation Made To Mr. Rich. Baker

By Y. M. C. A. Boys Who Trained for Examiner Road Race — Given Gold Cuff Links.

The Y.M.C.A. boys who entered the Examiner Road Race, two of them capturing the first and second prizes, are not forgetful of those who do them a service. To Mr. Rich. Baker, caretaker of the Y.M.C.A. building, Messrs. Best and Wilson ascribe a great deal of the credit for the good showing they made in the race, while four of the other men who entered were rendered valuable assistance by him during their training. In recognition of his painstaking efforts on their behalf, they last night presented him with a handsome pair of solid gold cuff links, accompanied by the following address:

Peterborough, Oct. 29, 1906.

To Rich. H. Baker, Esq.,
City.—

Dear Baker,—We have gathered together here this evening for a pleasant purpose, that of expressing to you our appreciation of your many acts of kindness towards us during the past season. We wish to thank you for your assistance in our preparations for the road race on Thanksgiving Day, and although a few of us did not start, and some more fell by the wayside, still your efforts were not all in vain, as two of the bunch captured first and second places, which was all we could hope for. In token of our appreciation of your work we beg that you will accept these cuff links, not because of their money value, but because of the spirit in which we offer them.

Hoping you will be spared to help us in many future contests, we remain,

Yours faithfully,

Mr. Baker acknowledged the gift in a few words, thanking the boys for their much appreciated recognition of what he had tried to do for them. The fact that two of his boys had won the prizes was a matter of sincere gratification to him.

"Wattie" Has Evidently Made A Big Mistake

Montreal Star's Correspondent Has Confounded Coats Firm of Paisley, with the Coates Mfg. Co., Which is to Locate Plant Here—Had No Trouble With Labour Union.

The following appeared in "Wattie's" Glasgow letter, in a recent issue of the Montreal Star and is apt to be and actually is, misleading:—

"The Coats' firm in Paisley are, it seems, to start a branch of their big thread works in Canada — at Peterborough, Ontario. Some time syne they had rows wi' their workers in Paisley, ower wages or somethin', an' when the workers—nearly a' lassies they are—went oot on strike, the firm said they werena to hae this sort o' thing ony mair, an' though they intended to put up a new mill in Paisley, to gie employment to at least a thoosan' han's, they had altered their minds, an' were to put it up in some ither country, whaur the trade unionists wadna bother them, an' whaur the workers wad work awa' frae ae year's end to the ither without grumblin' aboot lang oors or sma' wages. They diana maybe put it hust sae plain as that, but that is what it amounted to. The toon cooncil tried to persuade them to alter their minds back again to their first plan, but they wadna promise. Noo it looks as if this comin' new mill in Peterborough is the ane that was to be built in Paisley. It's to be the biggest thing o' its kind in Canada, an' it will be started an' managed, for a while at least, by experts frae Paisley. But I wonder if there are ony trade unionists in Peterborough. Likely no, or the firm wadna hae gone there wi their new mill."

"Wattie" has woven quite a romance, but he is eloquently barking up the wrong tree. Our Coates have an "e" in their name, while the thread spinners have not.

The Examiner interviewed Mr. A. G. Dickson, the well known George street merchant on the subject and he is the authority for the statement that there is no connection between the Coats of Paisley and the Henry Coates Co., who are to start business here. Mr. Dickson comes from Glasgow and knew all the Coates family. It is true as "Wattie" states that he Paisley Coats have had trouble with the labour unions, but this is not so of Henry Coates & Co., of Perth. The Montreal Star's correspondent is labouring under an entirely erroneous impression and has confounded the two firms.

Peterborough Lady Holds 24 Shares

Of Ontario Bank Stock Purchased on Good Report Presented—Hopes to Recover Something.

The Toronto News of last night said:—Over 340 shares of Ontario Bank stock are represeted in the list so far secured by Mr. Cephas Goode, who is endeavouring to secure the sanction of a sufficiently large number to warrant a meeting at which to consider action in the present circumstances. Some of those communicating with Mr. Goode express themselves somewhat strongly on the situation.

A Peterborough lady writes that she holds 24 shares, five of which she bought in July last on the favourable report which was sent out as to the bank's affairs. "A good deal of stock is held here, where Mr. McGill was so well and favourably known some some years ago," runs the letter. "Some people at present holding stock are not very well off, and a second call would be more than some of them could stand. I hope you will be successful in your efforts to save something from this unfortunate wreck."

The Latch-String Out At Highland Hall

Mr. Wm. Irwin Delightfully Entertains Large Party of Gentlemen Guests.

Last night Mr. Wm. Irwin delightfully entertained between forty and fifty gentlemen at his beautiful suburban seat, "Higtland Hall." An evening, most pleasant in every way, was spent, the genial host doing everything in his power to emphasize his welcome, and to promote the enjoyment of his guests. At 12 o'clock supper was served, Hooper being caterer, in the spacious dining-room of the residence. Incidental to the supper, toasts and speeches were given. His Honour Judge Weller took advantage of the occasion to voice the sentiments of the assembled guests, by referring in graceful terms of congratulation to a recent important social event at "Higtland Hall," the marriage of the eldest daughter of the house to one of the most worthy, most prominent and progressive of the youngen captains of industry in the city, and expressing the hope that the future life of both would be bright with prosperity and happiness. He proposed the health of the host and hostess, which was very cordially honoured, and acknowledged by the host of the evening.

Mr. Irwin had been a recent visitor to British Columbia, and he was commissioned to bring greetings and gifts to a citizen who was among those present at last night's gathering. On behalf of the grand nephews of Mr. Harry C. Winch, resident in British Columbia, and grandsons of Mr. R. J. Winch, he presented to the former gentleman a handsome Indian buckskin tunic. Mr. Winch is a prominent member of the Katchecum Hunt Club, and the wish was expressed that the handsome and thoughtful gift might long add to his comfort and contribute to his enjoyment and success in his annual hunting expeditions.

The evening was, in all respects, a delightful social success, and the guests departed, bearing with them enduring memories of the evening itself and of the cordial hospitality of the warm-hearted host and hostess.

Mrs. Hubbard May Give A Lecture Here

St. John's Y. P. A. Met Last Night and Elected Officers for the year.

Some of the Proposals of the Association for the Near Future.

Last night in St. John's Sunday School House a fairly large gathering was present at the regular business meeting of the Young People's Association and considerable business was disposed of. The annual financial report was read by the secretary, Miss Lily Wesley, and showed that the Association had been a success in that particular, there being a small balance in the bank to its credit.

A new constitution was submitted by the president but was referred to the executive committee to deal with.

The rector, as patron of the society was called to the chair by the retiring president to conduct the election of officers, which resulted in the former president being re-elected, and Mr. Stanley Cannift as 1st Vice-President, Miss Birdie Dawson 2nd Vice-President and Mr. John Hogan treasurer. Miss Lily Wesley was unanimously re-elected to the secretaryship. Mr. Jos. Bell was elected Convenor of the Biblical Committee and the election of other Convenors was referred back to the Nominating Committee to report at next meeting.

The president taking the chair again opened the discussion in regard to the presentation of Gilbert and Sullivan's musical opera "Mikado", and after Mr. R. J. Dewey had thoroughly explained the production, it was unanimously voted that he be given power to act in the matter and as a consequence, it is expected that the opera will be put on in the Grand sometime near Christmas.

The election of a delegate to represent St. John's Branch of the A.Y.P.A. at their annual convention to be held in Galt on November 13th and 14th, was the next subject for discussion and it was finally decided to send the president on that mission.

At a previous meeting correspondence had been read from Mrs. Hubbert, of Labrador fame, with respect to a lecture being delivered here by her, under the auspices of the A.Y.P.A., and the rector last night presented further correspondance from that lady, with full particulars and the Association decided to enter into the agreement with Mrs. Hubbert, and it is likely that the lecture will be given about November 22nd or 23rd.

The next regular meeting of the Association will be held on November 13th, and will be a literary evening with the addition of a debate.

The executive committee meets on Friday evening next, and all the newly elected officers and the Convenors of last year's committees are requested to attend.

R. Hicks and Company Decide on New Policy.

R. Hicks & Co., have decided to open a down town office on Simcoe street, directly west of Kingan's hardware store. From this office the business of the Company down town will be handled. The Company found that the office at the yards were too small to handle the increasing business, and decided to divide the work, giving a portion to each office.

Epworth League Hallowe'en Tea

A Delightful Event Held in the George Street Sunday School

The Hallowe'en Social in the George street Methodist church, Sunday School, held under the auspices of the Epworth League, last night, was a delightful success, and just what the directors of the unique scheme had intended it to be.

The school room was crowded with an interested gathering which fully appreciated the efforts put forth by Mr. W. E. McCann and the others who had charge of the event.

Products of the farm and garden decorated the walls and many of the old-time pumpkin lanterns of hallowe'en fame, shed light on the assembly. Pumpkin pie was the principal article of diet.

Hallowe'en games were played, including various guessing contests. The improvised orchestra was probably the feature of the latter. Altogether the evening was a pleasant one, and despite the inclement weather, was enjoyed by a large number.

Epworth Leagues Of The District To Meet

The Annual Convention to be Held in This City on Tuesday Next.

The annual convention of the Epworth Leagues of Peterborough District will be held in the George street Methodist church on Tuesday afternoon and evening, of next week. Rev. Dr. Crews, the general secretary of Epworth Leagues and Sunday Schools for the Methodist church of Canada, will be in the city, and will address both sessions. In addition papers will be read by Leagues from different parts of the district.

At this meeting it will be necessary to elect a new president and secretary of the District, the former officers having left the District. The three city Leagues will serve tea to the members from out of the city, as well as those living here, attending the afternoon session. It is expected that a number of important matters in connection with Epworth League work will be dealt with at this convention.

Visited Some Normal Schools

Dr. Seath Returns From Visit To United States

Dr. John Seath, superintendent of Education, has just returned from a visit to the schools of Massachusetts which he was making for the purpose of examining the types of schools in that state, and interviewing American educators as regards the best system of education. Dr. Seath says that the equipment of the schools is much superior in that state to that in Ontario, and that the institutions are freer from state control, leaving more to the individuality of the teacher. Many prominent men whom Dr. Seath interviewed, paid a high tribute to the Canadian system of education.

The C. P. R. Telegraph Company have had great difficulty in maintaining wire connection between Saskatoon and Winnipeg lately, due to high winds.

Cheese Factories Will Have Cool Curing Rooms

Mr. G. E. Publow, Chief Dairy Instructor, Working To This End—Was In The City To-day—Needed To Raise Standard of Canadian Cheese—Every Factory Will Also Be Inspected As Well As Milk Sources

"Eighty-five per cent. of the cheese used in Great Britain is Canadian make," was the statement made by Mr. G. G. Publow, of Kingston, chief instructor of the Dairyman's Association of Eastern Ontario, to the Examiner this morning. Mr. Publow arrived in the city last night and drove out to the Central Smith cheese factory this morning to inspect the new cooling rooms which have recently been insatalled there. He was accompanied by Mr. R. W. Ward, of Foxboro, the instructor, who visits the factories in this district, who requested him to do so.

Mr. Publow believes that a radical change will soon be made with regard to the inspection of cheese factories. The importance of this work has been seen by the Dairy Department and plans are now under way by which every factory in Ontario will be visited by an instructor who will be given power to be also a sanitary inspector. A small tax will be put upon each and will be regulated according to the output of cheese. A few more inspectors will, of course, have to be appointed and be placed over specifed districts so that every factory will come under their notice at least once a year. In this way Mr. Publow believes that more will be accomplished towards the raising of the standard of Canadian cheese than has been done in the past.

The time has gone by, he stated, when an instructor has to remain at a factory all day in order to explain a better system of doing things to the cheese manufacturer. A brief call pointing out the defects does more now than lengthy visits of a few years ago. The makers are rapidly becoming more conversant with their duties and will intelligently remedy defects when they are merely shown to them.

The weakest point in the maintenance of a high standard of cheese, Mr. Publow stated, lies in the milk supply. Upon this depends the success of the maker, the success of the whole community and that of the country in that particular product, from which the cheese is exported. The new instructors will have time to visit the sources of the milk supply which are known to be unsanitary and attempt to educate the patrons to a better system of milk curing on the farms. The patrons will then get instructions for less money and will be better off than at the present time.

For Cool Curing Rooms.

Mr. Publow is very enthusiastic over the advent of the cool curing rooms. The lack of them in most of the Ontario factories was a great detriment he stated, but he was very optimistic in prophesying that in the near future the majority of them would be supplied.

Within the past few weeks he and Mr. Somerville have been lecturing in Prince Edward county, and in the vicinity of Belleville. They visited 18 factories and practically in every case the owners have decided to install the curing room.

"The time is at hand," continued Mr. Publow, "when the standard will be set by the cool cured cheese."

Central Smith factory has install the cool curing system, and Mr. Campbell, the proprietor, expressed himself as highly pleased with the result. Mr. Chittick of Trewern, is also installing a cooling room.

The two prominent things, which would improve the quality of Canadian cheese the most, explained Mr. Publow, was the providing of means to keep the milk at the farm at a temperature of from 60 to 65 degrees, and the cheese at the factory at from 58 to 60 degrees. At present the temperature of both fluctuates, according to the atmospheric conditions without.

The cheese exported from Canada this year, says Mr. Publow, has been better than ever before, and very little has been rejected. This is attributed to the increased interest taken by the makers and the patrons to improve the environments of the product in the course of its manufacture. The quantity this year has been somewhat less than last, owing to the dry weather. The September cheese, particularly, has been less than last year by about 15 or 20 per cent. October cheese, however, has been away above the average, and equal in quality to that of September.

Mr. Publow left this afternoon at 2 o'clock for Belleville, but he will be here again at the next meeting of the cheese board Nov. 7th, when he will give an address. It will be confined to a general talk to the makers and sellers on the improving of the dairy products. He suggested that Mr. Anderson of Prince Edward county, a director of the Eastern Ontario Dairy Association, be present to address the meeting on the cool curing system, as he is an experienced man in that line and he will endeavour to have Mr. Anderson here a week from to-morrow.

"If we have the quality, there is no fear of competition," remarked the instructor, "and it is in the Canadian's own interests to manufacture cheese so that the demand for it will be greater than that of any other."

Excellent Programme By Pupils Of St. Mary's Convent

The Friends of the Pupils Invited to Recital by Them in St. Peter's Assembly Hall.

The friends of the senior pupils of St. Mary's Convent were given an opportunity last evening of hearing them at their best. The concert was held in St. Peter's Assembly Hall only the friends of those taking part being invited. The large hall was filled with a very appreciative audience, who listened attentively throughout. It was rather a recital by those who passed their examination at the Conservatory both here and at Toronto, assisted by Mr. Hahn, 'cellist, of Toronto. The latter delighted his hearers by his different numbers, which were executed in a brilliant and pleasing manner. To fully credit the pupils of St. Mary's Convent, it is only necessary that all taking part successfully passed their examinations at the Conservatory with great distinction. The sisters of St. Joseph, who prepared them are to be congratulated on the successful results of their efforts. Especially should they be proud of Miss Bessie Lynch, who appeared in two numbers and distinguished herself on both occasions. Her interpretations of the numbers she played was clear and well brought out. Her mastery of the keyboard was excellent and the delicate manner in which she developed the various thoughts was evident to all.

The following is a synopsis of the programme:—

1.—Instrumental duo. ... ... Galop
Miss Fife Miss Flynn
Instrumental solo ... Chopin Op. 70
Miss Fife
2.—Instrumental solo. Beethoven Song

Campbellford Has Game Association

Mr. A. Kelly Evans There Last Night at Formation of a Protective Association.

Campbellford, October 29.—Campbellford falls in line with a branch of the Ontario Fish and Game Protective Association, which was formed to-night.

A large number of citizens of all classes were roused to enthusiasm by the addresses of A. Kelly Evans, and Oliver Adams, the secretary and vice-president, from the headquarters branch at Toronto. These speakers after A. B. Colville had introduced them, explained clearly the objects and duties of the association and showed how Campbellford could be benefited by forming a branch and helping in the work. Mr. Evans cited the past and present conditions of the State of Maine, and showed from statistics the immense sums of money possible to attract by reasonable protection being afforded fish and game.

He also sketched the future of the Trent Valley Canal, if the farmer assisted in this work, and thereby produced the finest and most unique sportsman's waterway in the whole world, and showed how, taking in the Bay of Quinte, Georgian Bay, Kawartha Lakes, and Rideau Lakes there would be a thousand miles of good fishing and beautiful scenery.

The officers of the new association are:

President—F. W. Wood.
1st Vice-President—Geo. A. Payne.
2nd Vice-President—C. S. Gillespie.
Secretary—A. B. Colville.
Treasurer—H. F. Skey.
Executive Committee — Rod Keller, George Potts, E. Denmark, F. E. Gaudrie, Wm. Carnathan, Mayor W. J. Doxsee, Jas. Irwin.

Did you ever stop to think that with the exception of the heart, the eye is the hardest worked part of the body.

As long as you are awake and your eyes are open they are working in your service.

Philomatheans Opened Their Season Yesterday

Enthusiasm Displayed by Members An Augury of Success —Presentation of Prizes to Winners of Sports.

Yesterday afternoon after the close of school the members of the Philomathean Society of the Collegiate Institute held their first meeting of this year. This Society which was instituted a few years ago has done a great deal of good in promoting public and class speaking and has also endeavoured to instill the highest and the best ideas of literature and music into its members. The Society, this year, is as strong as it has ever been if not stronger, the members at the first meeting attending in large numbers.

Mr. Fred Brown, the President, opened the meeting yesterday by a fine address, in which he pointed out the necessary features required to make the Society a great success. It depends upon the individual member whether the Society will flourish or not. The speaker pointed out means by which the pupil strengthened his society and also improved himself or herself as the case might be. He also enumerated the benefits the pupils received, benefits which he would most appreciate in after life.

The first number on the programme was a piano solo by Miss Gladys Seward one of the junior members of the Institute. This young lday performed in a capital manner for her years.

Miss Maud Oliver gave a recitation after which the main event was commenced, namely, a debate, resolved "That a $500 head tax on Chinamen coming into this country should be abolished.'

Mr. Bruce Ingham, the first speaker for the affirmative, thought that the Chinaman was a suitable person to be allowed to enter the country. He compared favourably with the Italians, Doukhobors, etc., being a lover of peace, and a good worker. Again good relation would be formed with China, which the United States once enjoyed but which she was compelled to forfeit principally on account of this tax. Again Great Britain vitally injured China by a forced opium trade and by the removal of the head tax Canada had a change to propitate for this great crime.

Mr. Holden Blackwell for the negative claimed that the Chinamen were a part of the scum of the world. They had no good qualities. They ruined themselves and their white brethren by the use of opium and also had many criminal tendencies. Again he never became a good citizen as he came to this country a poor man and departed with our wealth.

Miss Elliott for the affirmative, refuted or rather endeavoured to do so, but hardly substantiated her statements. China would reciprocate any boycott, she said, that was placed on Chinamen, which action would prove detrimental to Canada's eastern commerce. If all men are brothers, we should not wish to have a head tax placed on Canadians entering China's dominions.

For the negative Mr. Ed. Mann enumerated the undesirable qualities of the Chinaman as they are found in the Chinatowns of various cities. They hoard our money, circulating but little, and then return to their native land. They have no interests in any country but their own, where they can worship their gods and dragons at will. A tax would have the effect of bringing here only their best citizens. Besides no true Canadian Canadian should have any desire of settling in China.

The leader of the affirmative, Mr. Ingham, spoke, refuting one or two of the statements made by his side's opponents. The judges, Miss Jean Campbell, Mr. E. Wood and Mr. Frank Austin, established a record by rendering an equivocal decision.

The presentation of the prizes won at the Field Day held a few weeks ago, formed one of the most interesting events of the evening. Mr. Kenner, who superintended the bestowal of the prizes, first called upon Miss Weir to present Miss Gladys Crane with a set of books donated by Mr. Wm. Pringle, for obtaining highest marks in passing from Form II. Miss Weir considered that Mr. Pringle's gift was very commendable as were others which he has given in the past. In this way he was doing a great deal to promote education.

Mr. Fessenden next presented the staff cup to the senior champion, Mr. A. Bravender, with an appropriate speech, also congratulating him. He likewise presented Mr. Wallace Armstrong the junior champion with the H. S. MacDonald Cup. Mr. J. E. Hodgson presented Mr. Armstrong with a fountain pen, donated by Mr. W. G. Morrow, with a fitting address. He then presented the senior championship medal to Mr. Allan Bravender and likewise the junior championship medal to Wallace Armstrong. Mr. E. O. Scrigley presented Mr. Archie Ingham the winner of the senior cross country run with a medal donated by Mr. W. G. Ferguson, chairman of School Board. He referred to the prospects ahead of the boys and hoped that they would make names for themselves. The winners of the interform relay race, R. Picard, E. Mann and V. Lewis, received prizes from Mr. Merritt. All the other prize-winners received badges and pins. Mr. Allen Munro, after the presentations were over moved a vote of thanks to to the members of the staff for the great interest they had shown in the the sports and for the assistance they had rendered. The success of the Field Day was mainly due to their labours and he wished to express for all the pupils their deep gratitude for the interest shown by the teachers.

Mr. Harold Brown rendered an instrumental sol in a very creditable manner after which all present sang God Save the King.

Salesmen Waited But Price Had Dropped

The Experience of Lindsay Cheese Board Was Unsatisfactory—Mr. Gillespie Got Four Factories.

Lindsay, Oct. 29.—It happened this year, it happened this season. Whenever the Lindsay Cheese Board adjourn with the anticipation of getting higher prices at the next sale, they always get a lower quotation than they could have got one week previous. If the buyers want low prices they had better adopt the policy of getting the salesmen to adjourn for a week, then they would surely get the under figure.

At this morning's sale the highest bid for cheese was 12 1-8c, while just a week ago the Board were offered 12 1-4c, but adjourned in hopes that they would get the half cent to-day.

Mr. G. A. Gillespie, of Peterborough, was present, and bought four factories at the ruling price. Twelve hundred and nineteen boxes were boarded. Only one more meeting of the Board will be held this season.

Rev. Dr. Marsh The Probable New Pastor

Of the Springville Presbyterian Church—His Induction Will Probably be in About Two Weeks.

(Examiner Special.)

Springville, Oct. 30.—Rev. Dr. Marsh, of Hamilton, will probably be the next minister at the Springville Presbyterian Church, a unanimous invitation having been extended to him to accept the pastorate of the church here, and it is understood that he will accept, subject to the approval of the Peterborough Presbytery, a special meeting of which will be held in Peterborough on Thursday to consider the matter.

Rev. Dr. Marsh preached here recently, and created a most favourable impression.

If the call is sustained it is probable that the induction of the new pastor will take place about November 15, and, in anticipation of the event, the ladies of the church are preparing a tea, to be held at the church.

Lakefield Hunters On Their Annual Outing

Four Large Parties Leave That Village for the North on Deer Hunting Trip.

(Examiner Special.)

Lakefield, October 30. — Answering "the call of the wild," a number of Lakefield sportsmen are leaving to-day for the woods, on their annual deer hunt. Four large parties will leave town this fall, all well equipped for their inroads into the haunts of the denizens of the forest.

Lakefield hunters have been very successful in former years, and they expect to meet with equally good luck this season.

The parties are as follows: Apsley, C. Coons, John King, E. Eastland, Harold Eastland, Garry Coons, Lakefield; Walter Nash, Toronto; H. G. Fitzgerald, C. S. Tanner, Lakefield; John Stuart and Fred Roy, Peterborough.

Turtle Lake — John Balsdon, H. Wannamaker, George Baptie, W. Baptie, Dr. Gibson, V. Garvey, W. Gray, Lakefield; C. Young and A. McPherson, Peterborough.

Pencil Creek — A. J. Kidd, C. D. Crawford W. Gordon, Thos. Gordon, Col. Ridpath, Harold Kidd, W. Adams, Chas. Blomfield, Lakefield; Robert Cotton, Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Eel's Creek. — Robert Lennox, Ira Lennox and B. Kidd.

Mr. Percy Spence will join the Payne party from Warsaw.

Attacked By Half-Tamed Buck

about 1,100 acres, the property of Mr. Laidlaw of Fenelon Falls.

A week ago Saturday Mr. Tivey left the camp to get some potatoes at a farm house on the end of the island and while there a big buck walked up behind him and to him appeared to have an angry disposition. He spoke of this to the settler but was assured the animal was quite tame. Returning to his canoe on the shore he passed the deer without taking more than a passing glance at him. A moment later he felt a sharp antler of the animal pierce the calf of his right leg which almost took him off his feet. Quickly taking in the perilous position, he clinched tightly the ferocious beast's horns and for a few moments there was a stubborn encounter between the man of strength and the antlered monarch of the forest.

Mr. Tivey although a man of almost three score years and ten, was, however, more than a match for his wild assailant. Forcing the latter's head to the earth, he was able to grasp a steel rod lying near with which he struck the animal a stinging blow on the head and sent him off in a dazed condition. He believes that had he been a weaker man he would have been gored by the angry buck which the residents thought had grown out of his wild desires. At the time of the incident, Mr. Tivey states, he scarcely felt the pain of his limb, but on examination discovered that the buck's sharp horn had penetrated the flesh. The other antler passed through his trouser leg, cutting holes in two places. For four or five days he was considerably bothered with his limb, but being a healthy man, it has completely recovered.

The deer are plentiful in that region, he says, but, of course, shooting is forbidden on the Island. He and Mr. James got their share of bass and maskinonge in Balsam Lake without much difficulty. The ducks, too, are very plentiful and were beginning to arrive in multiplied numbers just as they left. The last day they shot ten without the least trouble. Whistle wings, blue bills and the black ducks were the chief specimens.

Mr. Laidlaw's island is covered principally by white birch and, Mr. Tivey states, is surrounded by the prettiest and cleanest sheet of water he ever saw—the whole region might aptly be described as the "hunters' paradise."

Bride Was Well Known In This City

Miss Mary Louise Barnet Married in Renfrew.

The many friends in this city of the bride mentioned in the following despatch from Renfrew will read with interest of her wedding:

Renfrew, Oct. 27.—One of the most notable social events of the season in Renfrew, was the marriage here Thursday of Miss Mary Louise Barnet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Barnet, to Mr. Edmund H. Code, of Ottawa, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Code, of Kemptville. The bride is one of the most charming and popular of all the fair maidens of Renfrew town, while the groom has been for several years favourably known throughout the Ottawa Valley as a successful young business man, representing the firm of Brophy Cains, Limited, Montreal.

The ceremony was performed at the palatial home of the bride's parents, by Rev. John Hay, who tied the nuptial knot in accordance with the simple but impressive service of the Presbyterain faith. The bride, as charming as ever, stepped before the matrimonial altar, attired as she was in a princess costume of oyster white chiffon cloth. She wore a becoming hat in place of the traditional bridal veil, and carried a beautiful bouquet of white roses, lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern. Her going-away costume was of navy blue cheviot cloth with blue toque trimmed with blue wings and brown tulle.

The bridesmaid was Miss Grace Barnet, sister of the bride.

The guests included only the relatives and a few intimate friends, among whom were Rev. John Hay and Mrs. Hay, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Barnet, Mrs. McAllister, Mrs. Sanderson, Peterborough, and a number of others.

Among the many handsome gowns worn by the ladies were: Mrs. Alexander Barnet: Paris robe of ashes of roses panne velvet, trimmed with Venetian point; Mrs. Jas. Code, rich gown of black taffeta; Mrs. McAllister, French robe of grey embroidered voile, white hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Code left on the 11.45 train for a short honeymoon trip, and upon their return will reside on Frank street, Ottawa.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

HELLO BILL

The three act comedy, "Hello Bill," was presented at the Grand opera house last night before a very fair-sized and enthusiastic audience. The songs were catchy and the music of a good order. From the lifting of the curtain to the close of each act the audience was in a roar of laughter at the many exciting mix-ups in the family comedy. The company, which is a small but well selected one, on the whole filled the various parts with distinction, winning much applause thereby. Mr. Geo. F. Hall was the star and acted his part to perfection, and in addition rendered two readings played by two prominent actors, which received heart applause. Ethel Nason made a good impression with her dainty songs and winning ways, while Charles H. Cantor, Ezra Matthews, Blanche Paquette and Minnie Connor, were valuable aids in the evening's entertainment. The music of the orchestra was very good, and many compliments were handed out to them.

GIRLS WILL BE GIRLS

One of the most amusing scenes in "Girls will be Girls," William A. Brady's big musical comedy production, with Al. Leech and the Three Rosebuds, which will be at the Grand opera house on Friday, Nov. 2nd, is the cock fight at the close of the second act. Real prize game cocks are used; while the birds are protected from injuring each other, all the excitement of the real cock fight is indulged in. It is certainly one of the most amusing acts that has been seen on the stage for a long time. This is not a burlesque, but a strictly high class musical comedy. It plays in the Grand opera house, Toronto, all of next week.

THE MAN OF HER CHOICE

The melodramatic sensation, "The Man of Her Choice," will be presented at the Grand opera house on Saturday afternoon and evening. The book was written by Edward M. Simmondes, and the play is being produced by him. It is a beautiful story, thrillingly presented in four acts. The climaxes are exciting, the situations sensational, and the specialties strong. The melodrama is interspersed with lots of comedy, and has met with much success in its several tours.

an excellent view of clear Lake and a considerable part of Stony Lake. On it is a spring—an invaluable complement—a sandy beach stretches—for some distance along a cape jutting into the lake and furnishes an ideal spot for bathing. The park is in a position where the steamers can easily call as well as at the various cottages which will be built all along the beach.

Mr. Rogers who formerly owned the strip of land from Sandy Point north, has divided it into 21 lots, varying in width from 125 ft. to 200 ft., most of them being the latter. They range in depth from 205 ft. to 300 ft. and all touch "Hiawatha avenue," which runs to the rear the full length of the twenty-one lots running into Kawartha Park. This avenue is 50 feet wide and is connected with the Burleigh road running north from Young's Point. Through the entire length of the summer resort property runs a tableland at times touching the water's edge, and again reaching to the rear of other lots. The location is certainly one of the prettiest on the Kawartha chain and will be one most popular in a year or two.

It is the intentions of those who have purchased lots to build cottages on them during next season. A store is already contemplated and it is probable that within a few years Sandy Point will be represented with a post office although the distance to Juniper Island is only about two miles. The location has also all the advantages of abundant shade, the shore there being studded with hard wood trees. Surface rock is rare so that for coolness the site could not be better adapted. The lots, too, were cheap enough, the present value being placed in the neighbourhood of $175. The price though would vary according to the size and location.

Those who now own lots along the beach, beginning at the southern terminus, Sandy Point, are the following:—G H Williamson, Y.M.C.A., H Fitzgerald, F Adams, J Montgomery, R M Dennistoun, T H Glover, F D Kerr, C W Dobbin, F Dobbin, W F Nelson, W F Nelson, R B Rogers, C N Brown, A E Dixon, E A Peck, J Carlisle and H Stock.

Railway Connection

The possibility of having the pleasure park connected with the city by electric cars is within the hopes of those who intend to make that summer resort their summer homes. In speaking to a number of those who have made purchases, the Examiner learned "that they were building on that hope and it is probable they have been given some assurance of the realization of their expectations. The distance from the city would only be about 20 miles and the one track would connect, besides Kawartha Park, Young's Point, and Lakefield with Peterborough.

The scheme although it is an elaborate one is most probable and if carried out Clear Lake will undoubtedly rival in popularity its northern sister both in amusements and boating.

Objection To The Use Of Glasses

Sometimes people object to glasses, claiming that once put on they can not see without them. If after putting on glasses the wearer finds it difficult to go without them, this simply proves that before he wore glasses he was forcing his eyes beyond the limit of safety, a practice if continued, is sure to affect the health and sight. The person who lets pride, even excusable pride, stand in the way of glasses is doing his eyes and health injustice and is merely paving the way for future suffering and discomforts.

We will test your eyesight carefully, and tell you just what condition your eyes are in.

Touching Scene At The Departure Of The 300 Barnardo Children

The Future Citizens of Canada and the Manner of Their Leaving London for Their New Home—The Girls in the Party Recently Arrived at Peterborough.

The touching spectacle of 300 Barnardo boys and girls leaving England for their future homes in Canada is told by a London paper. They were gathered in the station to hear some parting advice from the officials of the Barnardo Home.

The girls sat on one side of the room, the boys on the other; the girls wearing blue or grey woollen caps, Tam o' Shanters, or caps that hung down baggily, and the boys comfortable blue pea-jackets with brass buttons. Was it not R. L. Stevenson who remarked that there is always something touching in launching a small boy out of his home into the beginning of his school life? It was far more touching to look at those 300 faces, many of them belonging to children who seemed mere babies (though the youngest was said to be eight years old,) and to reflect that in a few hours they would be swinging on tumbling seas, that many of them would be abominably ill, that not one would have a mother or father at hand, and that when they arrived in Canada they would separate from one another, and begin their lives each among strangers, to do and to become—what? Well, Canada is a generous, ample country, and the answer, happily, will depend upon themselves. Perhaps the most touching thing of all was the cheeriness of these children. They were still among friends—the parents by proxy who had tended them, not with mere care, but with affection, in the homes. They answered with jolly salvos the questions which were put to them; they were without misgiving; they rollicked into the unknown with a simple assurance that must have given pause to every older person, however little reason he might have to complain of fate. All this uncertainty and all this simple confidence side by side—it was a "revolution," indeed.

A hymn was sung; "Jesus Loves Me," the chorus. Almost at once Mr. Baker (the new Dr. Barnardo) stopped the singing with that informality which every one with experience knows is the trick for holding the curiosity of children. "Who is 'me'?" "Me!" shouted the children. "Well, touch yourself," said Mr. Baker, "to show that you are quite sure. Do not touch the other fellow." After this all the children always touched their breasts at the word "me." The word recurred. Their hands moved backwards and forwards in front of them. They listened closely, and shouted "Yes" when they were asked if each would try to beat the record by being the best child ever sent to Canada.

The boys streamed out of one door, the girls out of another. The officials checked them off, giving a friendly thump here, a teasing word there. Discipline never throve so well as in these jovial circumstances. The children marched to the station below. Mr. Baker was carrying a tiny girl, who affectionately rubbed his top hat the wrong way. A Barnardo band was on the platform. It struck up and the children, with quickened, dancing steps, going to the throb and rythm, streamed into the train. The ever jovial officials chaffed them through the windows; one sparred with a small boy, another danced a hornpipe. And now a few spectators came to the platform. These were relations of the children—in two or three cases a father or mother—and their interest in the children was distant compared with that of the officials. One washy looking lout who had left his child destitute (or the child would never have been in the home) snivelled. It was a mere superstitious tribute of sentimentality at the last moment; but perhaps it was the most wholesome contribution he had ever made to the upbringing of his son. Mr. Baker passed through the train. The children attached themselves to him like barnacles. He shook them off gently. The whistle blew. The band played "Auld Lang Syne," and the gait of the music quickened to the quickening puffs of the engine. A storm of handkerchiefs whitened the air. The disgraceful relations compounded for their sins by joining in this dramatic benediction. Heaven forgive them! It was only an incident, privately managed, in the administration of the Empire and in the daily business of Paddington Station. In three minutes the small emigrants were probably being mistaken for a Sunday school treat by preoccupied persons coming in from Acton or Westbourne Park.

But the train held Caesar and all his fortunes—perhaps. The future Colonial Premier may have been there. Ninety-eight per cent. of the Barnardo children do well. Eighty per cent. of the old Barnardo boys of the necessary age in Canada are now landowners.

Upper Lake Sailing Is No Easy Snap

As William Copperthwaite, of This City, Now Knows.

Mr. Wm. Copperthwaite, son of Capt. Fred Copperthwaite, of this city, writes home from Detroit, out of which city he is sailing on the steamer Peter White, one of the big ore carriers plying on the upper lakes. Mr. Copperthwaite is a pilot on the Peter White, and is trying for his mate's papers, to supplement those which he already holds for inland waters.

Already this fall, his steamer has gone through severe snow storms, and has frequently entered port coated with ice, and there are nearly two months of upper lake navigation yet.

Some Good Advice On Care Of The Teeth

Dr. Gowan's Thoughtful Paper on This Important Matter—Some Instructions Which Everyone Would Do Well To Heed.

An interesting paper was read recently by Dr. Gowan at a meeting of the Woman's Institute in Simcoe County. It was published in the Dominion Dental Journal, and contains so much good advice that its publication is thought desirable.

Dr. Gowan said: Decay of the teeth will not occur if they are kept entirely clean. Therefore, the first thing necessary in the care of teeth is cleanliness. Eat food that requires vigourous chewing, and clean the spaces between the teeth with quill toothpick after every meal. Use tooth brush and clean water at least once a day, or as often as you wash your face. Preferably, the brush and water should be used after every meal.

Hold the brush lightly between thumb and tips of first and second fingers, to allow a rapid yet gentle action of the bristles upon all surfaces of the teeth and to prevent injury to the gums and delicate lining of the mouth. Learn so to use the brush that it will clean all the surfaces of all the teeth — upper and lower—inner as well as outer sides, and the spaces between. Use a large bowl of water, or better, a stream as from a tap, holding your face above it; keep the brush as wet as you can be frequent dipping, and allow the excess of water to run out of the mouth while brushing. Rinse with a glass of water to finish.

Except when prescribed by a dentist, use no drugs, powders, dentifrices or soaps, and avoid all nostrums sold for the teeth. They are mostly injurious. Water costs you nothing and is far better. However, if the teeth become discoloured, the wet brush touched to dry powdered pumice stone will take up enough to perfectly polish the surfaces of the teeth when properly applied.

Frequently examine your teeth by a small looking-glass. Get acquainted with them. And once a year, if you are under thirty, have them examined by a dentist. Children's teeth should be examined oftener.

At the age of three years, a child has twenty temporary teeth. About the sixth year permanent teeth appear. The first permanent grinders appear behind the temporary ones several years before the latter are lost. This occurs generally between the ages of six and seven, and from this time until the age of twelve the child will have twenty-four teeth. During this period the mouth undergoes the greatest changes and should be frequently examined. Parents often do not know that a child has permanent grinders at this time, and so neglect to have them attended to until toothache begins. In this case, serious trouble and loss of the teeth may follow.

If, when they begin to decay, the teeth are repaired by filling, the pain, time and expense of the operation will be much less than if delayed until the cavities are large, and, besides, the child will generally submit to it willingly, whereas if delayed until disease and pain compel the extraction of a tooth, the child will forever afterwards dread dental operations. And this may defeat further attempts to save his decaying teeth.

Allow no one but a qualified dentist to extract or otherwise meddle with the teeth of a child, for no one else is competent to judge what ought to be done. Far-reaching injury may result from the ill advised extraction of a child's tooth; so what nature, the child, or yourself cannot do, refer to the man whose special knowledge enables him to see and to do what is best, and to instruct the child in how to clean and examine his own teeth as well.

For lack of acquaintance with their teeth young people often suffer decay to proceed unnoticed until pain warns them that something is wrong. The use of toothpick and glass might, in most cases, enable them to find cavities before decay has gone so deep as to cause toothache. But if toothache has begun, proper treatment and filling will be the remedy. More time and work will be required, however, for which a larger fee must be paid.

When a cavity is found or suspected, have it attended to without delay. The damage should be repaired, decay stopped, and so far as possible, prevented from beginning again, by filling.

When properly done, filling is a success in preventing decay, suffering and loss. On the other hand, such work, badly done for lack of knowledge, skill, or honesty, is worse than useless, for it destroys people's confidence in filling operations, and leads to loss of teeth in whole families. The quality and value of a dental operation depend on the knowledge, skill and honesty of the man who performs it.

By all means preserve the natural teeth. They are essential to health, beauty, convenience and the voice. If this advice is too late for you, see that your children have the benefit of it, and, for them, never contemplate artificial teeth. Old people, whose teeth are already gone, have no other remedy. For them great skill must be used to make artificial teeth satisfactory, and even then they are almost as far short of perfection as are glass eyes and wooden legs.

In this kind of professional service there may be vast difference between the work of one man and another, so do not think you can buy a set of teeth as you do a set of dishes, not caring who makes them. You will be the sufferer if you try it. Always keep artificial teeth clean. Use brush and water on them every day and do not wear them at night. Your mouth needs to be rid of the plate at night as your feet need to be rid of shoes.

In consulting a dentist, remember always that his judgment and advice is what you need most. Do not dictate. For you are no better prepared to dictate to a dentist than you are to a lawyer or a physician. If you have no confidence in his knowledge of dentistry, go to someone else.

If practising properly, a dentist has no goods to sell, no "prices" to quote, and nothing to advertise. His business is to render professional service by means of special knowledge and skill for his patient's welfare. For this he collects a fee proportioned to the extent, difficulty, importance, etc., of the service rendered. He instructs his patients so far as possible in means to prevent suffering and loss, and takes a charitable view of human weaknesses and a sympathetic interest in relieving pain.

The teeth are the most prominent feature of the human face. No other feature—not even the tongue—tells so long a story if so short a time. This story is pointed as to the education, intelligence, cleanliness, good sense, taste, style, social position, and general character of the person whose teeth you see. And you need not be a dentist to read it.

Nine Hundred Miles In A Baloon

Successful Journey by a French Aeronaut.

A successful balloon voyage was made by Comte de Lavaux, the French aeronat, at Lindenberg. The details of the ascent have now been published in the Strassburg Aeronautische Mittheilungen. The balloon of 36,000 cubic feet capacity, and inflated with hydrogen, started from Berlin at 8 a.m. on April 6th, last, descended at 9 p.m. on April 7th, six and a half miles east of Aschaffenburg. During the journey of at least 900 miles, the Westerners crossed the Baltic Sea and Jutland twice, once travelling north, and again on the return journey. The route was determined by meteorical observations at night, and by visual and photographic observations during the day. The altitudes at which the journey was performed were as follows: During the day of April 5, 1200 meters; on the night of April 5-6, from 200 meters to 800 meters; from sunrise to midday on April 6, up to 2900 meters; from midday to sunset of the same day, 300 meters to 1000 meters; during the next night from 100 meters to 800 meters, except when in the vicinity of Hamburg, where the balloon was taken to a height of 2900 meters. The greatest altitude of 3709 meters was reached on April 7. The lowest temperature recorded was -16 degrees C.

Sues Aged Pastor Who Couldn't Kiss

Maryland Woman Wants $25,000 for Breach of Promise.

Towson, Md., Oct. 29.—Miss Susan Wheeler, a maiden of forty-five, is suing the Rev. Edward B. Waltz, a Baptist preacher, for $25,000 damages for breach of promise. The Rev. Mr. Waltz is sixty-eight years of age and has buried two wives.

Despite his age, the clergyman, in court, presented the plaintiff's testimony that he was "too old for kissing and hugging and making love in the usual way." He was so vigorous in his denial that Judge Duncan stopped him and told him to leave arguments to his counsel.

The engagement began this way, according to a letter by the Rev. Mr. Waltz, read in court:

"After I retired on the night after my first visit to you, involuntarily, without any forethough, the feeling was impressed on my mind and heart: "There is your destiny; Susie Wheeler is to bee your future wife." Then came the proposal. The acceptance includes the following:—

"I went to my room and knelt in prayer, and a calm, holy feeling took possession of me, but when you met me with such a loving, devoted look, yet with a wistful yearning, blended with an expression I have seen in your dear wife's eyes, I felt that you both were pleading to me, and it was all I could do to control my feelings. The following Sunday . . . I looked down deep into my heart and found you had taken entire possession of it."

A subsequent letter by Miss Wheeler contained the magic letters "C Y S K," with the translation: "Consider yourself kissed." In it Miss Wheeler wondered what their first quarrel would be about. In other letters she made playful hits at her venerable lover's age, asking in one what he thought of Dr. Osler.

The quarrel came when Miss Wheeler's mother refused to let the clergyman stay overnight in the house he had bought for his fiance and in which she and her mother were snugly located. Then the mother suggested that he should deed the house to Susie, as he might die before the marriage. Waltz said he would make a codicil to that effect.

In court he declared all his troubles were due to "a designing mother" He was so overcome that court adjourned for the day.

The Lady Points The Moral

Experiences of a Prominent M. P. in Buying Clothes

T. P. O'Connor, M.P., who is very fond of experiments and oddities of all kinds, entered a small London draper's shop in Chelsea and ordered himself a suit of tweed. The result was a suit with a delicate feminine touch everywhere perceptible—particularly in a low-necked coat. The only person benefitted by the transaction was the draper. And wife, who tells the tale, also points the moral, "Misfits and cheap materials are always uneconomical."

With excellent materials chosen with taste, the Semi-ready tailoring has captured the fancy of men who, a few years ago, would have scoffed at the idea of wearing a suit of clothes made the way one formerly had shoes custom-made. One can buy five widths in shoes and 175 styles—all fitting better than custom-made shoes, and the Semi-ready tailoring idea is divided into physique types, sub-divided into forms, and again into sizes.

STOP, WOMAN!

AND CONSIDER THE ALL-IMPORTANT FACT

That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman — a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers a great many years. Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for many years under her direction, and since her decease, she has been advising sick women free of charge.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice.

When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women, you cannot well say, without trying it "I do not believe it will help me."

Zutoo, the Japanese headache cure, is a friend in need.

Don't without a trial, condemn it as something that will hurt you.

Taken when you suspect a headache, it will ward it off. Taken later it will cure the headache in twenty minutes. In every case it will leave you feeling good. It is harmless as the soda which is one of its ingredients.

If it does not do all that is claimed for it, then discard it. But don't confound it with the drug cures and condemn it without a trial. That isn't fair to

Gypsy Jan

By Constance D'Arcy Mackay

Copyright, 1906, by Ruby Douglas

Clayton struck off from the wood path he had been following to the main road. He had chosen the end of September for his vacation. Already summer was mellowing into autumn, the maples were tipped with yellow, and in the dark recesses of the woods sumac glowed with a color that was almost flamelike. As he walked on either hand stretched fields of alternate stubble and green grass, starred here and there by patches of goldenrod or slender purple asters. Fall sounds were in the air. Late crickets chirped. Crows cawed across the fences. Bits of thistledown floated lazily in the morning sunlight. Except for occasional farmhouses standing by the way or a passing team, the road was deserted, and Clayton was musing pleasantly on its solitude when an unexpected turn past a clump of trees brought him upon a camp of gypsies. He went forward with quickened interest.

They had pitched their tents in a little hollow through which a stream ran. In the background stood a canvas covered wagon and a half dozen lean, tethered horses. In the foreground smoldered the ashes of a fire. Round this clustered a few half naked children and some wrinkled crones with huge gilt earrings in their ears.

"The men of the camp had evidently gone foraging, nor were the women slow to turn a penny, for one of them called out to Clayton that she would tell his fortune. Clayton shook his head impatiently and went on. If he had it told at all, it must be by some young, black eyed girl, such a one as he saw approaching half a mile beyond the camp, a tall, lithe creature, who walked with the grace of those accustomed to the open. She wore a red skirt, a white blouse falling away from her throat and caught with a bit of dull yellow that matched her girdle. One sleeve was torn, and her arm showed through, dusky and rounded. Her dark hair was twisted with what looked to be scarlet beads, but which upon nearer inspection proved to be rose fruit strung on grass.

"The princess of her tribe," thought Clayton.

She was playing with a curious dagger that she held and did not see him till he accosted her. Then she looked up, startled.

"Will you tell my fortune?" he queried, smiling, and held out his hand.

"When it has been crossed with silver," she answered, her black eyes gleaming.

"The life line is deep," she went on quickly. "You have made your way so far, for you are ambitious and hardworking. You do not come from Brierley village nor from the country round here. You are from the city. You are nearly thirty and unmarried. Do I read true?" she asked, with a swift upward glance.

"Quite true," said Clayton amusedly.

"No woman has touched your heart, but there is one who soon will."

"Dark or fair?"

"Dark and very wealthy. You will see her this afternoon at 4 o'clock."

"Well, I'm glad I'm warned," said Clayton, with a laugh. "How long have you been here?" nodding in the direction of the camp.

She shrugged her shoulders.

"How can I tell? A few days—a week maybe. We gypsies do not measure time."

"And what is your name?"

"Jan," she answered, turning on her heel with the indifference of a queen. Now that she had told his fortune she seemed anxious to be gone.

"A mercenary young wretch, like the rest of them," murmured Clayton, looking after her.

That afternoon he strolled toward the village. The season was over, and most of the large hotels were closed. So were the handsome private cottages, save a few whose owners preferred the luxury of solitude.

Arden, the summer home of Alyard, the copper king, was still open, Miss Alyard, it was said, caring more for her stables and kennels than for society.

As Clayton passed it, admiring its green lawn and well kept flower beds, a smart trap came down the driveway. In it sat a girl dressed in white. Clayton could not see her face, for she held a lace parasol to screen her eyes, but he liked the patrician poise of her head. As they rattled past him with a gay clanking of silver harness the coachman turned in answer to some question.

"It's exactly 4 o'clock, Miss Alyard," he said deferentially.

Clayton started and then laughed at himself for being foolish enough to mind a gypsy's prophecy. And yet the prospect was alluring—a rich wife and money to pursue his studies in Paris untrammeled, for, though Clayton's name was beginning to be known in the world of architecture, it had been hard fighting every step of the way. Even now he was not free from financial difficulties, and instead of putting up at the luxurious country club which was still open to visitors he was housed in a farm at the village outskirts.

But, whether the gypsy had read his fate truly or not, there was something tantalizing and mysterious about her prophecy, and next day he went again to the camp. Jan was nowhere in sight. In vain he questioned the old hag who had offered to tell his fortune the day before. She declared there was with a mature dignity that became her like the armor of her sex.

"Our little boy, Maverick—our little boy has changed me."

"Ah! Our boy"— Oliver broke off abruptly, for something had suddenly clutched him by the throat.

The woman hastily brushed her tears away and went on practically:

"You'd be proud of him, Maverick—such strong, agile limbs—and he has the will of a little savage."

"Let me see," Oliver said brusquely, stooping over the platform's edge and plucking a buttercup stalk that had ambitiously grown up from the gravel. "He must be eleven months now."

"Yes. He was five when—when you last saw him." She kept her eyes deliberately fixed upon the high railroad trestles in the blue distance. "Do you know, he's been such a help to me. I've told him all the things I wanted to tell you—told him that his mother had been a vain, silly, girlish tyrant who, coming straight from the convent, wanted to have everything this world had to give—money, fame, position—all those things that are bought in the market place—and had wanted to buy them with his father's conscience."

Over the trestles the smoke of the incoming train was seen. There were the usual bustle and running to and fro on the platform, seizing of hand bags, carting of trunks, and so on. Whatever swift, mutual, soul revelations Oliver and his wife had been on the point of making dissolved into nothingness, jarred by the prosaic commotion of traffic. It was a pity, too, for with Eleanor's last words her face had melted into a pliant sweetness, her exquisite mouth had taken on sudden quivering little curves. She had seemed about to say, "Ambition, selfishness, the cruelty of pride—all these things have gone, Maverick."

She didn't say that, however. Instead she rose from the wooden step which her husband had dusted for her. "I'm glad you found me changed," she said merely. Something in the man's honest soul overflooded.

"I, too—I, too, Eleanor, will change!" cried he.

"Ah, you've no need to," answered she, meeting honesty with honesty. "You've been growing like the trees you adore"—she nodded in the direction of the woodland—"for years, straight and strong. I had to be pruned. I had!"

The train's screeching whistle deadened her words. It came rushing in and stopped. Oliver still held Eleanor's tiny suit case and umbrella in his hand. There was a confused sound of greeting to the passengers who had alighted and the clamor of hotel runners and bus drivers.

"Now, then, step lively!" cried the brakeman as the last much bundled old woman descended, allowing the impatient traveling men to climb aboard. Oliver and his wife were the last of the crowd.

He helped her aboard, found her chair for her in the parlor car, then turned miserably to meet her eyes.

"All aboard!" came the strident voice of the conductor. The train began to move almost imperceptibly.

"Goodby!" cried Oliver, battling with strong emotion, but conscious of the increasing movement of the train.

Then as he bent over her seat the woman laid a trembling hand on his arm, and her eyes were brimming with slow tears.

"Goodby, Maverick? Don't you want to go with me to our baby?"

"Good heavens! Eleanor, do I want, to?"

Some lonely passengers at the other end of the car wondered what had suddenly illumined the man's handsome face with that electric thrill of joy. Then the telegraph poles began to whiz by. Oliver had forgotten New York.

A Famous French Palace.

The Chateau de Rambouillet has a history remote from the literary fad of the eighteenth century which has made the word Rambouillet significant of an epoch of French culture. It was in this chateau that Francis I. breathed his last and Charles X. was deserted in his death. It is not generally known, however, how Louis XVI. became its proprietor. Until 1785 Rambouillet belonged to the Duc de Penthievre, grandson of Louis XIV. and Mme. de Montespan. Louis XVI. wished very much to possess it. This desire became a fixed passion, which was augmented by his dislike of its owner. But one day he declared, "The possession of Rambouillet would be the happiness of my life." To which the duke graciously replied: "God forbid that I should be the cause of your unhappiness. Sire, Rambouillet is yours on your own terms." The price fixed was 11,000,000 francs, of which 6,000,000 were paid the next day in gold from the royal treasury.

Miss Noah.

A child was brought to a Yorkshire vicar for baptism. As he was told that the name was to be Noah, he naturally referred to the infant as "he" in the course of the service. Soon he felt his surplice pulled by one of the women, who whispered to him that "it was a lass."

"But Noah is not a girl's name," said the parson.

"Yes, it is," spoke up the child's father.

An adjournment was made to the vestry to settle the point. The father said that whenever he had a child to be named he opened the Bible and chose the first name of the proper sex that met his eye. The clergyman insisted that in the present case a mistake had been made, whereupon the father opened the Bible at Numbers xxvi. 33, and read, "The names of the daughters of Zelophehad were Noah," etc.

There was no more to be said.

An Old Proverb.

The proverb, "Necessity is the mother of invention," can hardly be traced to one independent source. The idea was expressed by Persius, the Roman satirist, about 60 A. D. and is found in the precise form now quoted in Richard Franck's "Northern Memoirs" (printed in London in 1694) and in various later English writers.

Mutual.

Mother (entering parlor suddenly)—Mr. Snowball kissing you? I am surprised. Daughter—So am I, mother. He has been coming to see me five years and he never got up enough courage to do it before.

Are You Strong?

Do You Eat and Sleep Well? —Or Are You Pale, Weak and Miserable?

Has your nerve given out? Have you lost confidence in yourself? Has work become such an awful burden that you look upon it with horror?

There's just one thing left to do, and that is to take Ferrozone and get your system into good shape again.

It's quite impossible for anyone to be weak or nervous that uses Ferrozone. It contains so many strength-giving properties benefit is bound to result from its use.

Ferrozone possesses the power to kindle new vitality and vigor where almost a dying condition of weakness exists.

It is an extraordinary and magical tonic, containing more actual nourishment and strengthening elements than you can get at in any other way. As a blood purifier, nerve strengthener and appetizing tonic there is simply no equal to Ferrozone. Of this we are positively sure.

It is crowned with the success of splendid cures; will restore anyone to health who uses it. The following letters from people who have actually experienced what Ferrozone can do will clearly show you just how beneficially it acts:—

No Medicine Ever Did So Much Lasting Good as Ferrozone.

"It would be difficult to express my thanks for the benefit I have received from Ferrozone," writes Miss Eva Wight, of Pierrepoville. "I was so weak and miserable that I could scarcely go around. The pains in my head ached, there was a dragging weakness in my limbs, and I felt as if every spark of life had left me. Ferrozone improved my appetite, toned up my blood, and soon made me well. Nothing I ever used did me half the good I got from Ferrozone."

The Great Tonic, Ferrozone, Brought Back Life.

"I am anxious to speak a good word for such a magnificent tonic as Ferrozone," says L. P. Cleroux, of Yorkton. "I was wonderfully worn out, I was apprehensive, and lacked confidence. It was simply due to my very weak state. The only remedy that really did me lasting good was Ferrozone. It rebuilt my strength, has made me as vigorous and hopeful as a man could be. In the whole range of medicines I never found anything with half the merit I found in Ferrozone."

Though you spend a thousand dollars on doctors, you can't get a more vitalizing, strengthening tonic than Ferrozone. It is the best that money, combined with scientific research, can produce. If anything in this world will make you strong it must be Ferrozone. Others have proved its worth. You can easily do so for yourself. It will send new vital energy and renewed youth shooting through your veins. It's nature's own remedy—a true food tonic.

Talks on Orange Meat

No. 3

(The Pure Food)

Popping Corn and Popping Wheat

Ever pop corn? Take a handful of tiny grains—heat them over the fire—and you have "about a peck" of pop-corn.

Corn is pretty nearly all carbo-hydrates, or starch. And it would take a lot of chewing to break up all the tiny cells so that the starch could be acted on by saliva in the mouth and be converted into sugars. Heat does it better than chewing.

Wheat is 75% carbohydrates. Like popcorn, the tough cell walls in wheat are broken by heat. That is why we cook the wheat in making ORANGE MEAT. It goes in huge steam cookers under 20 pounds steam pressure. Steam and moisture soften the cell tissues—the heat causes the starch to swell and burst the cells—the carbohydrates are free. That is why Dyspeptics, Rheumatics and all who can't eat "starchy" foods, may enjoy ORANGE MEAT. By adding malt, all the starch is converted into wheat sugar.

Orange Meat

Orange Meat weighs ⅓ more than any other package. 15c. and 25c. a package. At all grocers. Mercerized paper lining of the cartons insure Orange Meat being always fresh, crisp and clean. 15c. pkg. contains a coupon, good for premiums. 25c. size contains 2½ times as much as 15c. size. Write "Orange Meat, Kingston," for new premium catalogue.

Roast Beef of Old England

secured its fame through being roasted on an old-fashioned spit before an open fireplace, the meat being constantly surrounded by pure oxygen while cooking.

This supply of oxygen is essential to give the cooked meat its natural, rich, juicy flavor. The oven of the is so constructed that a flow of pure, heated oxygen passes through it continually when the Range is in operation.

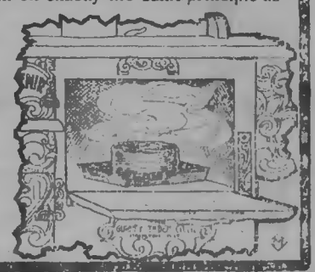
Meats are roasted therein on exactly the same principle as by the old-time spit without the constant watching and worry.

The Aerated Oven of the Souvenir can be secured on no other range.



Every Souvenir is absolutely guaranteed by the makers.

Gelee a la Creole—Blancmange Served in a Novel Style—A Steamed Pudding—All Are Worthy a Place in the Favorite Recipe Book.

Put a pound of prunes in a pan with one pint of water, three ounces of sugar and three-quarters of an ounce of gelatin. Cook them till soft. Take out the stones, crack them and save the kernels. Put the prunes, kernels, a little cochineal, the rind and juice of a lemon and a glass of marsala in a saucepan and let them boil for fifteen to twenty minutes. Have ready a pint of clear wine jelly. If possible use the well known shaped mold that is illustrated. If this is not convenient alternate layers of jelly and prunes may be set in any mold, though they will not be as effective as when they are set in steps. Rinse the mold with cold water. Fill up to the first step with jelly, let it set; fill in the next with the prune mixture, let that set also, and so on till the mold is full. When set turn it into a pretty dish and pipe whipped cream round the base of each step.

Blancmange.—A simple and attractive manner to serve blancmange is to line a mold, fill it with newly stewed grapes as thick as marmalade, then chill on ice. Wheat and grapes make a dainty decoration for this dish.

Steamed Pudding.—One cupful of chopped suet, one cupful of molasses, one cupful and a half of fine bread-crumbs, two scant cupfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of salt, one cupful of any kind of chopped dried fruit, one teaspoonful of baking powder, one scant half teaspoonful of soda mixed with one cupful of sour milk. Mix, turn into a greased mold and steam for four hours.

Marlborough Pudding.—Beat the yolks of five eggs with one-half pound of sugar and one pint of cream seasoned with the grated rind of a fresh lemon. Put into a deep bowl or pitcher and set in a vessel of boiling water and stir until it is a thick cream. When cold stir in a small cupful of raspberry jam or orange marmalade. Pour into a deep baking dish. Whip the whites of the eggs to a stiff meringue with four tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar and put on top of the cream. With a spoon shape the meringue to look like large roses. Brown in the oven for a few minutes.

Lemon Pudding.—Pare the rind of three lemons and boil rind till tender.

BLANCMANGE.

Pound in a mortar and mix with them a quarter of a pound of lady fingers crumbled fine and stirred into a quart of boiling milk. Beat the yolks of four eggs light with half a pound of sugar and two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice. Stir in the whites of two eggs beaten stiff, add to milk, put all on back of the fire and stir till thick and smooth. Put a border of paste around a deep dish and pour in the pudding. Strew top thickly with candied sweetmeats or thinly sliced citron and bake three-quarters of an hour. Serve cold.

Chocolate.

Most of the world's chocolate is made in Switzerland, though Germany is a good second.

Carrier Pigeons.

Carrier pigeons in calm weather can travel at a speed of 1,200 yards a minute. With a brisk wind prevailing and blowing in the direction of its flight, a pigeon has been known to make 1,900 yards a minute.

Rental Value of Grouse Moors.

It has been estimated that something like £450,000 is paid yearly as rental for the 2,400 grouse moors of Scotland. Rental of a grouse moor varies from 10d. to 2s. 6d. an acre, and one of 10,000 acres, with shooting lodge attached, fetches as much as £500. Perthshire is the great county for this form of sport.

Roast Donkey.

Having tasted the flesh of various animals, a Northampton (England) gentleman declares that a donkey makes the most excellent eating of any animal, the flavor resembling that of a young turkey.

Eliot's Indian Bible.

It is asserted by typographical authorities that the first Bible printed in America was "John Eliot's Indian Bible," in 1663. The language into which this Bible was translated is extinct, and it is said only one or two persons are able to read it.

BEAUTY HINTS.

Deep Yawning a Cheap, Sure Road to Health.

Deep yawning practiced as a regular exercise is the cheapest and surest road to perfect health. We are all familiar with the theory that systematic deep breathing is an excellent thing for the lungs, and it is on similar grounds that yawning is recommended. The expansion of the breast bones and the stretching of the arms which accompany a whole hearted yawn, together with the filling of the lungs, form a splendid daily exercise.

A Good Shampoo.

If full benefit from a good shampoo is desired never dress the hair until quite dry, and never go out with it damp. It will be better to take the shampoo at night than to risk a severe cold in the head from wind blowing on wet hair. While still slightly damp the hair may be tightly braided at night and left hanging. In the morning, when combed out, it will be beautifully waved and entirely dry. Once in six weeks is really often enough to give the head such a shampoo unless extremely oily; then once a month. Go over the head with a toothbrush and clear water between whiles, using a dry towel to wipe the scalp.

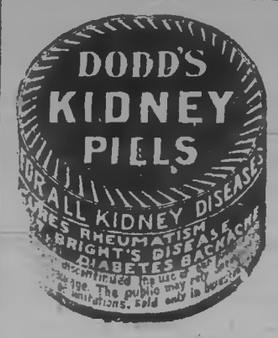
Remedy For Leg Cramp.

To those who suffer during the night with that painful complaint, cramp in the leg, the following hint will be useful: When the cramp comes on take a good, strong string—a long garter will do—wind it around the leg over the place that is affected, and take an end in each hand and give it a sharp pull, one that will hurt a little. Instantly the cramp will depart, and the sufferer can return to bed assured that it will not come again that night.

If you are afflicted with a red nose and the trouble is only superficial apply, night and morning, a mixture of glycerin and tannic acid, twenty grains of the latter to an ounce of the former.

In sickness, when disinfectants are needed in sinks and basins, use carbolic acid, allowing four tablespoonfuls to each pint of cold water. Pour down the pipes, and let it remain half an hour before flushing.

For a good mouth wash take an ounce of camphor and add two ounces of spirits of wine. Use a few drops in half a tumbler of water.



Rossini's Laziness.

Rossini was one of the most indolent of men and in his younger days used to do most of his composing in bed. Once he had almost completed a trio, when the sheet fell out of his hand and went under the bed. He could not reach it, and, rather than get up, he wrote another. The lazy man, if he works at all, does so by spurts, and Rossini, working against time, wrote "The Barber of Seville" in thirteen days. When Donizetti was told of this he remarked, "It is very possible. He is so lazy!" The overture to the "Gazza Ladra" was written under curious circumstances. On the very day of the first performance of the opera not a note of the overture was written, and the manager, getting hold of Rossini, confined him in the upper loft of La Scala, setting four scene shifters on guard over him. These took the sheets as they were filled and threw them out of the windows to copyists beneath.

A Child's Party.

It doesn't pay to let the ages of the children who are to be invited to a party extend over too wide a range of years unless the party is so big that you can divide it up into groups. Have plenty of favors for the youngsters to take home with them, as many different kinds of sandwiches and simple cakes and sweets as you can invent and have plenty of games ready to spring at a possible dull moment, and then—the party's bound to be a success.

Blankets.

When blankets have become thin and unsightly from long use have them washed, put two or three together and cover them with pretty sateen to make quilts. Button down the quilts here and there, mattress fashion, to keep them in proper shape and finish off with a nice frill of sateen.

Kept Her Word.

"This," said the school friend who had not seen her for a year; "this is the girl who vowed to me that she never would belong to any man, eh?"

"I don't," said she who had been married the matter of some few months or so. "He belongs to me."

Women Writers.

We know a number of women writers, and many of them are very good looking, much better looking, at any rate, than men writers, whose appearance is very seldom as attractive as their works.—Academy.

SNAPSHOT OF LA MODE.

Leghorn Hats Very Popular—Khaki Suits For Small Boys.

Leghorn hats are more popular than they have been for some years. Neapolitan is a favorite, a chip is very modish, and a host of other braids, new and old, have important places in the millinery world.

Nattier and watteau models are among the fashionable hats of the season. The lingerie hat is worn, but it is not so modish as it was last summer and appears mostly on the heads of wee tots.

CHECKED TAFFETA GOWN.

A charmingly pretty afternoon dress of hyacinth blue voile is made with a circular skirt shirred on cords about the hips. At the foot it is trimmed with three cord folds a shade deeper. Like folds border the blouse, which is worn over an underblouse of cream batiste in all over English embroidery effect.

Small boys are wearing khaki suits with ties of bright colored surah.

Tiny parasols come for automobile use. They are not unlike the small carriage parasol.

The gown pictured is of red and white checked taffeta. About the bottom of the skirt are deep tucks. The bolero gathered from a shallow yoke has collar, cuffs and bands of plain white taffeta trimmed with red braid in Greek key pattern. The girdle and collar knot are of black.

Kitchen Wrinkles.

Put a small piece of camphor away with silver not in use, it will prevent tarnishing.

To keep wooden bread boards in good condition, scrub them with sand or salt instead of soap.

To revive flowers sent by post plunge the stems into hot water and let them remain until the water is cold, then cut the ends of the stems and put the flowers into fresh cold water.

Match marks on the kitchen wall which have been caused by carelessly striking matches on them, will disappear if rubbed first with the cut surface of a lemon, then with a clean cloth dipped in whiting. Afterward wash the surface with warm water and soap, and then quickly wipe with a clean cloth wrung out of clear water.

For Lingerie Blouses.

A clever somebody invented corset covers with a little extension which successfully conceals the shields. And now another clever somebody is taking the idea further—making slip corset covers, which fasten in the back and which hide the shields as successfully, yet in themselves are several degrees more to be preferred to the more usual elaborate corset cover for wearing under exquisitely sheer waists.

TRENT CANAL.

TENDERS FOR WATER POWER.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for Water Power", will be received at this office until 16 o'clock on Thursday, the 29th November, 1906, for the surplus Water Power at Dam No. 4, Peterborough, on the Trent Canal.

Parties tendering must understand that in developing the power, the discharge below, must in no wise interfere with Navigation, and the Department reserves the right (without compensation to lessees) to raise Dam No. 5 two feet.

Lessees, as an evidence of good faith, will be required to expend in developing the power not less than $25,000 within 6 months and not less than $50,000 within 12 months from the date of the acceptance of the tender.

The term of lease shall be for 21 years renewable for three like terms, but the rent to be charged shall be subject to adjustment at each renewal term.

In the case of firms there must be attached the actual signatures of the full name, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the same, and further, an accepted bank cheque for the sum of $2,000 must accompany the tender; this accepted cheque must be endorsed over to the Minister of Railways and Canals, and will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into lease on the terms stated in the offer submitted.

The accepted cheques thus sent in will be returned to the respective parties whose tenders are not accepted.

This Department does not, however, bind itself to accept the highest or any tender.

By order.

"Fretty"

By Nancy Hazlitt

Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Caldwell

Alfaretta ran about the garden singing shrilly:

"Dear, dear, what can the matter be?
Dear, dear, what can the matter be?
Dear, dear, what can the m-a-t-t-e-r be—
Johnny so long at the fair?
He promised to bring me a bunch of blue ribbon,
He promised to bring me a bunch of blue ribbon,
He promised to bring me a bunch of blue ribbon,
To tie up my bonny brown hair."

"Fretty, I really wouldn't call him out of his name—you know it isn't Johnny," Cousin Langley said provokingly from the leafy depths of the grape arbor. "Besides, your hair isn't brown, not in the least. Instead, it's pure carrot color, also mighty pretty. If I were a painter person I might call it something else, but being what I am, a stickler for truth"—

"Would you know the truth if you met it in the road?" Alfretta flung at him. "I don't believe so," she went on disdainfully, shaking her glowing waves at him.

She was bareheaded, and the sun struck out high lights from the Titian mass above her white forehead, then fell down to waken green gleams in her long lashed eyes. Slim as became seventeen, tallish, light on little arched feet, with a long neck upbearing her face, she was distractingly pretty, especially to eyes jaded with artifice and sick of fashion—more specifically, Langley Madden's eyes.

Langley was only a third cousin, but assumed that the tie of blood entitled him to take an attitude so critical it was more than brotherly in its candor.

He had come to Alderbrook farm for six blessed, idle weeks after the stress of a long fight and the triumph of a big legal victory. He had not been there in years, although the place belonged to him. Its present occupants, the Lanes, had lived in it to oblige him. Therefore he had had but a faint memory of Alfaretta as a solemn young person who had disdained to be friends with him, choosing rather to make companions of the dogs, the kittens and her pony, Snap.

He recalled that she had barely tolerated Susette Barlow, who, in spite of being bigger, came sometimes to play with her. Susette had been a famous comrade. He had kissed her often, called her his little sweetheart and actually gone the length of sending down to her from the city after he was back there a birthday ring. Notwithstanding, he had found her married and happy, with a baby as round, rosy and dimpled as he remembered her. Ten years, he had reflected, made big changes every way. Still he was not quite prepared for the change they had wrought in Fretty.

"I REGARDED IT AS MY DUTY TO MARRY YOU."

The name was of his own coinage; in all other mouths the girl was Alfa. He had been quite taken aback to find that she did not resent his version of the baptismal mouthful. Indeed, she had said, with a little hovering smile, "The one comfort about my name is, no matter what people call me, they can't possibly make it worse than it is."

The saying had in a way startled him; he had not thought to find philosophy at seventeen in the rural regions. But as time went on he discovered that the philosophy was the least of Fretty's surprises. Young as she was, unformed and inexperienced, she had a way with her, also a poise quite wonderful to see. He did not wonder that she had taken captive his artist friend Vernon; it was Vernon's habit to fall fitfully in love with every girl who was in the least out of the common. Fretty had not a single usual fiber in her. In proof, take the fact that Vernon's adoration had not in the slightest degree turned her head.

"What have we to say to the painter person, Fretty?" Cousin Langley asked, coming out and laying hold of her hands. "Are we going to tell him to go about his business or are we going to say, 'Yes, and thanky, sir,' when he asks"—

"He won't ask," Fretty said, not trying to take away her hands. "You see, I told him at the very first I regarded it as my duty to marry you. Otherwise you would waste all your money—besides, it was the only way to keep Alderbrook in the family. He agreed with me, although I think he was sorry; it must have seemed a shame to him to miss such an opportunity. He no such person and called on a swarthy devil-may-care young fellow who lounged close by to confirm her in what she said.

"No," he reiterated. "No Jan is here."

It was useless to argue, and Clayton turned homeward with a feeling of defeat, when, perched on a fence near where he had first seen her, he espied Jan.

"I've been to find you at the camp," he said, "and they told me there was no such person."

"They told you that?" She threw back her head, and her brown throat shook with laughter.

"And there was a young fellow there who looked as if he would like to murder me."

"You mean Zingare? He is terribly jealous. The least thing puts him in a passion. That is why he pretended not to know where I was."

"And where were you?"

"Out in the woods at the edge of the hill to see the sunrise. It was like a campfire burning behind the trees." She was as voluble as she had been reticent before, and, vaulting up on the fence beside her, Clayton sat and talked till noon.

It was only when he reached his farmhouse that he remembered that he had meant to ask her about his future, and she had bewitched him so that he had forgotten it. The next two days it rained, and on the third he found the gypsy camp deserted. A charred spot marked the place where their fires had been, and that was all. They had vanished as silently as they had come.

And no one seemed to know what trail had been taken. Clayton was disappointed to the verge of moodiness. Try as he would, he could not drive Jan from his thoughts. Now he pictured her walking down the road, erect and graceful; now he fancied her crouching by the fire at night and probably with Zingare opposite, a thought which made him grind his teeth. Again and again Miss Alyard passed him in her high red cart, but he would not so much as turn to look. What were all the heiresses in the world compared to what he had lost?

In a crisp twilight as he wandered down the road some one stole up behind him and touched his arm.

"Jan!" he cried joyfully. "It's you! Where have you been? I've searched and searched. Perhaps"—he frowned—"perhaps you and Zingare"—

"Zingare!" Her voice was full of scorn.

"You do not love him?"

"No!" contemptuously.

"Then, Jan, will you marry me?"

"I, a gypsy? But your people—your friends"—

"Confound my friends! I love you!"

"Even if you find that I've deceived you as only some gypsies know how to deceive? At first, when you mistook me in my Hungarian walking costume, it was a joke—telling your fortune and then driving past you afterward—and then I meant to tell you I was Clorinda Alyard and I couldn't. I couldn't because I wanted to see if you'd care for me and not for anything else. And you do love me?" It was the girl and not the heiress who spoke.

"More than my life," said Clayton.

They are called the eccentric Claytons, because people sometimes meet them in the woods, walking together, hand in hand, laughing like children, she in a curious red and yellow costume and he in a blue flannel suit decidedly the worse for wear.

Economy In Interest.

It is well known that a woman will never become accustomed to banks, just as she will never learn to sharpen a pencil or drive a nail. But there is a woman, says the Washington Star, who takes the prize in financial matters, except that she reverses conditions.

Her husband held a fairly nice account at a local bank in common with her, where interest was paid on deposits at the rate of 3 per cent. One afternoon as she went shopping the wife had occasion to pass her husband's 3 per cent bank and then another which paid only 2 per cent. The more she thought about it the more complex the problem seemed.

At last, making up her mind that her husband and, of course, herself, were being cheated by a horrid cashier, she withdrew the deposits from the 3 per cent bank and turned them in at the other place.

That evening she said, "Do you know, dear, that I saved lots of money today?"

"How?" he asked.

"By placing our money in a bank that costs only 2 per cent instead of 3. It is infinitely cheaper, and"—

Facing a Dust Storm.

It is forty miles to Agra, twenty of them over rough country tracks. As we leave the town we pass a small temple where a Brahman priest is washing himself in the sun. He is an old man and the last left to look after the temple, which he will not shut up or desert, be the plague or famine ever so bad. We say a few words to him and leave a small present for the temple and begin to traverse the dreary track that lies ahead. During the conversation three of the great pillars of hot air and dust have amalgamated. An Indian dust storm is upon us. Suddenly the sky grows dark. How the hot wind roars over the parched plain! The sun is obscured by a dense haze of heat and dust. Darker and darker grows the sky, while a mighty wind seems to snatch the very ground from under one's feet, until all is lost in a very hurricane of hot, blinding, choking dust that hides the desolate scene around, blotting out both the dreary track on which we are traveling and the last grim horrors of Jaganir.—London Globe.

Rice a la Creole.

When youngsters come in hungry at noon rice a la creole will help still the pangs of hunger. Wash a cup of rice, drain it and put it over the fire in a saucepan containing a quart of boiling salted water. Cook fast and hard for five minutes, drain off the water and put the rice into the inner vessel of the double boiler with an even cupful of minced ripe tomatoes (peeled, of course) and one large green sweet pepper, seeded and minced. Add a little salt and a teaspoonful of sugar, with a teaspoonful of onion juice. Lastly pour in a cupful of boiling water in which has been melted a heaping tablespoonful of butter. Cover closely and simmer for half an hour or until the rice is tender, but not broken.

While They Waited

By Virginia Leila Wentz

Copyright, 1906, by C. H. Sutcliffe

He jumped out of the little country rig, leaving it in the hands of a freckle faced boy, and rushed up to the ticket office just as his train was pulling out from the station.

"Pshaw!" he exclaimed irascibly, and then to the sleepy looking, contented ticket agent, "When does the next train leave for New York?"

"Two hours," replied that individual laconically.

Maverick Oliver wasn't a man to cry over spilled milk. He sat himself philosophically down in a shady recess of the waiting room and extracted a notebook. He would look over some memoranda he had jotted down for his solicited article for the Review and then take a stroll along the country hedges. There seemed to be a rather attractive bit of woodland just beyond.

"How long must I wait for connections for Rosecliff?"

Something in the woman's voice, half contralto, half alto, made the man with the notebook suddenly start. He'd been so engrossedly conning his memoranda that he had scarcely noticed the incoming train, with all its attendant bustle. Now, however, a single woman's voice made him start and caused the Review article to be as far from his thoughts as the military affairs of nations B. C.

The woman's back was turned toward Oliver, but he knew it was Eleanor. Who else in all the world had that queenly carriage, that soft slope of shoulder, that bewitching mass of coiled chestnut hair?

"For Rosecliff?" came the ticket agent's monotonous voice as he caressed his wrinkled forehead with the back of his hand. "A half hour, ma'am. Train's sixteen minutes late." The woman turned impatiently away from the window.

It was then they came face to face.

"You!" cried Oliver, springing up.

She stood there in the barren waiting room, filling its emptiness with the richness of her charm. To the man's hungry eyes she was food of the most satisfying as well as of the most delicate sort.

She did not hold out her hand. Nevertheless she encountered him not in her old imperious fashion, but with a smile including him in some mood too large to be wholly personal.

"How you have changed, Eleanor!" he cried involuntarily.

"Are you, too, waiting for a train?" she answered softly in return. "In which direction do you go?"

"South—to New York," said Oliver. "And you?"

"To Rosecliffe, fourteen miles east."

Oliver took her umbrella and tiny suit case from her, and then they walked slowly up and down the platform together, man and woman, instead of husband and wife, held apart by some strange fiat they had both accepted.

In the fields, all around, the buttercups were golden and the wild carrot was in white, lacelike flower. Over in the woods beyond some song birds, waking from their summer siesta, were beginning to warble. A group of traveling men was lounging on the railing at the far end of the platform, expectorating copiously to punctuate the points in their stories.

Oliver dusted the platform steps at the other end of the walk with his handkerchief, and the woman sat serenely down, her delicate profile outlined against the clear blue of the sky like some exquisite cameo. She had always been beautiful, though. It wasn't that which made the man exclaim again irrepressibly:

"You've changed so, Eleanor!" It was true. It was no mere fancy of his imaginative writer's eye that discovered new meanings in the face before him. It had undergone a vague but very gracious transformation.

"Changed?" repeated she, with a curious tenderness. "I've tried to change—tried, do you understand? Since last winter, when we agreed to separate, I've been trying—so hard, Maverick—to take control of my own stunted nature, turn it where it twists"—

"Dear," broke in Oliver, with a bitter humility, "we were both to blame—both, do you hear? And I'm afraid you've been cleverer than I if you've unsnarled things where they failed to fit the pattern. I've not changed much, I'm afraid."

Under her black lashes the woman smiled at him with a reverence he might have translated (had he been high plumed) as some loyal acquiescence in his former state. What Oliver felt now, however, was curiosity in his young wife, not in himself. So—

"Tell me," he burst forth, "what has changed you so?"

She rolled up her absurd little handkerchief into a string and, throwing it over her knee, pulled it unconsciously by both ends, gazing steadfastly into the blue distance above Oliver's head.

"I don't know whether I ought to tell you," she began.

Oliver recalled that delicious little habit she used to have of tempting the fates shyly, of hesitating when she meant to be right down outrageous.

"Of course you ought," he urged. "You always do in the end, you know, and it will save time." Under her playfulness he had allowed himself to grow light hearted.

"Well, then"— she began, but her voice trailed off vaguely. Her cheeks took on a pinker bloom; she forgot the handkerchief and finished her thought to dance a stupid polka with the wicked prince."

I saw her the next day and the next and the day after. We reveled in reminiscences of the time when we were boy and girl together before the eccentric and rich Mrs. Van Houter, struck by the orphan's great promise of beauty, had adopted her. I was fairly carried away with Lurline's charms, but I prided myself on my strong will, and she did not know how my arms ached to hold her.

When we were together she was not at home to the prince, for which I was duly thankful, but I exerted all my energies toward making her relaize the horror of a union with him. She would not argue, neither would she promise to refuse him. At last I appealed to Mrs. Van Houter.

"It is not right of you to let the child sacrifice herself!" I blazed.

Mrs. Van Houter regarded me lazily. "Would you mind telling me why you don't want Lurline to marry the prince?"

"He is a wreck, physical and moral," I answered, trying to keep cool. "He is a drunkard. I should think these are sufficient reasons."

"Have you told them to Lurline?"

"Yes, but she is blinded by her gratitude to you. A young girl cannot realize what it means anyway."

"Have you no other reason, Gordon?"

I felt my face grow hot. "I think you know there is. If it weren't for your wretched money, Mrs. Van Houter, I would marry Lurline Holland if she would let me."

"And what have you to offer her, boy?"

"Two clean hands and a tongue that has never spoken evil of a woman and the munificent resources of a village doctor," I added bitterly.

"Good. I should advise you to tell the child so."

I stared at her; then I took up my hat. "That is impossible, Mrs. Van Houter. I am not a fortune hunter."

Mrs. Van Houter laughed. "Make your mind easy on that score, Gordon. I have lost every cent I had. Only Lurline and I know it yet, but soon."

I was unforgivingly rude, but I waited to hear no more. I hastened into the garden—to Lurline.

"Lurline, girl, I want to explain those three wishes—power, position and pelf. It wasn't for themselves that I craved them, dear, but because I thought their possession might help me to win you. The barrier is down between us now. My beloved, may I take you back to the old home and the wintergreens? It will be good to you, Lurline."

Into Lurline's face flashed rose color; from her glorious eyes looked heaven. I took her into my arms, that were so glad, so glad, and she whispered:

"You didn't ask me my three wishes, Gordie. The first one was you, and the second was you, and the third was you."

SUNLIGHT SOAP

is better than other Soaps but is best when used in the Sunlight way. Follow directions.

SUNLIGHT
WAY OF WASHING
FIRST.—Dip the article to be washed in a tub of lukewarm water; draw it out on a washboard and rub the soap lightly over it. Be particular not to miss soaping all over. THEN roll it in a tight roll, lay in the tub under the water, and go on the same way until all the pieces have the soap rubbed on, and are rolled up.
Then go away for thirty minutes to one hour and let the "Sunlight" Soap do its work.
NEXT.—After soaking the full time rub the clothes lightly out on a wash board, and the dirt will drop out; turn the garment inside out to get at the seams, but don't use any more soap; don't scald or boil a single piece, and don't wash through two suds. If the water gets too dirty, pour a little out and add fresh. If a streak is hard to wash, rub some more soap on it, and throw the piece back into the suds for a few minutes.
LASTLY COMES THE RINSING, which is to be done in lukewarm water, taking special care to get all the dirty suds away, then wring out and hang up to dry.
For Woolens and Flannels proceed as follows:—Shake the articles free from dust. Cut a tablet of SUNLIGHT SOAP into shavings, pour into a gallon of boiling water and whisk into a lather. When just lukewarm, work articles in the lather without rubbing. Squeeze out dirty water without twisting and rinse thoroughly in two relays of lukewarm water. Squeeze out water without twisting and hang in the open air.
The most delicate colors may be safely washed in the "Sunlight" way.

Hidden by Their Colors.

To understand the value of what scientific men call protective coloration in animals one need only look at the common ruffed grouse, or partridge, of North America and consider how hard it is to see him in the woods, even where nothing intervenes to hide him from view. His colors agree so well with the background against which he stands that the eye is slow to make him out. Mr. Gregory, in his volume of African travel, "The Great Rift Valley," mentions several striking instances of animals thus protected, among which that of a certain monkey, Colobus occidentalis, is perhaps the most peculiar. This monkey is covered with a long, silky fur, arranged in alternate stripes of black and white, so handsome that the skin is much prized by the natives for making head ornaments. The contrast of black and white is so marked that at first sight it would seem to preclude concealment, but its value is at once evident when the animal is seen at home. It lives in high forests, where the trees have black trunks and branches, draped with long gray masses of beard moss or lichen. As the monkeys hang from the branches they resemble the lichen so closely that Mr. Gregory found it impossible to recognize them, even at a short distance.

For Marriageable Maidens.

"Remember," says an experienced matron, "that it is not always an easy task for a girl to know when a man is in love with her. Love affects different men differently. It makes one genial, another gloomy; one man pesters the woman he loves with his attentions, while another man is rendered shy and will hardly glance at the object of his devotion. In short, the whole problem is one which demands tact and patience. A girl should always beware of supposing that every man who is politely attentive to her is smitten by her charms. Hundreds of men find a fascination in women's society without being in love with any particular woman. The man who is really in love will sooner or later reveal himself."

The Latest.

The night officer found the old farmer sitting on the steps of a vacant house contentedly chewing a straw.

"Waiting for any one?" asked the officer suspiciously.

"Yep," responded the old man in confidence. "I am waitin' for the scientist to get back."

"What scientist?"

"Why, the one with my ten dollar bill. He slapped me on the back and told me that thar he seventeen different crawlin' germs on every ten dollar bill. He said if I'd let him have a ten dollar bill a few minutes he would take it down to the arc light around the corner and stick a pin through each germ so I could see them with my own eyes. He's been gone about half an hour, but I reckon it takes him quite a little while, 'cause them germs are pesky small to see."

And the old farmer settled himself comfortably to await the return of the "scientist."—Detroit Tribune.

Cautious.

She was one of those fussy old women.

"Ain't you rather young to be left in charge of the drug store?" she began.

"Perhaps. What can I do for you?" answered the mite of a "qualified assistant."

"Do your employers know it's dangerous to have a mere boy like you in charge of such a place?"

"I am competent to serve you, madam, if you will state your wants."

"Don't you know you might poison some one?"

"There's no danger of that, madam. What can I do for you?" — Houston Post.

An Exception.

"Now, in order to subtract," explained a teacher to the class in mathematics, "things always have to be of the same denomination. For instance, we couldn't take three apples from four years nor six horses from nine dogs."

A hand went up in the back of the room.

"Well, Johnny?" smiled the unsuspecting teacher.

"Please, ma'am," shouted the boy, "can't you take four quarts of milk from three cows?"—Judge's Magazine of Fun.

Rev. Father Keilty Was Much Beloved

A Relative and Namesake of Rev. Father Keilty, of Douro, Died in St. Louis—Some of the Characteristics of the Illustrious Priest.

At the request of Rev. Father Keilty, of Douro, The Examiner reproduces from the Post-Despatch of St. Louis, Mo., the following sketch of Rev. Father Francis M. Keilty, a much beloved and lamented priest who has just gone to his reward. Many, while reading, will be struck by the many points of resemblance between Father Keilty, of Douro, and his illustrious name-sake and distant relative, of St. Louis, who has just passed away.

On September 23, from the little Church of the Holy Angels, La Salle street and St. Ange avenue, within whose consecrated walls he ministered to the spiritual needs of his parishioners for thirty-eight years, the funeral of Rev. Francis M. Keilty, wit, scholar and much beloved priest, will be held at 9 a.m. Tuesday.

The body will be removed Monday from St. Anthony's Hospital, Grand avenue and Chippewa street, to the church, and will lie in state until the conclusion of the funeral ceremonies. Father Keilty died at 10.10 a.m. on Saturday, following a month's illness, due chiefly to his extreme age.

"I want to wear out, not rust out," had been his lifetime saying. It was a great source of satisfaction, as he saw the approach of the end, to know that he had realized this wish. Although his health had been failing for nearly two years, he was able to attend to his parish duties until a few weeks before his confinement in the hospital.

At his bedside when the end came were Rev. Thomas V. O'Reilly, for seven years his assistant at the Holy Angels, and Rev. Father O'Connor, of the New Cathedral Chapel. Dr. Robert O'Reilly, his personal physician for many years, and one of his dearest friends, did everything in his power to stay the hand of death. Rev. Father John Lilly, foremovable rector of the Immaculate Conception Church of Springfield, Mo., one of his oldest and most intimate friends, reached the hospital just ten minutes after his death.

Friend to Sing Mass

Father Lilly, who was associated with Father Keilty when he was pastor of St. Paul's Church in Rall County, Mo., in 1861, will sing solemn requiem mass over the bier of his friend, and the priests of the diocese will chant the offices of the dead. The funeral oration will be delivered by the Venerable Father Charles Ziegler, rector of St. Malachy's Church, who is himself one of the oldest priests in the diocese. The absolution ceremonies will be conducted by Archbishop Glennon.

Father O'Reilly will have charge of the parish until the appointment of Father Keilty's successor.

When he went to the hospital he hoped that he would soon be able to return to his parishioners, who loved him almost to veneration. The Franciscan Sister in charge of St. Anthony's soon realized that his condition was more serious than he believed, and began to prepare for the end. There was a constant stream of priests and friends to the hospital during his sickness, and he received them all as long as his strength would permit. He lapsed into unconsciousness about four days before his death. The end was peaceful and painless.

Father Keilty was born in the town of Boyle, Roscommon, Ireland. Certain records say he was born in March, 1830, which would make him 76 years of age. He moved with his parents to Manchester, England, when he was seven years old. Before he grew to manhood the family came to American and settled in Cincinnati. There young Keilty fell in with the Jesuits, was enamoured with the life of the clergy, and decided to become a priest. He was sent to the novitiate at Florisant, St. Louis County, and later graduated from the St. Louis Diocesan Seminary in Carondelet. He was ordained a priest in 1860.

Soon Had Cathedral Charge

His first assignment was as assistant pastor of St. Lawrence O'Toole's parish. In 1861 he went to Ralls County and became pastor of St. Paul's Church, but he made such rapid strides in the priesthood that two years later he returned to St. Louis and took charge of the old Cathedral. He remained in charge of that important parish until Dec. 5 1865, when he was transferred to the Church of the Immaculate Conception, which then stood at Eighth and Chestnut streets. He was transferred to the Church of the Holy Angels in February, 1869, and remained in charge there until his death.

When Father Keilty was pastor of the old Cathedral and the Immaculate Conception parishes, they were the most important in the city. At the time of his transfer to Holy Angels' Church many of the wealthiest and most prominent men in the city were on its register. Although the centre of wealth moved westward and Father Keilty's parishioners at Holy Angels finally came to be among the poorest in the city, yet he always maintained his close relations with the old French families, whose acquaintance he formed in earlier life. As his fashionable congregation gradually left him, and poorer and less stylish people came to worship in his church, there was not the slightest change in the faithful priest.

Argued With Ingersoll

Father Keilty was known from ocean to ocean as a wit and scholar. He was ready at all times to defend his faith. He gained wide notoriety about fifteen years ago by taking issue with Robert G. Ingersoll on the ethics of suicide. The celebrated agnostic lecturer made the statement that suicide did not constitute a sin. Father Keilty wrote a sermon on the subject, the principal point which was that sin was an offence against God; that Ingersoll, being an infidel, did not believe in God, and therefore had no conception of what constituted sin, and no right to persume to instruct the public on that subject.

He once engaged in a newspaper controversy with a well known Episcopal clergyman on the legality of Napoleon's divorce from Josephine. Throughout the discussion, which lasted several months, Father Keilty ably upheld his belief that marriage can be dissolved only by death.

Father Keilty's greatest love was his books. During his life time he collected one of the finest private libraries in St. Louis. About a year ago he presented the entire library, consisting of more than 2,000 carefully selected volumes, to St. Louis University. The library consisted of historical, polemic and ecclesiastica works, and it is now known as the Keilty addition to the library of the university. It was in accordance with his plan to administer his estate before his death that he gave the library to the university. In talking about its disposition, he once said that he intended to put it where he thought it would do the most good for the education of the Jesuits of St. Louis.

Collected More Books

His library was a part of his life, and his intimate friends thought he began to decline immediately after the volumes he loved so well were transferred from his little parish home to the university. He said when he saw the books going that he had lost his best friend. During the last year of his life he collected about 300 additional volumes, and these are now in his room. It is said that he read nearly all of them.

In his early days Father Keilty had a desire to become a Jesuit. He has always had a high regard for the Order, but found that he preferred the more active life of the secular priesthood to that of a Jesuit teacher.

Father Keilty was a great lover of game chickens. During the last 25 years he kept a large flock of particularly fine chickens around his premises. At the time of his death he had many beautiful chickens of the Irish fighting stock, which were presented to him by the late Charles Turner. Although he was fond of this breed of fowl, he never permitted a cock fight, though some of his parishioners often jocularly challenged him to pit his finest roosters against their fighters. He told his friends so often that his own gameness was due to eating the eggs of game chickens that he came to believe it. This was one of his witticisms that became a part of his daily life.

Once when a party of friends had gathered around he made some eggnog. The eggs in the concoction had been laid by his game chickens.

"This is what makes me so game," he remarked, pressing the goblet to his lips.

Wit Turned Away Wrath

The wit of the aged priest often served him well. A priest's duties are not always light or pleasant. Sometimes parishioners call in a greatly perturbed state of mind. Sometimes they even say harsh things to their pastor. It mattered not how angry a parishioner might be when he called on Father Keilty he was always sent away in a happy frame of mind. A witty retort at an opportune time always served to pacify the caller and it was the weapon the priest used most effectively in defending himself against attack.

His witticisms and quaint sayings were the delight of the coterie of intimate friends who gathered occasionally at the parochial residence to pass an evening with him.

His silver jubilee in 1885 was almost a state-wide affair. Father Keilty desired to have a quiet celebration in his parish in commemoration of his 25 years' service in the priesthood. His friends took the arrangements out of his hands, and made the occasion one that he never forgot. The distinguished men of the city and state gathered at the church to pay their respects to the priest, who was then in the zenith of his power and influence as a clergyman. The Holy Angels' church was at that time one of the most fashionable in the city. Father Keilty though he could have had a better charge at any time, would never desert the old post. He remained loyal to his parish to the end.

He was twice nominated for the office of Bishop. His constant friend, Archbishop Kenrick, did everything he could to promote his success, but he was defeated in the first instance by the late Patrick A. Feenan, who died in Chicago a few years ago, after having attained great eminence in the church and in the second by Bishop John Lancaster Spaulding, of Peoria.

Father Keilty had no near relatives living in St. Louis. Practically his entire estate consisted of his books.

Loved by Priests and People

He was loved as few men are. He had the faculty of making and retaining friends. During his last sickness thousands of friends called at the parochial residence of the hospital to inquire about his condition. His fellow-clergymen were greatly devoted to him on account of his profound learning, his wide experience and his remarkable wit.

Rev. Father Ziegler, who will officiate over the casket of his dead friend, has been longer in the service than Father Keilty. Only recently Father Ziegler's eye-sight was restored, after his parishioners, as he said, "took heaven by storm" with their prayers. Fathers Ziegler and Keilty were young men together, and both have served the entire period of their priesthood in the St. Louis Archdiocese.

The little church of the Holy Angels, where Father Keilty spent the greater part of his life as a priest is one of the least imposing in the city. It was erected many years ago and before church architecture in St. Louis had approached its present standard. Its weather-beaten walls show plainly enough that a wealthy congregation no longers worships there. The priests of the city who have seen Father Keilty stand by his little church during its waning power have loved him for his loyalty to his people, whose interests he could not forsake to seek those better able to reward him.

Deputation Is Calling On Premier Whitney

Mayor Best Leads a Deputation of Conservative Members of the City Council.

His Worship Mayor Best is heading a deputation which went to Toronto to-day to interview Premier Whitney on matters relating to the city and its interests. The deputation is composed of the Conservative members of the Council, and is accompanied by Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., who will introduce the members to the Premier.

His Worship was asked last night what matters would be discussed with the Premier, but he was non-committal, and stated that it was hard to say what would be discussed. It is understood, however, that the Premier will be asked as to his position with respect to legislation which the city wishes to have enacted at the next session of the Legislature. If his support can be secured, it is probable that some of the clauses of the city's private bill, which were thrown out at the last session, will be re-introduced next year.

CHIEF ISSUES ORDERS FOR HALLOWE'EN

To-night is Hallowe'en, or the Eve of All Hallows, renowned in story since the days when the townspeople believed in bogiemen, fairies, and other spirits of the night. Then the fireside was the central attraction of an evening in the home, but custom has changed, or, rather expanded. Now, one feature of Hallowe'en, and an objectionable one at that, is the destruction of property by the youths. Chief Roszel wishes to say that harmless fun will be overlooked, but that there are fifty special policemen for those who carry off gates, and, generally, act as vandals. In years gone by, Hallowe'en was accompanied by the wanton destruction of property, but the law has asserted itself, and this custom is being generally overcome. Disorderly conduct will be sufficient to cause an arrest; thus the youth are given a last warning not to act as ruffians, unless they wish lodgings in the police cells.

Suicide Of Former Peterborough Man

G. F. Jackson, Manager of Bell Telephone Co's Office at Port Hope, Kills Himself.

(Examiner Special.)

Port Hope, Oct. 31.—G. F. Jackson, manager of the Bell Telephone Co. here, is supposed to have committed suicide this morning by inhaling coal gas. He was found early this morning in the kitchen with the gas tube of the kitchen stove in his mouth. Dr. Forrest and Dr. Clemsha were called in, but nothing could be done. An inquest will be held by Dr. McKintry, the coroner. Mr. Jackson came to Port Hope about a year ago from Peterborough. He leaves a widow and three small children.

The late Mr. Jackson was well known in this city, where he lived for about eight years, until January, 1906. While here he occupied the position of wire chief, and was not only a general favourite, but was looked upon as a very capable telephone man. That the company regarded him as such is evident from his promotion to the management of the Port Hope office. Mrs. Jackson is a native of London, and is very highly respected.

Paper Chase On Brock Street

Amusing Incident Occurred—High Wind Scatters Papers.

This morning's wind caused one gentleman a little trouble and others some amusement. There have been many paper chases around the country, but none in which elderly persons took part. This morning a well known local gentleman was walking west on Brock street just around the corner near Clark's store. There was nothing unusual about this, but he was carrying a great load of books and papers, having both arms in use. Suddenly a rather strong wind swooped along and it was "skidoo" to the four winds for the papers and books. However, it was only the topmost that were swept away, leaving the man unable to collect them. Another gentleman, an old sport, who lives close by, happened along and lent a helping hand. However, like the hero of the myth the work seemed endless. When some papers were collected others would have been blown away and it was soon that three or four were helping. It was an ideal paper chase only more amusing and probably coloured with little speeches that are not exactly found in the Bible. There is an end to everything and so there was to the this event, which ended by the complete restoration of the paper.

Dog Poisoners Work in Warsaw

Many Valuable Canines are Being Destroyed.

Examiner Special

Warsaw, Oct. 31.—Several of the citizens of this place are rightfully indignant at the wholesale dog-poisoning that has been going on for several days. It is, apparently, a case of deliberate destruction, as a dish of salmon containing stryohnine was found near the residence of the owner of one of the dogs. If the person who set the dope is located, no doubt several police court actions will follow.

A Statesman's Dilemna

Montreal Herald.

HERE IS the latest on "Figgy" Connors, the well-known Buffalo newspaper owner, ex-contractor, who is well known here in connection with harbour works:

Successful Contestants In Bandaging Examinations

The Five Nurses Who Tried Were Equal—Pleasant Social Event Followed.

The annual bandaging contests of the nurses in the Nicholls Hospital in the graduating classes were held last night in the south ward of the hospital. All the nurses who competed were successful, and did so remarkably well that it was impossible for the examining doctors to decide the winners.

Those who successfully tried the examinations were Miss Berry, Mrs. Douglas, Miss Mowry, Miss Steele and Miss Ratcliffe. Instrument cases were the prizes for the winners.

Present at the examination were the board and staff of the Nicholls Hospital, who were very much gratified at the excellent work of the contestants.

After the examinations were concluded and the results were given out, a delightful social evening was spent. Mr. Maurice Van der Water rendered two vocal solos in his usual brilliant manner, and Mr. Gilbert Markle pleased the gathering with a violin solo. Refreshments were then served, after which the enjoyable evening was brought to a close.

QUICK RETURNS AND SATISFACTORY, TOO

Yesterday Mr. D. J. Turner, Sr., inserted an ad. in the want column of the Examiner advertising a stove for sale. It was ordered in for three days, but will not run that length of time a stove for sale. It was—one was enough. Before 7 o'clock two persons had called to buy the stove, and so one of the two Mr. Turner sold it. others came in this morning, but they were, of course, too late.

There's a lesson in this incident. When you see an ad. in the Examiner want column, act at once; don't leave it until the next day; that will probably be too late.—Mrs. R. D. Turner, Broadview, N.W.T.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Galvin in the presence of a few friends. Mr. Patrick Henley was best man, and the bridesmaid was Miss Josephine Delaire.

Cold on the Lungs.

To-night Is Hallowe'en; Its Customs, What It Means

Sometimes Known as "Nutcrack Night"—Explain It That Name First.

Dear to us Now Only For Memorial of the Past—How it is observed.

The celebration of Allhallows' Eve, or, as it is now commonly called, Hallowe'en, is one of the oldest customs handed down to us by our ancestors, and was quaintly called in England "Nutcrack night." It was originally the vigil of All Saints' Day, which is on the 1st of November. Allhallow Eve was thought to be a night when devils, witches and other mischief-making beings were abroad on their baneful midnight errands. We are told that huge fires were built in various parts of England, Scotland and Wales to frighten off these mischievous creatures.

"The first of November," says Hutchinson, in his Northumberland, "seems to retain the celebration of a festival to Pomona, when it is supposed the summer stores were opened on the approach of winter."

Some Customs

Nuts and apples chiefly composed the entertainment, and from the custom of flinging the former into the fire or cracking them with their teeth, it has doubtless led to the quaint name of "Nutcrack night." The games consisted of diving for apples which were floating in tubs of water; catching with the mouth an apple which was fastened on the end of a swinging stick, on the other end of which was a lighted candle; burning nuts and popcorn, and various other similar pastimes.

Among the country folk various rites were indulged in, among them being the sowing of different kinds of grain to determine who the husband or wife would be; paring an apple and throwing the skin over one's left shoulder. It is commonly believed that if one lighted a candle and stood in front of a mirror for a time industriously combing the hair, the countenance of the future husband would appear in the mirror.

Dear in Memory Only

Nuts were given the names of various possible suitors and cast into the glowing fire. The one which popped the loudest was bound to be the looked-for lover. It was also believed that if newly-married pair could determine the course of their future life through the antics of a pair of nuts placed side by side among the coals.

Of course, the night has long since lost its significance for us, who merely observe it as a sort of dear memory, for these old observations have a charm about them that is most delightful.

Bank Shareholders Get Par Value For Stock?

This is the Fond Hope of Some of Those Who Are Interested in the Ontario Bank.

The Toronto News says: The fate of the Ontario Bank shareholders is still a matter of conjecture. Some have predicted that unless the directors could be forced to make good at least a portion of the losses, the stockholders would eventually be called upon to the extent of their double liability or a part thereof.

More cheerful prophets now hope that from 25 to 70 per cent. of the value of their stock will be saved for the shareholders. Mr. James Bicknell, K.C., solicitor for the curator, is quoted as saying that the assets would yield 25 cents at any rate, and perhaps 50 cents, on the dollar. The curator himself refuses to pass an opinion. If a good case is found against the wealthy directors it might be that the ordinary shareholders would yet receive par value for their stock. This, however, seems almost too much to expect.

Miss J. G. Kennedy Is Miss Loveday's Successor

Toronto Lady Appointed to Position of Secretary of Homes for Girls—Her Qualifications.

Miss J. G. Kennedy who has been for the last ten years a member of the office staff of the Barnardo Home, in Toronto, has been appointed to the post of secretary to the Peterborough Home, rendered vacant by the tragic death of Miss Loveday. Miss Kennedy has admirable qualifications for the position, and with the experience that she has gained in the work, the Home officials have every reason to look forward to her successful administration of the responsible post to which she has been appointed. Miss Kennedy is a Canadian by birth and a member of an old Canadian family so that she thoroughly understands the conditions under which the girls are placed out and growing up.

Miss Kennedy has not arrived in the city yet, but she will be here to enter upon the duties of her new position to-morrow.

Shareholders Are Witholding Books

And as a Result York Loan Liquidtor Has Trouble.

Hundreds of shareholders of the York Loan and Savings Company are still withholding their stock certificates and books, and thereby hampering the efforts of the liquidators in endeavouring to get the affirs of the company straightened out. The staff of clerks who were taken over from the York Loan offices are still employed in the work.

The liquidators at first determined to withold all statements of assets and liabilities until the shareholders books were all in. In view of the difficulty experienced in collecting the books, however, it is not impossible that an interim statement may be presented for the shareholders in a few weeks.

In the meantime the liquidators await the advent of a car-line up Roncesvales avenue, before making a general effort to dispose of the vast areas of York Loam property in that district.

A Famine Exists In City Stores

Merchant Advocates the Erection of More on Vacant Property.

"Why don't some of you newspaper men advocate the erection of more stores in the city?" asked a grocery merchant this morning of an Examiner representative.

He explained that there now existed a famine in stores in the business section of the city, and many were disposing of their leases at a handsome profit to others who are urgently in need of stores, and will pay almost any price for them.

This grocer stated that at present the merchants of the city were being held up by the real estate owners, and were charged enormous rents. If a dozen more stores were added on George street, he believed that they would be occupied in less than a week.

The city is expanding in all directions yet the number of stores remain the same, and he considered it would be a wise move on the part of any enterprising property owners to see that more accommodation was provided for business men.

A SIMPLE REMEDY.

An observant citizen has suggested a simple solution for a dangerous condition that is found every winter at the post office. The drip from the eaves and belt courses falls upon the stone steps, and freezing, creates a very dangerous state of slipperiness, especially for elderly persons. The danger might be minimised, if not entirely removed, by dividing the steps medially, at both the Hunter and Water street entrances, and at the western end of the Hunter street front, by a railing of iron tubing. This railing would give a safe support to persons both ascending and descending, and would prevent many a fall, and, in some cases, serious injury. The remedy is so simple and sensible that it is a wonder that it has not been provided long ago.

AN EASY WAY

Though the season of canoeing is over there is no better time than between seasons, to have taken into consideration the removal of a great source of danger to canoeists which exists at the locks at the entrance to Little Lake. Everybody recognizes that the approach to the canoe slide at the head of the locks is a most dangerous piece of water for canoeists, who are not experts to negotiate. Even expert paddlers, if the utmost vigilance is relaxed, are exposed to danger. At the foot of the wharf that extends below the locks, there is a very dangerous eddy and following the swift current to the slide there is found another equally dangerous miniature whirlpool. It is suggested by a practical canoeist, intimately acquainted with the situation, that these dangerous conditions may be easily removed. He points out that if a narrow channel leading from the wharf at the foot of the locks to the canoe slide at the upper end, were dredged out and the resulting earth formed into an embankment, the latter would constitute a breakwater which would do away with eddies and remove the danger. This dredging would not take long nor be expensive. We have workmen in the city a government dredge and when its present work is completed it might well be employed to dredge cut the channel mentioned. Peterborough is the home of the canoe and the fact that about two thousand are made in this city in a year, shows to what a large extent canoeing is a pastime and medium of enjoyment and, to many, a business medium. If the danger at the locks only interfered with pastime, that would be a trifling matter compared to the positive danger to life the existing conditions represent. Though the cemetery is suggestively adjacent, that is no reason why a state of things involving danger of loss of life should be permitted to continue. A few dollars of expenditure—it will not take much money nor a long time—might well be made in the interest of the safety of human life, and in the interests of one of our most popular and pleasant forms of aquatic enjoyment. Our neighbouring waters are becoming more popular and better known every year. We may, therefore, expect a greater use of them for boating and canoeing. With this increase, the danger pointed out becomes greater. It is a matter of pride as well as of no little profit, that our waters should be made as attractive as possible, and since a death trap like the one mentioned is not properly included in the list of attractions, no time should be lost in having it eliminated.

NORTH BRUCE REDEEMED

Those Conservative journals and those Conservative politicians who saw in the result of three bye-elections the death knell of the Laurier Government, fortunately for themselves did their shouting before the North Bruce election yesterday, resulting in the return of the Liberal candidate, Mr. John Tolmie, by a majority of 350. This is a Liberal gain. North Bruce has been, continuously, Conservative in its representation since 1878 and by considerable majorities at several elections. The victory of Mr. Tolmie has a double aspect. While it may be a tribute to his personal popularity, it is at the same time an evidence of the popular esteem in which the Liberal Government policy is held by the people. A rational, moderate tariff such as the Liberal Government has provided and will doubtless continue, subject to revision in details, appeals strongly to farming electors such as comprise the bulk of North Bruce voters. Mr. Tolmie was a Patron and representative farmer. His platform on tariff issues was identified with that of the Government. He recognizes plainly the handicap upon the agricultural industry represented by a burdensome tariff. The handsome endorsation of his and the Government's policy in this regard by the farmers of North Bruce, interprets no doubt, the sentiments of the farming electorate of the country at large, who, with North Bruce, sympathise with the Government's policy of not yielding to the clamour for elevation of the tariff to the high level of protectionism. Another thing the North Bruce election shows, as doubtless the bye-election in Queens and Shelburn will show, is that, when the Government appeals to the electorate on a square and uncomplicated issue of policy, there is not only no withdrawal of confidence but an expression of confidence in an increased degree.

THE HORSE QUESTION.

The friends of the horse, do not feel inclined to allow the noble animal to be side-tracked by the automobile. The action of the Government in instituting investigation and inquiry to discover the best methods of improving the quality of our horseflesh, is simply the concrete expression of the sentiment of a large part of the public in regard to the horse. Whatever may be the results of the work of the horse commission, there is one thing evident, that a set-back, if not knock-out blow will be administered to the practice of employing scrub sires. The experimental work, with grains at the Agricultural College, has demonstrated in a striking way, that good crops cannot be successfully grown from defective seed. Neither can good horses be bred from broken-down, decrepit and unsound dams and sires, of low strain, and no breeding. The best stock can only result from the employmennt of well-bred sires and good dams. It is, besides, far easier to keep a good animal in condition, during his growth, than it is to bring a scrub along till it reaches a saleable age, and even when, in its case, that age is reached, its saleable quality is far inferior to that of a well-bred colt. Supposing, however, that in both cases, the same trouble and expense are involved in bringing a colt to a marketable age, the value of the well-bred animal is so promptly and practically recognized by a shrewd buyer, and the disabilities of the scrub so promptly taken into account, that there becomes no question of which is the more profitable animal to handle. The commission, it is a pleasure to know, had not much reason to find fault with the horse flesh of this district, for there are perhaps few sections of the province in which so many good horses can be seen, either on our city streets, on the highways, or on the farms. Still, there are in too many cases, sires kept and employed, which, in place of looking forward to future generations of horseflesh, should be looking forward to a peaceful life, in front of the plough or harrow — their only place of real usefulness.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It is to be noted that the members of Parliament most prominent in denouncing in Parliament what they called scandals, were also most prominent in the questionable land deals and manipulations revealed by the Insurance Commission investigation.

With a flourish of trumpets, the present Ontario Government, the Brockville Recorder remarks, cancelled a contract their predecessors had made with the Canada Cordage Company. The latter sued, and judgment has been given in their favour. The sticks of some of the Whitney rockets are coming to earth again.

The electors of New York are between the devil and the deep sea in the matter of casting their ballots in the gubernatorial election next month. If they refrain from voting for Hearst, the Democratic candidate, with his malodorous record, and methods, they will be practically giving a vote in favour of the corporations, whose methods, if they are not as brilliantly bad as Hearst's, are, and have been, capable of more disastrous results.

Mr. Borden, the leader of the Conservative Opposition, declares, with fine emphasis, that one of the essentials of the stability of our democratic institutions is: "We must first have clean elections." If Mr. Borden's statement is not to be taken in a Pecksniffian sense, he will persuade his followers, guiding an investigation, to disclose political impurity, to regard electoral corruption, practiced by his own party, as as great a crime and as worthy of exposure as that sought to be shown on the part of their opponents.

A Local Party In Smashup

Mr. and Mrs. Crowley Have a Close Call on the L Rivers.

An accident occurred on the Irondale, Bancroft and Ottawa Railway yesterday afternoon, which might have been fatal to the passengers who were on board, some of whom were local people.

The accident occurred at Williams Falls, a place on the Burnt River. The train which was a mixed one, was on its way to Kinmount, when a loaded flat car jumped the rails in turning a rather sharp curve. The coupling between the car and the engine broke, the car plunging into the river, taking with it two others. Two cars became overturned when they reached the water, where they still are, while two others cars came to a stop on the bank. It is a wonder that the passenger car remained on the track, as it did, the first truck alone leaving the rails. A local party, consisting of Mr. T. H. Crowley, wife and child, state that the dozen people in the coach, were badly shaken up, although no one was seriously hurt. The party was conveyed to Kinmount on the engine, where they were transferred to the G.T.R.

Saturday's Game Should Be Well Patronized

"We Need the Money" Sign is Being Hung Out—Team Has Been Travelling in Hard Luck and Finances are Not in the Best Condition Possible.

There should be a bumper gate at Saturday's Rugby game between the Victorias and Peterborough. The boys have encountered bad luck in both their home games, the weather being responsible for small crowds. As a result the finances are not in the best of condition. The amount taken in last Saturday hardly paid for expenses. The officials, Messrs. Hayes and Robins in Saturday's game, cost the local club $24, as mileage had too be given from Hamilton here. The two trips to Toronto and Hamilton have also proved costly, and now, with another game to play in Toronto, the club finds itself with no funds in the treasury.

These funds must come from Saturday's game, and the enthusiasts should turn out in large numbers. The club is deserving of support, as they have striven to bring Peterborough to the front as a live sporting town. True it is that the club has not won all its games, but after all, 'the play's the thing," and they have at least established their right to play in senior company.

The sport-loving public of Peterborough should see that the club does not end the season with a deficit. There should at least be 1000 people at Saturday's game, or rather, games, for the city league struggle between the Bankers will also be played on Saturday. Turn out and encourage the team by the thought that their efforts have not been unappreciated. You know you would be on hand if the team were winning. Put your hammer away—the Knockers' Club is overcrowded now, come to the game on Saturday. If the crowd is not large all that will be coming to Rugby here next season will be a handsomely engraved Skidoo message.

Chivalry Of Only An Indian

And Yet His White Brethern Do Not Seem To Observe Its Value

Near the end of a brilliant match between our oldest university and the stalwart Indians one of the Indian backs suddenly got away with the ball and was off down the field with nothing between him and the goal posts, but one man.

If the runner succeeded in getting by him it meant everlasting athletic glory for himself and perhaps a victory for his small college over this mighty institution of learning. The crowd in the stands had arisen, gasping in their excitement, as crowds always do at such moments. But just as he had almost gained the coveted line, that one man, a famous sprinter brought the runner down with a beautiful tackle.

The stands rocked with relief and the usual "piling up" of other players took place. As the two lay there together, the fair-haired representative of New England felt something fumbling, and presently became aware, at the bottom of the heap, that his right hand was being shaken. "Good tackle", muttered the Indian.

BRITISH FLOUR TRADE.

Ottawa, Oct. 30.—Canada's commercial trade agent in Leeds says that Canadian flour is making great inroads in the milling business of Great Britain.

For the first nine months of 1905 the imports were 847,000 hundredweights and the same time this year they were increased to 1,520,000 hundredweights.

It looks, says the agent, as if Canada were to capture this trade.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Are Much Firmer—Cattle Steady—Hogs Lower at Chicago.

London, Oct. 30.—Canadian cattle in the British markets are quoted at 11c to 12½c per lb., refrigerator beef, 9½c to 10½c per lb.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Toronto, Oct. 30.—Receipts of live stock at the City Market were 31 carloads, composed of 1325 cattle, 1200 hogs, 1795 sheep and lambs, with 96 calves.

Exporters.

The export trade is simply dead, as there is no shipping space of any account to be had before the 1st of December. There were six or seven loads of light export cattle on the market to-day, for which there was no sale, and they are there yet, unsold, no person seemingly wanting them.

Butchers.

Few good butchers were to be had. These sold readily and more were wanted. Prices for these few sold at from $4.12½ to $4.60, and one lot of 11 were sold by McDonald & Maybee at $4.60; medium to good lots sold at from $3.60 to $3.90; good cows and lightweight heifers of good quality sold at $3 to $3.60; common and canners, of which there were far too many, sold at from $1 to $1.50 and $2.25 per cwt.

Feeders and Stockers.

Harry Murby reports the market draggy, and too many of the ill-bred, ill-fed, coming forward. Six or seven loads of this kind were offered to-day, the bulk of which were unsold at the close of the market. Mr. Murby stated that all classes of feeders were off in price, and gave the following quotations for the best in each class: Choice, well-bred short-keeps, of which there were few offered, would be worth about $3.90 to $4 per cwt. for cattle weighing 1150 to 1250 lbs.; best steers, 1000 to 1100 lbs., $3.60 to $3.85; best steers, 900 to 1000 lbs., $3.25 to $3.60; best steers, 800 to 900 lbs., $3 to $3.25; stockers of medium quality, $2.40 to $2.75; common stockers, $2 to $2.15 per cwt.

Milch Cows.

Few were offered, for which there was ready sale at $35 to $57 each.

Veal Calves.

Deliveries were not large, and prices ranged all the way from $5.50 to $7 per cwt., the bulk selling at $4.50 to $5.50 per cwt. Prime new milk fed calves are wanted, and would sell readily at $7 per cwt.; but we only heard of one of this class on the market to-day.

Sheep and Lambs.

There was a fair delivery—about 1800—which sold at firm prices. Export ewes sold at $4.50 to $4.85 per cwt.; lambs at $5.50 to $6.25, the bulk going at about $6 per cwt.

Hogs.

Mr. Harris reported having got 1200, of which 500 came in late in the day. Prices were cut down again, and $5.75 is now the top price for selects, with $5.50 for lights and fats.

NASAL CATARRH AFFECTS HEARING.

MR. R. J. ARLESS.

FINDS RELIEF IN PE-RU-NA.

Mr. R. J. Arless, 401 City Hall Ave., Montreal, Quebec, is an old gentleman of wide acquaintance, having served thirty-eight years in the General Postoffice of Montreal, a record which speaks for itself. Concerning his use of Peruna, Mr. Arless says:

"I have been afflicted with nasal catarrh to such a degree that it affected my hearing.

"This was contracted some twenty years ago by being exposed to draughts and sudden changes of temperature.

"I have been under the treatment of specialists and have used many drugs recommended as specifics for catarrh in the head and throat—all to no purpose.

"About three years ago I was induced by a confrere in office to try Peruna.

"After some hesitation, as I had doubts as to results after so many failures, I gave Peruna a trial, and am happy to state that after using eight or ten bottles of Peruna I am much improved in hearing, and in breathing through the nostrils."

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Oct. 31.—Developments this morning were not of importance, but the professionals thought they saw an opportunity in the Steel dividend action to worry down the list and succeeded in making quite a reaction, although dullness exhibited a sort of sold-out condition.

Politics was given a big space in the discussion of financial affairs, but it was conceded that the monetary situation was a more forceful factor as regards immediate fluctuations. Call rates were raised on account of the arrangements for November disbursements but this is only temporary and will relax toward the end of the week.

After 2 o'clock the selling became more aggressive and stocks were offered down all around the room with very little support in evidence. The close was weak at about the lowest.

Suggested That City Take Over Heating Co's System

Deputation Left To-day to Visit Detroit and Chatham—Will Report to the Council on Monday Night.

Ald. Adams left this morning for Toronto, where he will be joined this afternoon by Ald. McWilliams and Mason, and the three will go to Detroit to-night.

To-morrow the deputation will inspect the District Steam Heating Company's system in that city, and will gain as much information as possible in order to be able to make a comprehensive report to the council, at the regular meeting on Monday night.

Friday morning will be spent in Chatham, the only Canadian city which is at present enjoying the advantages of the District Heating System. The aldermen will return to the city on Friday night, while the Lockport deputation, composed of Ald. McIntyre, Duncan and Johnston, are expected back to-morrow.

The suggestion has been made by several people, that if the system seems to be a good one that the city should take over the control of the plant, instead of granting a franchise to a local company organized by the Dominion District Steam Heating Company. It is the plan of the latter to form a company of local capitalists to which the right of operation would be sold.

"Light Weights" Cause Of The Sectionalism

Toronto News Looks for Good Results from the Movement in Peterborough.

The Toronto News of last night said: The efforts made in Peterborough to unite the Christian people of various denominations there in an attempt to improve the moral health of the community have awakened a great deal of interest. The Peterborough papers are printing letters and opinions concerning the movement, which appears to have centred itself on an investigation into the best means of civic government. It may be possible in the multitude of counsellors to evolve some practical method of nomination which will eliminate the time-serving office-holder and bring forward the best men of the community. One writer believes the abolition of election canvassing and a compulsory vote would do a great deal, and the general trend of opinion, curiously enough, holds to the ward system. It is believed that if, in the past, sectionalism and ward-politics developed it was due to the presence of "light-weights" in the Council. If the church people of all denominations took an active interest in municipal affairs in every ward, it is likely that only men of known ability and integrity would be selected. But whatever be the concrete results of the Peterborough movement, it cannot be doubted that any successful attempt to remove silly denominational prejudices and jealousies in a community must have a beneficial influence upon its business, political and religious life.

Elks Lodge Held A Good Meeting

Refreshments Formed Part of Meeting's Programme.

Peterborough Lodge of Elks held very interesting meeting last night in the club rooms, George street. After the business meeting, refreshments were served to the members, and a very enjoyable evening was spent, the billiard tables being very popular.

Ye Olde Tyme Concerte An Unique Entertainment

Very Successful Tea and Concert Under the Auspices of Mark Street Ladies' Aid Society—Attendance Was Very Gratifying.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Mark street Methodist church, is to be congratulated upon originality, and carrying out such a successful entertainment as Ye Grande Tea Drynkynge Partye and Paste and Presente Concerte," held under their auspices last night. The attendance left nothing to be desired, and must have been gratifying to "ye womenne workers" of Mark street.

Tea was served in the Sunday school room of the church, and a most appetizing and sumptuous repast it proved to be. Here the accommodation was taxed to the utmost to serve the crowd which from 5.30 o'clock continued to pour into the room. There were both past and present tables, and the waiters at the former were attired in costumes in which indeed breathed the spirit of bye-gone days.

The ladies in charge of the different tables were: Past — Mrs. Gamble, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. A. A. Fowler, Mrs. John Dormer; Present — Mrs. McCarthy, Mrs. Crowe, Mrs. Henthorn, Mrs. Henry Gibbs and Mrs Girvin. They were assisted by a large and able staff, who saw that visitors wanted for nothing.

The concert was held in the Ashburnham town hall, and was a most enjoyable affair. The capacious hall, which was neatly decorated for the occasion, with flags and bunting, was crowded to the doors. The unique nature of the programme, coupled with its excellence, was fully appreciated by the audience, who showed their delight in frequent applause. The old time nature of the occasion was fully carried out in the costumes worn, which were quaint in the extreme. The Olde Folkes' choire, which rendered several choruses most effectively, was especially typical of the days of auld lange syne. Many of the numbers, too, were characteristic of the days gone by, being old time hymns and ballads.

The programme throughout, while lengthy, never grew wearisome, and its merit is worthy of the highest praise.

Rev. J. G. Lewis, pastor of the Mark street church, acted as chairman in a most efficient manner.

The rainbow drill by sixteen girls, was without doubt, the feature of the programme, and indicated that a great deal of pains had been taken in preparing for its presentation.

The following programme was rendered:

Firste Parte

O, For a Thousand Tongues, Ye Olde Folkes.
Prayer.
Ye Chairman's Talk.
Will you Go? Ye Olde Folkes.
Boys' Spoke Piece, Freddie Hooper.
Music on Ye Piano, Miss Quinn.
Long, long ago, a two parte songe, Ye Chastey Sisters.
There's a Balm in Gilead, Ye Olde Folkes.
Extra Piece.—Olde Fashious — One-parte songe, Mistress W. B. Sargeant.

Seconde Parte

A Spoke Piece, without a book, Mistress Mamie Speer, (John's wife.)
One Parte Songe, Miss K. Phillips.
The Land of the the Leal—Menne's two parte songe, by Finch Miller, John Miller, Walter Wesley and John Speer.
Musick on ye Piano, two-parte piece, Miss Quinn and Miss McCabe.
Spoke Piece alone, Miss Elizabeth Throop.
Two-parte Songe, The Hill Sisters.
Afterwards, one-parte song, Miss Mowry.
Rainbowe drille, by sixteene of ye Younge Womenne and Maidens.
Auld Laug Syne, by all ye singers, olde and yonge.
God Save the King.

The officers of the Ladies' Aid Society, to whom are due by the co-operation of the members, much of the credit, are Mrs. J. H. Smith, president; Mrs. M. McCarthy, secretary; and Mrs. Taylor, treasurer. They must surely feel satisfied with the result of their efforts.

To those not belonging to Mark Street Church, who so willingly and ably contributed to the programme, the thanks of the Ladies' Aid Society and the people of Mark Street Church in general are extended.

SCIENCE SETTLES IT.

Dandruff is Caused by a Germ That Saps the Hair's Vitality.

It is now a settled fact that dandruff is caused by a germ. Falling hair and baldness are the result of dandruff. Dr. E. J. Beardsley, of Champaign, Ill., got hold of the new hair preparation, Newbro's Herpicide—the only one that kills the dandruff germ. He says: "I used Herpicide for my dandruff, and falling hair, and I am well satisfied with the result." Dr. J. T. Fugate, of Urbana, Ill., says: "I have used Herpicide for dandruff with excellent results. I still prescribe it in my practice." Herpicide kills the dandruff germ. Physicians as well as the general public say so. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

Market News For The Householder

A Quantity of Poultry at the Market To-day.

There was a fair market this morning, and several of the citizens who had not previously secured their Hallowe'en fowl, walked off with a large number of them. Geese were in good demand and were rapidly picked up at $1 and $1.25 each. Chickens were also conspicuous, but eggs were a scarce quantity. Potatoes to-day sold at 90c to $1 per bag. Nine loads of hay were weighed, and were quickly disposed of at $14 per ton. A large number of hogs were weighed also. Hogs have dropped considerably in price, and the farmers are holding back for a raise.

Local Artist Back To Toronto

Mr. Harold McCrea Returns to Toronto to Resume Duties with the T. Eaton Co.

Mr. Harold McCrae, son of Mr. George R. McCrae, returned to Toronto yesterday after a visit to his home for six weeks. He is employed in the designing department of the T. Eaton Company, and is developing into a good artist. Mr. McCrae was a pupil of the Collegiate Institute here, when, as a student, he gave promise of unusual artistic ability. He was employed first in the Colonial Weaving Company, near Auburn, after which he accepted a position with the T. Eaton Company. Owing to ill-health he was forced to stop working some time ago, and returned home to recuperate.

Mr. McCrae's life work is one in which there is much scope for more than ordinary ability. He is still but a youth, and has many years to make his mark in life.

The Value Of The Trent Canal

Lake and River Steamers Busy With Grain and Wood.

The steamer Water Lily arrived at the Wolfe street wharf on Monday night about midnight with 3,000 bushels of wheat, peas and oats from Pengelly's and several other landings on the shore of Rice Lake. She left again last night for Mr. Ryerson Ritchie's cottage opposite Wellock's with a consignment of statuary which Mr. Ritchie intends placing on the grounds in front of his pretty summer home.

The Lily will bring back a scow load of wood from Hale's Bridge on the return trip.

The delicious flavour of "Salada" Tea is due largely to the care used in cultivation and preparation, and to the fact that it is packed in sealed lead packages which prevent it coming in contact with articles that would affect its flavour.

Cavendish Lumber Co. Sends Men To Camps

And Operations Will be Carried On On a Large Scale—President of the Co. in City.

This morning a party of thirty men left the city for the camps of the Cavendish Lumber Company in the northern part of the county. This year this Company is sending a great many men into the woods, and the natural inference is that a greater quantity of timber will be taken out this season than ever before. It is learned that this is actually the intention of the Company, and it means that next summer will be a particularly busy one for the mills of the Company at Lakefield, where the greater part of the lumber will be manufactured. Mr. W. D. Lummis, of Trenton, the President of the Company was in the city yesterday on his way to Lakefield, on a visit on business in connection with the company.

Holland and Graves to-day also sent a number of men to their camps, near North Bay.

Peterborough Man Assistant Manager

Of Trusts and Guarantee Company, at Toronto.

The other evening in the board room of the Trusts & Guarantee Company, Toronto, Mr. A. G. A Successful Year The Reports Show

Annual Meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Ladies' Auxiliary Held on Monday Night—Good Work Performed by Lady Sympathizers During the Past Year—The Election of Officers—Reports of Officers.

The members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A., have every reason to feel gratified at the result of the annual meeting of that organization, which was held in the Y.M.C.A. parlours, on Monday evening last.

The meeting opened with singing, Bible reading and prayer, led by the president, Mrs. E. F. Mason.

After the regular monthly business had been disposed of, the annual reports of the secretary and treasurer were presented, and adopted. They showed that the work of the Auxiliary was in a very satisfactory condition, the assets and liabilities being almost equal, notwithstanding the heavy debt which rested on the Auxiliary at the beginning of the year.

Secretary's Report

The report of the secretary was presented by Miss Estelle Ackerman, and was as follows:

All things considered, the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A., have much reason to feel gratified at the result of the work accomplished by them during the year ending October, 1906, as from a financial standpoint at least, it has been successful.

During the year there were ten regular meetings and six special meetings held. At the regular meetings there was an average attendance of twelve members. One great cause of thankfulness is that we do not have to record the loss of one member during the whole year, either through death or removal. This is indeed unusual it is not the only time that we as an auxiliary, have been so fortunate.

It will be remembered that we entered on the new year handicapped by a debt of something over $170, and not only has this been cleared off, but an additional expenditure of about $40, has also been almost covered. This money has been raised in various ways, principally by subscription, the concert, and the recital given on Monday evening, Oct. 22nd, by Miss Adamson, Miss Brodigan and Mr. Collen, members of the teaching staff of the Conservatory of Music. The old plan of holding teas and socials, which the public were not only expected to attend, but in many instances, expected to assist in providing for, was abolished, and in its place, small subscriptions were solicited. This mode of increasing the revenue proved to be very satisfactory, not only to the auxiliary, but to those called upon.

The annual concert was given in the Grand opera house, on the 7th of December, 1905, being the first concert to be given in that building after its completion. The Grand English Concert Company was engaged, and the entertainment was very successful, considerably over $100 being realized as a result.

Good work was also accomplished by the Rooms Committee, which was very ably assisted by the president, and during the spring season the building was very thoroughly cleaned, the walls, ceilings and woodwork of the drawing and board rooms, being re-tinted and re-decorated, and curtains and carpets in all of the rooms being cleaned, and in cases where nececessary, renewed. Comforters were also made for the dormitories by the members of the auxiliary, materials being provided by the board.

The above report is respectfully submitted by

ESTELLE ACKERMAN,
Secretary.

Financial Statement

The following report of the treasurer on the financial standing of the auxiliary, was presented by Mrs. J. Coyle Brown:—

Receipts—
Balance in bank	$ 23 06
From fees during the year	9 20
From canvas	85 35
From concert, Stanley Adams, (gross)	317 60

Expenditures—
Stanley Adams Concert Co	$223 40
Cleaning	13 05
Painting	12 00
Furnishings	285 69
Balance in bank	35 17
	$467 31

The Officers

The election of officers for the ensuing year then took place, the old officers being re-elected by acclamation. Mrs. J. Coyle Brown, however, as treasurer, as she felt unable to assume the duties of office any longer, so Miss Nina Davidson was elected in her place.

The officers for the year ending October, 1907, are as follows:

President—Mrs. E. F. Mason.

1st Vice-President—Mrs. Wm. Davidson.

2nd Vice-President—Mrs. Frank Mason.

Secretary—Miss Estelle Ackerman.

Treasurer—Miss Nina Davidson.

Social Committee — Mrs. Meredith, convenor; Mrs. George E. Elliott, Mrs. W. Ladill, Mrs. Shook, Mrs. H. Foote and Mrs. Jeffries.

Rooms Committee — Mrs. Nugent, convenor; Mrs. J. Coyle Brown, Mrs. A. E. Dixon, Mrs. J. R. Stratton and Miss Laura Davidson.

Miss Nina Davidson was also appointed to act as pianist.

Membership Fee

The amount of the annual membership fee was then considered. As it has been felt for some time that this was not large enough, being only 25 cents, it was deemed advisable to change it to 50 cents in the future. The change was finally decided upon.

The time of meeting was another matter brought up for discussion, many of the members finding that afternoon meetings were very inconvenient to attend, consequently the last Monday evening of each month was agreed upon as the best time for meeting; so that hereafter the regular monthly meetings will be held on that evening, instead of on the last Thursday afternoon, as formerly.

Thanks to Treasurer

It was moved by Mrs. F. Mason and seconded by Mrs. Nugent, that a hearty vote of thanks be tendered to Mrs. Brown, the retiring treasurer, who for the last seven years had so faithfully and willingly filled that office.

The secretary was then instructed to write to Mrs. Gliddon, acknowledging her kindness, and that of the three members of the teaching staff of the Conservatory, who provided the very high class and enjoyable recital recently given for the benefit of the auxiliary.

Afternoon Tea

After it had been decided to hold an afternoon tea in the parlours from 4 to 6 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, November 6th. for the members and all ladies who may be interested in the work of the Y.M.C.A. Association, the meeting closed by singing the doxology and the pronouncing of the benediction.

Hallowe'en Tea At St. Andrew's

A Unique Event Celebrated by Large Number.

A charming event, unique and interesting, was that held in St. Andrew's Sunday School room last night under the auspices of the Young Ladies Mission Band. The school room was prettily decorated with Chinese lanterns and light was also distributed by the old time wax candle and the pumpkin face of the small boy's make. The event was known as a Hallowe'en social. Games of the "Blind Man's Buff" variety were popular, and some more or less willing damsel. ural myths and patronized the fortune tellers.

Among the difficult, but amusing games was the dive for the apple in the tub of water, and the extinguisher of the candle after being blindfolded and turned around several times.

During the evening the games were interspersed by appriciated vocal solos rendered by Mr. Mackay and Mr. Campbell, and a recitation by Miss Montgomery. The accompaniste of the evening was Mrs. (Dr) Prust.

At the conclusion of the programme cake and coffee was served by the ladies and after this feature the pleasant evening was brought to a close. The proceeds of the social were for the assistance of Foreign Missions.

Active Preparations For Fun and Frolic

Many of the Old Traditions will be Revived To night—If the Police Are Not Around.

Hallowe'en, nut crack night, All Saints' night, or, as the Canadian small boy sometimes calls it, "cabbage night" is here and will be celebrated with the usual fun and frolic. The pumpkin lantern and the Hallowe'en party will soon be in evidence everywhere. All sorts of supernatural myths, legends and fancies hover around Hallowe'en and no day in the calendar is capable of a jollier celebration, if the true, spirit is observed.

It is the night when hobgobbins and fairies enter the world of matter and play hob with mortals. In that they are largely assisted by the small boy who seize the opportunity to hurl all kinds of truck at the doors of their friends. The noble tic-tac also comes into the play and many of the spirits that prowl about seem to have an insatiable appetite for gates. Tonight the Chief has a special force to look after the young meddlers and it is probable some of the young bad fairies will get pinched.

The night is also the mystic time when the timid maid may see the face of her future lord. All that the younger woman has to do is to take a candle and a hand glass and walk backwards down the cellar stairs. The face is sure to appear in the glass. Those who do not relish the danger of the stairway can keep true to the traditions of the day by gathering about the fireplace cracking nuts and eating apples. To put an apple in a tub of water and set the party grabbing for it with their teeth is another popular Hallowe'en game. Usually the reward is supplied by some more or less willing damsel.

The Clan "Canada" Bests Even The Clan Campbell

A Peterborough Canuck True to Maple Leaf, Even in Fish Story.

A correspondent of the New York Press contributes the following:—

The Toronto Daily Star's prize of a $15 bass rod, reel, and line for the best small-mouth black bass caught in Ontario waters this year goes to Mr. William Robson, a resident of Harwood, a little village nestling beside Rice Lake. The fish that wins the prize is the largest which has ever been entered in the six years over which the Daily Star's competition has extended, and so far as we know, breaks all records for small-mouth black bass, in those parts, at all events. As entered, its weight and dimensions are as follows:— Weight, 7 pounds 3 ounces; length, over all, 23 inches; girth, 17 inches." These figures have been verified, W. J. Edmison, the Harwood postmaster, who purchased the fish from Mr. Robson, had it mounted, and it is now on exhibition at the Daily Star office.

The Rice Lake fishing beds are reached by steamboat from the city of Peterborough, Ontario. Rice Lake is fifteen miles long and three miles wide, It abounds in maskinonge and bass of splendid size and voracity. Peterborough, in the heart of the Kawartha Lake region, is the objective point, par excellence, for all American sportsmen, whether in search of deer or fishing. Its breweries, distilleries and tackle emporiums have made it ideal, and its hospitality has made it famous.

JOHN CANADA DOUGLAS.

No. 68 Monmouth street, Newark, N.J. October 24th.

The signature to the above is an example of how the tang of Canadianism tingles in the blood of Johnny Canuck, even after long breathing of the air of freedom—as euphemized by Uncle Sam. John "Canada" Douglas is a patriotic variant of John Campbell Douglas, a former well known Peterborough boy, formerly connnected with local journalism, and now an acceptable contributor to various United States publications. Such loyalty to Canada is all the more worthy of remark, when it leads the possessor with a heritage of Scotch clanishness—and Highland Scotch at that—to substitute, even as a nom de plume, the name Canada for a sterling old Caledonian cognomen like Campbell.

Mission Band Gave An Enjoyable Concert

Young People of Murray Street Baptist Church Entertained Their Friends Last Night.

The annual concert of the Mission Band of the Murray Street Baptist Church, held last night in the Sunday School room was a most interesting and successful event. The attendance was large and the programme was much enjoyed. The pastor of the church, Rev. F. J. Scott presided, and after the opening hymn, offered prayer.

The following programme was then rendered by members of the Band:—

Piano solo, ... Miss Ruby Cunningham
Recitation, "My Shadow". Morgan Cottingham
Exercise, by members of the Band, "Dusty of the Ties"
Recitation, "When the Little Boy Ran Away" ... ... Miss Stella Dugan
Piano solo, ... Miss Jennie Titterson
Recitation, "What the Clock Says" Miss Bertha Dehart
Chorus ... ... "October Gave a Party"
Dialogue ... ... "Rather Mixed"
Recitation "The Tree Toad" Miss Florence Scott
Secretary's report... ... ... Mrs. Packer
Treasurer's report, Mrs. G. K. Martin
Piano duett ... ... The Misses Elcome
Recitation "The Old Red Hen" Miss Maud Evans
Dialogue ... ... "Sending a Valentine"
Recitation ... ... Miss Helen Blade
Chorus ... ... "The Wind Song"
Dialogue .... "Thanksgiving"
Recitation ... ... Miss Maud Titterson

The reports of the secretary and treasurer were very encouraging, indeed, that of the latter showing that during the past year $70. had been raised by the Band for Mission purposes.

Great credit is due Mrs. G. K. Martin and Miss Martin for their work in training the members of the Band who contributed to the programme.

North Bruce Has Gone Liberal ; A Great Victory

Mr. Tolmie Elected by Over Three Hundred Majority—Towns' Splendid Showing—Rural Constituencies Endorse Sir Wilfrid Laurier—Mr. Tolmie Made Gains in the Libeaal Division and Cut Into His Opponent's Vote in Conservative Strongholds — Mr. Aylesworth's Speeches.

Port Elgin, Oct. 31.—After a keen contest the electors of North Bruce, by a majority of about 350, yesterday returned Mr. John Tolmie, the Liberal candidate, as their representative.

The towns made a splendid showing, Port Elgin leading with a majority of 113, Kincardine following close with 112, and Southampton 106. Wiarton gave McLellan 28. The farmers of Bruce township swelled up 275 of a majority for the Liberal candidate, and Saugeen 112, while the Conservative townships showed a marked decrease in their voting strength.

Hugh Clark, M. P. P., Director.

The Conservative organization was under the direction of Hugh Clark, M. P. P., who marshalled the campaign especially in the southern municipalities The result in the rural municipalities is most reassuring, showing the adherence of the farmers to the policy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in spite of the fact that the Opposition candidate was a respectable and highly-esteemed farmer. The combined forces of Mr. Borden and Mr. W. F. Maclean, both of whom put up strenuous exertions, were last night defeated and crestfallen

Mr. Aylesworth's Work.

The appearance of Hon. A. B. Aylesworth at two meetings resulted in stirring up the enthusiasm of the Liberal workers to a remarkable degree.

The results by municipalities, some of them approximately correct, are given below. The riding is more than one hunded miles in length, and four or five divisions were not heard from last night. The figures are as follows:

A Verdict May Be Reached In The Near Future

After 15 More Witnesses Testify At Buckingham Inquest.

SEVERAL ARRESTS EXPECTED

Testimony Given Is Contradictory—More Evidence Connecting the Maclarens With the Initial Shooting—Preparations Were Made by Both Sides for Bloodshed on the Day of the Strikers' Riot.

Buckingham, Que., Oct. 31.—Over 60 witnesses have been heard in the Buckingham inquest by Coroner McMahon, and the evidence is so contradictory that the jury of eight English and eight Frenchmen will do well to reach a verdict to-day, as there are still some 15 witnesses yet to call.

Yesterday's evidence was very important, several hardware dealers testifying that both the detectives and strikers purchased arms and ammunition, thus showing that trouble was anticipated on both sides.

Detective McCaskill expects to have several arrests to make as a result of the inquest. The prisoners will be taken to Hull, there to await the conclusion of the Laderoute murder trial at Bryson, before receiving their preliminary hearing.

Witnesses Break Down.

Two witnesses broke down this afternoon. One was Louis Couture, who, according to several witnesses, took a prominent part in the riot, and threatened to riddle a man named Dan Louden, who was merely helping a wounded detective.

Mrs. Belanger and Mrs. Theriault, widows of the men on whom the inquest is held, were examined, but they declared that their husbands had no firearms to their knowledge.

The best witness of the day was a 15-year-old lad, Chisholm Pearson, whose direct evidence was so firm that the most difficult cross-examination could not shake it. He told circumstantially that Dr. Roderigue, the local coroner, had covered up the rifles that the strikers were transporting to the scene of the fight. The doctor had denied knowledge of the rifles, while admitting that he rode in the rig they are known to have been in.

Maclaren Fired First Shots.

If Antoine Parisiens' evidence is to be believed, Alex. Maclaren will be charged with shooting Belanger. Parisiens swears that Mr. Maclaren fired the first shot and Albert Maclaren the second.

Mrs. William Baker, a German lady, testified that Robinson Croteau, who boarded with her, asked for his dinner early the day of the strike, saying that he wanted to go home for his gun, because there was going to be bloodshed in the afternoon.

Didn't Get the Gun.

Charlie Johnson told that an old chum Theophile Chenier, wanted to borrow a gun from him that day, saying that he was going to do some shooting in the afternoon. Johnson did not lend his firearm, and did not see Chenier in the riot.

Damase Bourassa related that two union men told him they were going to bring rifles. He saw guns at the strikers' hall.

Damase Bourassa, a striker, swore that the strikers had gathered firearms with the deliberate purpose of using them on the police.

THERE WERE 50 KILLED.

Fifty-Two Bodies Claimed and Seven Unaccounted For.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 31.—With all of the recovered bodies identified, and seven persons reported missing, the authorities and railroad officials were yesterday certain that the number killed on Sunday in the drawbridge disaster in the West Jersey Seashore Electric Railroad will not exceed 60.

Fifty-two bodies have been claimed, two of those placed among the missing are known to be dead, and five are still unaccounted for.

These seven victims are believed to be wedged beneath the second passenger coach, which is held fast in the muddy bottom of the Thoroughfare.

Coroner Haskill, who has been conducting a rigid enquiry since Sunday night, was yesterday preparing for the inquest, which is to begin on Thursday. He anticipates an unusually long inquest, and thinks that it may be a week or more before a verdict is reached.

Later.—The bodies of Mrs. Paul Felsburg, Mrs. Selina Johnston and Mrs. Sarah Miller were recovered from under the third car. When the workmen were trying to lift it from the water the bodies worked loose.

Cars In Perfect Order.

New York, Oct. 31.—The Pennsylvania Railway issued a statement yesterday to the effect that after a thorough examination of every theory advanced as the cause of the wreck at Atlantic City on Sunday, no explanation has been found, The tricks of the cars were intact; the bridge and the mechanism used in moving the draw were in perfect shape; the rails were exactly in place.

MR. CHURCHILL EXPLAINS.

Modus Vivendi Was Arranged With the United States.

London, Oct. 31.—Replying to further questions in the House of Commons yesterday regarding the Newfoundland fisheries question, Mr. Churchill, the Parliamentary Secretary for the Colonial Office, explained that the modus vivendi was a temporary arrangement made with the United States, intended to avoid the occurrence of untoward incidents during the negotiations necessitated by the action taken by the Colonial Government, in spite of the representations of His Majesty's Government.

Ample precedent for the course adopted could be found in the modus vivendi, into which the late Marquis of Salisbury entered, with France, respecting the Newfoundland lobster fisheries.

Foreign Secretary Grey announced that the correspondence with the United States and Newfoundland would be presented to the House as soon as it could be prepared.

INGERSOLL SHOCKED.

Rev. Dr. Hutt Found Dead In His Study —Sad Circumstances.

Ingersoll, Oct. 31.—Shortly before 6 o'clock last night Rev. Dr. E. R. Hutt, for the past 17 years pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, was found dead seated in a chair in his study.

His sudden death is unusually sad in view of the fact that at 7 o'clock he was to have performed the ceremony at the marriage of his second son, and wedding guests had already arrived.

Dr. Hutt was down town until about 4 o'clock. He had not enjoyed good health for the past couple of years, but there was no outward sign that the end was so near. Death was due to heart disease.

The late Dr. Hutt was in his 55th year, and is survived by widow and five children, three sons and two daughters. He was one of the best known Presbyterian ministers of western Ontario, and was a very clever speaker.

TWENTY-THREE DROWNED.

German Steamer Sunk In Collision In the British Channel.

Ostend, Belgium, Oct. 31.—The German steamer Hermann, from Antwerp for the Mediterranean, was sunk in the channel Oct. 28, as the result of a collision. Twenty-three of her crew were drowned.

The collision occurred when the Hermann was near the East Goodwins. The name of the vessel with which she collided is not known, but it was ascertained that she had four masts.

The Hermann was an iron vessel of 1,453 tons.

Dr. Pyne will himself write to the boy, and will have the letter passed on to Inspector Hughes and on to the school children.

SIX KILLED BY MISTAKE.

Victims of the Hunting Season Thus Far In Maine Woods.

Bangor, Me., Oct. 31.—Six men killed is the record thus far in the present hunting season in Maine. Last week was the first of the year, three deaths being reported and scarcely a day passes without the report of one or more accidents due to careless handling of guns or mistaking human beings for animals.

The game receipts are far below those of last year. Up to Saturday 823 deer, 55 moose and 10 bears had been brought in, as against 1,376 deer, 70 moose and 19 bears for the same period last year.

The dry weather has made it difficult to stalk the game.

Belleville Murder Trial.

Belleville, Oct. 31.—The fall Assizes were opened yesterday afternoon, Judge Britton presiding. The case of King vs. Kleingbell, charged with wife murder, will be commenced this morning. Drs. Johnston, Clarke and Bruce Smith of Toronto are here, and it is said they will give expert testimony as to the prisoner's sanity. It is said the defence will be insanity. F. Arnoldi, K. C., of Toronto, is the crown prosecutor.

Cowle for damages to the steamer Erin through a collision in the St. Clair River in May last, when the Erin sank and five lives were lost. Contemplated Bloodshed Did Not Take Place

Because Workmen Abstained From Demonstrations.

ST. PETERSBURG WAS QUIET

"Old Believers," Except Doukhobers and Standists, Granted Full Religious Freedom by a Ukase of the Czar—Civil Marriage Introduced In Russia—Execution of Eight of Robbers—Policeman Killed.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 31.—The first anniversary of the proclamation of the manifesto giving a constitution to Russia, passed in undisturbed quiet. Disorder and bloodshed fortunately were avoided. Workmen complied absolutely with orders and abstained from any demonstration.

The Putiloff Iron Works' employes worked as usual, in obedience to orders from labor headquarters. These works are the heart of the labor movement.

Disquieting signs were observed near the works last week and yesterday an adequate force of men was stationed near by to cope with any emergency. The men of a score of smaller factories had the day off, but work was performed in a majority of the shops.

Several bands of black hundreds, armed with staves, paraded in a remote street, but there were no collisions with them, nor have there been any conflicts between the workmen and the public.

The Czar's Ukase.

At noon a special edition of The Official Gazette, containing the imperial ukase granting full religious freedom to the "old believers" was issued, the preamble of which is as follows:

"To guarantee to all Russian subjects liberty of faith and public worship according to the dictates of their conscience, we issued a ukase April 30, 1905. In continuance of this task of love and peace we deem it good to establish rules and regulations governing the internal organization of the 'old believers' and other dissident sects of the Holy Orthodox Church, charging the ministry of the interior at the same time to elaborate a similar law for the sects issuing from other Christian confessions. With trust in a beneficent Providence we believe that these measures will serve to strengthen the ties of loyalty by which the 'old believers' have been bound for centuries to the throne and fatherland and enhance the greatness of our general mother, the Holy Orthodox Church."

Religious Freedom.

According to the law, any dissident sect numbering fifty persons, whose aims are not immoral, or having tenets like refusal to do military service (the Donkhobors and Standists are illegal) can apply for and shall receive permission to organize churches, conduct services, build schools and elect clergy who shall be exempted from military service and be entitled to wear vestments and perform the baptism, marriage and other sacraments and keep registers of birth, marriages and deaths of equal authority with the official records of the Orthodox priests.

Introduces Civil Marriage.

The new law introduces an important innovation in the form of civil marriage, designed for the sects having no clergy, but of which non-members can easily take advantage, enabling thousands of persons, who on account of their objection to a religious rite and the absence of a civil ceremony, have lived together unmarried, to assume the legal tie and legitimatize their children. This law is of special importance to the Mariavists, the Polish Schismatics from the Roman Catholic Church, whose numbers are rapidly growing on the German frontier.

Terrorists Kill Policeman.

Warsaw, Oct. 31.—A band of terrorists shot and killed a policeman here last night. The streets were patroled by cavalry yesterday, and detachments of artillery were posted at strategic points. The police ordered house owners, under threats of arrest, to display flags during the day and illuminations at night.

Eight Robbers Executed.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 31.—Eight persons arrested here in connection with the robbery of $188,826 from Cashier Hermann of the custom house, Oct. 27, were tried by court-martial and executed yesterday.

ANXIETY FOR BUFFALO BILL.

Fears That He May Have Been Lost In Recent Blizzard.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—A despatch to The Chronicle from Omaha, Neb., says: "Fears are entertained for the safety of William F. Cody, "Buffalo Bill," and his party of sixteen, who left Cody, Wyoming, on a hunting trip in the Big Horn Mountains, Oct. 14, and who, it is feared, may have been lost in the blizzard which swept over the Rockies a week ago.

Included in the party are Col. Stanley of Liverpool, England, and three other Englishmen.

A letter was received at Cody, Wyoming, last week, from Cody's camp, which was two day's journey from the town, stating that the members of the party were enjoying themselves, and expected to return about Nov. 1. After that the storm came on and nothing has been heard from the party since.

DISOBEYED ORDERS.

Verdict In the Case of Harry Clark Killed Near Cookston.

Hamilton, Oct. 31.—Coroner Balfe's jury last night returned the following verdict, after an enquiry into the circumstances:

"That Harry Clark, G. T. R. foreman, came to his death near Cookston, on the morning of Oct. 25, through a collision between engines 338 and 666, on the G. T. Railway, and that Engineed Jones of 666 disobeyed orders in stopping his engine when he had orders to go to Lynden, and that the G. T. R. officials were negligent in not calling medical aid and providing an ambulance with more despatch."

The evidence went to show that when Clark was brought to Hamilton he was kept at the station about 30 minutes before removal to the hospital.

Subjective Drowning.

The dentist's chair was tipped so far back that escape for the village seamstress, a lady of remarkable conversational ability, was impossible. Wads of absorbent cotton were tucked beneath her tongue, some patent appliance held her jaws apart, and all the lower half of her countenance except one back tooth was concealed under a decidedly damp rubber dam. The patient's mouth was full of water, speech was impossible, and the poor, naturally-talkative lady was suffering agonies of discomfort.

The engrossed dentist paid no heed to her squirmings or to the appeal in her eyes. Fortunately, however, the patient's hands were free. Groping in the reticule that hung from her belt, she brought forth paper and pencil and wrote:

"Help! Help! I'm drowning."—Youth's Companion.

A Poet's Curious Compliment.

It was the habit of Richard Henry Stoddard, the poet, to always speak well of every one. No matter how bad the character of a person, the good gray poet invariably found some trait to praise. One day in his office on Park row some friend entered and asked him whether he knew so and so and, if so, what was the man's reputation. It happened that the man had a shady reputation and was well known as a "gold brick" operator. The aged poet lighted his pipe and answered:

"Yes, I know him. He is the most energetic, progressive, irrepressible, good natured, artistic kind of an unmitigated rascal that I ever met."—Leslie's Weekly.

When Webster Was Wrong.

It is easy for even a good man to be mistaken.

Daniel Webster was a good man. Yet Daniel was positive that a steam railroad could never be made to work.

He was quite willing to concede that a locomotive might be able to skate along at a pretty good clip while attached to a string of cars running on iron or wooden rails.

But having admitted this much he arose to call attention to an insurmountable obstacle to the further success of the undertaking. He said the train, once under way, could not be stopped—that it would keep right on going and ultimately crash into something and kill everybody aboard.

Thus we see that even with the best intentions it is easy to make mistakes.

Daniel Webster didn't own canal-boat stock, nor was he for any other selfish reason desirous that railroads should not come into existence. He simply was expressing an opinion about something he had never seen in operation. And unfortunately for his reputation as a railway expert he saw things that weren't there. — Detroit Times.

Care of Pet Birds.

After purchasing a new bird do not put it in the cage with the other birds for a week or two until it is seen whether or not the new arrival displays any signs of disease which might be imparted to the pets already belonging to the household. Birds which have been kept crowded in cages in shops sometimes contract diseases which do not show at once. Another thing to remember when bringing home a new bird is not to introduce it at once to a very warm temperature when it has been exposed to the cold air. When a bird loses its voice completely it has, as a general thing, caught cold and should be treated for it at once before it strains its throat in an effort to make a sound.

Gum Benzoin.

Gum benzoin is soluble in alcohol, but not in water. Therefore when the tincture, which is a solution of gum benzoin in alcohol, is mixed with water, the gum or resin separates Put the tincture in the wash bowl, add a little alcohol and then the water.

Synonymous.

An exacting housekeeper was scolding her housemaid one morning.

"Mary," she declared, "your work has no finish."

"Dat's de trufe, ma'am," Mary replied. "It sho' nuff doan' ha' no end."—Harper's Weekly.

Objection To The Use Of Glasses

Sometimes people object to glasses, claiming that once put on they can not see without them. If after putting on glasses the wearer finds it difficult to go without them, this simply proves that before he wore glasses he was forcing his eyes beyond the limit of safety, a practice if continued, is sure to affect the health and sight. The person who lets pride, even excusable pride, stand in the way of glasses is doing his eyes and health injustice and is merely paving the way for future suffering and discomforts.

We will test your eyesight carefully, and tell you just what condition your eyes are in.

Six Persons Went Over Ottawa Rapids

A Terrible Fatality Which Occurred on Ottawa River--Details Just Received.

(Examiner Special.)

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 1.—Through a paddle breaking six people were drowned at the Des Joachims Rapids, over a hundred miles up the Quebec side of the Ottawa, a few days ago. Details just reached Ottawa this afternoon, and are meagre yet. Norton Brown of Toronto, an Indian, two women and two children were drowned.

When in a very swift current a paddle broke and though they resisted it took the boat towards the terrible rapids and over the brink. They were all drowned and the big canoe smashed into kindling wood. The bodies were recovered and the Indian was buried near where the tragedy occurred.

It is understood the women were squaws and that Taylor was the only white person in the boat. Pearl Bertrand, who rode fifty miles to attend a trial at Bryson, Quebec, and has just brought the news there, was an eye witness of the drownings.

ANOTHER HUNTING PARTY GO NORTH

A party of eight hunters, captained by Mr. Chas. Simmons, left on Tuesday for the tall timbers of Anstruther township, where they have decided to pitch their camp. They will be joined by Mr. J. S. Waldron, secretary of the Big Dipper Mining and Milling Co., who leaves the city to-morrow morning.

Customs Receipts Show A Decrease

This is However, Quite Easily Explained.

The receipts at the local Customs House for the month of October amount to $30,571.37. This is a decrease from the amount collected for the corresponding month last year, which was $30,961.16. However, the decrease is not causing the Customs officials any worry, as it is easily explained. On the last day of October, 1905, a cheque was received for $7,000, while this morning there was a cheque for $2,000 which, if received yesterday, would have turned the decrease into a substantial increase.

"First Aid" Class Opens To-Night

First of Series of Lectures by Dr. Jessie Birnie.

To-night Dr. Jessie Birnie gives the first of a series of lectures at the Y.W.C.A. on the subject of "First Aid." It is very important that all those who intend to take up the work be present at 8 o'clock sharp. They are also requested to bring some triangular bandages with them. The subject is an interesting one and should prove a great benefit to those who hear the lectures.

The most wonderful wine cellars in the world are at Warsaw. They have been used for storing wines for over 400 years, and some of the wines date from the year 1,600. The whole place is one mass of fungi and stalactites.

Deputation Referred To The Power Commission

Peterborough's Representative Waited Upon Premier Whitney Yesterday--Want to be Allowed to Develop Power on the Otonabee River.

The deputation from Peterborough, which waited upon Premier Whitney in Toronto, yesterday, was headed by Mayor Best, and composed of Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., Senator CoTx, Mr. T. F. Matthews, of the Water Commissioners, Mr. Jas. Kendry, ex-M.P., Ald. Adams and City Solicitor E. H. D. Hall.

Mayor Best, when seen by the Examiner this morning, declined to say much about the visit of the deputation, saying that it would be premature to publish anything at present. He was, however, well satisfied with the result of the conference with Premier Whitney, and members of the Hdro-Electric Power Commission.

The Globe has the following to say of the visit of the deputation:

A deputation from Peterborough waited first upon the Premier, and later upon Hon. Messrs. Beck and Hendrie of the Hydro-electric Power Commission, at the Parliament buildings yesterday in regard to the request that the municipality mentioned be allowed to develop power on the Otonabee river, for the supply of electrical energy and light for municipal purposes. The Premier referred the deputation to the commission, pointing out that under the power bill of last session that body would have to deal with and settle upon the request.

To the members of the commission the deputation recalled that a city of Peterborough bill seeking the power now asked was defeated in one of the committees of the Legislature as the result of contention over the "Conmee clauses" of the municipal act, designed to protect private gas, electric and other enterprises. They were informed that if Peterborough decides by formal action of the council, to deal with the commission, the case would not be affected in anyway by the Conmee clauses. The power bill gives sufficient authority, if its provisions are observed by parties seeking to benefit by it, for the carrying out of such plans as that proposed by the deputation. The latter promised to have the matter brought before the Peterborough council, and to have the formal methods of dealing with the commission followed.

Whitby Mixed Train Wrecked Near Mariposa

Seven Coal Cars Derailed and Contents Spilled---Peterborough Boy a Brakeman on the Train.

Lindsay, Nov. 1.—An accident occurred on the Grand Trunk Line a short distance west of Mariposa last night which has occasioned much delay and inconvenience to the G.T.R. traffic. An axle broke on a foreign car in the Whitbymixed which is due here at 8.45, derailing seven coal cars and scattering the contents in every direction.

The traffic is now coming by way of Lorneville Junction as the track west of Mariposa is yet blocked by the debris from the derailed coal cars.

The morning Peterborough train which is due here at 9.15 went through to Mariposa but had to back up to Lindsay and go around by Blackwater. All trains here are at least an hour and a half late.

Peterborough recognized the fact last night that something had gone wrong when the Toronto-Peterborough flier did not arrive here on scheduled time. The train was four hours late, reaching here at 2 o'clock a. m.

Mr. Harry O'Brien, son of Mr. Michael O'Brien, butcher, on McDonel street, was a brakeman on that train. His father received a telephone message from him to-day stating that he escaped unhurt and that no lives were endangered by the accident.

No Reason Known For Jackson's Act

District Superintendent Was Engaged Inspecting Work But Refuses to Make Statement.

A further despatch from Port Hope gives additional information concerning the sad death in that town yesterday of Mr. S. F. Jackson. It appears that the deceased arose about 7 o'clock, and shortly afterwards was discovered by his little daughter lying in an unconscious condition in the kitchen. The unfortunate man appears to have deliberately placed the rubber tube from the gas stove in his mouth and turned on the gas.

The child alarmed the mother, who immediately summoned medical aid. Artificial respiration was tried, but proved unavailing. Dr. W. W. McKinley, coroner, was called, but deemed an inquest unnecessary.

Previous to assuming the managership of the company the deceased was for some years district superintendent of construction at Peterborough, where he was well and favourably known, and he was subsequently promoted from that position to the one he occupied here. He attended St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, and is survived by a widow and two small children.

No cause has as yet been assigned for the rash act. C. W. Strieter of Toronto, divisional superintendent of the Bell Company for this district, was engaged in official inspection work here yesterday, but he refuses to state whether his duties had anything to do with an examination of the books.

A Collision On Bethune Street

Two Bicylists Met on Their Way Home Last Night—Mr. P. Kane Injured.

The Bethune street cinder path was the scene of another accident last night about five minutes after six o'clock. As a result Mr. P. Kane, the genial caretaker of the T. A. S. rooms met with injuries that will confine him to his home for some time. Although the injuries are not very serious, it was extreme luck that they were not.

Mr. Kane was on his way home, wheeling, when between Dalhousie and Wolfe streets he collided with a rider going north. Mr. Kane was on the right side of the path for it is rather wide, when he met the other man, who tried to pass by on the west side. They were both going at a good speed and as a result both were hurled to the ground. They were stunned for some time, but Mr. Kane was more badly hurt. In the impact the bridge of his nose was severely crushed and his right arm bruised by falling heavily to the ground. He was badly shaken up and had to be assisted to his home. A doctor was called and this morning he is able to be up and around, but is still rather weak. It is likely that he will be confined to his home for a few days at the least.

Otonabee Farmer Kicked In Stomach By A Horse

Is Suffering Intense Pain—Was at His Uncle's Threshing.

Mr. W. Hanbridge, a young Otonabee farmer, was painfully injured yesterday by the kick from a horse. Mr. Hanbridge was at his uncle's threshing, and in the evening, when the machine had stopped for a while, he, together with others, went to inspect a young colt which he had ridden to his uncle's. While attempting to walk into the stall beside the animal, it kicked him in the stomach, knocking him down. Two city doctors were at once summoned. Mr. Hanbridge today was suffering intense pain, and it is feared that he has been internally injured.

He is a son of Mr. Robt. Hanbridge, of Otonabee, and is well known in that township.

Rev. Dr. Marsh Is Springville's Pastor

Call Was Sustained at Special Meeting of Presbytery Held Here To-day.

A special meeting of the Peterborough Presbytery was held this morning in St. Paul's Church to consider a call from the Springville congregation to Rev. Dr. Marsh, of the Presbytery. The meeting was presided over by Rev. A. C. Reeves, of Campbellford, who was Moderator pro tem, and the call was sustained by Presbytery. The congregation offered a salary of $800, with free manse and four weeks' holidays.

It was decided to hold the induction services on Thursday, November 22, at 3 o'clock, and preliminary arrangements were made. Rev. Dr. Torrance will preside, and Rev. S. S. Burns, of Lakefield, will preach the sermon. The address to the minister will be given by Rev. D. A. Thompson, of Hastings, while Rev. G. A. McLennan will address the people.

The Springville congregation considers itself very fortunate in securing Rev. Dr. Marsh as its pastor, and efforts will not be spared to give him a hearty welcome. The ladies of the church are preparing a tea to be given on the occasion of the induction, following the ceremony.

Annual Tour Of C. P. R. Officials

Visited Peterborough To-day on Tour of Inspection.

Some officers of the C. P. R. Company passed through the city at noon to-day on their annual tour of inspection. They arrived here about 12.10 in their special train, composed of three official cars, including dining car and baggage car.

The party was composed of Mr. D. McNichol, vice-president and general manager of the C.P.R.; Mr. J. W. Leonard, assistant general manager; Mr. H. P. Timmerman, general superintendent; Mr. Geo. Spencer, superintendent; Mr. D. Carmichael, train master; Mr. Fairbairn, divisional engineer; Mr. Guetella, chief engineer, and Mr. D. McDonald, road master.

They inspected the new addition made to the station, looked over the spur line, and other sidings, but had no statements of special significance to make. The train pulled out, with the party aboard, at 12.25, for Burketon, and thence to Bobcaygeon.

Percy Campbell's Funeral Was Largely Attended

Many Gathered to Pay Tribute to Honoured Memory of Much Beloved Young Man.

(Examiner Special.)

Keene, November 1st. — The funeral of the late Thomas Percy Campbell, which took place here this afternoon, from the residence of Dr. Harrison, was very largely attended, an evidence of the esteem in which he was held being furnished by the very large number of persons who were present to honour his memory.

The remains were taken from Dr. Harrison's residence to the Methodist church, where the service was held, the order of the procession to the church being, the clergymen, Rev. W. D. Harrison, and Rev. H. M. Manning; the physicians, Dr. Harrison and Dr. Scott; an escort of four young men from Peterborough, former friends of the deceased, Messrs. John Laing, E. Best, D. W. Richardson and Ross Dobbin; the pallbearers, Messrs. J. S. Bennett, George Morgan, H. H. Cragg, W. A. Walden, W. J. Salter, H. G. Robertson, who were all members of the graduating class of Victoria University of 1905, of which the deceased was the permanent president for the year. Mr. E. J. Moore, secretary of that year's class, with three other students, were also present.

At the church the services were conducted by Rev. Messrs. Harrison and Manning, and in addition to the tribute paid the memory of the deceased by these gentlemen, Mr. J. S. Bennett also spoke briefly, referring to his life at college, and of the esteem in which he was held by his fellow students at the University.

The interment took place at the Keene cemetery.

PIANIST'S WORK IS APPRECIATED

Congratulations are being extended to Miss Lillian Packert, the pianiste who accompanied the soloists, and also played for the marches and drills, at the Murray street Mission Band Concert on Tuesday night. THE ISOLATION HOSPITAL

The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we have no Isolation Hospital. About a year and a half ago, consequent upon the city hospitals very properly declining to admit for treatment cases of contagious disease, the principle of an Isolation Hospital was adopted. Since that time, the City Council and the Board of Health, like a pair of irresponsible children, have played battledore and shuttle-cock with the question without, apparently, making any advance. A site for an Isolation Hospital was decided upon and plans prepared. The City Fathers declared that the plans, involving an expenditure of ten or eleven thousand dollars, were elaborate beyond the needs of the city. Then, of course, there was delay. The plans were, after due deliberation, modified in such a way as to meet the economical views of the City Council. Then, as a little further measure of delay, the plans were submitted to the Medical Association, which suggested certain alterations, essential to the making of an acceptable and efficient hospital, and at last, plans were agreed upon for a building that would cost about $7,000. This sequence of events did not proceed as smoothly as the above general summary would indicate. Abortive joint meetings were called time after time. Either the Council or the Board of Health would fail to turn up. When, by any chance, a meeting was accomplished there was some excuse or subterfuge which rendered it null, as far as getting on with the project was concerned. The Board of Health puts the blame upon the Council, and, it seems, not without some reason. The Board is not to be held accountable for the delay. However greatly it might be inclined to energetic action, it is powerless to do anything. Its function is advisory, not executive, and it was left to the Council to take action, and the Council has failed in its duty. We need an Isolation Hospital in the most urgent way. No one will deny that the public and the interests of the public health demand a hospital much more than a municipal heating system. Yet we find the Council, after knocking the Isolation Hospital question about like a football for about a year, organizing a relay race after lost air, and they have gone sprinting to, and beyond, the confines of the Province in search of information about a wholesale heating system, which could very well wait its turn, without injury to any interest, till the far more important question of an Isolation Hospital were dealt with in a practical and business sort of way.

The delay of the Council in the matter of building an Isolation Hospital is liable to be attended with not only inconvenience to citizens, but actual danger. We are, fortunately free, at present, from contagious diseases in an epidemic form—an immunity we cannot, with any degree of certainty, count upon continuing to enjoy. There are, in many parts of the Province, serious outbreaks of contagious disease. Without desiring to create unnecessary alarm, it is suggested that it is quite possible that Peterborough's turn may come. In that event, it is impossible to describe what the conditions would be. Homes where an outbreak would occur would be broken up for some weeks and the family put to very great expense and annoyance, with the added danger of the spread of contagion by ineffective isolation. It is agreed upon every side that an Isolation Hospital for a city the size of Peterborough is a necessity. More than that, its erection is compulsory, and the sooner we have it, the better. If the Council had acted with the proper degree of promptitude we should to-day have an Isolation Hospital well on the way to completion and readiness for the reception of patients. Such a building will cost no more now than a year or two hence. What excuse has the City Council for trifling with the question? In conjunction, or in opposition to, or in working at cross purposes with the Board of Health, an example of "How not to do it" has been furnished that would do credit to the Circumlocution Office, described by Dickens in "Little Dorritt."

DEER HUNTING "ACCIDENTS"

The annual slaughter of deer has begun in Maine, and, contemporaneously, the slaughter of hunters has also begun. It seems as if it were as unsafe to be a man as a deer in the hunting season. Last week in Maine three deaths of hunters—by mistake—occurred, and three more last Saturday and Sunday. As today is the opening of the deer-hunting season, we may expect the slaughter of hunters in Ontario to begin. It is a marvel that persons who essay to enter the woods as deer hunters haven't enough common sense to exercise the slightest care in the discharge of firearms, which would obviate fatal mistakes. Of course a great deal of allowance is to be made in the case of green huntsmen. A sharp attack of buck fever may make a tyro miss a deer, but it is a remarkable fact that a shot fired under a most acute attack of this fever at a man, very seldom fails of its reckless aim. There seems to be no way of providing against these deplorable accidents. They may be due to carelessness, but as in the case of theft under kleptomaniac impulse, perhaps a term in jail for the man that kills a man, under the circumstances suggested, would inspire a spirit of greater carefulness. Without doubt, carelessness and inexperience are the cause of a very large proportion of the fatal deer hunting — so-called — "accidents." The only way to combat this danger seems to be to enjoin the exercise of greater care, but such an appeal might easily be wasted upon a man, whose reckless disregard of the value of human life, permits him to practice as much carelessness, and, perhaps, more, than if the life of a sheep or cow — which might have to be paid for — were involved.

FIELDING VINDICATED

The campaign of slander has failed. In the bye-election in Queens and Shelburn, yesterday, Hon. Mr. Fielding Minister of Finance, was elected by the triumphant majority of over one thousand. Mr. Fielding has thus been magnificently vindicated. For months and months he has been the object of systematic slander by Conservative journals and the baser element of Conservative politicians. The chief merit of Mr. Fielding's vindication consists in the fact that it was contributed by those who know him best, the electors of Queens and Shelburn who have been represented by him for the past ten years. And Liberals were not alone in paying practical tribute to Hon. Mr. Fielding's worth as a man and a statesman. The great gains he made showed that many Conservative electors, with a regard to fair play, to fair fighting, by their votes gave expression to the resentment they felt at the scheme of political persecution of which Mr. Fielding has been the object. Though his opponent, Dr. Weldon, barely saved his deposit, he was not an opponent to be despised. He was a man of high character, culture and ability, but he suffered for permitting himself to be made the tool of a purely partizan clique and putting the country and constituency to the expense and turmoil of a useless election contest. Mr. Fielding is a fixture for a long time. Neither by fair means nor foul, neither by franchise nor slander can his enemies compass the defeat of a man who has given Canada ten years of faithful and fruitful service, ten years of triumphant fiscal administration.

Throat, Hands and Legs Paralysed

THE RESULT OF A SEVERE CASE OF DIPHTHERIA, WHEN DOCTORS FAILED, CURE CAME WITH THE USE OF

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

It is not an unusual thing for paralysis of the throat to follow diphtheria, and in fact it is sometimes from this condition that death results. In the case described below, the paralysis extended to the arms and legs, rendering the victim completely helpless.

Three of the best doctors in St. Thomas, found themselves unable to cope with the case, and this only emphasizes the extraordinary merit of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a cure for paralysis of the nerves.

Mrs. Frank Snyder of St. Thomas, Ont., writes, "I write to tell you of the great benefit I found in the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I had diphtheria so bad that after I got over it, I was left with paralysis of the throat, hands and legs. I was completely disabled and could do no work whatever. I had some of the best doctors in St. Thomas, but they were not able to cure or even relieve me.

"The use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has cured me completely, the paralysis has entirely left, my nerves are strengthened, and my system generally built up, so that I feel as well as ever I did, and can recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to any one suffering from weakness of the nerves and paralysis."

Stimulants and narcotics, though sometimes affording temporary relief, only hasten the exhaustion of the nerves. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, on the other hand, reconstructs and restores the wasted and depleted nerve cells.

Naturally, gradually and certainly this great medicine instils into the blood and the nervous system the life sustaining principles which replenish the nerve force in the body, and so effect lasting cure.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipts book author, are on every box of his medicine. 7

Many Hallowe'en Parties Were Held Last Night

Young People Entertained Their Friends With Amusements Appropriate to "Nut-cracker" Night.

The celebration of Hallowe'en last night was marked by an unusually large number of parties, in many of which spooks, genuins and other weird creatures played a prominent part. Taffy-pulling, bobbing for apples, and all the old time pastimes, were in full swing at most of these gatherings, and there were sounds of revelry by night from many houses.

Entertained His Friends

Mr. R. A. Dutton, London street, very pleasantly entertained his gentlemen friends last night at his home. Mr. Dutton proved an ideal host and the evening was a delightful one for all present.

An Enjoyable Affair

Miss Clara Kidd of Benson street was the hostess of a most enjoyable Hallowe'en party last night, at which a large number of her young friends were present.

I.O.S. Unite

The Misses McClennan of Barnardo avenue, entertained a number of their friends last night at a Hallowe'en party. Old fashioned Hallowe'en games, and vocal, piano and violin solos, formed the principal part of the evening's enjoyment. Dainty refreshments were served about midnight, the guests dispersing shortly after one o'clock.

Jaunt to Lakefield

A party of sixteen drove to Lakefield last night in 'busses and were hospitably entertained at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Andrews, who formerly resided in Peterborough. After a pleasant evening spent in Hallowe'en games, etc., the party partook of refreshments and returned to the city in the early hours of the morning.

Annexation Would Not Be In Our Best Interests

This is the Decision of the Y. M. C. A. Debating Club--Very Interesting Meeting Was Held Last Night.

The Y.M.C.A. Debating Club decided last night that annexation to the United States would not be to the best interests of Canada. A very enjoyable time was spent by the members at their meeting last night, and the meetings throughout the year promise to be highly interesting. Mr. W. McLaren occupied the chair in the absence of the president.

Last night's programme was divided into two parts, the first being a review of current topics by Mr. C. H. Williamson. Current events of local interest were dealt with by Mr. Williamson in an interesting manner.

The second part consisted of a debate upon the subject, "Resolved, that annexation to the United States would be to the best interests of Canada." The affirmative was taken by Mr. Fred Ray and Mr. R. Northcote, while the supporters of the negative were Mr. F. W. Simpson and Mr. C. E. Coleman. The debate was very warmly contested, and the subject was ably dealt with by the speakers of both sides, some very good points being made. The affirmative dwelt upon the commercial prosperity of the United States and the advantages Canada would derive from being joined to such a prosperous country. The negative referred to the negro question, and the matter of government and morals.

The audience were the judges of the debate, and declared in favour of the negative.

Mr. J. E. Hodgson, of the Collegiate Institute staff, the critic of the Debating Club, very ably criticised the debate, pointing out some of the defects. One of these was insufficient preparation of the subject. Preparation was absolutely essential for debates. Some of the debaters, he said, showed a tendency to watch the floor instead of the audience, and to make statements which could not be backed up by facts.

No Chance Now For The Conductors' Restoration

Dismissed G.T.R. Ticket Takers Will Not Get Back With That Company.

The Montreal Herald of yesterday said: Mr. F. H. McGuigan, fourth vice-president of the Grand Trunk Railway, has returned from the West and is at the general offices to-day, but when you approach the subject of conductors' dismissals, he shakes his head and smiles. On being questioned by the Herald regarding the laying off of these employees, he replied that he had nothing to say on the subject—that it was not a question he could discuss for the public's edification. The company never takes action of that kind without cause.

An official of the Grand Trunk, commenting on the situation to-day, said: "Some of the conductors give Superintendent Blaiklock credit for the tact with which he broke the tidings to them."

He said: "I am sorry I have bad news for you. Your services have been found unsatisfactory, and I would advise you to resign." That is all there was about it. One asked: "Is there no hope of my case being re-considered?" "None," was the reply.

Another despatch from Montreal states that the case of the conductors will be taken up by the Brotherhood, which will appeal to the Railway Company in their behalf.

All Saints' Day In Local Churches

This morning at St. Peter's Cathedral there were special masses to enable all to attend. The first was at 6 o'clock for workingmen, the second at 8, the third at 9, and the last was a high mass at 10 o'clock. To-morrow is All Souls' Day, and masses will be held at 7, 8 and 9 o'clock. The last mass will be a high mass. The masses to-day were all largely attended.

"Automatic Vaudeville" The Newest Amusement Place

A Penny Arcade to Open to the Public on Saturday Night —A New Amusement Enterprise Financed by Local Capitalists—A Brief Description of the Equipment.

On Saturday a new place of amusement will open its doors to the public in Peterborough, and it is one which promises to be very popular with all classes of the community. It will be termed an "Automatic Vaudeville," and unlike the majority of places of amusement, there will be no admission fee, the Peterborough Amusement Company, the owners of the business, evidently believing in the policy of generosity.

The new, and what will undoubtedly be, popular amusement place will be located in the store formerly occupied by F. R. J. MacPherson's cafe No. 432 George street, bicycle and plumbing establishment, which has been leased for a term of years and the interior fitted up to meet the requirements of the new business.

Extensive Equipment

The equipment, which consists of twenty-five coin-operating amusement machines, has arrived and is now being installed in preparation for the opening, which is expected to take place on Saturday night.

In other cities, particularly those in the United States, penny areades, as they are called there, are considered a necessary requisite to a city's equipment, and they are patronized by thousands. In Canada, the business is yet in comparative infancy, but it is gradually being taken up, and it is fitting that in this, as well as in other things, Peterborough should be up with the leaders, and, as a matter of fact, it is the first outside of the large cities, Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa in the east to have an areade installed on a permanent basis.

A Recognized Business

The work of amusing people is now recognized as a business as much as selling groceries or dry goods, and there is a rapidly-increasing amoount of capital being invested in this branch of business enterprise.

The Peterborough Amusement Company is composed of local capitalists, the majority of them young business men, who have faith enough in the present and future of the city to invest their money in an enterprise which is, in many respects, unique, but which they confidently believe will prove popular with the people of this city.

An entirely new equipment of twenty-five machines, made especially to order for this trade, has been purchased, and includes moving picture machines, picture post-card vendor, lifter, fortune-tellers, punching bags, pneumatic puncher, weighing machines, electric shock machine, gum machines and music machines.

More Machines Coming

It is the intention of the company to gradually increase the number of machines, until fifty are installed, and, as a matter of fact, a number are now in course of construction for this company.

There are ten nickel-stereoscope or picture machines, which exhibit, automatically, after one cent has been dropped in the slot, a set of fifteen pictures, brilliantly illuminated. The dropping of the coin starts the mechanism, which continues to operate until the fifteen views have been exhibited to the person looking through the top of the machine. The views may be had in infinite variety, and will be changed frequently.

Athletic Section

The athletic section will comprise an owl lifter, punching bag and pneumatic punching machine, and these machines will no doubt be popular. The lifter is a machine for testing the strength of the lift. When a cent is deposited in the slot the person operating the machine raises on the horizontal bar, and the number of pounds he has lifted is indicated on the dial.

Three fortune-tellers will give information on the subjects of love, happiness, etc.

One Cent Limit

All these machines, and many others not described, are operated for one cent. Nothing more than that amount can be used in any machine at one time, and for a very small sum of money one can spend a very interesting half hour. The management wish it understood that everything will be on the highest possible plane. Nothing will be allowed which will in any way offend the most refined, special attention being paid to ladies and children.

On Saturday night the new "Automatic Vaudeville" will open to the public.

Advocates Pay For School Trustees

Correspondent Writes Interesting Letter on This Subject —Some Educational Problems Discussed.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

The different parts of the educational machinery have been discussed freely by different speakers, the teachers' salaries, improvement of rural schools etc., and it is time those were looked into, but time alone will remedy these faults. There is one part in the educational machinery that has been left out of consideration and that is the school trustee.

At the beginning of each year a small fraction of the ratepayers meet and appoint three men as trustees for the school. The same men are appointed year after year; and why? Simply because they get nothing for their work but a great deal of abuse from other members of the section, who find fault with the salary they pay the teacher. Those people have no more idea of the work a teacher has to perform than a cat has about digging postholes. The trustees hire the teacher, sign the agreement and in some places give him or her the key and say there's the school, go ahead.

The teacher's work now begins. He plods away and generally is found fault with by some of the parents, from tales carried home by their children, but they never think it worth while visiting the school and seeing who is at fault. The teacher may waste his own and pupils' time or may try to fit himself for some higher position during school hours at the expense of the pupils time. Who is to say whether he does or not? In the majority of cases, trustees or parents never visit the school either to find fault or appreciate his work. The inspector comes twice a year, and in some cases those are the only two visitors the teacher has during the entire year, without a word of praise from the section as to whether he honestly earned his salary or not, but in the majority of cases they earn the beggarly salary. No man or woman, when they do good work either for an individual or for the public but likes praise and a school teacher is no exception. Now the only way that this can be done is that the parents and trustees keep themselves in closer contact with the school work and aid the teacher in improving the appearance of the school both inside and out.

School trustees should be paid just the same as other officials who are serving the public. No man will do much nowadays for nothing, and that is the one reason why trustees take such little interest in the school. The same men hold the office for life if they wish, and in the end, receive nothing for it. I know a secretary-treasurer of a school who had the position for 25 years and when he objected to further service, but asked for a small amount for his work, the ratepayers who were present objected and he received nothing.. Now if trustees were paid, there would be a keener competition for the office and their work would be more closely watched by the ratepayers; just as the work of other officials who are serving the public. If they were given a small salary that they might be able to spend a small portion of their time looking after the affairs of the school. Visit the school at stated intervals and see the machinery in motion that they may appreciate or find fault with the work of the teacher. No man can tell what a machine will do until he sees it in motion. It is the same with the teacher,—they cannot tell whether he does his work honestly or not unless they visit the school and see him at work.

Again the teacher may point out the defects in the school premises and explain things that are necessary for the school work, and if the trustee were paid he would feel that he had a greater responsibility on his shoulders and the result is the school would be benefitted by it.

New Directors Of Big Dipper Company Elected

Annual Meeting Was Held Yesterday — Business Has Been Most Satisfactory — Will Meet Shortly in Olean, N. Y.

The annual meeting of the directors of the Big Dipper Mining and Milling Company, Limited, was held yesterday afternoon and evening in the company's office on Water street. The business of the company during the past year was found to be very satisfactory and gratifying to the representatives present.

All of the old officers were at the meeting and were elected as directors.

A gratifying feature of the annual meeting was the fact that two-thirds of the stock which was outstanding was represented by personal proxy. The following are the new directors: Messrs. John M Fletcher, J J Tisdale, John G Herb and A G Thum, of Buffalo; Thos. H Kerwin, of Duke Centre, Pa.; J S Waldron, Peterborough; J Ross Cameron, Olean, N.Y.; J A Jamieson, Myers' Cave, Ont., and E P Huntington, Shinglehouse, Pa.

Owing to the fact that two of the directors were absent they will meet again in a couple of weeks' time at Olean, N.Y., to elect the officers of the company. At that meeting will be considered the important question of the purchase of a stamping mill. The representatives present left for their respective homes to-day.

Hallowe'en Passed Over With Not Much Damage Done

Telegraph Poles Received Their Usual Decoration of Gates and Verandah Furniture—The Man Behind the Pea-Shooter Did the Work.

Hallowe'en was celebrated noisily, but without much damage in the city last night. The reckless disregard of other people's property, which in other days, was a characteristic peculiar to that night, fortunately seems to have become a thing of the past. Of course, many worthy citizens this morn found their front gates or verandah furniture adorning telegraph poles or thrown over into a neighbour's yard, windows received their customary fusilade of peas and their were other signs that the spirit of mischief in the mind of young Canada is not yet dead.

The ubiquuitous small boy armed with the inevitable pea shooter, with unbounded confidence in a false face as a disguise and the fear of the dreaded "Special" was strongly in evidence. Almost every man dressed in civilian clothes that hove in sight was taken for one of the special constables. The regular force were not so formidable, their uniform giving them away at long range.

The night was not propitious for Hallowe'en pranks. The bright moonlight which flooded the streets did not give much cover to those on mischief bent, still it aided the youngsters, too as it was almost impossible for the officers to get close with their "23" sign.

Girls will be girls it is said, but people on George street last night saw two girls who certainly did not look the part. The pair, one of whom was said to be a married woman, was attired in men's garb and in company with two other girls promenaded the George street circuit until P. C. McGinty's arrival on the scene, caused a hurried flight to a Jackson Park car, upon which the quartette made good their escape.

One man living on George street, north, was determined that his step would not be carried off as in other years. A thick coat of tar was the remedy used and the treatment was found to be satisfactory.

At the police station everything was quiet during the evening. Calls for the police were few and far between, showing that the young people, if somewhat noisy, were not doing much damage to property. Nearly all the force were on duty in the outlying districts where there is always more likelihood of trouble. The officers contented themselves with dispersing the crowds of mischief makers and up to 11 o'clock no arrests had been reported or had the attention of the police been called to any serious danger.

Many young people entertained their friends with taffy-pulls and other such forms of entertainment which have come to be looked upon as a very important feature of a Hallowe'en celebration.

Rubber Company Gets Good Order

From City of Winnipeg For Fire Hose Equipment.

The city of Winnipeg at a recent meeting placed an order for 5000 feet of 3 1-2 inch high pressure hose, for fire protection purposes. This is one of the largest single hose orders placed by any western corporation, and the successful tenderers for supplying the hose — the Canadian Rubber Company, Limited, of Montreal — obtained the business in the face of some very sharp competition.

The Canadian Rubber Company, of Montreal, Limited, have also obtained from the Winnipeg City Council, an order for 5000 feet of Wax and Gum Treated "Keystone" Fire Hose. It is stated that the "Keystone" brand of hose, was specified by the city of Winnipeg, on account of its known and tried superiority over other makes.

To Discuss Cool Curing System

Addresses Will be Given at Cheese Board Meeting.

Mr. John Riddell, secretary of the local cheese board, has made arrangements to have Mr. G. G. Patrons, cheese makers and all others interested in the dairy industry, are invited to be present, as the cool curing question will be discussed by the above gentlemen.

The sales will be held in the usual place, above the Montreal Bank, but if more room is required the addresses will be given in the council chamber.

Street Numbering May Soon Claim Attention

Of the City Council—Reports That it is at Present in Very Unsatisfactory State.

The question of properly numbering the houses of the city is a matter which many think should be taken up by the city council.

According to reports from those in a position to know the numbering situation in Peterborough is in a deplorable condition.

The numbers on various houses are not uniformly placed. Some of them are obscured by storm or screen doors. Many houses have absolutely no numbers at all. On others there are numbers, but they have been painted red, green, blue or yellow, etc., to harmonize with the decorative effect of the houses, and consequently they are not discernable.

Then, again, the charge is made by deliverymen that on some streets odd and even numbers are to be found lined up side by side, whereas they should always be on the opposite sides of a street.

The whole question is one of some considerable importance municipally, and will probably be brought to the attention of the proper authorities.

Mayor Best's Fence Destroyed Last Night

Number of Hallowe'en Prowlers Captured by P. C. Newhall--Have Received the Blue Papers--South End Echoes of All Hallow's Eve.

Probably the greatest damage to property by the "mischievous ones" who were out for a rampage last night, was done upon Mayor Best's property, Lock street. About 160 feet of the Mayor's close board fence which fronts his property, was torn down, posts and all. The depredators, however, were caught in the act by P. C. Newhall, who was the sentinel at the south end last night, and to-day a number of them have been summoned to appear in the police court, to answer for their misconduct. The officer had encountered the same gang on Park street in the early evening, where they had smashed an old buggy. The group was then broken up and warned by the policeman.

Their next manoeuvres, in spite of the caution, shifted to Lock street where Mayor Best's fence was viciously attacked and broken down. The officer was near the spot at the time when the bandits proceeded to do their work, but his actions were concealed to them. Most of them were rounded up and, as stated above, are waiting trial in the police court.

A few more dwellers in the vicinity of the Canadian Cordage Company, the C. G. E., who were prowling around for no good purpose, may also expect the blue papers. A number of young men who proceeded to lift off the gates at the C. G. E., were met with a warm reception by the same constable. They felt the across their lower extremities. Trials of speed were frequent, and invariably the policeman won out, and chastised the juvenile offenders. Many of the boys who were out for a "time" were kept in motion, and other than the destruction of the mayor's property, damage in other sections was slight.

Those who were implicated in the destruction of the 160 feet of close board fence were all young men, mostly past the age limit.

Bridge Repaired On Charlotte St.

Elm Planks Will be Laid Longitudionally.

The City Engineer has a number of men employed repairing the Charlotte street bridge, under the direction of Mr. Alex Fitzgerald. Some extra stringers are being laid as the ones had begun to decay. The old planks will all be replaced, but will be covered by new, elm planks running longitudinally.

It will be remembered that the company supplying the steel structure were not able to get it into Peterborough this year, so that the present repairs were found necessary. The company will be called upon to meet their share of the extra expense occasioned by their failure to have the material here according to contract. A cement top will be constructed on it next spring.

Finance Minister Has A Majority Of A Thousand

Plain Statement of Why They Are So By a Leading Liberal.

FOUGHT DEVIL WITH FIRE

Mr. George C. Gibbons, K. C., President of the London Reform Association, Tells of the Experience of London —Mr. Hyman Twice Robbed of Seat Honestly Won — Strange Confessions of Wm. Spence.

Toronto, Nov. 1.—A sensation was caused in the election conspiracy case before Lieutenant-Colonel Denison yesterday by the very outspoken and frank evidence given by Mr. George C. Gibbons, K.C., President of the London Reform Association, who candidly admitted that a certain element had to some extent gained control in the Liberal party in London, and that it was due to their determination to fight fire with fire that the condition of affairs which had been revealed by the investigation had been brought about in recent elections.

No Sympathy For Crookedness.

He unhesitatingly declared that he had no sympathy with such an expedient, and had used his influence to the fullest against the adoption of such methods. At the same time, he pointed out, not in justification, but in explanation of the action of the element to which he referred, that for many years the Liberals in London had fought as clean and honest a battle as had been waged anywhere in the Dominion.

Mr. Hyman Robbed of Seat.

But they had seen Charles S. Hyman robbed of the seat honestly won by clean methods by the decision of a Judge in defiance of the decision of a superior Judge. In the last general election the seat which belonged to him was again stolen from Mr. Hyman, and it was only after becoming convinced that fair treatment and a clean, honest election was impossible that certain elements in the Liberal party determined to fight fire with fire. For himself Mr. Gibbons said he had never countenanced any improper practices.

Great Majority Clean.

He was convinced that nineteen out of twenty of the electors of London desired clean elections, and Mr. Hyman, had it not been for the mistaken views of a few Liberals, would by now have carried the seat by a thousand majority. Mr. Gibbons told the court that he had, when Jerry Collins came to his office to urge his claims upon the party in terms more vigorous than polite invited him to retire. He denied all knowledge of any bribery by Collins.

Strange Confessions.

Wm. Spence, the former deputy returning officer, who has been visiting in Detroit, confessed that on the night of the Beck-Rumball election he had opened his ballot box and permitted E. R. Sifton to examine the ballots. By means of the numbers on the ballot Sifton ascertained that Steve Collins, a brother of Jerry, and one of the Gibson boys had not voted as they promised, and the money which was to be paid them if they voted right was afterwards given to him. He did not act as deputy in the Hyman-Gray election, but was employed as scrutineer, for which he was paid. Jerry Collins, who supplanted him as deputy, afterwards gave him $15.

Surprise Was Caused.

An incident which caused some surprise was the fact that Mr. E. E. A. Du Vernet quoted from his brief what purported to be a verbatim report of a private conversation which took place during the Hyman-Gray election over the long-distance telephone between Mr. John Auld, M.P.P., at Amherstburg, and Mr. M. K. Cowan, K.C., at Windsor.

The Brockville Case.

Evidence regarding the improper use of ballots in the Brockville election was given when the court opened yesterday morning

Bail Again Refused O'Meara.

The charge of perjury against John O'Meara of London in connection with the bribery and conspiracy election case was again before Police Magistrate Denison yesterday morning. Several new witnesses were called for purposes of identification. The feature of the proceedings was the severe and searching cross-examination of the Crown witnesses by Mr. J. W. Curry, K.C., who, with Mr. J. M. Godfrey, appeared for the defence. It was evident that the line of defence is a straight denial, and that the defence relies for success upon the length of time that has elapsed and the difficulty of identification arising therefrom. Bail was again refused O'Meara and he was remanded till to-day.

Happiness in a Grain of Wheat

It Contains Every Food Element Necessary for Man's Sustenance.

All authorities agree that fourteen elements are needed in the human body to sustain perfect health and that these must be supplied in the food taken into the system. Nature has provided us with one single article of food containing all of these fourteen elements in the exact proportions necessary to supply our bodies with vitality, strength and heat. This food, so wonderful in its composition, is wheat, and intelligent men and women are coming to realize more and more that in the whole of the wheat is found the secret of health and happiness. Rich in the nitrates, or muscle-making elements, the carbonates, or heat-producing elements, and the phosphates, or brain and nerve-making elements, the whole grain of wheat supplies every necessity for man's body and mind.

This is how Malta-Vita came to be known as "The Perfect Food," for Malta-Vita is simply the whole of the wheat and a little salt, thoroughly steamed and cooked in absolute cleanliness, then mixed with pure barley malt extract, which converts the starch of the wheat into maltose, or malt sugar, an active digestive agent and very nutritious as well.

All grocers sell Malta-Vita. Large package, now 10 cents.

Coroner Dr. Rodrigue Specially Mentioned for Neglect — "More Guilty Than Any of the Other Magistrates in the Town," Thunders the Verdict — Criminal Prosecutions Will Likely Soon Follow.

Buckingham, Que., Nov. 1.—"That Thomas Belanger and Francois Therlault came to their death in the course of a riot, being killed by Frank Kiernan and John C. Cummings of Buckingham, Pierre Picard of Montreal, Roy Engram of Montreal, F. W. Warner (dead) and the other special constables, shooting at them in such circumstances that they should be sent before the Criminal Court.

"We also find that Albert Maclaren and Alexander Maclaren, both of the Town of Buckingham, are guilty of their death in bringing those constables in and should go before the Criminal Court.

"We also find that Adelard Hamelin, Hilaire Charette, Louis Landry, Jean B. Clement, Colbert Bastien and Geo. Robinson Croteau, all of the Town of Buckingham, aforesaid, and many others, are guilty in that they accompanied these men in this riotous assault in which they met their death and should be sent before the Criminal Court.

"We also find that Dr. Alexandre Rodrigue of the said Town of Buckingham (coroner) is more guilty than any of the other magistrates of the town in that he anticipated serious trouble and neglected to do his duty and that he too should go before the Criminal Court.

"Two jurors do not agree to this verdict, Maise Gouiette and Janvier Hamelin."

14 Jurors Out of 16 Agree.

Fourteen out of sixteen jurors in the Belanger-Theriault inquest last night agreed on a sweeping verdict in the terms of the above.

The verdict was entirely along the lines of Coroner McMahon's address, which occupied an hour in the delivery, and the jury was out four hours and a half.

One of the dissenting jurors, Janvier Hamelin, is related to the indicted Adelard Hamelin.

Indicted Are Paroled.

All of those indicted appeared before Coroner McMahon after the inquest, and were allowed to go on parole till 2.30 p. m. Saturday.

J. Lamontagne, legal adviser of the strikers' union, says he is pleased with the verdict, but the counsel for the other side intimate that objection may be taken to the charge of the coroner on some legal points be interpreted to the jury. In all, 99 witnesses testified in the inquest.

More to Come Yet.

Ed. Guerin, K. C., crown prosecutor, says the most important part is to come yet.

The coroner frequently remarked that there were many perjuries in the evidence.

Another Carpet Factory Is Coming To Canada

And May Be Impressed With Advantages Offered in This City and Locate Here.

There is an opportunity for Peterborough to secure another carpet factory, apparently.

This city is now carpeted from north to south, and perhaps two more factories may be secured to carpet it from east to west. The Toronto World to-day, says:

"The firms of John Crossley & Sons, Limited, of Halifax, England, and A. F. Stoddard & Co., Limited, Elderslie, Scotland, has a director of each company now in Toronto, investigating as to the advisability of starting in combination a factory for the purpose of manufacturing all classes of carpets in the Dominion.

"C. W. Crossley, of Crossley & Sons, who are the largest carpet manufacturers in the world, employing five thousand hands, and Arthur Renshaw, a brother of Sir Charles Renshaw, and head of the firm of A. F. Stoddard & Co., Limited, Elderslie, Scotland, another immense carpet concern, are the visitors, and they are at the King Edward. They want to establish in Ontario, and preferably in Toronto. The Crossleys make all kinds of carpets, and the Stoddards specialize on tapestry and printed goods. The two firms would constitute a very strong combination; and they say they realize that while labour is scarce here at present the day is rapidly approaching when the country will have an enormous population, and their idea in coming here is to be on the ground early.

"They are desirous of having terms offered them, however, and have interviewed Commissioner Thompson with this object in view. In England the firm uses a million gallons of water a day, and they require a very pure quality. Toronto is not wanting in this respect. It is understood that taxation relief is the form of encouragement sought, but to what extent this would accord with city traditions, no one was prepared to say last night.

"A similar application not long since resulted in an offer from Peterborough for twenty years' exemption to a big English textile industry."

Society's Founder Will Give Lecture

Rev. Father F. O'Sullivan Will Speak at St. Peter's T.A.S

Next Monday evening the first meeting for the season of the Literary Society of St. Peter's T. A. S. will be held. It will be one of special interest in view of the fact that Rev. Father F. O'Sullivan, Lindsay, the founder of the T. A. S., will be present, and give a lecture on "Modern Catholic Literature." In addition to the lecture a good musical programme will be rendered.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

It is announced that Friday night's attraction, "Girls Will Be Girls" Company comes from the Russell Theatre, Ottawa, and goes into the Grand Opera House, Toronto, all next week. The reason this high class attraction has not been properly billed is on account of the Lithographers' strike in the United States, and the majority of their paper has not been shipped, but this does not weaken the production and with Al Leech and the three Rose Buds at the head of the company it is assured that the attraction will be a good one.

Saturday's Game Will Be Well Worth A Quarter

Victorias Will Meet Peterborough at Riverside Park--Game Will be a Great Exhibition of the Fall Sport--Last of the Season.

If only to "answer sweet Charity's call" there should be a record crowd at Saturday's game between Victorias and Peterborough, which is called for 2.45 o'clock at Riverside Park. Because the team has not been very successful on the field this year is no reason why they should not have a big gate on Saturday. The man who only supports a winning team and slings the hammer when his bunch is in hard luck, is not worthy of the name of sport unless with a tin-horn preface. The game will be well worth a quarter and should be well patronized. Sympathy is all right but unless it comes in the form of the coin of the realm it will not be appreciated. The expenses of the club have been heavy and the season will end with a decided leaning to a debit balance unless there is a big gate on Saturday.

At present the management is singing their woeful song,—

"Everybody gives us good advice
But no one seems to offer us the price,'
A glad handshake and a good kind word,
Wouldn't buy a dinner for a humming bird.
Consolation may be very nice,
But money cuts an awful lot of ice.
Ain't it very strange indeed,
That when you are in need
Everybody gives you good advice."

Ice Meet A Prospect For Peterborough In 1906

Horse World Says Old Campaigners Are Getting Ready —Ottawa Lexington of the North.

The Buffalo Horse World this week says :—

Ice racing has become so popular in Canada the past decade as to attract attention at every point of the compass in the light harness horse kingdom. The earning capacity of a trotter or pacer has been greatly increased by winter racing, hence the old campaigners are getting ready for the big stake events and class races at Ottawa, Montreal, Belleville, Peterborough Lindsay, Port Perry, Orillia, Barrie, and other favourite Canadian cities with the dawn of the New Year. Ottawa is regarded as the Lexington of the north. Thousands of dollars are wagered there during an ice racing carnival, with excitement at high water mark from start to finish. It is a grand place to visit in winter. The fields are always large, especially in the rich stake events, and the fortunate owner of a winner can win as much gold, if he backs his opinion, as at any meeting down the Grand Circuit in summer.

Deaf Mutes Endorse The New Appointee

Letter From Peterborough Deaf Mute Association Concerning Dr. Coughlin's Appointment.

The Examiner to-day received the following letter from a member of the Peterborough Deaf Mute Association :—

To the Editor of the Examiner :

Sir,—We noticed in the recent issue of the Toronto papers, stating that the Toronto Deaf mutes sent a deputation to the government to protest against the appointment of Dr. C. B. Coughlin to the office of Superintendent at the School for Deaf, Belleville, speaking in reference to the complaint, we would say: personally we, ourselves, as members of the Ontario Deaf Mute Association agree the new Superintendent. We consider the Government has more right in selecting Dr. C. B. Coughlin to fill the vacancy, for we know he is a perfect man and best one yet to superintend the Institution to the best of his ability, honest and faithful. No doubt, Dr. Coughlin will understand all the meanings of the deaf language in the very near future We feel sure he will take fatherly care to little deaf children at school. He being himself a professional medical man that is very necessary with his skilful treatments Whenever children happens to meet serious illness, he is ready to give his speedy assistance and also can see that children are well cared for and everything will be found in first class sanitary condition. We are very grateful to the government, for giving a final decision to keep Dr. Coughlin in the responsibility of the office of Superintendent.

In reply to Toronto papers, the Government said. I have no doubt, that the choice will be universally endorsed when the doctor takes charge and his work at the Institution is evidenced." That is true. We might add that Dr. Coughlin was agreeably surprised to receive a letter from Mr. R. Mathison, the retiring superintendent, who is well pleased with his new successor. The letter reads as follows.

Ontario Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, Belleville, October 29 1906.

Dear Doctor,—I shall be glad to meet you at the depot. Come direct to the Institution and have dinner with me.

Yours truly,
R. MATHISON,
Superintendent and Principal.

Thanking you Mr. Editor for inserting this space in your valuable paper.

Yours truly,
The Peterborough Deaf Mute Association.

Editor Post Card Column.

Dear Sir,—I would like to offer a few remarks re Dr. Gowan's "thoughtful paper", on the care of the teeth, which you did have the honour to publish in last evening's "Examiner". But as the Dr. may continue publicity of this nature, as savouring of advertising, I refrain. You know he says in his paper :—

"If practising properly, a dentist has no goods to sell, no "prices" to quote, and nothing to advertise. His business is to render professional service by means of special knowledge and skill for his patient's welfare. For this he collects a fee proportioned to the extent, difficulty, importance etc., of the service rendered. He instructs his patients so far as possible in means to prevent suffering and loss, and takes a charitable view of human weaknesses and a sympathetic interest in relieving pain."

"Nothing to advertise, eh? "No prices to quote?" Takes a charitable view of human weakness and a sympathetic interest in relieving pain." Just so. I've been wondering how much per tooth he paid for this "advice".

Yours,
ADVERTISER.

New York, November 1. — After momentary hesitancy the stock market at the opening this morning, gained strength from short covering induced by supporting orders around last night's closing levels, and support limits in most cases were maintained, while Penna. was the leader on the prospect of a higher dividend, which was realized in the afternoon when a seven per cent. dividend was announced.

The market grew strong in the last hour, the advances running from 2 points to nearly 5, Reading alone gaining 4 3-4. The close was strong at the high for the day.

Pandora Range

It is comparatively easy to build a range that will make a lot of heat, but it requires the exact science of Pandora Range building to produce a range that will use all the heat in the coal without waste.

A common range may burn twice the coal that a Pandora will, and yet do only half the work.

If you use a Pandora Range you can be certain that your coal money is not wasted, but used.

"God, My Only Physician" Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy

Last Public Interview Given by Head of Christian Scientist Church—She Answers World's Statement by Appearing Personally to Reporters.

Concord, N. H., October 31.—"The gates of Pleasant View are closed forever," was the dramatic statement made by a member of the household, after Mary Baker Eddy had given yesterday afternoon to eleven reporters from Boston and New York, will probably be her last interview. The reporters were brought here by the allegations in the New York World last Sunday that the leader of Christian Science was under her household's control and was being personated on her daily drive by a Brooklyn healer, Mrs. Pamelia Leonard. The reporters found Mrs. Eddy stately, but feeble. Much of her beauty is retained, but her hands shook and her head and lower lip trembled from a complaint resembling palsy.

Takes a Drive Daily

"Are you in perfect physical health, Mrs. Eddy?" was the first question asked after Mrs. Eddy had made her appearance.

"I am," was the brief reply, given with distinct enunciation.

"Have you any other physician than God?"

"No, indeed," answered Mrs. Eddy with emphasis, and then she added slowly, and solemnly, "The everlasting arms are around and above me, which is enough."

"Do you take a daily drive?" was the nxt question asked, to which Mrs Eddy replied as briefly and distinctly as she did to the first question:

"I do," she said.

Her carriage came while the reporters spoke to her. They were shown over the Pleasant View house, and were told that at one o'clock yesterday it would close to the outer world forever.

Edward N. Pearsoon, Secretary of State for New Hampshire, issued a signed statement that he identified

Ill From Cancer

The World charges that Mrs. Eddy is dying oof cancer, and is seen at least twice a week by a Boston cancer specialist. It says:

"So far as medical attendance goes, Mrs. Eddy time and again has given the lie too her own pretensions. For a period covering fifty years she has had constantly in attendance doctors, dentists and occasionally surgeons. She directed her grandchildren, the children of George Washington Glover, her only living son, to be vaccinated, and paid Dr. H. S. Dearing of Boston, his fee for operating upon her sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Ann Baker, who was suffering from cancer. This sister-in-law is a favourite with Mrs. Eddy, and hence the aid. This was in 1902."

Her Fortune

The World also discusses Mrs. Eddy's fortune, which is said to amount to $15,000,000 or $20,000,000. It says:

"Whenever the subject of Mrs. Eddy's millions is touched upon, Frederick Ladd, Mrs. Eddy's cousin and fiscal agent, who lives at Concord; Calvin A. Frye, her footman-secretary; Mr. Farlowe, Mr. Hanna, and the other members of the coterie surrounding Mrs. Eddy, cast their eyes heavenward and declare that little or nothing is left.

"'All has been dispensed in charity,' they say.

"Challenged to point to one of the stupendous charities of Mrs. Eddy, Ladd, after much pondering, declared that she gave shoes to all of Concord's poor upon the occasion of a county fair.

"It transpired that every year Mrs. Eddy pays for shoes to the amount of $200 to $300. It also appears that the faithful during the year sent small sums devoted to this annual charity. This is the only 'charity' which cousin Ladd was able to recall, save in a general and indeterminate way."

Meeting in Toronto

"Christian Science," was the subject of a clear and forcible address by Mr. Bliss Knapp, C.S.B., Boston, to a large and deeply interested audience at the Church of Christ, University avenue and Caer-Howell street, last night. Mrs. Eddy, he stated, had touched the hem of Truth and had been instantly healed. Like Newton with gravitation, she having discovered the healing Truth, sought for the spiritual law of science which governed it. Then she had been endowed with wisdom to bind up the broken-hearted and set free the captive, the reading of her book having healed many. Thousands of intelligent people had turned from medical practice to seek healing in the recuperative power of the prayer of understanding."

In Scuffle Over A False Face Boy's Arm Was Broken

Accident to George Ahern, Jr., on George Street Yesterday.

A false-face was responsible for a broken arm yesterday afternoon. George Ahern, young son of Mr. George Ahern, moulder with the Peterborough Lock Company, was knocked down in a scuffle that arose over a Hallowe'en mask, and fell with his left arm beneath him, fracturing the member between the elbow and the wrist. The acident took place at the corner of George and Hunter streets and he was carried into Tully's drug store. The Dan Spence Ambulance was summoned and the boy taken to St. Joseph's Hospital where his arm was set by Dr. McGrath. Afterwards the boy was removed to his home at 46 Elm street.

Lord Curzon's loss of health, the result of his long and arduous labours in India, and the shock of the recent death of his wife, has induced his physicians to urge him to travel in order to obtain change of scene. It is understood that he will visit Canada for a long stay.

Nation's Progress Depends On Observance Of Sunday

Rev. T. Albert Moore Addressed an Appreciative Audience at Charlotte Street Last Night—A Splendid Address.

A rather small but interested audience was that which was in attendance at the Charlotte street Methodist church last night on the occasion of an address by Rev. T. Albert Moore. Rev. Moore is one of the secretaries of the Lord's Day Alliance and it it was under the auspices of the local branch of the Alliance that the address was given. J. G. Potter, President of the local branch, presided throughout the evening. Rev. J. G. Lewis, Rev. Dr. Crothers and Rev. H. M. Manning were present.

Rev. Mr. Potter, after the meeting had been opened by a hymn and prayer, introduced Rev. Mr. Moore, explaining, or rather, introducing the subject of the address. In Canada there were many cases of labour and pleasure on Sunday which should not be.

Rev. Mr. Moore expressed his delight at being present again with the people of Peterborough, especially in behalf of such a cause.

He referred to Mr. Potter's remarks concerning the difficulty of reclaiming a city or town that has fallen into sinful habits. He had many occasions of witnessing this fact in his various journeys throughout the land and invariably all efforts put forth proved fruitless. Especially in the United States where personal greed was the primary cause of open theatres, ball grounds and, other sources of amusement, was this apparent. And now many of these irreligious and godless men are striving to make a day of pleasure of the Lord's Day and these are the objects of the Alliance's attack. Many foreigners settling in Canada have remarked that they loved this land because the Lord's Day is observed according to the laws of God. Especially is this true in the West where Canada is gaining many of her neighbours, rich farmers and tradesman; one reason being our laws and the proper observation of the Sunday. Then there are Canadians who leave their native land and make their homes in other climes. Invariably when they return they assert that Canada's greatest asset is her reverence for the Lord's Day and the peace and repose that accompanies it.

The speaker said that the Alliance was progressing most favourably, announcing that there are now 668 branches of the Alliance as compared with 610 when he was here before; that there were then 30,000 members and that now there are 36,000.

He considered that this should be rightly so. The speaker claimed that Canada owed its greatness to a large extent to its observance of the Sunday.

Benefits to a Nation

He then stated that by a proper observance of this day a nation was given more opportunities for progressing than one that neglects that day. Mr. Moore had considered this movement, the Lord's Day Alliance, from its beginning, and he said that the more he has thought of it, the more has he became convinced that it is a great asset to any nation. England has been one of the foremost nations to universally keep holy the Sunday, and she is also one of the foremost among the others in power and wealth. This is one example of the results among nations of observing the Lord's Day.

In conversation with a leader of religious work the speaker said that he had learned from him that the men of the southern countries of Europe where the Sunday is a day of work or pleasure, the men were on an average two inches less in stature than the men of the northern countries where the day was rightly observed. This is a coincident whatever may be the relation. Again, the day wages in the Southern countries of Europe averaged about fifty cents a day, while here in Canada the average daily wage is about $1.50. Again, Southern Europe has not produced in the last generation one great man or woman.

From the above it seems that it is to the good of a country to observe the Lord's Day. Much more profitible is it to men to rest on that day. God has said that it pays a man in dollars and cents to bless Him on Sunday. It is readily proved by ordinary experience that this is so.

Cause of Non-Observance

The main reason that a Lord's Day Alliance is a necessity is because of selfishness on the part of men. The greed of some for gold instigates them to provide sources of amusement. The love of personal convenience incites others. Then there is the greed of capitalists and also the selfish love of pleasure innate in human beings. All these have combined to make great gains among the people of Canada not considering the United States. What is the main plank in the Alliance platform? Speaking metaphorically, in other words, what is their most important medium of promoting their cause? Some had made wrong statements regarding this point, and a general erroneous opinion was prevalent. It aimed to prove the sentiment of the people to preserve the Sunday's observance and to fight against dangers it might meet with. The speaker then cited instances in which public sentiment had demonstrated its power thus proving its great importance to the cause. One case was that of a town near Woodstock, where an American manufacturer ordered his employees to work on Sunday, but through public sentiment an agitation was begun which resulted in his cancelling the order.

The Lord's Day Bill

Mr. Moore then detailed an account of the Lord's Day Bill, its institution and development. Two secretaries, Messrs. Moore and Shearer, first travelled all over the Dominion studying the religious customs of all the people. They investigated every political, manufacturing or otherwise, condition that had any bearing on the observance of the Sunday. In fact they were all over Canada. From their reports a plan of action was outlined which resulted so successfully. There was a great deal of opposition to the Bill by those selfish people whose worldly interests would be harmed. There were times when failure seemed to be at hand, but the end was a great success and means a great deal for the observance of the Sunday. Newspapers had reporters at the sessions of the Dominion Parliament who acted against the Bill. They gave out that the Bill would be useless owing to great number of amendments. But these reports were utterly false. There were a few amendments but they did not injure the scope of the Bill. One added by the Senate was that the consent of the Attorney General was required before any case could be considered. At first this seemed detrimental to the cause, but later proved a great assistance, as Hon. Mr. Foy promised his aid to the Alliance in their work. Likewise the other Attorneys-General had promised their co-operation with the work. Mr. Moore then showed how the Bill would effect industries, theatres, and Sunday amusements of all natures. It is to come into effect on March the 1st, 1907. Then there will be many radical changes. Four thousand stores that now keep open on Sunday must close, over 75,000 men who work on Sunday must cease; there must be no excursions, theatres, newspapers, etc. Corporations and companies are to be made responsible for those who work under their charge on Sunday. In fact the Bill is the strongest that has ever been drawn up for the furtherance of peace and rest on the Lord's Day. Although a great victory has been gained and much has been achieved yet the time has not come for a cessation of the work. Everyone should assist in work, clergy and laymen; it is for the good of the individual and the state.

There are four ways to assist the cause. First to consistently conduct yourself on the Lord's Day; second, be watchful to use only words of wisdom on that day; third, constant prayer to God, and fourth, by material assistance in the shape of money.

After the address Rev. Dr. Crothers moved a vote of thanks to the speaker of the evening, which Mr. Bitten heartily endorsed. Then officers were elected for the coming year for the local branch of the Alliance:

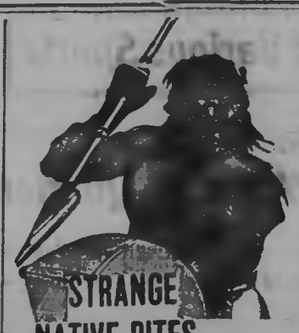
President—B. F. Ackerman.

Vice-Presidents—The City Clergy.

Secretary-Treasurer — Robt. Harrison.

Executive to be composed of two men from each church to be elected at the earliest opportunity.

Mr. Potter on behalf of the Alliance then moved a vote of thanks to the trustees of the church for its use during the evening.



In the virgin forests of that wonderful land, Australia, the ancient natives practised their weird and mysterious rites of healing. Much of their ancient lore will never now be known by modern man. Some of it, however, is known in certain quarters, and even modern scientists have been amazed at the deep knowledge of medicinal plants possessed by these ancient natives. When discovered by Captain Cook, the great explorer, he wrote of them: "I did not observe among them any sign of disease. Old men without hair or teeth were full of life and activity." This wonderful health was found to be due to the fact that they used certain herbal essences as medicine. What stronger proof could be had than this of the fact that the herbs of the field and the trees of the forest constituted nature's medicine chest for mankind? In Bileans for Biliousness, the great Australian household remedy you have the finest known medicinal essences. From coating to kernal they are purely vegetable. They are an absolutely natural remedy for indigestion, headache, billousness, constipation, piles, and all disorders arising from liver and stomach disorders.

It is now well known that liver medicines hitherto in use mostly contain bismuth, mercury and other harmful mineral products. These mineral constituents are very injurious if taken for long, and produce such effects as that of loosening the teeth, causing the hair to fall out, etc. Bileans are entirely different and superior. They are purely vegetable and contain no trace of any such harmful ingredients as the above. They cure that which they are taken to cure, and do not leave behind them evils worse than the original ones.

Bileans are mild in their action and are thus suitable for the most delicate constitution. They never cause griping or pain. Taken at night, they work while you sleep—toning up and stimulating the liver, strengthening the digestive organs, removing the causes of headaches — and when you awaken it is to feel "like another person altogether," as the saying goes. Bileans cure headache, constipation, piles, liver trouble, indigestion, and all digestive disorders, female ailments, skin eruptions, biliousness, sick headaches, bad taste in the mouth, foul breath, dizziness, fainting, buzzing noises in the head; feelings of uncomfortable fullness, even after a light meal, anaemia, debility, etc. They also act as a general tonic, and by improving the tone of the whole system enable it to throw off chills, colds, etc. They improve the general circulation, and are a boon to pale faced girls and weak women. All druggists sell them at 50 cents a box, or post free from the Bileans Company, Toronto, on receipt of price.

Home For Aged Has A Surplus

$2,740 Which Lindsay People Do Not Know What to do With

The Lindsay Home for the Aged Society, is now on the "retired" list, and has been ever since the erection of the new County Houbo of Refuge. But unlike many other societies, it retires with a snug little "nest-egg" of some $2740 more or less, i.e., there are a few payments to make and a few outstanding accounts to collect. But now that the members have practically nothing to do as a board, the question naturally arises "What are we going to do with our surplus?" — Post.

Diamond Dyes

Are Used By All Wise and Economical Canadian Women.

Failures in home dyeing are caused by the use of imitations and adulterated package dyes, which are ruinous to good materials and dangerous to handle. Ladies who value their garments and materials should never risk imitation and worthless package dyes. The colours of such dyes are always muddy, blotchy and lifeless. Storekeepers sell such trashy dyes simply because of the large profits they yield, and care little for the trouble and vexation these common dyes cause to the women who use them. DIAMOND DYES are the only successful, pure, fast and brilliant dyes sold. The DIAMOND DYES have a wonderful record of triumphs and successes and have no equals in the world for easy and profitable home colouring.

As there are merchants who sell inferior and adulterated package dyes insist each time that you buy that you are served with the DIAMOND DYES. See that each package bears the words, DIAMOND PACKAGE DYES.

Send to the Wells and Richardson Co., Limited, 200 Mountain street, Montreal, P. Q., for valuable dye Book, and card of dyed samples; free to any address.

Inspected Heating Co's Plant At Lockport

Ald. Johnston and McIntyre Returned to the City Last Night—Lockport Subscribers Are Very Well Satisfied With the Service Given by the Company.

Ald. Johnston and McIntyre, who were on the deputation from the Manufacturers' Committee to Lockport, N.Y., to inspect the plant and system of the American District Heating Co., returned to the city last night, after spending two days in their investigation. The deputation left Peterborough on Tuesday morning and were met in Toronto by Mr. G. E. Bradshaw, representative of the company. Lockport was reached on Tuesday night.

The aldermen spent Wednesday in looking over the central station and system of the company in Lockport, and the manufacturing plant, which is situated in North Tonawanda, N. Y. In the central station the visitors found a number of boilers with a total horse-power of 1,500.

The deputation visited a large number of subscribers to the system, and found every one apparently well pleased with the service given. Many stated that they would gladly pay more for the system rather than go back to the old method of heating houses with stove or furnace.

The manufacturing plant gives employment to seventy-five men and is a very large institution, representing, as it does, a big industry. Here are manufactured the pipes, which form an important part of the company's system for conveying steam through the streets from a central station. The aldermen brought home with them a cross section of the outer pipe used by the company, which shows the composition of the essential part of the equipment. The pipe is composed of four inches of pine lined on the inside with tin, and on the outside with tar and felt paper. Between this pipe and the steam pipe there will be a layer of dead air.

While in Buffalo, on their way, Ald. Johnston and McIntyre hunted up Mr. Wm. Fitzgerald, uncle of Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald, city, and who was some years ago a prominent contractor of Peterborough. He has been residing in Buffalo for some time.

Ald. Johnston and McIntyre will report to the Council at the regular meeting on Monday night.

Ald. McWilliams, Mason and Adams, who are visiting Detroit and Chatham on the same errand, are expected to return to the city to-day.

Dominion Express Co. Lose Sixty Dollars

Believed to Have Been Stolen From Office Counter—Other Money Stolen—No Arrests Yet.

Yesterday afternoon the Dominion Express Company were the losers of an envelope containing $60, which seemed to have mysteriously disappeared. The package came from Toronto and was taken by the Dominion Express driver, Mr. Sanderson, to the office on Hunter street, a few doors west of the post office.

The envelope was a blue one with the company's name upon it and marked C. O. D. It was placed upon the counter in the office by Mr. Sanderson, who obtained a receipt from Mr. Chas. Gray, the clerk under the manager, Mr. Cruthers.

After attending to some other business Mr. Gray went to get the money package to place it in the safe, but in the meantime it had disappeared. A search was made but no trace of the lost money could be found and the mystery remains yet unsolved.

The express company's office it appears has been robbed before. The other day Mr. Sanderson left money amounting to $9.14 in a drawer to the rear of the public office. On returning to get it the envelope, money and all was gone.

The robbery of yesterday was referred to the police, but as yet no arrests have been made. It is believed they are now working on a clue which may lead to an arrest.

Peterborough A Cabbage Garden To Toronto

This is the Flattering (?) Comparison of Toronto School Trustees—Mr. Jeffries Given An Appointment.

At the meeting of the Board of Education, held last night, the recommendation that Mr. John Jeffries, of this city, be appointed to the position of specialist in English on the High School staff and assigned for the present to Jarvis Street Collegiate, at a salary of $1,400 per annum, was opposed by Trustees Kent and Levee, Mr. Kent claiming that Mr. J. S. Carstairs should be promoted, and saying that outside schools (such as Peterborough Collegiate Institute, in which Mr. Jeffries has been a teacher for years) were "like cabbage gardens compared to Toronto, merely country schools alongside of ours."

Trustee Parkinson — The city of Peterborough would thank you for that remark.

Trustee Kent—Well, I used to go to Brampton High School when Dr. Seath was there, and we didn't think we were very big potatoes.

Trustees Kent, Levee and Smallpiece voted for the substitution of Mr. Carstairs' name for that of Mr. Jeffries, and Trustees Rawlinson, Parkinson, H. Simpson, J. Simpson, Dineen and Dr. Ogden voted against it and for the original recommendation, which latter was thus carried, Mr. Jeffries being given the appointment.

Bright Young Men For Foreign Fields

Mr. H. D. Robertson's Last Words to Christian Guardian Before Starting on His Chinese Mission.

The Christian Guardian of this week gives pictures of twelve young men who are being sent to foreign lands as missionaries by the Methodist church, with a short station for each one. A half tone of Mr. H. D. Robertson, with the following brief sketch is given:

"Mr. H. D. Robertson, B.A., is a graduate of Victoria University, specialist in Political Science. Mr. Robertson's wife was Miss Frances Genevieve Hunter, of Peterborough, who is an undergraduate of Victoria University. They will be supported by Wesley Church, Hamilton."

Mr. Robertson's closing words to the Guardian are:

"The possibilities of the lives of the present delegation to China cannot be estimated. The Master has called us o'er the water, and the prayer in our hearts and on our lips is that His hand may guide. His spirit direct, each life until that day when we shall have finished the work He gave us to do. May our efforts be made fruitful through the prayers of those who have made it possible for us to lift up Jesus Christ in the midst of the Chinese people. "For now we see through a glass, darkly; but then face to face: now I know in part; but then shall I know even as also I am known."

South Haven Men Visiting In City

Messrs. Hall and Calcutt Renewing Acquaintances Here.

Mr. J. G. Hall and Captain Charles Calcutt, formerly of Peterborough, and now residents of South Haven, Mich., are in the city. Mr. Calcutt came in on Wednesday. He was called on a sad errand, the serious illness of his father-in-law, Mr. Henry Lane, butcher, of Harwood, and who died on Wednesday, Mr. Calcutt just reaching his bedside before the sad event occurred.

Messrs. Hall and Calcutt are proprietors of a popular summer resort, which is visited each season by thousands of tourists, and any Peterborough visitors are always sure of a welcome.

Bear Seen On Simcoe Street

Ferocious Specimen Makes Its Appearance.

Most of Peterborough's hunters are in the woods, which is perhaps fortunate for the ferocious looking bear which made its appearance on the Simcoe street wall of T. Barrie & Company's store this morning.

The bruin is a particularly aggressive looking specimen and forms a splendid advertisement for a fur store.

The animal it is later reported, was shot by Mr. R. M. Roy this afternoon.

The Correct Thing For Evening Dress

Solving the Problems for Men in an Easy Way.

Until the advent of the Semi-ready tailoring, the purchase of a full dress suit or a Tuxedo was a $40 or $50 affair—and a lottery. The lottery was in the finish, for few tailors can get the real style of this garment, as they have only a few chances a year.

Semi-ready dress suits are tailored on the physique type system so that every man is sure of his exact fit and the correct length for his figure. A silk-faced coat, with vest and trousers, in fine black cheviot, for $25 at any Semi-ready Wardrobe.

Cressman's have all the new "Semi-ready" styles, and the exclusive agency for Peterborough.

A New Way To Boil Eggs

SOME TIME AGO a well-known Bishop was the guest of a family in London. Learning from the Bishop that he liked a hard boiled egg for breakfast, his hostess went to the kitchen to cook them herself. While so engaged she began to sing the first stanza of the hymn, "Rock of Ages." Then she sang the second stanza, the bishop who was in the dining room joining in. When it was finished there was silence, and the Bishop remarked, "Why not sing the third verse?" The third verse?" replied the lady, as she came into the dining room, carrying the steaming eggs. "Oh, that is not necessary." "I don't understand," replied the Bishop. "Oh, you see," she said, "when I am cooking eggs I always sing one verse for soft-boiled, and two for hard-boiled eggs."

INEXCUSABLE PARSIMONY

The action of the Whitney Government in knocking the top-knot off the Normal School building—the tower and dome—becomes more heinous and inexcusable every day. There is no earthly excuse in the way of the necessity of saving expense. As the Examiner has already pointed out, the provincial treasury is overflowing. With a wind-fall of close upon a million of increased federal subvention, with a large increase in the income of the Provincial Secretary's department, from the incorporation of companies, etc., and the exuberant income from succession duties, we have money galore. The Ontario Government has received so far this year, nearly a million dollars from succession duties, the Gooderham estate alone contributing half a million. With such available funds it seems to be a rather cheap-John business to utterly spoil the appearance of what should be creditable public buildings, for the sake of a few thousand dollars. Peterborough is very grateful for the gift of a Normal School building, but all the graciousness is taken out of the gift in degrading the exterior appearance, by the excision of beautiful architectural features, which will reduce the structure to a pile of building material, about as ornamental as a brick kiln. What encouragement can be expected, from the Education Department, to the development of the aesthetic spirit in connection with our schools, and school interiors, and surroundings? There is a plea for adorning the bare walls of our school rooms, with pictures, busts and statuary; there is a plea made for the beautifying of our school grounds with trees, shrubs and flowers, and generally in connection with our school buildings a plea is made for replacing bareness and bleakness, with beauty and attractiveness. The site selected for the Peterborough Normal School admits of the most beautiful environments. There are stately trees of nature's planting, and, in respect of surroundings, there is no site for a Normal School that lends itself so richly to providing a magnificent setting for a beautiful public building, such as the original elevation of the proposed Normal School promised. Go to, Dr. Pyne, you are providing a building for the training of teachers, which, so far as the aesthetic example of the exterior of the structure goes, will send them forth in shoals, to mould the manners and minds of our children, with low ideals of beauty, and exalted ideals of the beauty of stinginess.

MR. FIELDING'S TRIUMPH.

Montreal Herald.

The election in Queen's and Shelburne yesterday was a veritable triumph for Mr. Fielding; and it was the Opposition that made it so. Mr. Fielding had been led to believe all along that the proceedings instituted to unseat him would not be pressed to an issue, and many of the leading Conservatives in his riding knew of that understanding. The intervention of a small clique from Halifax was sufficient, however, to have the proceedings continued, and the Finance Minister was unseated on proof of corrupt practices by one of his supporters, although the judges, in giving their decision, were careful to state that Mr. Fielding himself had been shown to be wholly innocent of wrong-doing. His opponents, however, were rendered more vindictive than ever by this remark, and appealed to the Supreme Court to have Mr. Fielding disqualified, because he had paid out of his own pocket a bill incurred, not at this election at all, but at a previous election, a bill for which he was in no ways liable, but of which he had thought the creditor was entitled to payment from somebody. The Supreme Court threw out the application and a new election was brought on. Instead of letting Mr. Fielding be returned by acclamation, which would have been excusable even to rigid partisans when it was known the new tariff was all ready to be brought down, it was decided to make against him the hardest fight that could be made, and the managers of the campaign did, in fact, secure the ablest man they have at their service to contest the seat against him. Mr. Borden did not enter the contest, a circumstance which is very much to his credit, for faith had been broken with Mr. Borden as well as with Mr. Fielding by those who were determined to persecute the Finance Minister. Dr. Weldon may have felt that he was deserted by Mr. Borden, but in all events, he was merciless in denouncing the acceptance by the Conservative leader of the special and regular allowances made by Parliament. The Herald's correspondent on the ground reported that Mr. Fielding would receive many Conservative votes; the result shows that he must have received them. If he had been defeated the blow would have been serious for the Liberal party; his triumphant return is a no less serious blow for the Conservative party. If Mr. Fielding's prestige in Nova Scotia were ever in doubt it is in doubt no longer. His success amounts to a demonstration that the Liberal party in Nova Scotia will go into the next general election as invincible as it emerged from the last one.

At the same time, Mr. Aylesworth comes back to Parliament with a Liberal gain from Ontario. In Laurier, Fielding, Aylesworth, the Liberals therefore have a big three who cannot be matched by anything the other side have to show. Mr. Foster, who was booming up, has gone down, and just as he dragged others down with him ten years ago after the famous Nest of Traitors episode, so now he is dragging down Messrs. Fowler, Lefurgey and Bennett, three of Mr. Borden's most active supporters. And our Conservative friends need not flatter themselves that Quebec is about to dethrone Sir Wilfrid Laurier, a conclusion to which they are so eager to jump because Liberals disagree when they are not faced by a regular Opposition. It is true the Conservatives are to-day working like beavers upon the electoral lists for the counties in Quebec, as if at last they had some hope of being able to make a real fight, but that is a game at which two can play, and whenever the attack is made with Conservative candidates actually in the field, Liberals will be ready for them. After yesterday's victory in Nova Scotia and the victory of the day before in Ontario it is perfectly safe to predict that the next general election will once more place the Liberal party in office. There is absolutely nothing in the officering or the conduct of the Conservative party to modify the confidence with which such a prediction can be made.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Sir Frederic Treves says that canned meats which contain floor-sweepings and pieces of rat and man are harmless, because they are cooked and probably were healthy before they were cooked. The packers will not be effusively grateful for this defence. The popular prejudice against eating rats and men is hard to overcome.

Milk is to be advanced one cent a quart in Toronto, because it costs twenty cents to put a Government stamp on an eight-gallon can. The Toronto Star figures that one cent a quart on eight gallons is thirty-two cents a day, or $10 a year. It is pleasing to know that the dealers will have plenty of money to buy stamps.

The Statistical Correspondence Magazine states that in Prussia in 1905 the people ate 1,568 dogs and 81,312 horses, an increase over the previous year of 33 per cent. of dogs and 19 per cent. of horses. This is strange sort of news for Canadians to read. But those people who had to eat those dogs and horses to keep them alive were highly protected by a Government tariff. Free Trade Britain has not come to that yet.

There is something more or less humourous about the Toronto World's idea of Senator Cox visiting Cobalt and not being recognized. It is part of the World's creed, the Montreal Herald suggests, of life that the great personages of the earth are constantly going about in false whiskers with an operatic bandit's cloak and a "hist!" But a design of the disguise that would enable Senator Cox to escape recognition amongst the keenest crowd of promoters in the country should be very picturesque and interesting.

The Whitney Government seems to be having its own troubles in its management, or mismanagement, of Central Prison industries. It made a bad mess of it in returning to the obnoxious contract system for the manufacture of woodenware, stirring up both the outside producers of the line it is entering on, and organized labour as well. And now there is a rumpus over the abrupt cancellation of the contract for the manufacture of binder twine and rope held by the Independent Cordage Company. A law suit has resulted and the province is mulcted in a bill of $13,000 and costs. It would have been well had the government in regard to prison labour, as in regard to many other matters, followed the safe lines laid down by its predecessors.—Brantford Expositor.

The Hospital

Thankful are They Who Escape The Surgeon's Knife

Thousands of surgical operations are performed every year in our great city hospitals upon women afflicted with serious female troubles. Sometimes the operations are successful—oftentimes they are not.

It is safe to say that certainly nine out of ten operations for female troubles might have been wholly avoided.

The most valuable tonic and re-builder of the female organism, the medicine with a record of thousands of cases literally snatched from the operating table, is

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Do not consent to an operation which may mean death until after you have given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. Note what it did for Mrs. Robert Glenn, whose letter follows:

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so well and widely known that it does not need any recommendation from me, but I am glad to add mine to the many which you have in its favor.

I suffered untold agonies from a serious female trouble for nearly three years, and the doctors told me I must have an operation; but I was unwilling to undergo this, and decided to try your Vegetable Compound.

I am so pleased that I did so, for it restored me to perfect health, saved me the pain of an operation and the immense bills attending the same. Please accept my hearty thanks and best wishes.

MRS. ROBERT GLENN, 434 Marie Street, Ottawa, Ont.

Thousands of women, residing in every part of Canada, bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cures female ills and creates radiant, buoyant female health. For your own sake try it.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cures Where Others Fail

Miss Parkhurst, the leader of the rather hysterical female suffragist crusade in Great Britain, says the day is coming when female suffragists will be called upon to lay down their lives, or, as she poetically puts it, "must meet death's embrace" — for the sake of the cause. Mr. Cynicus Coelebs says the day can't come too soon. If Miss Parkhurst had perhaps been more successful in winning man's embrace, she would not be so despairingly ready to welcome "with smiling lips, death's embrace." If she had had a latch-key to keep an eye upon, and some little "pinnies" to keep in order, she would not be ranting female suffrage extravagances.

Kingston Liberals are attacking Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia, on account of the appointment of Shannon, a "Tory," to a responsible position in connection with the militia. In the abstract, a military question seems a legitimate subject for a fight. There's one consolation Kingston Liberals have. Premier Whitney sympathises with them—he is the daddy of the doctrine that only officials of the same political complexion as the government of the day should be appointed for their sympathy with the policy of the Government would ensure a better administration of that policy. Yet it would be safe to bet a top hat to a tam o' shanter, that Mr. Whitney approves the Shannon appointment. If he didn't he wouldn't display his usual inconsistency.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Nov. 2.—The stock market to-day interpreted the political events over night very favourably, and advanced all along the line, notwithstanding the lower London prices, which had evidently been manipulated from this side. The market was kept within bounds, although specialties were forged ahead at times, with a good undertone for the general list, which seems to regard the mid-election scare as past now. The outlook for money is not so good, but it is thought interior remittances will take place in a week or two.

Reading was the big feature, advancing over five points again to-day, with Great Northern up ten and Nor. Pac. six. There was a great deal of profit-taking in the last hour, which carried prices back about a point, and closed the market under the best of the day, but firm.

Delightful Banquet Given To Company No. 8

Hospitably Entertained by Officers of the Company—Good Cheer Reigns Supreme—An Interesting Programme of Songs, Musical Selections and Toasts—Capt. F. A. Clarke, the Toast Master.

It was a truly military gathering that assembled last night in Hooper's Palm Parlours on the occasion of the annual banquet given by the officers of Company No. 8 of the Peterborough 57th Regiment to the Non-Coms. and privates of that company. The palatial parlours of that popular establishment were richly decorated with the Union Jack, and flags of Great Britain and Ireland hung from the walls, presenting a truly military appearance.

Two large tables and a small one spread with palatable viands graced the hall, and to these the officers and men lent all due attention. Around the smaller table were seated officers of the regiment, the Chaplain, Canon Davidson, and Captain Fred Clarke, who presided as toastmaster, and who received many congratulations last night on the success of the pleasant social event and on the success of Company No. 8 of Peterborough's crack regiment.

There were altogether some forty of the Non-Coms. mustered around the festive board, all young men of fine physique, and on which they were complimented by the officers, who were called upon to propose and respond to the respective toasts. The company is one of the best of the regiment and have always given excellent accounts of themselves in their various drills and out-of-town trips, and certainly deserve the compliments which they received last evening. The officers of the company to whom they were indebted for the excellent repast provided are Capt. F. A. Clarke, and Lieuts. Neal, Jas. D. Clarke and R. M. Glover.

Gramophone selections—band music, solos and dialogues — formed a pleasing portion of the programme. The various toasts and responses were interspersed by these, and also songs by Peterborough's popular tenor soloist, Mr. James Browne, who favoured the assembly with three excellently solos which delightfully pleased the boys.

Those present of the officers' mess besides Capt. Clarke were: Colonel Miller, Colonel Halliday, Major L. M. Hayes, Capt. V. Eastwood, Quarter-Master; Lieut. Neal and Canon Davidson, Chaplain of the regiment.

Among the others present at the large tables were: Sergt.-Major Brittain, Sam Thomas, Thos. Bongard, Ernest Poole, W E Shannon, Harry Wyatt, Chas Little, Harold Dodds, Sydney Gibbs, A Staunton, W Rutherford, M Harris, J D Clarke, T Barker, Hague Sawyers, Wm Graham, Thos Buller, Geo Smith, Thos Bullied, J Browne, W Metherall, C Hughes, P Wallace, A Pearson, W Belleghem, K Lech, A Horsfield, E Brownscombe, F Richardson, W Taylor, A Nicholls, G B VanBlaricom, B T Huston, H McMullen, W Milner, J Patterson.

The Toast List.

When all had been satisfied with the good things provided, and the King had been duly honoured, the gay company sat at ease while the toast-master announced Canon Davidson to propose the toast to the regiment. It afforded him great pleasure, he said, to be present and to propose this toast, which he could voluntarily do with all his heart. He thoroughly believed in the fitness of the regiment and the great future in store for it. He believed in it with all his heart because it brought before us our duty to our country and enabled the trained soldier to do effective service in times of war. The regiment was a great training school, he said, and he could not imagine a man going into it and coming out a better one both morally and physically.

The 57th Regiment gave all a common comradeship, and although he did not know all the representatives personally, he felt that he could recognize them all as members of the battalion whenever he met them on the streets. All were bound with a common band of sympatty and fellowship. He considered that the regiment had done great things for the city, and had every reason to be proud of their standing. There has been a great transformation in a steady, upward movement tending to raise the standard of it and the physique of the individual members. In concluding, the chaplain referred to the excellency of No. 8 Company, and congratulated it on its high standing in the regiment.

CAPT. FRED. A. CLARKE
No. 8 Company, Who Presided as Toast Master at the Banquet.

The Response.

In reply to the toast, Col. Miller said that he was pleased to be present and to be called upon to respond to such a toast as that to the regiment. He spoke of the rank of the 57th among others of the Province, and of the pleasure it gave him to command a body of men who had such great respect for themselves. There was something about enlisting, he believed, that made a manly man, and it was nothing but true patriotism that made men take hold of the work. He entered the regiment, he said, in '64, and has been a continuous member ever since and hoped he would continue to be in the future.

The Government, he said, was recognizing the value of men who belong to the forces of the country, and he considered it a great pleasure to any officer to command a regiment such as the 57th, in which he found a kindred spirit of comradeship unrivalled by any other. He hoped he would always live close to the 57th, and that, when the bugle sounded which he would not hear, the 57th would fire three volleys over his last resting place.

The next toast was that to the "Army and Navy," proposed and responded to by Col. Halliday and Major Hayes, who treated the subject with due honour. This was followed by a well-rendered solo by Mr. Jas. Browne, "My Wild Irish Rose."

"Sister Companies" was proposed by Lieut. J. D. Clarke, and responded to by Capt. Eastwood. The latter believed that a reasonable amount of time should be given to the state as well as to private business. He also referred to the future prospects in store when the new Armouries were constructed.

Sergt.-Major Brittain proposed the toast to the "Non-Coms. and Men," which was responded to by Sergt. Poole. The company was again favoured with a solo from Mr. Browne, which he was called upon to duplicate. The "Ladies" were honoured by Messrs. M. Taylor and H. Dodds.

In fitting words, the health of Capt. Clarke was proposed by Col. Miller, which was heartily drank. In rising to respond, the genial captain was greeted with three cheers and a tiger. The "Press" was next proposed by Lieut. (Dr.) Neal, and responded to by Mr. G. B. VanBlaricom, after which the delightful function was brought to a fitting close by singing "God Save the King," and three rousing cheers for Col. Miller and Capt. Clarke.

Runaway Caused Some Excitement

Fortunately However, No One Was Injured.

An exciting runaway occurred yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when a horse belonging to Mr. Harry Stabler, which was standing in the market square, in front of his office, became frightened at a passing rig and ran away.

Swinging west on Charlotte street it dashed against Mr. James Davidson's horse and buggy which was standing at the Customs House corner, knocking down Mr. Davidson's horse and continued its mad career down Charlotte street, and on reaching English's bridge had a close call from colliding with a horse and rig which was being turned at this point by the driver.

The horse then swerved to the south side of the street, striking the curb, throwing the lumber that was on the wagon into the street, continuing on at top speed it arrived at the building on Park street, in course of construction there by Mr. Stabler, where the men captured it none the worse for the fast run. Mr. Davidson's rig and harness were slightly damaged.

Warsaw Flour and Saw Mill Changes Ownership

Was Disposed of Last Night to Messrs. Stewart Payne and Geo. Taylor--Mr. W. Wasson Will Again Take Over Merchant Business.

An important real estate change was consummated in Warsaw Wednesday night when the flour mill which has been operated for the past three years or more by Mr. Wm. Wasson, was disposed of to Messrs. Stewart Payne and Geo. Taylor. The mill which includes a department for cutting lumber is the chief manufacturing building in Warsaw and the Warsaw brand of flour is recognized as one of the best in the district.

Mr. Wm. Wasson purchased the property a few years ago from his brother, Mr. John Wasson, now of Peterborough, after he had given up the merchant business in the village. He will again take over the latter business which has since been in charge of the Lynn Bros. The latter have decided to leave Warsaw and go out to western Canada.

Mr. Payne is the proprietor of the Warsaw Cheese and Butter factory and it is understood he will still retain that business. Mr. Geo. Taylor, until a short time ago, was a farmer a few miles from the village. He has given up farming and will now devote his time exclusively to the milling business.

Miss Josephine Clancy Presented With Prizes at St. Joseph's Academy Commencement Exercises.

Examiner Special.

Lindsay, Nov. 2. — The commencement exercises in connection with St. Joseph's Academy took place on Tuesday evening, in the music room of that institution, before a number of invited guests and friends of the pupils.

The prizes were presented during the evening to the successful pupils of the Academy.

After the presentation of the prizes Ven. Archdeacon Casey gave an excellent address to the pupils, reviewing the progress of the Academy since its inception and showing that its history had always been advance from year to year, until the present, when it showed even a brighter outlook than in any year of its history. He also gave some wholesome advice to the young ladies on the value of building on a sound foundation, both spiritually and morally.

Among the prizes presented, were the following to Miss Josephine Clancy of Peterborough:

"Testimonial awarded by the Toronto College of Music, to Miss Josie Clancy, for having passed the examination in senior Rudiments of Music, with honours."

"Testimonial awarded by the Toronto College of Music to Miss Josie Clancy for having passed the required examination in Junior Piano with first class honours."

The Summer of All-Saints Or A To-day "Indian Summers"

Renowned in Song and Story of all Races, Savage and Cultrude.

Yesterday was the feast of All Saints. This day has always marked a special season of the year. It is about this time of the year that Nature makes, as it were, an effort to regain life. After the first fall of snow when the approach of winter is felt, there is always that delightful season known as Indian Summer or the summer of All Saints. The birds have nearly all departed for warmer climes, our little animal friends have stored up the winter's food and all nature has settled down for the coming blasts of winter. Then it is that this season of All Saints suddenly opens. The air warmed by the mid-day sun leaves a dreamy, wistful feeling in the hearts of men. The days are so tender and delightful and yet so mournful; man feels the approaching end of the warmth and beauty of summer and the dominance of the cold, depressing chills of winter.

Regarding the season now at hand William Cullen Bryant says in his "Death of the Flowers":—

The melancholy days are come, the saddest of the year,
Of wailing winds, and naked woods and meadows brown and sere.
Heaped in the hollow of the grave, the autumn leaves lie dead;
They rustle to the eddying gust, and to the rabbit's tread;
The robin and the wren are flown, and from the shrubs the jay,
And from the wood-top calls the crow, through all the gloomy day.

Longfellow gives a beautiful discription of Indian Summer in his pastoral poem "Evangeline," as follows:—

Then followed that beautiful season, called by the pious Acadian peasant's the Summer of All-Saints! Filled was the air with a dreamy and magical light; and the landscape
Lay as if new-created in the freshness of childhood.
Peace seemed to reign upon earth, and the restless heart of the ocean
Was for a moment consoled. All sounds were in harmony blended.
Voices of children at play, the crowing of cocks in the farm-yards,
Whir of wings in the dovecot, and the cooing of pigeons.
All were subdued and low as the murmurs of love, and the great sun
Looked with the eye of love, through the golden vapours around him;
While arrayed in its robes of russet and scarlet and yellow,
Bright with the sheen of the dew, each glittering tree of the forest
Flashed like the plane-tree the Persian adorned with mantles and wels.

The railways of the United States in the past eleven years have killed 82,244 persons and injured in excess of half a million more.

Many Matters To Come Up At Annual Meeting

Rev. T. Albert Moore Makes Statistics Concerning Work of Lord's Day Alliance—Last Year Has Been Prosperous One.

Rev. T. Albert Moore, secretary of the Ontario Lord's Day Alliance, who was in the city last night addressing a meeting of the local branch, made a statement to the Examiner concerning the general work of the Alliance, making special reference to the annual meeting, which will be held in two weeks' time in Toronto. Mr. Moore said:

"The annual meeting of the Ontario Lord's Day Alliance will be held in Knox Presbyterian Church, Richmond street west, Toronto, on Friday, November 9, 1906. Sessions begin at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. All members of the Alliance will be heartily welcomed.

"The General Executive will meet in Knox Church, Toronto, on Thursday, November 8, at 2.30 p.m. Each branch president (or such substitute as may be appointed), with the members of the Executive Board compose this Committee.

"The year's work is most encouraging. The arousing of the people to enthusiasm such as was never before evident; the effective and determined enforcement of the Upper Canada Lord's Day Act; the enactment, in much better form, of the laws prohibiting Sunday operation of street and electric railways, and the passage of the Act respecting the Lord's Day by our Federal Parliament, all mark the year's work with signal success and denote the great victories of the past twelve months.

Finance.—"Thanks to the liberality of our friends over the Province, we began this Alliance year with a small balance on hand. If the branches will all do as well as those whose complete yearly remittances have been received, our books will again balance on the right side. What has your branch done? Our books close for the year on October 31. See your treasurer and have him make full and prompt remittance.

Questions to be Considered.—"Our very successes develop new problems and increase the necessity for the continuance of our work. Our duty under the new Dominion Act, the present position regarding electric railways, the value and relation of our old law (C.S.U.C. 104) under the new conditions, and many other matters of importance will be before the annual meeting.

Attendance.—"It is hoped that you and other members of your branch will be present. Of course, you will see that all are given notice. We would be glad to know whom we may expect from your branch. Owing to changes made by railways regarding standard certificates, they will not be used, but each person will secure ordinary tickets."

Cyclists Receive Due Punishment

Seven Ladies With Bicycles and One Man in a Heap.

A promiscuous heap of human beings of both sexes, bicycles, and other things, presented a rather singular sight on Albert street the other evening. Seven young ladies were indulging in a smooth ride on the sidewalk, when suddenly the foremost became surprised at the appearance of blue cloth and brass buttons, which unexpectedly loomed up in the darkness.

She tried to turn off, but only made matters worse by running into the wearer, who with cyclist and bicycle, went tumbling into into the ditch. The other fair feminines followed suit, and in less time than it takes to record the fact ladies' frocks and silks, and the blue cloth and bright buttons, were mixed up in an unrecognisable heap in the mud.

The bicycle riders moved slowly on into the gathering darkness, sadder and wiser girls.

Mrs. Cannon Gives Statement Of Defence

Some Details in Connection With the Case of Alleged Alienation of Wife's Affections—She Says Her Husband Left Her and Has Never Supported Her Properly.

Mrs. Dorothy Cannon, wife of Wellington Cannon, who has caused a writ to be issued against J. J. Boyd and James Boyd for $5,000 for alienations of his wife's affections, is in the city to-day, and makes a statement voluntarily in connection with the case, which practically constitutes a statement of defence on behalf of the Messrs. Boyd. According to Mrs. Cannon's story, the main points of which were substantiated by statements made by Mrs. Boyd, wife of one of the defendants, Cannon left his wife, with the assertion that he never wanted to see her face again, and that in her extremity she remained with the Boyd family, where her husband took her upon her recovery from an operation which she underwent in the Nicholls Hospital, which institution she left two months ago.

It appears, from the story told by Mrs. Cannon, that her husband was an acquaintance of the Boyds, and that after his wife left the hospital he took her and her children to the Boyd home, with which family he had been previously acquainted. The arrangement was that both he and his wife should work for their keep. This state of affairs existed for a short time, when dissensions in the Cannon family led Mrs. Boyd to tell Cannon that he had better take his wife and family away. Instead of doing this he left himself, leaving his wife there. Mrs. Cannon denies the statement that the defendants in this case are "harbouring" her. She states that she is staying there voluntarily, but alleges that harsh treatment has been her lot ever since she married Cannon. They lived in St. Louis, Mo., for some time, and there, she states, she had to work to keep her husband and children, their condition being such that they were forced to live in a tent, and to keep herself warm she had to light a fire on the ground, no stove being included in their household equipment.

At the present time Mrs. Cannon and her two children are living temporarily at the Boyd home, with Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Boyd and their son James, who is unmarried. She states that they are very kind to her and has only words of praise for their treatment of her.

She is a former resident of this city, her maiden name being Dorothy Wicker, her parents living on Waterford street.

Mr. Stabler Will Erect Hog Pens

Needed In Lakefield, While Hogs Await Shipment.

Mr. Wm. Stabler, the well known hog buyer, has decided to erect a building in Lakefield for hogs. Mr. Stabler does a great deal of business with Smith, Douro and Burleigh farmers and often hogs have to be left a day or more in Lakefield awaiting shipment.

He will erect a pen 40 feet by 24 feet for this purpose, and it is understood will place it near the Grand Trunk tracks. This will greatly facilitate matters in keeping hogs over for some time. Mr. Stabler is also contemplating erecting a similar pen in Peterborough.

TO KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM.

If you see a woman or a man with luxuriant, glossy hair, you may be sure neither has dandruff to amount to anything. In nearly every case where women and men have thin, brittle hair they owe it to dandruff. There are hundred of preparations that "claim" to cure dandruff, but not one but Newbro's Herpicide tells you that dandruff is the result of a germ burrowing into the scalp, and that permanent cure of dandruff and its consequent falling hair and baldness, can only be had by killing the germ; and there is no other preparation that will destroy that germ but Newbro's Herpicide. British Ministry Accepts Trades Bill Amendment.

MOTION TO OMIT IRELAND

Proposals Defeated by a Great Majority After Heated Scenes and Lively Debate, In Which Mr. Redmond Poured Forth a Strong Denunciation, and Said Proposal Was Unworthy and Disgraceful.

London, Nov. 2.—The resumption in the House of Commons yesterday of the debate of the trades' dispute bill, including the amendment of Oct. 20, to clause 4, placing union funds beyond the reach of attack, led to some lively scenes.

Members of the Opposition, in their speeches, twitted the Ministers with surrendering to the Labor party. Herbert H. Asquith, Chancellor of the Exchequer, retorted that the question at issue was not one of principle, but of methods. He said he saw nothing dishonorable or unworthy in deferring to the feelings of those most interested in the matter, and he unhesitatingly supported the amended clause.

Conservative Defeat.

After other members of the Government had spoken in a similar strain, Samuel Roberts, Conservative, proposed to insert the original clause. This proposal was defeated by 372 votes to 79, amid loud ministerial and Labor cheers.

There subsequently was further heated scenes on the motion, made by a member of the Opposition to omit Ireland from the operation of the act. In moving this motion, Viscount Castlereagh, Conservative, contended it would give absolute immunity to boycotting. Samuel Henry Butcher, Conservative, seconded this motion, on the same ground.

Redmond Roused.

John Redmond, the leader of the Irish party, said he could conceive no more unworthy or disgraceful scandal than to come into Parliament when Ireland was in a state of profound peace, and suggest that it was unsafe to give Ireland the same rights as England. This was evidently to be the plan of campaign, in view of next year's legislation for Ireland.

After further heated discussions, in which the Speaker ignored appeals to call Mr. Redmond to order, Sir John Lawson Walton, Liberal, explained that the agricultural associations of Ireland did not come within the legal meaning of a trade union.

The motion was rejected by 282 to 35. The incident was then closed.

THE LORDS DOINGS.

Education Bill Changes So Great That Ministry Will Fight.

London, Nov. 2.—The House of Lords continues to make far-reaching changes in the education bill, and in Liberal circles the opinion is expressed that if the Opposition continues in its present spirit the bill hardly will be recognizable when it returns to the House of Commons.

Clause 2 of the bill was completed Wednesday night after radical alterations, mostly by large Opposition majorities. There is a distinct atmosphere of tension in the upper House. It has apparently been determined that the Ministry will not tamely submit to the Lords.

This metamorphosis was indicated by President of the Board of Trade Lloyd George, who, speaking at Spalding, declared that the work of "re-editing" the bill would terminate in a way probably far from agreeable to the House of Lords, a majority of whom were endeavoring to establish the principal of compulsory religion, to which the country would not submit.

TIDAL WAVE AT TOULON.

Nice Suffers Severely and Shops Are Badly Flooded.

Paris, Nov. 2.—A violent storm has swept over the South of France, accompanied by heavy falls of snow on the coast and a tidal wave at Toulon, in which many small craft were torn from their anchorages and wrecked, and the quays were flooded

Nice suffered most severely, the famous promenade Des Anglais and the neighboring streets being under water a foot deep.

The shops there were so badly flooded that the contents of some of them were totally destroyed.

The damage done will amount to an enormous sum.

The storm destroyed the Jetties at St. Raphael and carried away a bridge, the waves breaking about 150 yards inland.

Three small steamers and many fishing vessels were wrecked, but there was no loss of life.

Premiers' Exchange Felicitous Messages on Eve of Big Exhibition.

Premier Ward replied: "New Zealand heartily reciprocates and appreciates Canada's good wishes. Exhibition a big success. Canada's display creditable to your country, and hope it will be a forerunner of increased commercial relations."

FRUIT GROWING IN N. W.

Alberta Government Is Seeking Information From Settlers.

Edmonton, Alberta, Nov. 2.—The Department of Agriculture of Alberta sent out circulars to everybody in the province known to have tried large fruits asking them to give a list of the trees they have tried and what kind of success they had met with.

From these reports and other sources the Department has selected a list of what appears to be the hardiest trees for the province, and has decided to carry on a number of experiments in order to be able to give settlers authentic information on this important matter. The orchards are to be about an acre in extent and will be distributed at seven points, possibly eight.

His body, with one leg sticking out of the water, was not found until some hours afterwards by William Johnston, 288 North East avenue. Coroner McNichol may hold an inquest.

Killed at Port Credit.

Port Credit, Nov. 2.—John Elliott, a man about 30 years of age, residing in the village and employed here at the St. Lawrence Starch Works, was killed almost instantly shortly before noon yesterday, while he was at his work.

Elliott was in charge of a portion of the manufacturing plant, and at the time of the accident was engaged in oiling one of the machines. His coat accidentally caught between the sprocket wheels of the latter and he was dragged between the cogs of the two wheels and killed almost instantly.

Dr. Sutton was called at once, but nothing then could be done. An inquest will be held.

Elliott was a married man, but had no children.

Devotion Leads to Death.

Windsor, Nov. 2.—A fast westbound Wabash train struck and killed Mrs. Louis Lefevre, 60 years old, near Walkerville early yesterday morning. The body was smashed almost to a pulp and was unrecognizable. She was on her way to church, and to save probably half a minute's time she attempted to run across the track. The body was hurled with terrific force against a telegraph pole.

Killed in Explosion.

Hamilton, Nov. 2.—George Perkins, 337 West Main street, walked into the T. H. & B. car shops yesterday morning, about 2 o'clock, with a lighted torch. The building had been filled with gas from a leak in a main, and a terrible explosion followed. Perkins was so badly burned that he died shortly after. James H. Collins was also seriously injured. The roof was blown off the building. The loss will amount to about $10,000.

Suffocated by Coal Gas.

Brockville, Nov. 2.—Mrs. Bryant, an elderly woman, living alone, was found unconscious yesterday, suffering from asphyxiation by coal gas. She has not regained consciousness.

LONDON-STRATFORD TRAINS HIT.

96 Sheep Killed in Early Morning Wreck—Rolling Stock Damaged.

Brantford, Nov. 2.—About 4 o'clock yesterday morning the regular eastbound freight from London crashed into a westbound special freight from Stratford, which was standing on the main line, near Niagara street subway, in this city.

The standing train, to which a yard engine had been attached, was just about to pull out when the London train swept round the curve, and, despite the flag signals which were given, was unable to pull up and struck the yard engine with full force. The tender of the former was hurled over the embankment. The train tore over the subway, piling the yard engine on top of the London engine.

A caboose was smashed to splinters, and several cars were telescoped, two of them being loaded with ninety-eight sheep, ninety-six of which were killed outright. The other two escaped injury.

Fire broke out in the debris, the flames not being extinguished for two hours.

The engineer of the London train, whose name the company refuse to divulge, was slightly injured.

Sinks Schooner; Saves Crew.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 2.—The coast mail steamer Falcon yesterday collided with and sank the schooner Lillian, but saved her crew.

British Steamer Burned.

Queenstown, Nov. 2.—The British steamer Vedamore passed Kinsale Head yesterday morning and signalled that she saw the British steamer Nemea abandoned and on fire in latitude 51 north and longitude 15 west. The crew of the Nemea, with the exception of two men, who were lost, were taken on board the Vedamore.

The Nemea left St. John, N. B., Oct. 16, for Manchester, Eng. She was of 2,259 tons net register, was built at Port Glasgow and was owned by W. Thompson & Co. of Liverpool.

The Cause of the Wreck.

Osteud, Belgium, Nov. 2.—The vessel which collided with the German steamer Hermann in the channel Oct. 29, sinking the Hermann and drowning 23 of her crew, was the German ship Peter Rickmers, which arrived at Flushing yesterday, damaged and leaking.

Seven Months at Sea's Mercy.

London, Nov. 2.—The French schooner Christopher Columbus, returning from Newfoundland with a cargo of cod for Fecamp, was spoken in the English Channel. The crew is reduced to starvation in consequence of the vessel having been dismasted and at the mercy of the sea for seven months.

Chinese Warship Ashore.

Shanghai, Nov. 2.—The Chinese warship Chipwa is ashore at the entrance of the river. Assistance has been sent her.

SIBERIAN EXILE ESCAPES.

Terrorist, Who Is Feared, Hidden in a Water Cask.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 2.—Gerachunin, one of the most famous terrorists, and head of their fighting organization during the Sipiaguina and Von Phleve regimes, has escaped from Siberia, concealed in a water cask. His disappearance is a serious menace to personages whose lives the terrorists are now seeking, as he is a skilled organizer, and one of the most remarkable men the revolution has produced.

Conscripts Show Symptoms.

Saratova, Nov. 2.—Six hundred conscripts, who were summoned for service, appeared at headquarters yesterday singing revolutionary songs, and defied their officers. Many of the men were arrested.

Fourteen Exiled to Siberia.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 2—M. Krustaleff, who was president of the executive committee of the Workmen's Council, and fourteen leaders of the council who have been on trial here for a month past, were yesterday sentenced to exile in Siberia, and the loss of all civil rights.

Two others were sentenced to imprisonment in a fortress, and the rest of the accused were acquitted.

Eczema, Ulcers and Skin Diseases.

Don't you believe in nature? Don't you think that skin and blood diseases such as the above, can best be cured by applying nature's own herbal extracts? From Bible times the "herbs of the field" have been commended to mankind for this purpose. Zam-Buk is a combination of the finest medicinal herbal essences, concentrated, purified, and rendered highly antiseptic. Zam-Buk eases pain, stops suppuration, and heals all sores and skin diseases. A natural herbal balm, operating in natures own way. Note well following cases.

PROOF OF ZAM-BUK'S POWER.

Mr. Montague Jones, of Tavistock, Ont., says:—"About four years ago sores started to break out on my skin. I used salves to check them, but to no effect. I then burned them with Iodine, and that took them away for a time, but only for a time, and they caused me great pain. Sores then started to break out on my head. I went to the doctor, who told me that it was scalp eczema and that I should need to give it very careful attention. He gave me some salve which I rubbed on, but notwithstanding all my care I continued to get worse. I then tried several advertised remedies, but to the same end. One day I read a report about Zam-Buk, and I thought that what it had done for other people it could do for me, so sent for a sample box. The result of the use of so small a quantity was so satisfactory that I at once obtained a full supply. I also obtained a few boxes of Bilcana for internal use. Within a very short time there was a marked improvement. I applied ZAM-BUK in accordance with the directions and very soon the scales were all gone and the sores completely healed. They show no trace of returning, and I feel that I am cured to stay cured."

"Mrs. L. Finch, of Camberwill, says:—Our little girl, May, had eczema on the scalp. It spread all over the head and the pain was so bad at times that the poor child screamed aloud. Her hair came out in patches. Hospital treatment failed. The first application of Zam-Buk eased the agony and by the time we had used a few boxes the disease was cured. It is the finest balm ever brought into a house for all skin injuries and diseases."

USE ZAM-BUK IF YOU SUFFER FROM:—

Eczema or any skin disease, Ulcers, Abscesses, running sores, blood poison, eruptions, chronic sores, etc. It also cures chilblains, chapped hands, cold sores, cuts, burns and bruises. It eases the pain of piles, and cures the ailment by softening the hard veins and removing the congestion. Also good as an embrocation. Used by Sherring, the Marathon winner; Lennon, ex-champion wrestler, and leading athletes the world over. All Druggists, 50 cents a box, or from the ZAM-BUK CO., TORONTO, upon receipt of price. 6 boxes for $2.50.

Fine Weather Assured For To-morrow's Game

Contest Should Be About the Best of the Season—Both Teams Will Be Strong and There Will be a Hard Fight.

The game between the Victorias and Peterborough at Riverside Park to-morrow afternoon will be the last O.R.F.U. contest of the season and should attract a big crowd. Unless the weather man's calculations slip a cog the atmospheric conditions to-morrow should be ideal for rugby as the bill-of-fare promised is "fine and warm." The team needs the money and any contributions will be thankfully received and gratefully acknowledged at the gate to-morrow. The team will be selected from the following players:—Mulhern, McWilliams, Gillespie, Quinlan, Easton, Ford, Hurtubise, Meagher, Craig, Crough Gilbert, McDonald, O'Connor, Dickson, Crowley, Roddy, Carmichael.

There will be a double-header for the one price of admission as the C.G.E. team play the Bankers at the conclusion of the senior game.

Harold Armstrong To Play in Brandon

"Bobby" Mercer Will Also Play on Hockey Team in That City For Coming Winter.

The Toronto Star says: "Tuff" Mercer, formerly goal keeper of the Port Hope Ontarios, less well known as Bob Mercer, left yesterday for Brandon, Manitoba, to play hockey. Mercer is not spending the winter out west for nothing, and those who should know say that he will get a salary that will make a showing alongside that of a Union League ball player. The Wheat City people were after Mercer for a long time before they landed him. They had to come to his terms.

Harold Armstrong, formerly of Peterborough is up there, and it was Armstrong who engineered the deal which took Mercer out where the gun sets.

Charlie Lightfoot, the coloured player, formerly of Stratford, last year with Barrie, left on Sunday for Portage la Prairie to play hockey.

Harry Bergoine, of last year's Marlboros, is slated to play with Fort William, with Steve Vair and Bobby Rowe of last year's Barrie team.

None of the players mentioned could play in the O.H.A. this year.

City League Dealt With C. G. E. Protest

Winners of Saturday's Game Will Meet Quakers in Finals

The Bankers and C.G.E. will play on Saturday and the winners will meet the Quakers in the finals for the City League championship on a week from Saturday. This was the decision reached at the meeting of the City League held last night at the Examiner office for the purpose of dealing with the protest entered by the C.G.E. against last Saturday's game, on account of darkness during the last part of the game. There were present the president, Mr. W. McIlroy in the chair, L. M. Watson of the Quakers and Fred. Whitcroft of the C.G.E. team. There was considerable discussion over the protest, but finally the above decision was reached, although the Quakers entered a strong objection.

"Ted" Howell To Manage Juniors

Former Peterborough Man to Handle Hockey Team in Woodstock.

The Toronto News says:—"T" Howell, for several seasons regarded as the premier defence player of the International Professional Hockey League, who is now a resident of Woodstock, may be directing the play of the Woodstock juniors when Mr. John Frost gives a hand about the first of the new year. Howell, it is said, knows hockey up, down and across.

City League Game Will Be Hard One

Bankers and C. G. E. Play To-morrow.

To-morrow's City League game between the C.G.E. and the Bankers should furnish an interesting contest. It will be the first appearance of the exponents of Frenzied Finance and although they have had but few opportunities to practice they should make the C.G.E. go the speed limit to beat them. The game will be played at the finish of the senior game between Victorias and Peterborough.

New Basketball League Formed

Five Teams Entering What Promises to be Successful League.

A meeting was held in the Y.M.C.A. last night to organize a basketball league. Five clubs will be in the game, namely: Alerts, Arrows, Tigers, Oval Tennis Club and Harriers. A double schedule will be run off, the games to be played on Wednesday night of each week. The first game will be played this coming Wednesday night, when the Alerts meet the Tigers, and the Arrows stack up against the Oval Tennis Club. A silver collection will probably be charged. The captains of the different teams will act as managing committee, and Mr. F. Cressman, was appointed secretary-treasurer.

The Peterborough Curling Club has received an invitation from Montreal to send a number of rinks to that city to participate in a Grand Bonspiel, to be held there during the week commencing January 21st, 1907. This winter is the Centenary of the Montreal Curling Club and it is for the purpose of celebrating this event that the Grand Bonspiel will be held. The following competitions are being arranged for:—

For the Centenary Cup, two competitions for the Club Cup, one for granite stones and one for iron stones. Then there is the Single Rink Championship and the Points Competition, each of which will be double, one for irons and one for granites. There will be four silver cups, eight gold medals, eight silver medals, eight bronze medals, and six gold lined copper mugs. The bonspiel should be a grand success. One of the special features will be the Centenary Dinner to be held on Thursday evening, 24th January, 1907.

RUGBY.

There will be a meeting of the Quaker Rugby Club in the Y.M.C.A. parlours this evening at 7.30, to consider the decision of the City League executive as given at last night's meeting. Every member of the club is requested to be on hand.

Bill Crowley will referee to-morrow's game between the Bankers and the C. G.E. He will choose his own umpire.

The officials in to-morrow's game between Peterborough and the Victorias will in all probability be Messrs. Hayes and Robbins, of Hamilton, although the local management have received no definite information from the O.R.F.U. This pair gave great satisfaction in the last game in which the locals figured.

A full practice of the C.G.E. team is called for to-night at 7.30 at the rink. The following players are asked to turn out:—Williams, Armstrong, Hendry, O'Connor, Gillespie, Dixon, Henderson, Hefferman, Dorris, Derocher, Whitcroft, Lang, Roddy, Hook, McGrath and McGill.

Argos claim that they will beat the Tigers in To-morrow's game. There are a lot of Missouri people down this way, however.

The Varsity rugby team passed through the city to-day on their trip to Ottawa, where they will play Ottawa College. The game to-morrow should be a good one with Varsity the favourite. The team had a special coach and was accompanied by a good contingent of rooters.

Protestant Home Is Filled With Inmates

Letter From Member of the Board Explains Conditions Under Which the Home is Conducted—An Opportunity For Charitably Disposed Persons to Help—No Application for Admission of Mrs. Armshaw.

The article in the Examiner on Tuesday in which the somewhat pathetic case of George Armshaw was referred to, has, it appears created a wrong impression in the minds of some ,and the Examiner is to-day in receipt of a letter on the subject from a "Member of the Protestant Home Board," the letter in question stating that no application was made to that Board for Mrs. Armshaw's admission to that institution. This is undoubtedly correct. The fact of the metter is that Mr. Armshaw talked to a member of the Charity Board in reference to having his wife placed in the Home , and it was he who told him that he would have to pay for her maintenance.

The Examiner was laying blame on no one, least of all upon the Protestant Home, because it was known that no direct application was made to the Board of that institution. It simply pointed out conditions which existed, with the object of eliciting sympathy, and, if possible, an alleviation of the sufferings of a family which this paper is led to believe is worthy of assistance.

The Protestant Home is an institution to which everyone who knows any thing about, is glad to accord credit for doing a splendid work, under what are frequently discouraging conditions.

If there was a more general public support given the Protestant Home, doubtless the management would be in a position to enlarge their premises to admit a larger number of inmates.

The letter, explaining the circumstances of this particular case, is as follows :—

To the Editor of the Examiner :

Sir,—In your paper of October 30th, there was a rather misleading statement, which, with your leave, I would like to correct. In pleading the cause of Mr. Armshaw, you say "He is said to have asked to have his wife admitted" to the Protestant Home, but was told that he would have to pay for her maintenance, which he is unable to do". Now, Mr. Editor I am a member of the Protestant Home Board and have been present at most of the meetings, which are held weekly, and have never yet known of any applicant being refused admission solely on the ground of having nothing to pay; moreover, there is neither recollection nor record of Mr. Armshaw having applied. As in every institution of his kind, there is certainly a rule that all who are admitted to the Home as inmates are required, if it is at all possible to pay something for their keep, or get someone to do so for them.

As a matter of fact there are at present four men and three women for whom nothing is being paid, and of three who died during last year none were paid for. The citizens of Peterborough have little reason to find fault with the management of the Home, for very few show enough interest to come to take any part.

We receive no financial help from individuals. Our donations for the maintenance of the Home during the year just closed having amounted to only $4.50. At Christmas and Thanksgiving kind friends certainly shower good things on the old people, and we are very grateful to them for their kindness, and also to those who faithfully visit the Home to cheer those who have so little in their lives.

The Charity Board are paying for four inmates and we received from that source the sum of $183.00 last year.

Allow me to say that we have never been refused assistance by the gentlemen on the Charity Board. They have always given me aid asked and been most courteous.

The Home at present is full on the women's side, and several applications have lately been refused. Only last week the friends of one old lady pleaded for her admission, promising to pay double the usual amount; but there was no room to give her.

Besides providing the necessities to comfort for our old folks, the Home funds are used to give relief to many outsiders. There is no intention of fault-finding, as the citizens of Peterborough have not for years been asked to contribute to the funds of the Home; not since Mrs. Nichol's so generously provided for the Home in her will.

Might I ask why should the Board be blamed for requiring some payment to be made? If all are taken in that apply we certainly will require to call on the citizens for aid as the expenses are great, and ever increasing. When there are cases of such urgent need as that of Mr. Armshaw, why do not some of the charitably disposed citizens come forward to help and receive from our Lord the commendation "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto Me"?

Trusting that you may find room in your valuable paper for this letter.

Yours, etc.,
A Member of the P. P. Home Board.

Drove A Cow On The Sidewalk

But the Chief Put a Stop to the Performance.

Apparently all who come to Canada are not familiar with the proper use of public utilities. Yesterday afternoon two men recently out from England, were driving a cow along Hunter street, near the Otonabee river bridge, and they insisted on keeping the animal on the sidewalk, to the annoyance of the pedestrians who happened to be passing at the time, a number of ladies having to get off the sidewalk into the mud.

A gentleman who was driving, and who saw the occurrence, went for the Chief of Police, who reprimanded the men and threatened arrest if they obstructed the sidewalk.

Methodist Young Men's Club Was Organized

George Street Methodist Church Institutes a New Branch of Church Work—Election of Officer's Took Place Last Night.

At a well-attended meeting of the men of the congregation of George Street Methodist Church it was decided to form a club, which will be known as the Methodist Young Men's Club. This will, in a measure, take the place of the Young Men's Guild, and promises to be a most popular and helpful branch of the church work. It will serve to bring young men into closer connection with the church.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

Honourary President — Rev. Dr. Crothers.
President—Geo. Robertson.
First Vice-President—Dr. Middleton.
Second Vice-President—G. E. Gordon.
Third Vice-President—H. M. Bith.
Secretary—A. R. Mann.
Treasurer—H. Greasman.

The officers of the club, with the addition of Messrs. Van Norman and Hetherington, were appointed a committee to secure accommodation for the club. It is the intention to secure convenient down-town club rooms if these can be obtained. The membership of the club, as the name would imply, is not confined particularly to the young men of the George Street Church, as all Methodist young men may become members.

The Old Family Pump Is Doomed To Go In Oshawa

Vindicator Says it is Responsible for the Present Epidemic of Typhoid Fever in That Town.

The following is from the Oshawa Vindicator.:

The annual scourge has again arrived. Not so severe in type nor so vast in quantity as in some previous years, but nevertheless the typhoid season is upon us with far too many people ill, and far too many others dying or dead. No one has a right to die of typhoid fever in Oshawa. It is absolutely a preventable disease. Some one is to blame for every funeral procession upon the streets of the town, when the cause of the death is typhoid fever. Of the many homes afflicted in Oshawa to-day there is not a single case where the people are using water from the town supply. The Board of Health should wherever typhoid exists, attack the dear old family well, and have it immediately annihilated. It may seem harsh to put such a sudden check upon the old pump that has so long and faithfully laboured to spread death and pestilence throughout the neighbourhood, but somehow in this age we are ceasing to be over sentimental, and we feel that life is too precious to be idly thrown away when it could be so easily prolonged.

OBITUARY

MRS. ANDREW WILSON

The death of Andrew Coulter, relict of the late Andrew Wilson, which took place on October 16th, removed one of the oldest and most highly respected residents of Omemee. The deceased has been ailing for years, but had been able to be about except at intervals, up to a couple of weeks before her death. She was a member of the Methodist church, a sincere Christian, and while not being able to attend the services from Sunday to Sunday, her whole heart was in the good work.

She was beloved by a very large circle of friends; her home was never closed to those in want, and many will remember her kindness.

She leaves to mourn the loss of an affectionate sister and loving mother, a half brother, Mr. R. Taylor, of Midland, two sisters, Mrs. Jos. Bell, of Midland, and Mrs. John Guthrie, of Fowler's Corners; four sons and three daughters, Messrs. Andrew, in Peterborough; Matt. J., at Port Dover; Robert H. and Chas., at home; Mrs. J. Stewart Chambers, at Best's Station; Mrs. W. Bennett, at Portage la Prairie, and Mrs. J. Bloxom at Beamsville, all of whom have the heartfelt sympathy of their many friends.—Omemee Mirror.

Immigration Officer To Visit Peterborough

Staff-Capt. Creighton, of the Salvation Army, will be in the City To-morrow in Connection with Work.

The season now closing is easily the record breaker, so far as immigration into Canada is concerned. At Quebec alone, more than one hundred thousand immigrants will have registered, and when it is remembered that Montreal, St. John, and Halifax are ports of landin o say nothing of the greatly inc ased influx from the United States, one can easily conceive some idea of the mighty inrush of human souls into the Dominion.

The Immigration Agency of the Salvation Army has figured largely and succeeded in dispersing its people well over Ontario. Staff-Captain Creighton, the Army's representative, claims that much greater satisfaction can be secured to all, if farmers and others employing hired help, could foresee their requirements some months or weeks and send in their applications accordingly. He has found that the chief dificulties arise from the fact that, generally, applications are not forwarded until help is required immediately, leaving little time for selection or transportation. Let employers of labour once acquire the habit of anticipating their needs a reasonable time in advance, and much greater good will result from this invasion of our shores by friends from across the seas.

The Staff-Captain will visit Peterborough on Saturday night, and may be addressed in care of the local Army officers, at whose home in the Army citadel he will be pleased to interview any prospective employers, and meet immigrants who have come to this country under Army auspices. He will also be in attendance at the evening service, and may have something to say on the question of Immigration, as operated by the Army.

No Donations To Toronto Museum

Supt. Boyle Says He Knows Nothing Of This.

Mr. David Boyle, superintendent of the Provincial Museum, writes to the Examiner in reference to a statement to the effect that donations had been made to the museum in Toronto by Mr. J. Londerville. Mr. Boyle states that he knows of no such donation, and that there is no Mr. Thomas in connection with the institution of which he is the superintendent.

A Liskeard Bride Deserted At Altar

Groom-to-be Sent Word That His Sister Was Sick.

A Leskard correspondent writes:—"Citizens are indignant at the cruel treatment which one of our most highly respected young ladies has been subjected to by a young fellow to whom she expected to have been married yesterday. All arrangements were made for the wedding—a number of friends being invited from a distance, and it was only at the last minute that the expectant bride received word that the wedding must be postponed—the excuse being a sick sister in Winnipeg. No doubt she has had a happy escape But a fellow that would act that way should have a taste of the lash."

HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR IT.

This Charge is Hurled at the Slater Shoe by a Dealer.

"You are responsible, and you alone, for the importation of American Shoes into Canada." Mr. Slater was surprised when this charge was hurled at him by an indignant shoe man. He had opposed the application of the other Canadian Shoe Manufacturers for an increase in the Shoe Tariff, and stoutly and ably opposed it, his competitors admitted. But his opposition, he maintained, did not favour the foreign shoe.

This is the way the charge against the Slater Shoe Company was argued: "You give exclusive agencies for the Slater Shoe. Only one man in a town or city can have the agency. What are the other dealers in the town to do? Sit still, and allow the Slater Shoe to get all the trade of people who want fine shoes! Not much, sir. We know that the only shoe that can stand up with your shoe in style and workmanship is the American Shoe!" And they have to have it. The buyer pays the duty, too. R. Neill, exclusive agent, Peterborough.

Rev. Mr. Broughan Probable Successor

To Ven. Archdeacon Warren, at Lakefield.

The name of Rev. L. W. B. Broughall, curate of St. James' cathedral, Toronto, is prominently mentioned as a probable successor of Ven. Archdeacon Warren, as rector of St. John's church, Lakefield.

A meeting of the congregation will be held in the near future, when the matter will be taken into consideration, and it is probable that the choice will fall on Mr. Broughall.

Tells Story Of Gold Find At Larder Lake

One of the Richest Gold Deposits of New Ontario Discovered by Winchester Man--Mr. S. T. Medd's Story of Rich Mine is Corroborated.

Mr. S. T. Medd, upon his return from his recent trip to New Liskeard, told The Examiner of the gold find at Larder Lake. A despatch from New Liskeard confirms the statement made by Mr. Medd and substantiates the reports of a rich mineral deposit. It is as follows:

Reports of rich gold finds in the Larder Lake district have been drifting into the northern towns for several days. Prospectors and miners returning for winter supplies have brought samples of ore which undoubtedly contain gold, but the great majority of these men are inclined to hide most of the real facts of the new mineral district in the fear that their claims may be taken from them by foul means. As a result of this secrecy, excitement has increased, and Cobalt has almost been forgotten in the meantime. To Dr. R. Reddick, who comes from Winchester, Ontario, goes the credit for the discovery of this new field, though the first actual find was made by Edward Flyn, of Chesterville. Dr. Reddick has just returned from the north, and told this story, which he claims is the absolute truth. After a few sentences, describing how he obtained preliminary information concerning gold, the doctor said:

"On July 13 last, John Hummel, of Hilliardton; Edward Flynn, of Chesterville, and William Knott, of Hilliardton, and myself started from Haileybury for the north to prospect for gold. We left Tomston on the 16th and arrived at Larder Lake by rail and canoe on the 29th. Immediately we commenced to prospect, and we received many discouragements. Prospectors were returning with stories of barren rock. I knew gold had been found at Opiscotita, in Quebec, and accordingly we moved as near to the boundary line as possible. We also knew gold had been found, though in uncertain quantities, in Boston and Playfair townships, west of Larder Lake. We got in a line between Opiscotita and these finds, which turned out poorly. On July 28 we found the first signs of gold while on our way to visit Chamouney, Quebec. There was only a speck of gold rose quartz. Ed. Flynn found the first sign. Two days afterwards a large body of this quartz was found by myself on the north side of the northeast arm of Larder Lake. Actual gold was found on the last day of July. I named the rock formation Reddick Lode. There had been one claim staked near there for copper, but there was no full claim between this stake and where gold was found. I named my first claim the Annie R. Gold was visible in the quartz, and we could knock it off with our picks. I will admit we were somewhat excited, and four or five assays were made. This will run from $122 to $1,868 in gold per ton of quartz. All we staked were seven claims. Gold is treacherous; I know that by experience, and we said to ourselves that seven claims would be sufficient, and, if good, there would be enough returns for us all. Other parties from Chesterville followed on. They were Herman Hummel, W. G. Barkley, J. T. Kearns and W. J. Elliott. You can imagine that we never sought any publicity, because secrecy is the best thing in such cases, and this is the first time I ever told this story, knowing that it would reach the world. I am certain whereof I speak."

The doctor's story of his marvellous find was corroborated by the Hummel brothers and Matthew Murphy, of Cornwall, all of whom have claims at Larder Lake. To further substantiate this statement, Herman Hummel carried a satchel full of samples of ore, upon each of which the glittering yellow gold was plainly visible.

His Lordship At Port Hope Last Sunday

Administered Rite of Confirmation to Twenty-eight Children at St. Mary's Church in That Town.

Confirmation was administered at St. Mary's church, Port Hope, on Sunday. The sanctuary presented a beautiful appearance. It was decorated with palms, ferns and flowers. The soft rays of numerous incandescent lamps stealing out among the green foliage had a pleasing effect.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, of Peterborough, wearing his robes of office, occupied a floral throne. High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Collins, after which His Lordship delivered an eloquent sermon. He spoke to the children of the sacrament they were about to receive, impressing upon them that their life should be so spent as to be always in a state of grace.

Twenty-eight children received the sacrament of confirmation administered by the Bishop, assisted by Rev. Father Lynch and Rev. Father Collins.—Times.

Capitalists Interested In Norwood Invention

Toronto Men Want to Purchase Patent of Mr. D. J. McLean—A Machine to Manufacture Cheese Boxes.

The Norwood Register this week says:—

Two gentlemen from Toronto who are connected with a company possessing a large amount of capital were in town on Friday last. Their business was to inspect the machine for making cheese boxes recently invented by our townsman, Mr. D. J. McLean.

The Toronto gentleman returned to the city by the afternoon train and will bring before the directors of their company the merits of the machine when, if necessary, will close an agreement with Mr. McLean either to purchase the invention outright or put it on the market on the basis of a royalty.

This machine has now passed the experimental stage and is now in use in the factory here, turning out a large quantity of cheese boxes daily. The gentleman referred to made a careful examination of the machine and were not only surprised at the rapidity with which it can turn out the finished product, but were highly pleased with the quality of the work done.

Presence of Mind

MARTHA'S mistress often boasts of her readiness of resource. "The best nurse maid in town," she calls her. One day she came home from a drive, to be comforted with the startling news that the baby had swallowed a button.

"And what did you do, Martha?" she asked in some anxiety, although trusting that it had been the right thing.

"Why," said Martha, "I made him swallow a buttonhole right away!"—Youth's Companion.

She Secured Evidence

A LADY suspected her husband of kissing the hired girl and resolved to detect him in the act. One evening she passed quietly into the kitchen. The hired girl was out and the kitchen dark. The jealous wife took a few matches in her hand, placing a shawl over her head, as the hired girl often did, entered the back door and immediately she was seized and kissed and embraced in an ardent manner. With heart almost bursting the wife prepared to administer a terrible rebuke to the faithless spouse, and tearing from his fond embrace, struck a match and stood face to face with—the hired man.

Labour Well Paid In San Francisco

Hod Carriers Now Getting $5 a Day.

Mr. Ray Stannard Baker in the American Magazine for November, points out that no city in America, or for that matter in the world, is so thoroughly organised in the interests of labour as San Francisco. Nowhere else, even before the fire, were wages so high, and average hours so short. But bricklayers, whose wages were $6 a day before the fire were getting $7 to $10 a day three months later. A report made by the State Labour Commissioner, shows that on Aug. 20th, out of 152 bricklayers 107 received $7 a day, 38 $8 a day, 4 $9 a day, and 3 $10 a day. The wages of plasterers rose from $6 before the fire to $8 and $10 afterwards. Even hod-carriers received $5 a day and even common labourers in the ruins $2.50 a day and upwards.

Barrie After A New Industry

If Concessions Are Granted 25 Hands Would be Employed.

Mayor Ross of Barrie, has been negotiating for some time with an American firm, desirous of locating there. They want a free site—which would cost about $1500—and a guarantee that power will not exceed a certain figure, but ask no loan. Twenty-five hands to be employed at an annual pay roll of $12,500, increasing to 50 hands in five years. Their business would be at least $50,000 a year.

Defective Brakes Are No Excuse

For Train Wrecks In Future Says An Order.

Circulars have been sent out by the C. P. R., to each of its engineers and conductors, drawing attention to the new regulation made by the company, enforcing careful testing of air brakes. The circulars have been issued from the office of the Assistant General Manager, Montreal, and state that at every point where the make up of a passenger or high class freight train is in any way altered, the brakes on such train must be tested before the station is left at which the change is made. It is also pointed out that brakes must be tested before the meeting of trains of different class, where one side tracks for the other. The failure of air brakes to operate will not be accepted as an excuse for accidents.

Exeter held a pageant a few days ago. It is 700 years ago since Exeter received the charter granting its first Mayor, and this fact provided a peg upon which to hang the story of the city's life, which was shown in ten tableaux. The first represented King John handing the city's charter to the Mayor. Then came the visit of Edward I, and Queen Eleanor to the city in 1285. Next, pictures showing the Mayor in the following century throwing off the feudal yoke and the struggle between the municipal and ecclesiastical authorities. One of the most interesting tableaux was the visit of Henry VII. to Exeter, when he presented to the city his sword and cap of maintenance, which are now carried in all civic state processions. Queen Elizabeth granting a royal charter to the merchant adventurers and the visits of Charles II., William of Orange, George III., and Queen Victoria were also represented. Accompanying each tableaux were a number of Royal Artillerymen from Exeter Barracks dressed in the costumes and uniforms of the period represented. Finally Britannia was seen seated amid representatives from our colonies and dependencies, and protected by a bodyguard of Indian troops.

The "blessing of the nets," the mediæval ceremony observed at Yarmouth, was held a few days ago. Boat owners sent one net each, marked with the name of the boat to which it belonged, and these were festooned around the chancel rails of the church and hung upon the walls, one being placed in front of the holy table. After ordinary evening prayer, the ancient fishers' hymn, "Come, Messmates, 'tis time to hoist the sail," was sung to a setting specially composed by the organist. One of the intercessions for the occasion was ,"Let the labours of the fishermen be crowned with glad and happy success, preserve them from all dangers by day and night, and bring them back to their homes in perfect safety." The actual ceremony of the blessing was performed by the Bishop of Ipswich, who, laying his hands upon the nets, said: "May God's blessing rest abundantly upon these fishing nets, upon the work they are to do, and upon all shall use them throughout this season."

A strange case of sight which was destroyed by one accident being restored by another occurred at Leeds recently. One day twenty-two years ago, when Maria Louisa Goodyear, of Headingly, was employed as a machinist, her stool was pulled from under her by a fellow worker, and when she fell she struck her head. The force of the blow caused pressure of the skull on the optic nerves, and she lost her sight. Twelve years later she fell down a flight of steps. A medical man who was called in said she had shaken the optic nerve and declared that if he could give her a blow on the head her sight might be restored. He dared not try the experiment, however, as it might jeopardize her reason. Miss Goodyear again fell down a flight of stairs. The fall was followed by severe pains in her head and the sudden return of her sight. Her sight is now excellent.

A pathetic scene was witnessed in teh Manchester Police Court recently, when a tottering old man, named Edward Byrne, aged seventy-eight, was charged with cutting his wife's throat with a table-knife. The old woman, who is blind, did what she could to shield her husband. "We had been married forty years, and this is our first quarrel," she said. "I am sure he never meant it." Byrne lost his temper, and it required five stitches to close the wound he made in his wife's throat. In a weak and tremulous voice he plaintively said, "I am sorry. I am on my way to the grave now." He was sentenced to a month's imprisonment, and as the old fellow tottered down the stairs the blind wife clasped her hands, and in a choking voice said: "Oh, I will go on my knees and pray for him if they will let him off. He will never come out alive.

A remarkable story of malingering was told at an inquest held recently at a London prison on the death of a prisoner named Harold Williams. He had been placed under special observation, as he had remarked that he had soaked his flannel vest and worn it wet, and had also refused food in order to get taken to the hospital. He vomited a quantity of strips of flannel, measuring altogether a foot square, which he had torn from his chest protector, and a triangular piece of china measuring an inch on each side, which had been broken from a soap dish. He had taken them that he might make himself worse, and get a pardon. On a post-mortem examination an old brass thimble, and about 6 1-2 ounces of cotton-wool and flannel from the chest protector, were found in the stomach.

THE nice darkened; a heavy scowl lined his brows as he paced up and down. Christabel came back presently with hammer and some brass-headed stays in her hand.

"Don't utterly destroy the frame," Littimer said, resignedly. "It is reputed to be Quentin Matsy's work, and I had it cut to its present fashion. I'll go to the end of the gallery till the execution's over."

"On the contrary,' Miss Lee said, firmly, "you will stay where you are told."

A little to his own surprise Littimer remained. He saw the nails driven firmly in and finished off with a punch so that there might be no danger of hammering the exquisitely wrought frame. Miss Lee stood regarding her work with a suggestion of pride.

"There," she said, "I flatter myself a carpenter could have done no better."

"You don't know our typical carpenter," Littimer said. "Here is Tredwell with a telegram. For Miss Lee? I hope it isn't an intimation that some relative has died and left you a fortune. At least, if it is, you mustn't go until we've had one of those quarrels you promised me."

Christabel glanced at the telegram and slipped it into her pocket. There were just a few words in the telegram that would have been unintelligible to the ordinary understanding. The girl did not even comprehend, but Littimer's eyes were upon her, and the cipher had to keep for a time. Littimer walked away at an intimation that his steward desired to see him.

Instantly the girl's manner changed. She glanced at the Rembrandt with a shrewd smile that meant something beyond a mere act of prudence well done. Then she went down to the library and began an eager search for a certain book. She found it at length, the "David Copperfield" in the "Charles Dickens" edition of the great novelist's works. For the next hour or so she was flitting over the pages with the cipher telegram spread out before her. A little later and the few jumbled, meaningless words were coded out into a lengthy message. Christabel read them over a few times, then with the aid of a vesta she reduced the whole thing, telegram and all, to tinder, which she carefully crushed and flung out of the window.

She looked away down the terrace, she glanced at the dappled deer knee-deep in the bracken, she caught a glimpse of the smiling sea, and her face saddened for a moment.

"How lovely it all is," she murmured. "How exquisitely beautiful and how utterly sad! And to think that if I possessed the magician's wand for a moment I could make everything smile again. He is a good man—a better man than anybody takes him to be. Under his placid, cynical surface he conceals a deal of suffering. Well, we shall see."

She replaced the "Copperfield" on the shelf and turned to go again. In the hall she met Lord Littimer dressed for riding. He smiled as he passed.

"Au revoir till dinner-time," he said. "I've got to go and see a tenant. Oh, yes, I shall certainly expect the pleasure of your company to dinner. And now that the Rembrandt——"

"It is safe for the afternoon," Christabel laughed. "It is generally when the family are dining that the burglar has his busy time. A pleasant ride to you."

CHAPTER XXVI.

Lord Littimer returned, as he declared, with the spirits and appetite of a schoolboy. All the same, he did not for one moment abandon his usual critical analysis. He rattled on gaily, but he was studying his guest all the same. She might have been the typical American lady student; but he was not blind to the fact that the plain muslin and lace frock she wore was made in Paris or that her manners and style must have been picked up in the best society. She sat there under the shaded lights and behind the bank of flowers like as to the manner born, and her accent was only sufficiently American to render her conversation piquant.

"You have always been used to this class of life?" Littimer asked.

"There—you are quite mistaken."

Christabel said, coolly. "For the last few years my existence has been anything but a bed of roses. And your remark, my lord, savours slightly of impertinent curiosity. I might as well ask you why your family is not here."

"We agree to differ," Littimer responded. "I recollect it caused me a great deal of annoyance at the time. And my son chose to take his mother's part. You knew I had a son?"

"Yes," said Christabel, without looking up from the peach she was peeling. "I have met him."

"Indeed. And what opinion did you form of my son, may I ask?"

"Well, I rather liked him. He seemed to me to be suffering from some great trouble, and trouble I am sure that was not of his own creating."

"Which means to say you feel rather sorry for Frank. But when you say the trouble was not of his own creating you are entirely mistaken. It is not a nice thing to say, Miss Lee, but my son was an utter and most unmitigated young scoundrel. If he came here he would be ordered out of the house. So far as I am concerned, I have no son at all. He sides with his mother, and his mother has a considerable private fortune of her own. Where she is at the present moment I have no idea. Nor do I care. Seems odd, does it not, that I should have been very fond of that woman at one time, just as it seems odd to think that I should have once been fond of treacle tart?"

Littimer spoke evenly and quietly, with his eyes full upon the girl. He was deceiving himself, but he was not deceiving her for a moment. His callousness seemed to be all the more marked because the servants were in the room. But Christabel could see clearly what an effort it was.

"You love your wife still," she said, so low that only Littimer heard. His eyes flashed, his face flamed with a sudden spasm of passion.

"Are we to quarrel so early as this?" he whispered.

"I never quarrel," Christabel said, coolly; "I leave my antagonist to do that. But I have met your son, and I like him. He may be weak, but he is a gentleman. You have made a mistake, and some day you will be sorry for it. Do you grow those orchids yourself?"

Littimer laughed, with no sign of anger remaining. All the same, Christabel could see that his thin brown hand was shaking. She noticed the lines that pain had given under those shrewd black eyes.

"You must see my orchids," he said. "Most of the specimens I obtained myself. They tell me I have at least three unique kinds. And now, if you will permit me, I am going to smoke. The drawing-room is at your disposal, though I rarely enter it myself. I always retire at eleven, but that need not bind you in any way. It has been altogether a most delightful evening."

But Christabel did not daily long in the drawing-room. As she went upstairs and along the corridor she heard the snapping of the electric lights all over the house as the servants were preparing to retire. She paused just a moment in the alcove where the precious Rembrandt was and located carefully the position of the switch there. Then she retired to her own room, where she changed her dress for a simple black gown. A big clock somewhere was striking twelve as she finished. She looked out of her door. The whole house was in darkness, the silence seemed to cling like a curtain.

She paused for a moment as if afraid to take the next step. If it was fear, she shook it aside resolutely and crept into the corridor. She carried something shining in her hands—something that gleamed in the dim, uncertain light from the big window. She stood just for an instant with a feeling that somebody was climbing up the ivy outside the house. She felt her way along until she came to the alcove containing the Rembrandt and then she stopped. Her hand slid along the wall till her fingers touched the switch of the electric light.

She stood for a long time there perfectly motionless. It was a still night outside, and there was nothing to account for the rustling of the ivy leaves. The rattling came in jerks, spasmodically, stopping every now and then and resuming again. It was no longer a matter of imagination, it was a certainty. Somebody was climbing up the ivy to the window.

Leaning eagerly forward. Christabel could hear the sound of labored breathing. She seemed to see the outline of an arm outside, she could catch the quick rattle of the sash, she could almost see a bent wire crooked through the beaded edges of the casement. Yes, she was right. The window swung noiselessly back and a figure stood poised on the ledge outside.

With a quick breath and a fluttering of her heart Christabel felt for the switch.

"It will be all right," she murmured; "the other one will fancy that the light is necessary. Courage, my dear, courage, and the game is yours. Ah!"

THE intruder dropped inside and pulled the window behind him. Evidently he was on familiar ground, though he seemed to be seeking an unfamiliar object. Christabel's hand stole along to the switch; there was a click, and the alcove was bathed in brilliant light. The intruder shrank back with a startled cry. He rubbed his dazed eyes.

"Why not come in through the front door, Mr. Littimer?" Christabel drawled, coolly.

Frank Littimer had no words for a moment. He was wondering who this woman was and what she was doing here. American, evidently, by her accent, and also by the revolver that she handled so assuredly.

"That is the way you used to enter," Christabel proceeded, "when you had been out contrary to parental instructions and the keepers expected to have a fracas with the poachers. Your bedroom being exactly opposite, detection was no easy matter. Your bedroom has never been touched since you left. The key is still outside the door. Will you kindly enter it?"

"But——" Frank stammered. "But I assure you that I cannot——"

"Take the Rembrandt away. You cannot. The frame is of iron, and it is fastened to the wall. It would take an experienced carpenter quite a long time to remove it. Therefore your mission has failed. It is very annoying, because it puts the other man in a very awkward position. The position is going to be still more awkward presently. Please go to your room."

"My dear lady, if my father knows that I am in the house——"

"He is not going to know that you are in the house, at least not for some little time. And when you see him it will be better not to say more than is necessary. Later on you will recognize what a friend I am to you."

"You are not showing it at present," Littimer said, desperately.

"The patient rarely sees any virtue in his medicine. Now, please, go to your room. I can hear the other man muttering and getting anxious down below. Now, if you approach that window again I am pretty certain that my revolver will go off. You see, I am an American, and we are so careless with such weapons. Please go to to your room at once."

"And if I refuse your ridiculous request?"

"You will not find my request in the least ridiculous. If you refuse I shall hold you up with my weapon and alarm the whole house. But I don't want to do that, for the sake of the other man. He is so very respectable, you know, and anything unconventional may be so awkward for him. Yes, it is just as I expected. He is coming up the ivy to investigate himself. Go!"

The revolver covered Littimer quite steadily. He could see into the blue rim, and he was conscious of strange cold sensations down his spine. A revolver is not a pretty thing at the best of times; it is doubly hazardous in the hands of a woman.

"What do you want with me?" he asked.

"My dear man, I want to do nothing with you. Only do as you are told and —there! The other man is coming up the ivy. He can't understand the light and you not returning. He imagines that you are looking in the wrong place. Please go."

Littimer backed before the weapon, backed until he was in the doorway. Suddenly the girl gave him a push, shut the door to, and turned the key in the lock. Almost at the same instant another figure loomed large in the window-frame.

CHAPTER XXVII.

Something bulky was struggling to get through the window. Half hidden in the shadow, Christabel watched with the deepest interest. If she had been afraid at first that sensation had entirely departed by this time. From the expression of her face she might have been enjoying the novel situation. It was certainly not without a suggestion of the farcical.

The burly figure contrived to squeeze through the narrow casement at length and stood breathing loudly in the corridor. It was not a pleasant sight that met Christabel's gaze—a big man with a white, set face and rolling eyes and a stiff bandage about his throat. Evidently the intruder was utterly exhausted, for he dropped into a chair and nursed his head between his hands.

"Now what has become of that fool?" he muttered. "Ah!"

He looked round him uneasily, but his expression changed as his eyes fell on the Rembrandt. He had the furtive look of a starving man who picks up a purse whilst the owner is still in sight. He staggered towards the picture and endeavored to take it gently from the support. He tried again and again, and then in a paroxysm of rage he tore at the frame-work.

"I guess that it can't be done," Christabel said, drawlingly. "See, stranger?"

Reginald Henson fairly gasped. As he turned round the ludicrous mixture of cunning and confusion, anger and vexatious alarm on his face caused the girl to smile.

"I—I beg your pardon," he stammered.

"I said it can't be done," the girl drawled, coolly. "Sandow couldn't do it. The frame is made of iron and it is fixed to the wall by four long stays. It's a neat job, though I say it myself; I persuaded Lord Littimer to have it done. And when I heard you two prowling about down there I was glad. I've got the other one safe."

"Oh, you've got the other one safe?" Henson said, blankly.

He would have liked to have burst out into a torrent of passion, only he recognized his position. The thing was shamefully funny. It was anything but

Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets Are just for women and Contain just what every Sick and Run-down Woman Needs.

Do you know that distinguished physicians say that ninety per cent. of the ills of women result from your peculiar organism.

This should make clear to you the need and advantage of taking a remedy that contains uterine and female tonics.

You know, of course, that remedies made to sell to men as well as women do not contain these. They cannot.

Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets for Women (not for men) contain them all, and you don't have to take our word for this. Chemists and physicians, whose standing makes their statements reliable, say that not one single medical ingredient of any value to women has been omitted from them.

What is the result? Simply this. When you buy a box of these tablets you get a remedy compounded just for your special needs, and one containing all that medical science can supply in this twentieth century to make you a healthywoman. What more could you ask?

And unless your experience should be diifferent than that of other women, you need nothing more. If you don't feel as well as you would like to, try these tablets.

They Make Healthy Women.

Pandora Range

SAVES FUEL AND HELPS TO PAY FOR ITSELF.

It is not the price you pay for a range which makes it cheap or expensive, but the fuel it consumes after you get it.

If you buy a range which costs $5 to $7 less than a "Pandora" and it burns a ton, or only half a ton of coal more in a year, what do your gain? Nothing, but you actually lose money, besides putting up with all the inconveniences, troubles and extra work which are a certainty with a poor range.

The "Pandora" is equipped with many fuel-saving features which are not found on any other range. Hot-air flues are constructed so that all the heat from the fire-box travels directly under every pot-hole and around the oven twice—every atom of heat is used, and only the smoke goes up the chimney.

TINSEL PICTURES.

ANCIENT EMBROIDERY THAT HAS BEEN REVIVED THIS SUMMER.

A Kind of Work Executed by Women of Spain, France and Italy in the Sixteenth Century Again Engages Feminine Attention.

That "nothing is new until it is old enough" was the utterance of a witty Frenchwoman. This remark is particularly applicable to the needlework of today. Revivals are the order in all the arts and crafts, and among the latest is the making of pictures with needle and thread. Embroidery pictures they are called, and the work is carried out in many different ways, but none can boast greater quaintness or a more decorative effect than those known as tinsel pictures. The word tinsel is a somewhat misleading one, but for want of a better it has been selected as an appropriate designation for the bejeweled and gold embroidered portraits and figures of the revived work. The tinsel picture, to adopt the term, is a species of applique work which was executed by the ladies of Spain, France and Italy in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. In the antique specimens occasionally to be met with an opportunity is afforded to judge of the richness of the fabrics of 1500 and 600, especially the wondrous velvets which were extensively used by the embroideresses in their pictures.

The scheme of working founded on the old methods is as follows: Pasted upon a fine or silk foundation, which is stretched upon a frame, is a figure cut out of an engraving or drawn by hand on paper and painted and laid down in the same manner. The costume indicated is then carried out correctly in actual fabrics with every detail of trimming carefully put in either in gold or silver thread or in embroidery silk. Jewels are represented by beads and stones, while ruffles of lace are frequently put on with the daintymaterial itself. Faces, arms and hands alone remain uncovered, showing their printed origin. These are genally tinted and often a little pairing or embroidery is introduced into the background. This is the accepted modus operandi, but different workers impart individual characteristics to their pictures by using other trimmings, such as chenille. One artist who is making a notable success of tinsel pictures almost invariably paints her figures on glace silk.

JUVENILE MODES.

What the Smart Little Maid Will Wear—A Romney Frock.

The small girl's skirts are fitted as carefully as her mother's. They are gored and made to flare. The plaited skirt is a favorite, the circular cut being tabooed.

A smart little jacket for a girl of twelve is built on the "pony" lines, and the Norfolk styles are as popular with her as the sailor suit.

Box coats, full or three-quarter lengths, are made of rougher material than they were last year.

Buttons figure very largely upon clothes that girls of all ages wear, from the tiny tot with great fur buttons on her coat to her debutante sister, whose suit has its greatest beauty spots in them.

Pretty school frocks are made with the French waist. These bodices are double breasted, with yokes of red silk, and are finished with red soutache braid and narrow knife plaitings. The skirts are side plaited, with a deep hem stitched several times with red.

Scarlet rubberized satin is a conspicuous shade among the best rain coats, while bright blue, tan and brown are more fashionable than black or navy blue. Plaids in silk and wool or all silk with rubber foundations are made up in a host of striking styles.

Among the new models is a "Romney" frock in the new blue. The short skirt has a few graduated tucks on the bottom, differing in width and grouping. The top is gathered into a wide shaped girdle fashioned exactly after the style seen in Romney pictures and finished at the back with butterfly ends.

Jaunty little hats with "tam" crowns have sea gulls' wings at the left side. The bandeau is covered with a narrow ribbon crossing at the back and the two ends falling in sailor fashion over the hair.

The hat illustrated is a simple model carried out in tan beaver, trimmed with a huge brown velvet bow.

Mary Stuart Collars Revived—Two Popular Colors—Petticoat Hints.

A new tulle collar has come to light. It is made of five fluffy rows of tulle shaped very like the Mary Stuart collar.

Every season brings at least one popular color. This year there are two

A NEW BODICE.

—royal purple and sage green. Neither color is universally becoming, but it is to be feared that this will make little difference. Only the wise woman studies the effect of colors and clings to those which suit her coloring. The reign of a particular color does not trouble her at all.

For short walking skirts that demand a distinct flare at the bottom silk petticoats cut to provide this fullness are in order, but often the cut of the outer skirt, whether the model is plaited in soft material or gored in firmer stuff, affords the desired flare, and little is left to the petticoat.

No Frenchwoman would think of buying a ready made petticoat and wearing it just as she finds it. The cumbersome drawstring at the back must be done away with, and a sane fitting waistband takes its place. The skirt must be fitted smoothly over the hips and abdomen. Just what shall be done with the back fullness depends upon the figure of the wearer.

The bodice pictured is a smart winter model that carries with it some of the bolero characteristics, but is fitted into the waist line. The sleeves are very pretty and odd. JUDIC CHOLLET.

GLIMPSES OF FASHION.

The Correct Thing In Fur Coats—Expensive Buttons on Fall Suits.

One of the new styles in fur coats is a short, full sack, reaching only to the waist line. In pelts of a compact character, such as sealskin, ermine and mole, these little jackets are exceedingly becoming.

The bolero, although not as new as some of the close fitting jackets of the season, will be worn in a number of attractive cuts. In fur the bolero is particularly smart. Some of the best models have neat rolled collars and cuffs of braided pastel cloth.

Buttons are to be conspicuously used on winter costumes, and some of the handsomest specimens are veritable works of art. Carved mother-of-pearl, tortoise shell and enameled examples are to be found in the shops.

The woman who is fortunate enough to own old cameo jewelry—odd earrings, brooches and the like—is having them mounted into buttons to adorn smart winter gowns.

Buttons on the new costumes are arranged in groups in the smaller sizes and singly when the buttons are large and handsome.

Parisians are very partial to tans and yellow shades this season, and the costume illustrated is a charming model sent over from the center of fashions. The material is a pale tan bedford cord. The skirt is made with box plaits and panels of pinched up vertical tucks. The little short waisted jacket is of chestnut broadcloth, with vest and collar of the tan. Gold buttons are used. Summer Toilet Table Secrets.

There are some articles which are generally deemed necessary for the summer girl to have on her toilet table, and there are many luxuries the uses of which have long remained the cherished secrets of a few. No toilet table is complete without borax. It softens the water and removes grease from the face without parching the skin, as ammonia is apt to do.

Be sure your cold cream is made from vegetable fat and that you keep a sufficiently generous quantity on hand for its many different uses. A little cold cream rubbed on the skin and puffed over with rice powder will do much toward preventing sunburn.

The wise summer girl will have a small bottle of lemon juice on her toilet table. It will remove stains from the skin or nails. Put in water it is splendid as a skin tonic, answering the purpose of eau de cologne and costing scarcely anything.

and, to put it mildly, she is color mad this fall. Violent blues and purples and brilliant orange are in evidence on every side. The fad extends to gloves. Pale grays and fawns are considered insignificant. Already there is a demand for claret, grass green, royal and electric blue. These bright shades are very expensive.

Old snuff boxes are used as bonbonnieres, and the fashionable sweetmeats carried inside them are crystaled violets or rose petals.

Chic bows of velvet are again worn in the coiffure, tucked well on the left side, well toward the front. They are generally of black velvet. When the hair is arranged on top of the head and somewhat high a wisp of delicately colored chiffon velvet or gold tissue encircles the crown of the head, disappearing at the temples. This line of color should not be too wide and is a modification of the Grecian bend.

One of the features of the autumn styles is the profusion of buttons, some of which are very beautiful. One novelty is the cloth or satin button, hand painted in harmonizing shades.

Very smart is the hat shown in the illustration of smoke gray mirror velvet. The full puffed crown is caught to the brim with a fall of white Irish lace. The shape is slightly tilted at the left side, where an arrangement of white feathers is fetchingly placed. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Hoop Net Controversy Still In Evidence

Nelson Nurse Has Another Letter Dealing With the Subject in Which Many Arguments Supporting His Side of the Case are Given.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—In the issue of your paper of October 11 I see another letter from Mr. J. H. Scriver on the hoop net license question. It is a good deal on the same lines as his last letter, the only difference being that he uses more Scripture this time. The reason of this is, I suppose, that he knows that he is living in a Christian community and he thinks the public is more apt to believe him. He says I try to cast doubt on what he said as to the injurious effects of hoop nets, and asks how I know when these fish got in the net. He goes on to say that there are only two ways to know, that is by seeing and handling. This net in question, it will be remembered, was lost for four months, and when found the fish were all living and well. If the net was lost for four months I would like to know how he knows when the fish got in this net. There is one thing certain, the fish were not in the net long, if the incident ever happened at all. He also says that I challenge him to show, where I said when I was fishing at the mouth of the river, that only one lunge and not more than a dozen bass found their way into my nets. In his letter of August 16, speaking of Mr. McAllister coming in contact with countless numbers od dead fish in the vicinity of where these nets were set, Mr. Scriver says that only one lunge and not more than a dozen bass found their way into his nets, set within his territory. This is where I got it, Mr. Scriver, and you can't get over it. You will also remember the morning Mr. McAllister accompanied you around your nets and found 17 bass in them. How do you account for this, Mr. Scriver? You don't seem to be accountabel for what you say. He goes on with a lingo about house-breaking and safe-blowing and so on, and says, "Tell me the difference between the above and going sneaking around my nets, lifting and taking fish therefrom." Well, this is the difference: You were fishing without a license, and if I had done the right thing I should have lifted all the nets. You surpass all the men I have ever heard of for cheek. You might just as well take an axe and cut down the trees on the public highway without permission, and if another man draws the wood away, say he is sneaking around, and even threaten to (have him hauled up for stealing. The wood on the highway belongs to the public, and so does the fish in the lake, and not to Mr. Scriver. I can also inform you, Mr. Scriver, that I never raised one of your nets to inspect it. It was not necessary, as I could see it without, and the fish in them also. He says, "While I was led to believe there were a great many fine people in South Monaghan, you have informed me that there are a great many of the criminal class that should be looked after." Well, it will be of interest to the public to know there has only been one man convicted for stealing in South Monaghan for 14 years, and this man's name was Scriver. He used to make his living by fishing and catching bull-frogs. He wasn't convicted for taking fish from some man's hoop net that had no license to use nets, either. It was for stealing a canoe from a boathouse on the shore of the lake, belonging to a well-known physician now living in Peterborough. The canoe was traced to Chemong and found in the possession of another man, the thief having traded with him. He was afterwards captured and given four months in Peterborough Jail. Now, Mr. Scriver, this is the only stealing I can remember of in South Monaghan, and this man did not belong to the township, either.

Coming back to the hoop net question, he says, in referring to the fish and game association, how many of these men know any more about what they are saying than he does. Mr. Scriver must be a very smart man, I might say a wonderful man, was to the inventor of the hoop net, or did he ever have them patented? It seems as though he had, for he informs us that no person else knows anything about them. He also seems to have a divine right to use them whenever he likes.

He goes on to say to further prove our contentions, "If the Department will grant us permission in proper season or the Fish and Game Association secure the same for us, and send a man to investigate, we will supply boats, nets and a man to aid and prove to what we have said as to the injurious effects of hoop nets, and thus settle this much talked of matter."

I am satisfied with the offer. But I am satisfied that there is no fear of Mr. Scriver going through a test like this; if he ever does it will do away with hoop net fishing for all time to come. It seems strange that this man has been in a business that nobody else knows anything about—at least he tells us that. If the public don't know it is time they did. He goes on to say, "Dare you say, Mr. Nurse, that the 113 ratepayers in South Monaghan who signed the petition circulated by Mr. Wedlock, asking that hoop net licenses be granted, and the 143 ratepayers in Otonabee, within two miles of the who signed the petition I circulated, were not honest?"

No, sir, I do not say they were not honest; I know they are in South Monaghan, and I guess they are in Otonabee, too. The question is, Did the 143 ratepayers in Otonabee sign your petition to allow you to net mud cats without a licence, which you did afterwards? Sir, I think not. He calls the farmers honest because they signed his petition. As a matter of fact, this is a business that the farmers know nothing about; I am safe in saying that not more than a dozen farmers in South Monaghan ever saw a hoop net. Therefore they know nothing about them.

It is not the farmers, it is the fish and game associations that should deal with Mr. Scriver's case. He says, "How many of these men know anything about these nets?" Perhaps some of them don't know very much about it, but it will be their place to investigate this matter. They are the people to handle this matter and if Mr. Scriver should secure a licence through them I will be satisfied. But I am sure that when they investigate this matter they will not see their way clear to assist him in securing a licence. He puts the blame on the Member for West Northumberland and the Member for East Peterborough for not securing this licence for him, who for the lack of knowledge could not refute his charges to bear on the department. These gentlemen had good sound sense and I guess they forgot about Mr. Scriver's case, when they were at Toronto. Mr. Scriver should go to Toronto himself, and just talk up to the Department and tell them that he has had a licence for years to catch mud cats. He might also tell them that if he did not get a licence he would fish anyway, and if they say, "You can't do that, Mr. Scriver," I would advise you to quit. I am told, Mr. Scriver, that you preach, sometimes. I have reason to believe you do on account of you using passages of Scripture in your letters. If you do, whatever you do, don't fish any more without a licence—as it don't look well. You want to follow one occupation or the other. It would look better, and perhaps be better, for yourself, if you would read the Scriptures more at home, and keep it out of discussions of this kind. So now, Mr. Scriver, I am through with you this time and when you write about the injurious effects your hoop nets are on the game fish I will be ready to answer it.

Daniel Wooten Had a Close Call Near Marmora.

The Marmora Herald says:—Mr. Daniel Wootten had a most unpleasant experience one day last week. He was crossing one of his fields in which he had some sheep grazing, when the male of the flock attacked him, knocking him down and breaking several of his ribs. As the gentleman is quite aged, the gravest results were apprehended, and for a few days he was very ill, and his friends had but small hopes of his recovery, but we are pleased to hear that he is mending nicely now and we hope soon to hear that he has entirely recovered.

Sparkling Water ("SPARKS") is ideally pure spring water charged with purified carbonic gas. Its constant use as a beverage will surely give you a better digestion, a stronger stomach, and healthier blood. No water you ever drank is quite so refreshing, so zestful, so wholesome.

York Sparks quite lacks the salty taste common to imported charged waters; it does not change flavor in the slightest when mixed with spirits, but improves their taste while diluting their strength.

Order at a good place, in quarts, pints and splits.

Warsaw, Oct. 31.—Mr. Henry Beavis and family, of South Dummer, who leave shortly to reside in Lakefield, were the recipients of an address and tokens of remembrance by about seventy-five friends on Tuesday evening of last week. The following war ethe presents:—To Mr. Beavis, a watch and chain and an arm chair; to Mrs. Beavis an arm chair; to Miss Maud and Mr. Howard, each a fountain pen. Rev. W. L. We now ask you to accept these two chairs, chain and pens as small tokens of the esteem in which you are held.

We hope that He who cares for us all will spare you and your family long in your new home and we desire that at times these presents may remind you of your many friends in Dummer.

SCOTLAND

Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Campbell of Glasgow, were recently signally honoured on the occasion of the seventieth anniversary of their marriage. Earl Howe, Lord Chamberlain to Queen Alendra, forwarded through the Secretary for Scotland, the following telegram to the Lord Provost: "I am 'Vestiarium Scoticum,' or the Garderope of Scotland, 'Beand ane Mirrour to Shew the true Tartanis of the Principal Scottyshe Famylies, be Schyr Richarde Urquharte, Knychte." Copies of this quaint old work are very rare, and the one now in question is made more interesting by reason of the fact that in it are bound letters from Sir Walter Scott, who was very sceptical as to the authenticity of the original MS. John Sobieski Stuart, whose edition of the "Vestiarium," was published in 1842, explained that his work was published from a MS. in his possession, collated with the transcript of another in the library of St. Augustine's Monastery in Cadiz. The original is written in beautifully clear and distinct black letter, and belonged to Leslie, Bishop of Ross, the historian, whose autograph is on it in the shape of a curious memorandum. It gives in succession the tartans of the chief Highland clans, those of lesser families or houses in the Highlands and Low Country, and notes on plaids hose, trews, and clan badges.

A volume of much literary interest to Scotchmen has lately changed hands in Glasgow. This is a copy of the John Kennedy-Erskine, of Dun, by his marriage in 1827, to the late Augustus Fitzclarence, fourth daughter of King William IV., and the fascinating and vivacious actress Mrs. Jordan. Born on the day after her grandfather's accession to the throne, the late Lady Munster had many quaint and pleasing reminiscences of the Sailor King, who was devotedly attached to his grandchildren. She would often accompany him on his morning parade on the old chain pier at Brighton, and has related with what delight she and her brothers and sister would each morning at Windsor watch the washing of the King's head and face face "in the most delicious rosewater." The good natured monarch insisted that they should be present at the ceremony. When still a child Lady Munster was lunching at Windsor one day, and endeavoured to put at ease an "unknown little lady" who sat next to her, and later grew rather offended at the child's repeated questions. It was no other than the Princess Victoria!

Mr. John Stears, the famous Yorkshire water diviner, located a few days ago, the hulk of the Spanish treasure ship in Tobermory Bay, Argyllshire, by the aid of the divining rod. He found the hull split in two, right from the bow to the stern, and the cannons which had been thrown out at the time of the cleavage ranged in two rows longside. He has also distinctly located two chests of specie, one containing gold and silver coins mixed, and has fixed the positions of no fewer than fourteen guns of bronze, all of one type and 4 feet 9 inches in length. He is satisfied that when these are recovered the rest of the equipment of fifty-two guns and the bullion will be easily reached. Mr. Stears carried out his operations in depths varying from nine to twelve fathoms of water. He holds his divining rod over the stern of the boat as it proceeds, and immediately on coming over a mass of metal the forked twig twists outward like a living thing in his hands, making a sound that is easily audible.

A Glasgow woman named Hearst, was found dead in bed recently in one of the most squalid streets. On the police taking charge of the premises they found a safe in the woman's bedroom containing a very large sum of money in sovereigns and half sovereigns, besides an immense quantity of jewelry, including gold watches, diamond rings, pins, etc. safety the constabulary had the find removed to the Central Police station, the only available utensils for conveying the treasure trove being ordinary iron buckets. The jewelry and oil paintings unearthed are of great value, having originally belonged to the woman's mother-in-law, who, thirty years ago, inherited considerable wealth from an eccentric Scottish gentleman.

The very Rev. Canon Lord A. Douglas, has resigned the rectorate of St. Columba's Catholic church, Annan, Dumfriesshire, with a view to joining the Redemptorist Order. Some two years ago, Father Douglas visited the Holy Land and was so impressed with what he saw and felt, that he resolved to leave the world and become a monk, and this resolution was only delayed being carried into effect until he was able to complete the building of the new church and school, which were formally opened three weeks ago, and towards which he contribute 2,000 pounds.

A veritable link with the past has been broken by the death in her seventy-seventh year, of Wilhelmina, Countess of Munster. Born at Dun House, Forfarshire, in June, 1830, she was the elder daughter of the Hon. commanded by the Queen to ask you to be good enough to convey to Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Her Majesty's warm congratulations upon the most interesting and probably unique celebration to-morrow, and express to them her best wishes for their happiness." On October 4th, 1836, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell were married at Greenock, by the Rev. Mr. Morin.

IRELAND

There was a three-cornered fight at Stewartstown, Co. Tyrone, a few days ago, between a band of circus employees armed with swords and revolvers, a crowd of the inhabitants and the police. The trouble began when a youth, who was examining the wagons while the circus tent was being prepared for the performance, attacked a man who ordered him off the field. The encounter attracted a crowd, which sided with the local man. The circus people supported their champion, and a free fight ensued. Peace was restored, but trouble broke out in a more serious form in the evening. A little while before the performance, about 500 of the Stewartstown men blockaded the entrances to the tent and prevented most of the audience from gaining access to it. Missiles were flung at the performers when the show began, and they had to beat a hasty retreat to their dressing-rooms. At the same time the tent was bombarded from the outside with stones. So serious did the attack become that eight or nine of the circus men armed themselves with swords and revolvers, and, mounting their horses, charged the mob. The police arrived at this juncture and scattered the opposing parties by a baton charge, but not before several persons had been injured.

A monument erected at Armagh to perpetuate the memory of the officers and men of the Royal Irish Fusiliers who fell during the South African war was unveiled recently. The monument, which has been erected in the sloping valley which bounds the northern outskirts of the city, is a bronze figure of a trumpeter of the Royal Irish Fusiliers, and is named "The Last Post." The figure stands about seven feet high, and is erected on a granite base and pedestal about twelve feet in height. On the front face of the pedestal there is a bronze badge of the regiment bearing the names of all the engagements in which the regiment took part. Underneath this badge there is an inscription stating that the memorial was erected by public subscription "in memory of the brave officers and men of the Royal Irish Fusiliers who fell in the South African war, 1899-1902." On the other three faces are given the names of all the officers and men of the regiment who were killed or died during the war.

Sensation has been created in Belfast by the overcrowded state of some of the schools. An inspector recently reported that the condition of affairs in some of them was "almost incredible." In one school 401 children were present, although there was only accommodation for 209. "I found," he writes, "76 infants in a room 19 feet by 9 1-2 feet, 64 First Standard pupils in a room 14 feet by 9 1-2 feet (with one window admitting of being opened), and 33 First Standard pupils in a room 13 1-2 feet by 10 feet. Surely 'disgraceful' is, at best, a mild adjective to describe this condition of things, which loudly calls for attention. The congestion is so great that lavatories, cloakrooms, halls and passages are utilized for class purposes. Many of the school houses in the rural districts are mere hovels. Moreover, earthen floors, broken roofs, through which the rain freely enters, windows incapable of admitting sufficient light or air, are common defects."

A serious agrarian outrage occurred recently at Athenry, Co. Galway. A dispute has existed on an estate for about two years past, resulting in a breaking-off of the negotiations for purchase. During the past few days processes and writs were out against the tenants, and feeling ran high in the district. P. C.'s O'Halloran and Horan were in the vicinity of Rockmore house, the residence of the receiver on the estate, Col. Lopdell, ostensibly on protection duty, and when passing round by the hall door they observed men with blackened faces, near a small plantation. P. C. O'Halloran challenged them, and no sooner had he done so than a gun was discharged, the contents lodging in his right arm and face. P. C. Horan fired in the direction of the disappearing men, while his comrade lay helpless and bleeding on the ground beside him.

According to census returns, the number of persons in Ireland in 1891 who spoke Irish only was 38,192, and the number who spoke Irish and English was 642,053. The corresponding figures for 1901 were 20,953 who spoke Irish only, and 620,189 who spoke both languages. While the number of persons who may be taken as bilingual remained much the same for the decennial period, the number of persons who spoke Irish only was reduced by nearly one-half. The Education Commissioners have recognized the educational necessity for instruction in Irish to Irish-speaking and bilingual districts, inasmuch as children who are wholly or largely Irish-speaking do not adequately profit by the instruction given them in English unless they are instructed in Irish and this instruction is utilized in teaching them English.

The artistic work in connection with the Parnell monument, which is to be erected in Dublin, is now practically complete. The monument promises to be one of the most magnificent of its kind to be seen, either in Dublin or any other capital in Europe. The design consists of a slightly tapered triangular shaft standing on a circular platform 26 feet in diameter. The counties and provinces of Ireland are represented around the carved base — the counties by 32 bronze panels, and the provinces by four bronze laurel wreaths. A bronze statue of Parnell, eight feet in height, will stand on a pedestal in front of the shaft. The finial resemblance is perfect.

A strange kidnapping case occurred recently in Dublin. A little girl, Mary Oglevy, was sent to a creche to bring home her little brothers, aged two years and 14 months respectively. On the way back, a lady stopped the girl and said, "What a fine little baby that is. He must be very heavy for you to carry." She said she knew the little girl's mother, and then gave the girl and her little brother money with which to buy sweets. When the children returned after purchasing the sweets the woman and the baby were gone. No trace of them has since been found.

Galway Hunters Eager For Venison

Deer Are Reported to be Scarce There.

(Examiner Special.)

Galway, Oct. 30.—Lumbering operations have again commenced in the surrounding country. But on account of the wet weather it is impossible to do anything in the swamps until they are closed up by Jack Frost.

We are glad to announce the return of a number of Galway boys, who spent the summer harvesting in the North Western plains.

Small social gatherings have been all the go for the past two weeks in Galway before the boys departed to the woods.

Mr. Jas. Mahony, whose house was destroyed by fire at the early part of the summer is erecting a fine cottage upon the same site the former one occupied.

Some of the old hunters' mouths are again watering for venison, but they have not long to wait now until they can spend those joyful days that furnish food for talk from 1 year to another. Those who have been travelling through the northern townships report that the deer will be scarce this year.

The silver mine at Wolfe Lake is on a solid basis now and may be an encouragement for other mines to open up in the surrounding vicinity. The miner is going to erect a camp and continue operations throughout the winter.

Those homeseekers who went from Galway to get homesteads in the West report that it is impossible to get a homestead only where a person is mixed up with nearly every nationality and the majority returned without homesteads. They are now waiting in hopes that those vast areas of rock in the northern townships will yield some valuable minerals, since that is all that is left since those lofty pines have disappeared.

The majority of farmers have threshed in Galway and report that the grain turned out favourably; principally oats as that is the chief grain grown in Galway.

Renewed For Five Months—Government Retains a Director

Toronto, Nov. 1.—The Soo guarantee has been renewed for five months. Hon Mr. Matheson made the following statement yesterday evening:

"The Canadian Improvement Co which is the one with which we deal have been negotiating with prominent financial firms to enable them to take up the guarantee loan of $1,000,000 commonly known as the Soo guarantee falling due Nov. 1. But owing to various delays, and partly owing to the rise of the Bank of England rate to 6 per cent., they were not prepared to meet the payment due on this date, and they have asked the Government to extend the provincial guarantee for five months, to April 1, 1907, they paying the interest falling due on Nov. 1, for the past six months, to the holders of the certificates.

"These are issued by the Canadian Improvement Co. and indorsed by the Government. It is possible the company may be able to take up the certificates before the 1st of April, but they asked for that extension and the Government has granted the request.

"The holders of the certificates having agreed to the extension, an agreement carrying out the arrangement has been authorized by the Government and executed by the Canadian Improvement Co., the holders of the certificates and the Provincial Treasurer, on behalf of the Government."

Hon. Mr. Matheson stated also that it had never been proposed to remove the Government director from the board of the company.

It is sought to assemble 7,000 shares and thus control the election of directors to be held on Dec. 11, as 2,200 shares are said to have been taken off the market and therefore can not be used for voting purposes.

SIXTY-TWO TALE OF DEAD.

But Other Than Officials Say it Should Be Placed At 70.

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 1.—The third and last car of the Thoroughfare wreck was lifted from the water late yesterday. When placed on the mud bank the car fell apart of its own weight.

The railroad officials say the total death list is 62. On the other hand, many believe that several bodies were swept down by the heavy tide and never recovered. It is contended by some that the total loss of life will be about 70.

First of Damage Suits.

Philadelphia, Nov. 1.—Counsel representing Edward Morgan, a student at Lafayette College, who was injured on Sunday in the Atlantic City disaster, instituted suit here yesterday for $50,000 damages against the Pennsylvania Railway Co. Mr. Morgan, who is a college athlete, was badly injured about the spine. He is now in a local hospital, paralyzed and in a serious condition.

Three Dead In Collision.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Nov. 1.—Joseph Crepaner, Charles Morell and Leonardo Cally were killed yesterday and a number of other railroad men were seriously hurt in a collision near here yesterday between a work train and a freight train, on the Milwaukee, Chicago and St. Paul Road. The collision was due to a fog.

Balm For Broken Heart.

Toronto, Nov. 1.—It is nigh on to 11 years since Elizabeth Follis, whose home is near Palmerston, Ont., met George W. Wilson. Friendship developed a promise of marriage. That is the reason of the $10,000 damage suit, Justice Magee and a jury heard yesterday. The jury awarded her $1,000 damages.

Ottawa, Nov. 1.—Mr. Emmerson stated yesterday that it would be in the interests of all railways if Quebec bridge terminals were taken over by a company in which all the railroads would be represented.

KLEINGBEIL'S TRIAL.

Children Relate How Old Man Beat His Wife to Death.

Belleville, Nov. 1.—The Kleingbeil murder trial was continued yesterday afternoon and the testimony was dead against the prisoner.

Wm. Little told of going to Kleingbeil after his pay and seeing Mrs. Kleingbeil all beaten up in a way which alarmed him and made him notify the authorities.

Mrs. Dulmage, daughter of the prisoner, testified that she went to her father's house on the night of the tragedy and found her mother in bed, terribly beaten. Her father said he had done it with his fists, and would tell the truth if he hung for it to-morrow.

A. E. Bailey and Alf. Tuscomb corroborated Mrs. Dulmage's story. Old Kleingbeil said he and his wife had quarrelled about his son, Herman, who the old man said had been born while he was away at the war; that his wife was saucy and he had pounded her. He said she deserved all she got.

Herman Kleingbeil, who lives in Rochester, swore that while he lived at home his father abused and beat his mother with his fists. Old man Kleingbeil grew furious at this, shouting that Herman had killed his cattle and he would shoot him. He jumped from his chair in the dock, but Mr. Porter and the county constables eventually quieted him. The court adjourned at 6.30 till this morning. It is expected the trial will last all day to-day.

WASN'T WELLER'S BODY.

Strange Plea of the Defence In Northwest Murder Trial.

Morden, Man., Nov. 1.—The Doyle murder trial, which promises to be the most sensational ever heard in the west, opened here yesterday. Doyle, an American, is charged with killing Vincent Weller, also an American, at Snowlake, Man., on Nov. 20 last. The body was not found until this spring.

The startling feature of the day was the arrest of Charles Foley, Killarney, at the close of the proceedings. He is accused of intimidating witnesses from North Dakota who are here. Foley is an old chum of Doyle.

The line of argument to be taken by the defence, as revealed yesterday is most unexpected. The defence evidently intends to try and prove that it was not Weller's body which was found, but that of an unknown man, found near Morris, Man., about a week before the body supposed to be that of Weller was found, and which mysteriously disappeared. The claim is, it was dressed up as Weller to secure the reward money. It is said the defence will try to prove Weller has been seen since Nov. 20 in the Northwest.

A MONTREAL MUNCHAUSEN.

Warrant For Montrealer Who Posed as Having Been Left a Fortune.

He managed to get money advanced him and purchased real estate and personal property to the value of $10,000. For the past week he has been driving the best horses and rigs in the city, with footmen and groom in elaborate livery.

He bought $5,000 worth of jewelry for a young lady, $1,200 for clothes, $3,000 for horses, and $2,700 for harness.

He confesses the fraud, but still insists he has a large estate in Germany. He has lived here for ten years, and was well known as a steady man.

Brockville Man Killed by Cars.

Brockville, Nov. 1.—Yesterday the 11.30 limited train on the G. T. R. from Montreal struck and killed Mr. Warren, an old resident, at the Parks street crossing, in the town. He was a bricklayer and was crossing the track towards the brickyard when the limited rushed along, killing him almost instantly. He was about 62 years old and leaves a widow and family.

Yesterday morning John Menish, street superintendent, received word that his son George, had been killed while switching cars at St. Louis, Mo.

St. Helena Without Garrison.

Jamestown, Island of St. Helena, Nov. 1.—For the first time in its history since it became a British possession, St. Helena is without a garrison. All the troops have been withdrawn as a measure of economy, the guns and ammunition have been removed and the island is left defenseless. The outlook for the islanders is dark, as they practically lived off the garrison and will now have no market for their produce.

Sporting Parson Shot

Toronto, Nov. 1.—On Tuesday Rev. A. J. Fawlie, who has charge of the Presbyterian parishes of Coldwater and Waubaushene, went duck hunting on Georgian Bay with E. F. Clifford of Leatherdale. An oar struck the gun and the charge of shot went into Fawlie's thigh. He was attended by Dr. Harvey, who accompanied him to the General Hospital here last night.

VESUVIUS AFTER EFFECTS.

Storms Cause Avalanches of Mud From Last April's Eruption.

Naples, Nov. 2.—The eruption of Vesuvius of April last is still causing devastating effects.

A heavy storm which prevailed here during the last 24 hours has caused large avalanches of mud to fall from the sides of the volcano carrying off part of the Vesuvian Railway, blockading trains along the sea coast and burying large sections of ground in the vicinity of Vesuvius.

The inhabitants of the villages were greatly alarmed, especially as the storm was accompanied by earthquake shocks.

Mr. Hays Is Summoned.

Toronto, Nov. 2.—A summons was issued in the police court yesterday afternoon for no less a person than Charles M. Hays, vice-president and general manager of the Grand Trunk Railway. The information was filed with Col. G. T. Denison, police magistrate, and charges Mr. Hays with omitting to carry a third-class carriage on one train daily and to carry third class passengers for the fare of one penny a mile. W. N. Robertson is the complainant. His solicitor explains that Mr. Robertson was determined to compel the G.T.R. to comply with its charter and to carry passengers upon at least one train each day at the rate of a penny (two cents) a mile. This charter is contained in the act passed by the Parliament of Canada in 1852.

MODUS VIVENDI IN DANGER.

Newfoundland Government Announces Policy to Prosecute Fishermen That May Stir Up Trouble.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 2.—The Colonial Government has decided to test the validity of the modus vivendi. It issued an official notice yesterday enforcing the Bait Act, which forbids Newfoundlanders to fish on board foreign vessels within colonial waters, and it intends to prosecute one or more colonial fishermen who have been shipped by Americans outside the three-mile limit, after these men have been paid off by American vessels on which they were serving.

Privy Council Will Say.

After this the Supreme Court or Privy Council will determine whether the modus vivendi overrides the colonial enactments. The Government, furthermore, expects that threats of prosecution will deter the colonists from going beyond the marine boundary to join American vessels, and that the latter will therefore be unable to secure crews to catch herring.

As this would nullify the spirit of the modus vivendi, which agrees that nobody shall be penalized for joining American vessels, it is expected to result in trouble between the Cabinets at London and Washington.

Matter of Local Politics.

Toronto, Nov. 2.—Hon. A. B. Morine, now of Toronto, but formerly leader of the Opposition in the Parliament of Newfoundland and ex-Minister of Fisheries for the island colony, was the guest at the Empire Club luncheon yesterday. He explained at some length the recent disturbance in Newfoundland respecting the fisheries and contended that the Imperial Government had shown to the colony every consideration. He more than intimated that the present outcry was largely a matter of local politics. He strongly favors the annexation of Newfoundland with Canada.

Britain In Odd Plight.

London, Nov. 2.—(C. A. P.)—Referring to the resolve of the Newfoundland Government to test the validity of the modus vivendi, The Daily Graphic says it has placed the Imperial Government in an awkward predicament. The incident is significant as an illustration of the levity or carelessness with which the modus vivendi was negotiated. It is difficult to see what the Home Government can do by way of fulfilling the pledges to the United States if the Newfoundlanders stand firm.

IN A DEADLY DECLINE

Saved Just in Time by Dr. Williams Pink Pills.

"Before my daughter Lena began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills she looked more like a corpse than a live girl," says Mrs. Geo. A. Myles, of South Woodslee, Ont. "Her blood seemed as though it had all turned to water. Then she began to have bad spells with her heart. At the least excitement her heart would beat so rapidly as to almost smother her. She grew very thin, had no appetite, and what little food she did eat did not seem to nourish her. She was treated by one of the best doctors in this part of the country, yet she was daily growing worse and her heart got so bad that we were afraid that she would die. She slept but very little, and would frequently awake with a start and sometimes would jump right up in bed. These starts would always bring on a bad spell and leave her weak and exhausted. We had almost given up all hope of her ever being well again, when we decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After taking a couple of boxes she began to sleep better at night, and colour began to return to her lips. From that on she kept right on gaining and after taking eight boxes of the pills she was again in good health. She is now fifteen years of age, the picture of health, and since beginning the pills has gained about forty pounds in weight. Only those who saw her when ill can appreciate the marvellous change Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have brought about in her condition. I believe that had it not been for the pills she would be in her grave to-day, and it is with feelings of great gratitude that I write you in the hope that it may benfit some other sufferer."

And Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can do just as much for every weak, ailing, pale-faced young woman who is slipping from anaemia into a deadly decline. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood. In that way they strike aright at the root of all common diseases like anaemia, headaches and backaches, heart palpitation, indigestion, neuralgia, rheumatism and the secret ailments and irregularities of girls and women. Sold by all dealers in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

Attempted Suicide.

Hamilton, Nov. 1.—About two weeks ago Eugene Lanouette was married to Miss Mary Donohue of Brantford, and so much trouble accumulated on him in those two weeks that he tried Tuesday to take a short cut out of them and his life at the same time by using a razor. That he is not the subject of a coroner's inquest instead of being in the hands of the law is due to the quick action of Harry Pender, a boarder in the house in which Lanouette lived, in preventing him from slashing his throat. Lanouette was charged with attempting to commit suicide, yesterday morning, but was remanded for a few days.

Phillips Case Traversed.

Toronto, Nov. 1.—In the morning, before Judge Winchester, yesterday, Joseph Phillips, late president and general manager of the late York Loan & Savings Co., was arraigned. The indictment charges that, during the years 1901 to 1905, inclusive, he "did conspire, combine, confederate and agree with Lillian Hudson, Georgina Hudson, Eleazer John Burt, and George Robert Burt and others, by deceit and falsehood, to defraud the shareholders of the York County Loan & Savings Co."

He pleaded not guilty, and the case was traversed to the general sessions.

Had Legs Cut Off; Died.

Quebec, Nov. 1.—Benjamin Lemieux, who had his legs cut off by a locomotive in the I. C. R. yards at Chaudiere Tuesday, died the same evening at the Hotel Dieu hospital, Levis.

Ottawa, Nov. 1.—Announcement will be officially made to-day of the calling of Parliament. It seems practically certain that the session will open on the 22nd of November.

FLAGSHIP DREADNOUGHT.

New Home Fleet Now More Than a Mere Reserve.

London, Nov. 2.—The announcement that the first-class battleship Dreadnought will be the flagship of the new home fleet is welcomed in naval circles and by the general public, as proof that the new fleet will by no means be a mere reserve.

It is learned that the home fleet will be quartered in three divisions — at Sheerness, Portsmouth and Devonport —with a big nucleus of the crews of the ships on board, and that they will be kept in such a constant state of preparedness that they may be brought up to their full war strength, and be in readiness to go to sea within a few hours.

The first division, at Sheerness, will have the Dreadnought and four other battleships, to be taken from the present seagoing squadrons, which, according to yesterday's information, "will equal, both in gun power and speed, any vessels that can be brought against them by any foe."

U. S.-CANADA BOUNDARY.

Work Will Not Likely Be Completed For Two Or Three Years.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 1.—The work of marking the boundary between Alaska and the British possessions has gone steadily forward during the last summer. A large survey party under the joint direction of the American and Canadian authorities has been working on that part of the boundary which leads through the high mountains of the Skagway region, the line of demarcation having been described by the joint high tribunal at London.

The work will not be completed for two or three years along the whole line of the international boundary.

LABELS THE POTOMAC.

Visit of U. S. Warship to Newfoundland Insult to Colony.

London, Nov. 1.—(C. A. P.)—Judge Prowse, writing from St. John, N. B., in The Standard, relative to the action of the Newfoundland Government compelling the United States warship Potomac to pay duty on supplies, declares the Potomac came as a spy and intruder.

Her visit was an insult to Newfoundland and a breach of international courtesy, which no Government but a British Liberal Cabinet would tolerate for a moment. The English people, he says, would approve the conduct of the Colonial Government.

MARTYRDOM DESCRIBED

Kingston Man tells how he Suffered and How he was Released.

"For years a martyr," is how Chas. H. Powell of 105 Raglan Street, Kingston, begins his story. "A martyr to chronic constipation, but now I am free from it and all through the use of Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill."

Many who are now suffering from this complaint will be glad to learn from Mr. Powell's story that there is hope for the most stubborn case. He continues: "I was induced to try Anti-Pill by reading the testimony of some one who had been cured of constipation by it. I suffered for eighteen years and had taken tons of stuff recommended as cures, but which made me worse rather than better. Doctors told me there was no cure for me."

Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill is for sale by all Druggists or by The Wilson-Fyle Co., Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont.

Mr. Powell will verify every word of these statements. 503

Epitaph Of A Watchmaker.

An Appropriate One Written by Himself.

The following is a copy of the epitaph of a watchmaker, written by himself, in which he is compared to a watch that has run down:

"Here lies, in horizontal position, the outside case of George Ritter, whose abiding place in that line was an honour to his profession. Integrity was the mainspring, and prudence the regulator of all the actions of his life. Humane, generous and liberal, his hand never stopped till he had relieved distress. He never went wrong, except when set a-going by people who did not know his key. Even then he was easily set right again. He had the art of dispensing of his time so well that his hours glided by in one continual round of pleasure and delight, till an unlucky minute put an end to his existence. His case creaks and moulders and decays beneath the turf, but his good works will never die."

Daily, humble life, lived on high levels—this is the possibility of common men.—G. L. Goodell.

A PRAYER FOR GUIDANCE

Alas! how often do I stray and wander
In errant paths, though striving for the light;
How oft forget upon Thy truth to ponder
That could not fail to guide my feet aright!
I pray for greater strength, more patient heeding
Of all Thy loving-kindness of the past:
Beseech Thee, Father, tire not of Thy leading,
Beseech Thee, keep me while this life shall last!
Grim, drear and lone, the way runs on before me;
My strength is weakness, all my plans are vain;
The sky grows black and threatening storms are o'er me;
I am too weak to stand, much less attain.
My heart with anguish and regret is bleeding,
And oh, my days, they fly so fast—so fast!
Beseech Thee, Father, tire not in Thy leading,
Beseech Thee, keep me while this life shall last!
Keep Thou me true in every new endeavour
To all Thy teaching make my wavering will Stronger and surer and obedient ever
To Thy pure purpose, happy in it still!
And when the world's light I shall see receding,
And death's dread summons comes to me at last,
Beseech Thee, Father, tire not of Thy leading,
Beseech Thee, keep me while this life shall last!

Richard Benedict.

S. S. LESSON.

Lesson V., November 4.—The Lord's Supper.—Matt. 26: 17-30.

Golden Text.—"This do in remembrance of me."—I. Cor. 11: 24.

BETWEEN THE LESSONS.

Our text follows that of Lesson IV. On Tuesday evening Jesus went with his disciples from Jerusalem, where he delivered the parable of the Ten Virgins and that of the Talents, to Bethany. Judas conspired with the Jewish rulers to put Jesus to death. We have no record of what transpired on Wednesday. On that day, Jesus probably remained in Bethany, perhaps in communing alone with His Father, preparing for the sufferings he knew were soon to follow. On Thursday, the preparations for the passover were made. The account of the observance of this feast and the institution of the Lord's Supper form the basis of study in our lesson.

CRITICAL NOTES.

17. The first day . . . of unleavened bread. "When they sacrificed the passover". Mark 14: 12; Luke 22: 7. The lamb of the passover was slain on the fourteenth day at even, as the sun was sinking in the west. Ex. 12: 6; Deut. 16: 6. At sunset the fifteenth day began, so that the paschal meal which was eaten that night, fell in the early hours of the fifteenth. Compare Deut. 16: 4.

18. Go into the city. Jesus sent two of his disciples, namely, Peter and John. Mark 14: 13; Luke 22: 8. To such a man. The marks by which they should know the right person and place were these: "When ye are entered into the city, there shall meet you a man bearing a pitcher of water; follow him into the house whereinto he goeth." Luke 22: 10. My time is at hand. "The time of my death." John 13: 1. This thought filled Jesus' mind, Matt. 20: 2, 12. I keep the passover at thy house. An abrupt declaration. So was Jesus' address to Zacchaeus. Luke 19: 5. It is not likely that Jesus had previously arranged with the householder for a room.

20. When even was come. "When the hour was come." Luke 22: 14. The time to eat the passover. Sitting at meat. The words "at meat" are supplied. The marginal rendering, "reclining at table," brings out the meaning equally well. The same verb is used in Mark 14: 18. The original custom of standing at the passover had lapsed, for the people had reached the land of promise and rest.

23. He that dipped his hand with me in the dish. "That dippeth", Mark 14: 20. Jesus means, "One of those who have been dipping with me; one of my messmates"—"mine own familiar friend in whom I trusted, Who did eat," and even now is eating, "of my bread." Ps. 41: 9; John 13: 18. This remark would not necessarily disclose the traitor to the others.

24. The Son of man. Implicitly identified here with the Messiah of prophecy, as also in Mark 9, 12. As it is written of him. In the symbolism and predictions of the Old Testament. Hence "determined." Luke 22, 22; Acts 2, 23. But woe. God's purpose does not exclude man's freedom and responsibility. Compare Matt. 18, 7.

25. Judas . . . said, 'Is it I? The episode related in John 13, 23-27 probably immediately preceded this question.

26. As they were eating. The passover. Matt. 26, 18; Luke 22, 15, 20. When the paschal meal had well progressed. Jesus instituted the Lord's Supper. "It was night." John 13, 30; I. Cor. 11, 23 Bread. A loaf of the unleavened bread used at the celebration of the passover, Ex. 12, 8. Pressed. An expression synonymous with "giving thanks." This is my body. "Which is given for you; this do in remembrance of me." Luke 22, 19, except in a few authorities, "Which is for you; this do in remembrance of me." I. Cor. 11, 24. Paul's account being the earliest extant one, antedating even Matthew's report by two or three years. The Lord's Supper is a memorial rite. It is also "a communion of the body of Christ." I. Cor. 10, 16.

27. A cup. "After supper." Luke 22.

WITH THE SAGES

Teach self-denial and make its practice pleasurable, and you create for the world a destiny more sublime than ever issued from the brain of the wildest dreamer.—Sir Walter Scott.

To feel much for others, and little for ourselves; to restrain our selfish and exercise our benevolent affections, constitutes the perfection of human nature.—Adam Smith.

If one has a right to be proud of anything, it is of a good action, done as it ought to be, without any base interest lurking at the bottom of it.—Sterne.

We should give as we would receive, cheerfully, quickly, and without hesitation; for there is no grace in a benefit that sticks to the fingers.—Seneca.

Few things are impracticable in themselves; and it is for want of application, rather than of means, that men fail of success.—Rochefoucauld.

A DESPICABLE TRICK.

Ottawa East Young Woman Waits For Groom Who Changed Mind.

Ottawa, Nov. 1.—Ottawa East circles were agitated yesterday by the jilting of one of the young ladies of the village, who was gowned and waiting to meet her lover at the altar in Holy Trinity Church at 2 o'clock. The rector was also ready, but a previous inkling that the groom would not appear prevented a scene in the church.

The groom-who-was-to-be worked in the car shops, and it is said that Tuesday he removed his tools and probably left for parts unknown Tuesday night.

The bride is a pretty French-Canadian Protestant, and is seriously upset by the despicable trick played her.

Paying Penalties For Crimes.

Winnipeg, Nov. 2.—At Assizes yesterday afternoon, Chief Justice Howel passed sentence on five of the prisoners convicted to date. The two Galicians, Danlyo Kormylo and Michael Hyduk, convicted of manslaughter, were sentenced to five and four years, respectively. John Thompson, on two charges of theft, was sentenced to seven years. Delphis Etteme, for shop-breaking, received five years, and A. C. Bonner, on three indictments, for horse-stealing, wounding with intent, and jail-breaking, received three years and four months.

Murderer Nearly Escaped.

Morden, Man., Nov. 2.—Peter Hanson, who is charged with horse theft and arson, and escaped from Morden jail before the Assizes in the spring, not being captured until the month afterward, made a desperate attempt to escape again Wednesday night. He secured a file and had almost filed through when caught. Doyle, who is now on trial for murder, was in the same cell with Hanson.

THE LAND OF THE MIDNIGHT SUN

Rev. C. E. Whittaker, of Herschell's Island, Here After Eleven Years in North Land.

A Devoted Anglican Missionary Tells of His Life and Work 2,500 Miles North of Edmonton.

Where the Snow Fell Every Day Last Year—Some of the Discouragements Met With There.

There are more heroes than those whose names are heralded as such, and in the list of men who are proving themselves heroic, men who, under conditions which are anything but inspiring, lead lives which call for courage and devotion, must be included that of Rev. C. E. Whittaker, who for the last eleven years, under conditions which, to say the least, are discouraging, has laboured at Herschell's Island, in the Arctic Ocean, among the Eskimos.

Story of the Nor h

Mr. Whittaker was in the city yesterday, calling on his friends, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt and Rev. Wm. Major, rectors of St. Luke's and All Saints' churches, respectively, and to the Examiner he told a most interesting story of his life and work in the Arctic Circle, 2,500 miles north of Edmonton, which city, to Ontario people, seems to be about the extreme limit of civilization, and 3,500 miles north of the latitude of Peterborough.

Snow Every Day

Imagine spending eleven years in a place where snow falls every day of the year and where mails are received from the outside world only twice a year. This is the condition under which Mr. Whittaker lived at Herschell's Island. He was always six months behind the outside world. In his semi-annual mail he received copies of the daily papers for the last six months, and, instead of reading these papers as they came in he took up one each day, always just half a year after it was printed.

Only White People There

Outside of the Hudson Bay Company factor and a few Mounted Police, Mr. Whittaker and his family were the only white persons resident on the Island, which has a population of 500 Eskimos. Whalers occasionally visited it, however, and it is by assisting them that the natives of the Island gain their livelihood.

A Devoted Wife

Mr. Whittaker was married since he went to the Arctic Circle, his wife, an English lady going to the west to marry him. He met her half way, and there they were made man and wife. Mrs. Whittaker's devotion is in its way greater than that of her husband. Her position, by reason of the fact that she was the only white woman on the Island, and while her husband was away at the other stations which he visits, she was left alone with her children, can be faintly fancied.

Three Children Dead

During their stay there three of their children have died, and three little snow covered graves mark the spot where their loved ones lay.

Mrs. Whittaker, however, is inspired with the same spirit as her husband, and she is happy.

Work Under Difficulties

In spite of the fact that Mr. Whittaker has lived with the Eskimos for eleven years he has been unable to learn their language thoroughly, and this is the most discouraging feature of his work there—as a result of being unable to express to them his thoughts concerning religion he has had no converts, in the generally accepted use of the term. Regular services are, of course, held, and the Eskimos attend them, and are interested, and two have been baptized, but there is no regularly constituted church, and none of the natives call themselves Christians.

A Moral Effect

The work of these devoted people, however, is not without its effect. Their example is making itself felt upon the lives of the Eskimos and there is a noticeable improvement in their morals. Some of them are asking for marriage ceremonies at marriages, and in other ways they are giving evidence that they are deriving benefit from the presence in their midst of these Christian people, the influence of whose lives is gradually working a change in their morals. Only since in these eleven years has Mr.

Won 57 Firsts At Norwood Fair

Good Record of Mr. Alfred Robson of Norwood

Alfred Robson, of Norwood, was the winner of the special prize donated by Lang & Maher to the person obtaining the largest number of prizes at the Norwood Fair. He led the list by capturing 272 points—first prize counting three, the second two, and the third, one. In poultry, he won 47 firsts, 31 seconds and 14 thirds; in roots, 9 firsts, 9 seconds and 7 thirds, and in horses he captured first premium for the two-year-old carriage horse.

Mr. Robson certainly deserves credit for his enterprise, and is the richer from his industry by five dollars' worth of clothing from Lang and Maher's. He also received the bronze medal donated by Ryrie Bros., Jewellers, Toronto, for the most first prizes in ornamental poultry. He is a son of Thos. Robson, and lives a short distance to the north of the village of Norwood.

POWER OF THE PRESS

BY MR. DOOLEY.

"No, sir, as Hogan says, I care not who makes th' laws or th' money iv a country so long as I run th' presses. Father Kelly was talkin'about it th' other day. There ain't anny-thing like it an' there niver was,' says he, "All th' priests in this diocese together preach to about a hundhred thousand people wanct a week, an,' he says. 'We give ye heel on Sundahs an' they give ye hell all th' time,' he says. 'Tis a wondherful thing,' he says. 'I see a barl iv printer's ink goin' into a newspaper office an' it looks common enough. A barl iv printer's ink, a barl iv linseed ile an' lampblack, with a smell to it that's half stink an' half perfume. But I tell ye if all th' dinnymite, lyddite, cordite, an' gun cotton in th' wurrld wuz hid behind thim hoops there wudden't be as much disturbance in that barl as there is in th' messy stuff that looks like so much tar,' he says. 'Printer's ink! A dhrop iv it on wan little wurrud in type,' he says, 'will blacken th' fairest name in Christendom or,' he says, 'make a star to shine on th' lowliest brow,' he says. 'It will find its way into millions iv homes an' hearts an' memories, it will go through iron durres an' stone walls an' will carry some message that may turn th' current iv ivry life it meets, fr'm th' Imperor iv Chiny to th' baby in the cradle in Hanningan's flat,' he says. 'It may undo a thousand prayers or start a millyon. It can't be escaped. It could dhrag me out iv me parish house to-morrah an' make me as well known in Pekin as I am in Halstead sthreet; an' not as favirably. To-day th' pope may give me no more thought than he gives Kelly th' Rowlka' Mill man. To-morrah he may be readin' about how great or bad I am in th' Popylo Romano. It's got Death beat a mile in levelin' ranks.'

"'Yes, sir,' says he, 'th' hand that rooks th' fountain pens is th' hand that rules th' wurruld. Th' press is fr th' whole univarse what Mulligan was fr his beat. Deputation Has Most Favourable Report To Make

In Regard to District Heating Co's System in Chatham and Detroit—Every Customer is Satisfied with the Plant —Business is Rapidly Growing.

Ald. McWilliams, Adams and Mason, who as a deputation from the Manufacturers' Committee have been inspecting the system of the District Steam Heating Company, in Detroit and Chatham, returned to the city last night. They left on Wednesday and spent Thursday in Detroit. Early yesterday morning the deputation went to Chatham where they remained until 3.30 o'clock.

According to the Aldermen, they bring home a very satisfactory report. They found the system well installed, growing rapidly and giving complete satisfaction.

There are two companies in Detroit. The Murphy Heating Company and the Central Steam Heating Company. The Murphy plant was installed by the engineers of the American District Steam Heating Company of Lockport, with which Company the local applicants are connected. The first three miles of the Central Company's mains were also installed by the Lockport Company, but the remaining five miles were laid by the company themselves. They claim to have made a saving in the cost, but both the Chatham Company and the Murphy Company, expressed themselves as being satisfied with the prices charged by the Lockport Company, for installation and gave the highest praise for the manner in which the Company did its work.

The deputation found that both the Detroit Companies were doing a constantly increasing business. The Murphy Company for the most part confine their attention to the business section. They heat a number of large office buildings, a bank and have recently established their system in the city hall. The committee interviewed the City Controller and found that the service had proven so satisfactory throughout the city that it had been considered advisable to place it in the city buildings.

The largest hotel in Detroit is now being remodelled and much enlarged. It will be heated entirely by the Murphy plant. When the company started three years ago they had five customers, now there are one hundred and fifty and the company has never lost a customer.

The Central Heating Company has two plants, one in the upper business section and the other in the residential section. They have 400 customers and in the section served by their mains, they have secured 60 per cent. of all possible business.

The Murphy Company, and also the Chatham Company, sell their heat at a standard rate of 50c. per 1,000 lbs. condensation, while the Central Company have a graduated scale said to have reached 40c.

The deputation interviewed a large number of customers both in Detroit and Chatham and found nothing but the highest praise for the system. The Chatham plant has been in operation for one year and heats all the banks, the leading hotels, several office blocks, the Roman Catholic church and rectory, the Separate School and the Central Public School which is a very large building.

The deputation will no doubt make a very favourable report to the council at the regular meeting on Monday night.

Kick From A Horse Results In Death

Wm. Hanbidge Passed Away Last Night—Lamented Death of Otonabee Farmer —Funeral on Monday.

The lamented death of William James Hanbidge, eldest son of Mr. Robert Hanbidge, has cast a gloom over not only the section of Otonabee in which he lived, but of the whole township in which he was so well known.

His sudden death while in the prime of life was caused by a kick in the abdomen on Wednesday evening by a young colt which he had ridden to his uncle's threshing. He was a young man, of 30 years of age, strong and healthy, and was most popular among the farmers of Otonabee. He took an active interest in municipal matters, and had he lived, it is quite probable that he would soon have been assisting in administering the affairs of the township.

Doctors were summoned as soon as the accident occurred and yesterday it was thought he would recover. Last night about 10.30 however, he passed away and leaves a sorrowing household behind him. He was a member of Bethel Methodist church, of Otonabee, and took a deep interest in church work. He has many relatives in the Stewart Settlement as well as in other parts of the county, who will regret to learn of his early death.

His death makes the first break in a family of five. The surviving members, besides the young man's parents, are: Mrs. Thomas Sargeant, of Otonbee; and Miss Helen and George, at home. The deceased was unmarried.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, lot 20, concession 14, Otonbee, at 2 o'clock on Monday afternoon, interment taking place in the Little Lake cemetery.

NOT THE WAY THEY ACT IN NOVELS

(By Examiner Special Wire.)

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Prizing his allowance above his bride, George C. Hickox, son of Charles Hickox, Millionaire coal miner, of Springfield, Ill., got a divorce from Arline De Campi Hickox of No. 656 Greenwood Avenue, after a Honeymoon of one day.

The bride in court said: "His papa holds the purse strings and after our wedding told him to come home or give up his allowance. He could not make a living for both, so he gave me up."

Collie Dog Loses His Tail

Wheel of G.T.R. Engine Gives It An Unpleasant Surprise

Vigourously waving the blood-covered stump of his tail like a flag of distress, a black and white collie this morning made some rapid strides in the vicinity of the Protestant Home to escape further damage. It was strolling along the G.T.R. track just as the 7.20 flyer from Toronto was leaving the city. The train was almost upon him before he saw it. He had just time to escape before the big fire horse struck his body. His tail, however, happened to be in the wrong place, and he emerged minus his "wagger."

A Centenarian Still A Preacher

Recites a Whole Chapter for a Text.

Though one hundred years old, Rev. Thomas L. Lord, of Horncastle, England, preached a sermon on Sunday night, October 21st, to a large congregation, at Rusiden. His lesson was a chapter quoted from memory. He referred to a previous visit to the latter town seventy years ago, and expressed his pleasure at seeing the descendants of so many old friends. Every word was audible to the big audience.

Last evening a special event was held at the Roller Skating Rink on Charlotte street, when a valuable prize was offered by the management to the best lady skater present. The event proved interesting, and a large crowd was on hand to witness it. The rink was crowded and some good skaters took part. Mrs. John Barber was the successful lady skater, and was a popular winner. The judges were Messrs. R. Neill, R. Gliddon and W. Metheral.

Separation Of Knox Now Made Possible

Congregation in a Position to Raise Sufficient Money to Support a Minister.

Matter Will be Decided at the Joint Meeting of the Sessions on Monday.

The separation of Knox church from St. Paul's is now practically decided upon, so far as the congregation of the former church is concerned. The principal consideration was that of the ability of the congregation to supply the necessary finances, and this has been settled by a canvass of the congregation by a committee appointed by the office bearers, who were authorized to take this action at the general congregational meeting held on Thursday, week.

The report of the committee was presented to the office bearers last night, and it was learned that $850 a year would be available from the envelope system, while it was believed that $150 more would be received from loose collections, making the necessary $1,000.

As a result of this gratifying state of affairs it is expected that the joint meeting of the Sessions of St. Paul's and Knox churches, which will be held on Monday night, will decide on the separation of Knox and the establishment of a distinct congregation.

The matter will then be taken before the Presbytery, but it is not anticipated that there will be any objection from this body, in case the two churches most interested agree to the separation.

Shareholders May Sue Directors

To Recover Sums Lost Through Ontario Bank.

One of the Peterborough Shareholders in the Ontario Bank expressed his opinion to the Examiner, stating that he thought the holders of stock in the bank should take action against the directors to recover the sums they have lost through the recent turn in the affairs of the bank. He believes that the shareholders would have a good case against the directors since they should have seen that the funds of the institution were not impaired.

He intimated that the shareholders at their general meeting in the near future would probably decide on this course of action.

The Electric Balloon Is A Star After All

Solution of a Question Which Millbrook People Have Been Worrying Over For Some Time.

The bottom has fallen out of that story about the balloon over Detroit, which Millbrook people have been seeing illuminated at night. The Oshawa Reformer has the following on it: As there has been much discussion, and doubt as to a bright star in the west, seen early in the evenings, being a rail star or a fire balloon, sent up from Detroit, an Oshawa gentleman, to satisfy his curiosity, wrote to an authority in Detroit for information in regard to it. This is the reply he received:—"The star you refer to is Acturus (Job 38-32) and is a distinguished star called also Alpha Bootis. It is very bright and is thought to be double or triple (note expression 'Its sons,' in above text), but the telescope so far has not revealed that id has any parallax. It is one of a constellation of forty-five, and it is these, probably, that the Scripture refers to. It was seen by Maria in March, 1635, for more than half an hour after sunrise. The ancients called it the red star. It is said to be a fixed star, but it has an angular motion."

Kliengbiel Gets Off With Four Months

Belleville Man Charged With Manslaughter, Will Spend Four Months at Kingston.

(Examiner Special.)

Belleville, Nov. 3.—When the Assizes opened this morning, Judge Britton ordered Kleingbeil, the wife-slayer, up for sentence and gave him four years in Kingston Penitentiary. The general opinion in this city is that the sentence is too light in the interests of justice. It is said, on the authority of a juryman, that the jury in Kleingbeil case was at first almost unanimous in favour of hanging the prisoner, but the minority fought hard, and at last the members in favour of extreme measure consented, on account of the prisoner's age, to a verdict of manslaughter. Had he been a young man the prisoner would certainly have been found guilty of murder.

LEVIES ON ELEPHANTS FOR TWO CIRCUS PASSES

(By the Publishers' Press.)

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 2.—A special from Thomasville, Ga., where Hagan & Bailey's shows exhibited yesterday, states that Dr. T. M. McIntosh, a prominent physician, has levied on the largest of the herd of elephants, alleging the entrance of the show had promised him two passes to the circus for passing a worthless check of his servant stores and the ticket agent failed to make good.

In addition a hyena and four monkeys were levied on for the same reason.

Cold on the Lungs.

"We have seven children and have used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for every one of them and with good results. We get four bottles at a time and find it a good remedy to break up cold on the lungs." — Mrs. R. D. Turner, Broadview, N.W.T.

A Hastings Hunter Drowned Yesterday

John Murray Lost His Life in Crooked Lake While Deer-Hunting.

Deceased was Respected Resident of Village of Hastings—No Details Available.

(Examiner Special.)

Hastings, Nov. 3.—A telephone message received here to-day reports the death, by drowning, at Crooked Lake, Hastings County, of Mr. John Murray, a respected resident of the village. Last Saturday, Mr. Murray, in company with Wm. Rice, Edward Fleming and Jas. Lynch, left the village on a deer-hunting expedition, and nothing was heard from them till the receipt of a telephone message to-day from Gilmour, a station on the Central Ontario Railway, about twenty-five miles from Crooked Lake, simply stating the fact of the drowning yesterday. The body is being brought to Hastings, but so far no arrangements for the funeral have been announced. The late Mr. Murray followed the business of butcher and baker, and was a prominent and greatly respected citizen. He was a member of the village Council for years. He was a public-spirited citizen, and in his younger days was active in lacrosse circles, having been a member of the "Ironsides" team. He was a member of both the Canadian and Independent Order of Foresters. He was about 46 years of age, and leaves a wife and six children, the eldest about 17 years of age.

Royal Bank's Big Sign Up

A 35 Foot Painted Sign Erected By Local Firm

Messrs. J. J. Turner and Sons erected this morning a new 35-foot sign for the Royal Bank, on Hunter street. The sign placed over T. Barrie's store yesterday, was also the work of this firm.

The same firm also recently made a sign for R. Hicks & Co's new office.

To-day a double hospital tent was shipped to Webbwood, and two were recently sent to Stratford, making ten which have been sent to this city to date.

SELF EVIDENT

During a discussion at a meeting of the Toronto Board of Education over the appointment of Mr. Jeffries, of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, as specialist in Classics in Jarvis Street Collegiate Institute, Toronto, one, Kent, a member of the Board, opposed the appointment. He stated that outside schools, such as Peterborough Collegiate Institute, were, compared to Toronto Institutes like "cabbage gardens," and added that he received his education in an outside school. Mr. Kent's remark is very obviously to the point. His head seems to be very like the product of an educational "cabbage garden" — a cabbage head, too, that never "filled."

HONEST METHODS PAY

We have had evidence on many occasions of the sensitive character of the British market to imperfections in the quality of supplies. It is our best market for our dairy and orchard products. Canada has won a good name in both regards. But our good name in this market is as susceptible to injury as the reputation of a woman. There must be quality, and there must be honest methods. Any failure of these, in even a trivial degree is apt to have prejudicial results. We have a good name for sending good cheese, but, unfortunately, there have been recently complaints as to quality, in some cases, and there is not shown much hesitation in expressing dissatisfaction. The cause of these complaints lies back of the shipper, even of the maker. And falls upon the purveyors of milk to the factories. There is laxity in methods of producing milk, neglect in the essential matter of cleanliness, in connection with the supply of a pure quality of milk. It is to the interest of the farmer, the maker, the buyer, and shipper, and all concerned in this country, in the production of cheese, that everybody should co-operate with all interested in doing everything in their power to guard against any act, or any neglect, that would tend to lessen the good quality of our cheese, and injure our good name in our best market, which we have fought for inch by inch, and of which we have a virtual monopoly, so far as this continent is concerned, and from which nothing but our own acts can oust us. Unfortunately a few dishonest and reckless persons can do much to destroy the reputation of the mass of honest and careful producers of cheese, and it is to the interests of the latter to unite solidly to protect the trade from the wrong-doing of the few. The same remarks generally apply to the fruit growing and shipping business, which has reached such important proportions in the old country. In this, one dishonest packer, who reverses the law of gravitation, and places the light and imperfect fruit at the bottom of a package, can injure the reputation of a thousand honest packers. Our British brethren may not be perfect themselves, but they will not stand for dishonest methods in business where they are concerned. The necessity of perfectly honest methods in the handling of Canadian cheese and fruit, is obvious. As remarked, we have in the British market our best market, and we should aim to discourage any action, or course of action, that would affect the good name of Canadian products, and thus seriously, and prejudicially, affect the demand and price.

BETTER UNDERWEAR

DOCTORS DISAGREE

The Conservative press is fond of throwing out jibes at the Liberal party, on account of the alleged lack of harmony, as evidenced by the independent, or side-step stand of Mr. Bourassa, in Quebec. But it is quite evident that they have a little mud on their own door steps, that might in the interests of the good house-keeping of the Conservative household, be removed. Not only is there in progress a bitter fight for the leadership of the party, accompanied by rebellion against Mr. Borden's clean, but admirably inert leadership. The Toronto World absorbs the spirit of its environment, and claims for its proprietor the leading of the party, and for the organ itself, first place. In the latter, its efforts have some reason. The Mail and Empire is as an organ, pulling upon the not too fastidious appetites of the faithful. The World gives currency to a letter from a North Bruce correspondent, written in view of a Conservative victory in that riding, but cautiously discounting failure. The correspondent is said to have written the World as below:

"We (the Conservatives) feel pretty confident re Tuesday's duel. We think we'll get there, but if our expectations are not realized, the blame must fall largely upon our so-called organ in Toronto, The Mail and Empire, which, in its utterly insane course of either ignoring altogether, or else actually defending the graft exposures on its own side, and denouncing the other alone, must take its readers up there for a lot of mental imbeciles. The Mail and Empire editor, whatever his motives or intentions, should in the interests of the party, be placed under restraint."

"There is more truth than poetry in the above," the World remarks in comment, and adds, "There is a limit to human endurance. When you utterly disgust an elector he will either vote against you, or not at all."

The Man with the Knife not only thrusts in the weapon, but turns it in the wound, like the final lunge in the bayonet exercise.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The task Hon. Mr. Emmerson has set himself, to make the Intercolonial Railway self supporting is not to be accomplished at the expense of the employees. Their junior employees all over the road receive an increase of wages to the amount of $30,000.

Edmonton seems to be well justified in putting on metropolitan airs. It is growing like Jonah's gourd, only more substantially, and it looks forward to a union railway station, which it is likely to have much sooner than Toronto will have a new one.

Mr. McLean of the World says that if he had been in charge of the Conservative organization in North Bruce, the result would have been different. He was only asked to speak. The fatal end of the alternative was adopted.

If the London investigation is to have any effect in working a reformation in politicians and in political methods, it must, says the Woodstock Sentinel-Review, be complete. It must not be confined to the evils of one party. Everybody knows that, black as are some of the things that have been dragged into the light, there are others just as black awaiting an honest investigation. Will these, too, be exposed? If not the effect of the work that has already been done will be largely destroyed.

Conservatives speak of Liberals opposing each other in election contests, as if that circumstance were evidence of divided counsels in the party family. What would they have? In case where the Conservatives have not the courage or optimism to put up a candidate, as in the Ste. Anne's division of Montreal, the temptation to two Liberals, to discover who is the better man, is too great for human nature to resist. From a political point of view it's a clean case of heads I win, tails you lose.

La Presse the most influential of Quebec French journals gives editorial prominence to the Deacon Graham incident at the recent Baptist Convention, and deals with the matter in a temperate and fair spirit. After quoting Mr. Graham's remarks to the effect that "Sir Wilfrid Laurier se est revele traitre et Jesuite—has shown himself to be a traitor and a Jesuit—La Presse gives Mr. Warren's repudiation on behalf of the Convention of the sentiments expressed. La Presse adds that it knows there are hot heads—des tetes chaudes—in all parties and that if these persons had full swing Canada would be an armed camp, and one would have to keep the sword or revolver at hand. It remarks that Catholics also have their bigotted extremists, and that in respect of both they are in a contemptible minority and there should be no place for either of them in our citizenship.

The snobbery of Trustee Kent, of the Toronto Board of Education, belittling the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, leads one to have doubts of the wisdom of representative institutions that permit the election of such a narrow-guage man. It is probable that there is not in the city of Toronto a better Collegiate Institute, as to the quality of work done, than that of this city, nor one better manned and headed. Some of the former may possess better material, but not better pedagogical, equipment. Are any of them presided over by a principal whose scholarship has permitted him to write a text book of such high merit, that it is in use in important high class schools in Great Britain, where none but the best is tolerated?

Diamond Dyes

Are Used By All Wise and Economical Canadian Women.

Failures in home dyeing are caused by the use of imitations and adulterated package dyes, which are ruinous to good materials and dangerous to handle. Ladies who value their garments and materials should never risk imitation and worthless package dyes. The colours of such dyes are always muddy, blothcy and lifeless. Storekeepers sell such trashy dyes simply because of the large profits they yield, and care little for the trouble and vexation these common dyes cause to the women who use them. DIAMOND DYES are the only successful, pure, fast and brilliant dyes sold. The DIAMOND DYES have a wonderful record of triumphs and successes and have no equals in the world for easy and profitable home colouring.

As there are merchants who sell inferior and adulterated package dyes insist each time that you buy that you are served with the DIAMOND DYES. See that each package bears the words, DIAMOND PACKAGE DYES.

Send to the Wells and Richardson Co., Limited, 200 Mountain street, Montreal, P. Q., for valuable dye Book, and card of dyed samples; free to any address.

Whittaker visited the east before this trip.

Visit in England

He and his wife are sailing from Montreal to-day for England, where they will spend the winter, visting Mrs. Whittaker's relatives, and they will return again in March to resume their work at Herschell's Island, where Mr. Whittaker says he will remain as long as the church wants him, so devoted is he to what he considerrs his duty.

An Assistant

It is probable that on his return he will take with him as his assistant, Rev. A. J. Vale, who is at present Curate to Rev. Mr. Marsh, at Lindsay.

Fort MacPherson, on the Peel River, 200 miles south of Herschell's Island, is the nearest station, and Mr. Whittaker frequently visits it, travelling by dog sleigh.

Ten Week's Travel

This mode of travel was used in making the trip out when Mr. and Mrs. Whittaker were on their way out, ten weeks being required to make the journey to Edmonton. The route taken was up the Mackenzie River to Great Slave Lake, and up the Athabaska River to Athabaska Landing, where the river was left and the overland trail taken to Edmonton. Mr. Whittaker is a young man still, and is full of enthusiasm over his work among the natives of the north.

Mr. R. N. Jolliff Engaged To Sing

At a Concert in Cobourg Methodist Church

Mr. R. Norman Jolliffe has been engaged to sing at a concert in Cobourg, under the auspices of the Epworth League, on November 15th. The Cobourg World refers to Mr. Jolliffe as a soloist who "is fast winning fame and distinction in the Queen City." It adds "Mr. Jolliffe delighted the audience greatly when he sang here last winter."

Gained 25 Pounds

"I was much run down in health, could not sleep, was very nervous, and so weak that I could hardly get around. Some months ago I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and to-day I am pleased to say I am completely restored to health. I have gained over twenty-five pounds in weight, sleep well and feel strong and healthy." — Miss Annie Evans, 339 Gottingen street, Halifax, N.S.

THE ORIGIN OF SOME PHRASES

Chicago-Record Herald.

"Mad as a Hatter."

The phrase "Mad as a hatter" really means as venomous as a viper. "Mad as a hatter" is simply a corruption of an ancient form, "Mad as an atter, or adder."

"Dead as a Herring."

Until the day of aquariums it was a somewhat difficult matter to observe a live herring. It is a fish that dies instantly on being taken from its native element. Among fishermen first arose the expression, "Dead as a herring."

"A Feather in One's Cap."

Our expression, "A feather in one's cap," originated in Hungary in 1599. At that time it was an ancient custom among the Hungarians that no one was permitted to wear a feather in his had unless he had killed a Turk.

It was a law that for each slain Turk the slayer should be allowed to wear one feather.

"Not Worth His Salt."

When we say a person is "Not worth his salt," we are using one of the oldest phrases in the English language. This expression has come down through the centuries from Roman days.

The origin of the phrase is the same as that of our word salary, both having come from the Latin salarium, or salt money.

"He's a Brick."

The phrase, "He's a brick," originated from an Eastern ruler, who while visiting a neighbouring principality asked his host to show him the fortifications.

Waving his hand toward his troops, which were drawn up in soldierly array, the Prince said to his guest:—"These are my fortifications; every man is a brick."

"Kicking the Bucket."

When a person dies nowadays, we say in common parlance that he "Kicked the bucket." The origin of this phrase is unusual.

It alludes to the way a slaughtered pig is held up by a bent piece of wood, technically called a "bucket", being fastened behind the tendons of its hind legs in order to suspend the carcass. Other authorities assert that "Kicking the bucket" originated from a method of committing suicide by standing on a bucket while adjusting the noose, and then kicking the bucket away.

The "White Feather."

An official of the Smithsonian Institution was speaking of the origin of some well-known phrases, and pointed to a small mounted bird. This bird was a French grey on the back, drab breast, black wings, and with a small but conspicuous white spot at the base of the tail.

"That is a wheatear," the official said. "It is very common in Scotland, where it is known as the "clacharan". It is from this bird that we get the expression 'Showing the white feather.' You will notice the location of the only white feathers on its body—they can be seen only when the bird is flying away from you."

'Housekeepers' Silvercloth!

Every person should know about and try HOUSEKEEPERS' SILVERCLOTH, polishes silverware, all bright metals and mountings like magic: no paste or powder required, simply rub the article to be polished briskly with the prepared cloth and a brilliant polish is secured in a clean, quick, handy way. Price 25c. For sale by W. B. WARNE, 315 George street, Peterboro. Trial Samples free.

Prisoners' Cell A Dark Place

So Thought the Nassau Man Who Visited It To-day

With an over load from the golden goblet, Lindsay a Nassau man, lay down at rear of the market office about noon to-day to have a nap. P. C. Newhall happened around the corner, and the sight that met his eyes was a most picturesque one, and not to be described. The two marched together to the station, and Lindsay for the first time in his life saw, or thought he saw, the inside of a cell.

"Is this the police station?" he asked. He was informed by P. C. Newhall that it was.

"It's a ——— of a dark hole in here," he remarked as he stretched his long form on the hard bench, and in a few moments he was in the land of dreams.

Threatened With Bright's Disease

BRICK DUST DEPOSITS TOLD OF DISEASED KIDNEYS, BUT CURE WAS EFFECTED BY

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

This case well illustrates the way in which kidney diseases of the most serious form are developed from derangements of the liver, and emphasizes the extraordinary control which Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills possess over such complicated ailments.

Mr. John Wilson, 918 Esplanade avenue, Montreal, Que., writes: "Last February I was taken sick and had to have the doctor, who said that my ailments was a disordered liver. A few weeks after completing his treatment I began to notice symptoms of kidney disease. The urine took on a reddish appearance and continued to get worse, until there were brick dust deposits, and then I knew that the kidneys were seriously affected, and that I was threatened with Bright's disease.

"I obtained some of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and as a result of this treatment was completely cured. My water became a natural colour, and is still so. The cure was thorough and lasting.

"My first experience with Dr. Chase's Medicines was with Dr. Chase's Ointment, which completely cured me of itching piles, with which I was tortured for nearly twenty years. I am now perfectly convinced of the reliability of these two great medicines."

No medicine which acts on the kidneys alone can possibly prove effective, because in the great majority of cases the liver and bowels are also deranged. Because Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills have a direct and combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels, they bring about satisfactory results in the most complicated cases.

By using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose as bedtime, as often as is necessary to keep the bowels in regular healthful action, you insure yourself against kidney disease and the subsequent suffering from Bright's disease, dropsy, apoplexy or other equally dreaded ailments.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are the most certain for constipation, biliousness and kidney disease. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Radical Changes In The Management

Of The Christian Scientist Church Likely to Take Place Soon Following Revelation of Condition of Mrs. Eddy.

(By the Publishers' Press.)

Concord, N.H., Nov. 2. — Radical changes in the management of the affairs of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy and the Christian Science Church are likely to take place from the recent sensational developments here which resulted in an exhibition of Mrs. Eddy before a body of newspaper men and women sent here to learn the truth of the report that the aged woman is near death's door and a mere tool in the hands of a body of men who are really managing the affairs of the church in her name.

Mrs. Eddy Declining

The practically unanimous verdict of the unbiased press that Mrs. Eddy is in a declining and enfeebled condition—as might be expected of any person at the age of 86—has stirred the influential and thinking members of the church.

As a result, there is a well crystallized sentiment favouring a new deal in the leadership of the church—a condition of affairs by which those who love and revere Mrs. Eddy may keep in touch with her condition and her work without resort to such cruel expedients as that of Tuesday, when the tottering old lady was dragged out of her retirement and made a spectacle.

Business Principles Demanded

There is also a feeling that even though everything may be regular in the management of Mrs. Eddy's affairs, and even though the disposition of her vast fortune may have been made in accordance with her desires, it would be better that the fountain head of such a stupendous organization as the Christian Science Church has become should be conducted in an open and aboveboard manner, on business principles, instead of being hidden behind a veil of fifteenth century mysticism.

Entitled to Know

There can be no doubt that such ordeals as that of Tuesday are a terrible strain on the nervous system of a woman of Mrs. Eddy's age and temperament, and while many of the leading Christian Scientists concede that the public and members of the Church were entitled to know the real condition of Mrs. Eddy, they declare that the system, which resulted in her seclusion and made the ordeal necessary, is at fault.

From the letters pouring in here it is evident that the entire country has been stirred, and those who are in a position to know predict that a movement will be launched in a very few days looking to a complete readjustment of the affairs of the head of the Christian Science Church.

Opinion in Concord

(By the Publishers' Press.)

Concord, N.H., Nov. 2.—The leading Christian Scientists of this city are expressing much regret over the result of the famous interview with Mrs. Eddy last Tuesday. The fact all the newspaper men excepting the local correspondent of a Press Association agreed that the founder of their faith was in a pitifully weak condition came as a surprise to them.

Now they are saying that the interview was badly managed and that Mrs. Eddy's attendants should have allowed the correspondents to see her long enough to appreciate the true strength and vigour of her mind.

Mrs. Eddy does not yet know the reports of her condition which resulted from this interview. She took her usual drive yesterday, sitting well forward in her carriage, and taking particular pains to greet those who saluted her.

Creditable Art Exhibit At The Conservatory

Art Pupils Do Fine Credit of Miss Bennet's Instruction—Good Musical Programme.

From the nature of the different branches of the art taught at the Peterborough Conservatory of Music, that which appeals to the mind and soul through the eye, is necessarily less in public evidence than music, and we therefore hear less about painting and drawing than about the branch of art with sound as its basis, for which the Conservatory has gained an enviable name. Yet the merit of the art department has quietly developed, as was well shown by the art exhibit made last night, which was in every way a fine success, both as to the quality of exhibits and as to the public appreciation it received. The specimens of the pupils' handiwork were hung upon the walls of the music room, and from 8 o'clock to 9 it was thronged with appreciative citizens, who were earnest in their praise of the work shown and in congratulating Miss Bennet, head of the art department, upon the success that had attended her instruction. The exhibit, which is an annual fixture, consisted of work in water colours,—oils—chiefly the former—and charcoal, by ten or a dozen members of Miss Bennett's classes. The water colour section was well filled, and some very creditable work was shown — chiefly still life subjects, fruit, flowers and objects. Generally speaking, good breadth of treatment was displayed, with fair, and, in some cases, excellent composition and effective execution. No catalogue was made, so the work of the young artists could not be identified. The contributors to the water colour exhibit were Miss Munn, of Indian River; Miss May Nesbitt, Miss Lillian Dean, Miss Jean Neill, Miss Rush and Miss Huldah Dobbin. In black and white studies, the young candidates for the salon were Miss Cameron, of Westwood; Miss Kate Manning, Miss Phyllis Denne, Miss Margaret Anderson, Misters Kenneth Crane, Harold Matthews and Walter Blackwell.

While the general work was on a fair artistic level, showing good native talent, there was some work of special merit, a jar of narcissus, a cluster of apple blossoms, and a rather clever bit of work, a "head" of celery, which looked so life-like that so to speak, it made the mouth water—colour. A couple of Jackson Park bits attracted attention, also the head of an Indian girl, showing good treatment, and several flower pieces, dainty and effective, and some excellent object paintings.

In black and white, some capital work was shown—drawings from antique casts, etc. A sketch from life, an outline portrait study of Otto, son of Mr. (Director) Gliddon, was a rather clever impressionist sketch. With a few bold lines, an excellent likeness was caught, and the pose and treatment of the limbs were unconstrained and natural. A pen and ink design for a book cover, and design for tea plate, are deserving also of special mention. Many good drawings of vegetables and fruit were also shown. Altogether, the work of the pupils was surprisingly good, showing good development of natural talent by good instruction. Miss Bennet herself hung a few fine water colours, showing spirited grouping, good drawing, clarity of tone and general artistic treatment. Mention might be made of a sketch of the Golf and Country Club House, a glimpse of Auburn from Inverlea Park, a beautiful bit of Jackson Park, and a realistic and well-handled view of a culvert on the gravel road, exceedingly effective and fine in both drawing and colouring.

During the evening some excellent music was provided. In piano, Miss Pollock, a member of the staff, performed with her usual good taste, tone and skill, a rigaudan by Raff and Theme, and Variations by Beethoven. Miss Katie Graham gave a spirited and brilliant rendering of the Etude Mignonne, by Schutte, and Miss Gladys Seward, a splendid performance, for her years, of a Chopin Polonaise. Miss Evelyn Dorris, a violin pupil of Mr. Markle, gave a sweet and true performance of Dancla's Fifth Air Varice. Miss Ruth Dawson sang in good voice and finish, "Happy Song," by Teresa di Riego. Miss Manning, a recent addition to the better vocal forces of the city, sang with grace and ease, "Elaine"—Bartlett. She has a beautiful voice, capable of splendid work, and gives promise of winning distinction as a vocalist. She and Miss Dawson are pupils of Mr. Van der Water, and both do credit to his method and the fidelity of his teaching.

SIMON MAHONY

One of the oldest and most highly respected residents of Chandos passed away on Thursday morning of last week in the person of Simon Mahoney. The deceased was one of the pioneers of the township and had endured all the difficulties and tribulations incidental to the settler's life. He was 70 years of age and for the last 30 years had suffered from asthma. He passed away on Thursday morning, after having received the last rites and consolations of his church.

Besides his sorrowing wife, the deceased leaves behind to mourn the loss of a loving father, nine children. They are: Philip, of Minnesota; Joseph, of New York; Lizzie, of Portland, Ore.; Mrs. P. Twomey, Emismore; Michael, East City, and Messrs. John, Dennis and Simon, and Miss Maggie, at home.

The funeral took place on Saturday morning to St. Paul's Cemetery, Chandos. The large cortege which followed the remains to the grave, and the many expressions of grief from those among whom he resided, proved that the community at large have lost a valuable friend.

Mr. Pappas Opens His New Store To The Public

Is an Adornment to George St. and Credit to the City.

This morning Mr. M. Pappas opened to the public his new palatial Palace Cigar Store, barber shop and pool room. Mr. Pappas has spared neither time nor money in his enterprise to have the new store equipped in the most modern fashion, and it certainly is equal in appearance to the best in the largest cities of the province. It occupies the position which was formerly the Palace restaurant, and is beautifully illuminated by a hundred or more electric lights. The large plate glass windows in the front make adequate provision for the light during the day, while the electric fixtures transform the interior into a fairyland picture at night.

The cigar department is situated on the right of the entrance, and plate glass counters of the latest type have been installed, and present an attractive appearance. A large glass show case also stands in the window. In the same apartment and to the left, are the tonsorial parlours, fitted up with three of the newest chairs, and surrounded by large mirrors. A long reflector is also laid across the top of the wall. Three enamel basins, with marble tables connecting them, stand beneath the large front mirror. Compressed air apparatus has been installed. The barber shop department will be in charge of Mr. W. Rundle, who will still retain his present situation across the street. In the rear of the building is the pool room, fitted up with five pool tables. The interior of the store is finished in oak handsomely grained, and ensily bears out the name, "The Palace Store."

The papering and painting, which were executed by Mr. E. M. Taylor, has been excellently done, and add greatly to the attractiveness of the Palace. The carpentering was done by Mr. W Barrie. Numerous decorative signs by J. J. Turner & Sons, form part of the decorations of the interior, and together with an illuminated one in front, augment the beauty of the establishment. The electric appliances and the plumbing were installed by Mr. F. J. R. MacPherson & Co.

Mr. Pappas' enterprise has been very marked since he arrived in the city, and from this latest addition to his business one can easily recognize that he has spared nothing in the equipment of this bright, clean, and beautiful shop, which is opened to-day.

MISCALLED "HAIR TONICS"

Most Hair Preparations Are Merely Scalp Irritants of No Value.

Most hair preparations are merely scalp irritants, miscalled hair tonics. When hair is brittle, lustreless and begins to fall out, the dandruff germ is getting in its deadly work at the root, sapping the vitality. Since science discovered that dandruff is a germ disease there has been only one preparation put on the market that will actually destroy the dandruff germ, and that is Newbro's Herpicide. It quickly reduces scalp fever, destroys the germ; and the falling hair stops, and the hair grows luxuriantly. Ask your druggist for Herpicide. It allays itching instantly and permits the hair to grow. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

Persons who Send Bogus Personals to the Papers.

Some persons have a habit of sending personal items to the newspapers, which are incorrect, and evidently sent in with the intention of making trouble for the persons whose names are mentioned.

The Examiner was the recipient of one of these bogus items a few days ago, but, fortunately, it was detected, and investigation resulted in exposure of its incorrectness.

This paper cannot too strongly condemn this practice, and wishes to state that if the guilty parties are discovered, prosecution will follow. A warning should be sufficient.

The Children's Aid Society's Needs

Funds Are Required to Carry on Its Work.

The treasurer of the Children's Aid Society wishes to inform the public that the society is greatly in need of funds for the prosecution of its work. The citizens of Peterborough have in the past been so generous in their responses to the appeals for assistance that the officers feel that it is but necessary to call attention to the depleted condition of the society's finances to elicit a satisfactory response.

It is impossible to estimate the good which this society is accomplishing, and it is to be hoped that the work will not be further hampered by lack of funds.

Quakers Will Only Play According To Schedule

Believe They Were Not Fairly Treated—Have Broken No Laws—A Resolution Unanimously Adopted.

A meeting of the Quaker Rugby Club was held last night in the Y.M.C.A. Board room to consider what action should be taken with regard to the decision reached at the meeting of the executive on Thursday night. In the absense of the president, Mr. C. E. Sisson, Vice-President, occupied the chair. Every phase of the question was discussed, but the Quakers could not arrive at any other decision than they did not get a proper consideration. Captain Caniff, the representative of the Quakers to the City League first explained the action taken the other night. The protest, he stated, for which the meeting was called, was not considered, but it was agreed that the C.G.E. and Bankers play to-day, while the winners meet the Quakers next Saturday.

They considered that as no protest was mentioned before the game was finished and that the referee did no objection to its conclusion; that it was not their fault if the latter part was played in semi-darkness. They did not believe they had committed any offence in playing the game, but referred to the breaking of the rules by the C.G.E. in playing McDonald at the first contest two weeks ago. At that time, they contended, they could have claimed the game, but rather than do this decided to give the C.G.E. another opportunity. Looking upon the question in this light they believed they had violated no rule and would not consent to the new arrangement of the schedule which they stated was giving their opponents two chances to their one.

It was also intimated that if the Quakers did win another game from the C.G.E., they had no assurance it would be allowed as it might be protested on account of too much sunlight.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted :—

Believing that we still have the game of Saturday, October 27, to our credit since the protes entered by the C.G.E. was not considered at the meeting on Thursday night, resolved that we withdraw our team from the City League unless the schedule as originally drawn up by the Executive be followed.

The schedule indicates that the Bankers and Quakers play next Saturday."

Those present were Messrs. Sisson, Caniff, Sullivan, Bolin, Clarke, Webb, Walker, Latimer, Collins, Hamilton, and the secretary.

A resolution extending the thanks of the club to Mr. Williamson for the use of the room, was unanimously carried.

Local Company Has Many Orders

F. R. J. MacPherson & Co. are Very Busy with Many Irons in the Fire

A local company that is enjoying success is the F. R. J. MacPherson & Co. In the past they always completed contracts in a very satisfactory manner and thus earned a good reputation. At present, Mr. MacPherson is very busy. The contract of wiring, steam-fitting and plumbing for the House of Refuge at Lakefield is not yet finished, but soon will be. Then he has men employed at the Queen street Theatre in Ottawa, doing the plumbing and steamfitting. He is installing two hot air furnaces for Mr. Pappas, one in his new store, and one in the old one. He is also doing the plumbing for Pappa's new store. Another important job is the wiring of the new fireball, besides the wiring of the Peterborough Amusement Company's premises. The new company has a large supply of new stoves, heaters and ranges, and has also filled several orders for mantelpieces.

Head of Salvation Army Immigration Department in the City, Speaks of Work Under His Charge.

Staff-Captain Creighton, head of the immigration work of the Salvation Army in Eastern Ontario, is in the city to-day and to the Examiner he gave some interesting information in reference to this branch of the Army's work. He stated that Peterborough district had fared well in the matter of immigrants this year, principally because of the fact that Adjt. Jennings had made his headquarters here, and had as a result been in close touch with those wanting help.

About one thousand persons had been placed by the Army in Eastern Ontario, and the great majority of them had "made good."

The greater number had of course been placed with farmers, but they were now finding their way into the cities and towns, where there is a demand for mechanics.

The Staff-Captain is in the city on routine business in connection with his department, and will address the meetings at the Salvation Army barracks to-night, and at the afternoon meeting to-morrow he will make special reference to the work of immigration.

Grasshoppers Play Havoc With Crops

In South Verulam, and Threshing Reveals the Extent of It—Oats Were Particularly Damaged.

A South Verulam correspondent to the Bobcaygeon Independent has the following breezy comments to make this week: The threshing is showing up the damage done by the grasshoppers. A neighbour of mine had 20 acres of oats that would easily have given 40 bushels to the acre before the grasshoppers got in their work, but instead of 800 bushels, he got only 160. If he invests in an automobile he will have to do so in an off season, and on a bargain day. The lighting of Bobcaygeon by electricity makes the village look well, and many of the farmers would like to have it run out into the country. The time may come when this will be done. It would not be much of a trick for the farmers to furnish poles and put them up, and it would be a mighty nice thing to have our houses and stables lighted with electricity. Telephone wires could be placed on the same poles, and we would have the same conveniences as if living in the village.

Automatic Vaudeville Is Opening To-Night

New Amusement Place at 432 George Street Open to the Public—A Refined Programme

An advertisement in another column in this paper calls attention to the fact that the new amusement place, the "One Cent Automatic Vaudeville," will open its doors to the public to-night. The prospects for the success of this new amusement house are bright. In other cities they are popular, and there seems every reason to suppose that it will be here. For the ladies and children there are moving picture machines, fortune tellers, weigh scales, postal card machines, etc., while in the Athletic Section the bag puchers, lifters and electric machines promise to be extremely popular with the young men.

The management wishes it understood that everything will be refined and that special attention will be paid to ladies and children, for whose entertainment this arcade is particularly designed. There is no admission fee, and all machines operate for one cent.

The Policeman Was On The Spot

An Amusing Conversation Overheard by a Reporter.

Leaning over the temporary railing which protects pedestrians from falling into the excavation for the new Southern Hotel cellar, an Examiner reporter involuntarily overheard a conversation which contained no pleasant words of love between two bystanders and a man below with a pick and shovel. The two above at Montreal and a Londoner, were exchanging "gentle bouquets" with their friend beneath, until finally they began using language not to be found in the Bible. The Montrealer professed to be a pugilistic man of great ability, according to his own assertions; the other was allowing a considerable quantity of spare "gas" to escape which was not raising the standard of morality around the vicinity.

There suddenly gathered on their rustic countenances a look of great surprise, when P. C. Newhall, who was passing, gently touched them on the shoulders, and enquired if they were not going to move on. They quickly ceased their obscene language, but the Montrealer hesitated about exerting himself to vacate the premises. The other had a better conception of the genial treatment received at police court, and rapidly interjected: "Come on, go! bli-me; it's a 25 bob touch if you get run in here!"

Both disappeared southward with no further delay.

Best Kidney Remedy Known To Science

For pain in the back—scanty urine—highly colored urine — irritated bladder — irregular bowels—bad stomach — there is nothing that will bring such quick relief and so certain a cure as FRUIT-A-TIVES.

These marvelous tablets are nature's natural remedy for irritated or weakened kidneys. They act directly on the kidneys—soothe the irritated membranes—clean, heal and strengthen the organs—and help them to new vigor with their work.

Often kidney trouble is not due to any organic defect in the kidneys. If the bowels are constipated—if the skin does not throw off the tissue waste of the body—then these impurities are carried to the kidneys. In a vain endeavor to rid the system of impurities, the kidneys are overworked—the blood vessels are dilated—the nerves inflamed. That causes a host of kidney troubles.

Fruit-a-tives

not only heal and strengthen the kidneys but they also increase the action of the skin, and act directly on the liver, thus curing the constipation.

FRUIT-A-TIVES are the natural and logical cure for all kidney troubles. They are made of fruit and tonics—are pleasant to take—and a guaranteed cure when faithfully used. 50c. a box or 6 boxes for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price if your druggist does not handle them.

Switched Six Ballots And Received $30

The Confession of a Deputy From Brockville.

GENERAL BRIBERY INQUIRY

John O'Meara Released on $6,000 Bail, In Two Sureties of $3,000 Each—Witnesses Tell of Having Received Bribes at London—An Echo From Brockville—Adjournment of Investigation Granted Till 7th.

Toronto, Nov. 3.—The evidence in the election conspiracy case yesterday morning ranged over the three constituencies of London, Brockville and West Elgin.

Brock Cowan, a deputy returning officer at Elizabethtown in Brockville, admitted having substituted six bogus ballots which he received from a man he did not know for genuine ones given to him by known Conservative voters. He afterwards received $30 for doing so.

An Echo From Brockville.

J. W. Fulford, another returning officer for the same constituency, told of the attempt of one Henty, a voter, to palm off a bogus ballot, and of the man's arrest and subsequent trial and acquittal. John O'Donnell admitted having bribed voters named Pinkham and Adams with $5 each to vote for Hyman in London, the money having been furnished him for the purpose. Several other witnesses admitted having received bribes at London. Ed. Crogan of London, who went to St. Thomas and acted as deputy returning officer in the West Elgin election, denied any wrongdoing in that election.

$5 From An Unknown Man.

Thomas Milton got $5 from an unknown man after the election. Mr. Talbot, proprietor of The Echo, had told him before the election there would be something in it if he voted right. He generally voted the other way.

Thomas A. Adolph was promised $5 if he voted for Hyman. He voted for Gray, but after the election the man who had promised him the money gave it to him. He took the $5 Molsons Bank bill and handed it over to the Secretary of the Conservative Association, from whom he obtained it again last night.

William Hulbert was asked to vote for Hyman by James Cooper, who told him there was $10 in it if he did. Being a Conservative, he refused to do so, and Cooper told him he was a fool. He voted for Gray. William Hulbert, jr., son of the previous witness, said Cooper on the morning of the election asked him how his father and himself were voting.

They Would Swear Him.

Coming back to the London case John Cook swore he got $5 for voting in the general election for Hyman.

W. J. Day, employed by the Hobbs Hardware Co., was canvassed by a man who promised him $10 if he would not vote at all and $7 if he would vote right.

The magistrate thought it was strange that the witness would get $10 not to vote and only $7 to vote, but Mr. DuVernet explained that this was the old trick.

"They would swear him, don't you see."

"Oh, yes," said his worship.

Witness Asks "Protection."

George Pope swore that he never received any money to vote for Hyman, not even from a great friend named O'Donald, who had Grit money to canvass with.

An agent named O'Donald was the next witness. He wanted to be protected and he would tell the truth. He got $10 from a man named Bennett and he gave two voters, Pinkham and Adams, $5 each for their votes.

"The understanding was that the $10 was to be used for bribery?" asked his worship.

"There was no conversation."

"Oh, tell the truth. You know I don't like to be deceived. I have been here too long. I don't like perjury."

"So I see by the paper," said the witness, and the court laughed.

Reduced Majority Cost Money.

James Duffield, manager of the Gas Works, denied all knowledge of envelopes having been left at the gas works for employes of the company. He admitted having paid Charles Depper, a grocer, who was an influential man on the Conservative side, in the neighborhood in which he resided, $400. The money was paid out of his own pocket because he desired to see Hyman, who was a personal friend, elected. The bargain was that if the majority against Hyman was reduced in that division, which was a bad one for the Liberals, by forty he was to get the money. The majority was reduced by nearly fifty, and Depper got $100 before and the balance after the election.

That was the only contribution he made to the party cause at the bye-election in any shape or form, and he did not receive $100 in an envelope as stated by Collins. In the previous election he contributed probably $200, which he gave to Mr. Reid.

Frank Hutchinson of London will be called when the case is resumed on Wednesday next. He is the man who was not called when he appeared in answer to a summons recently. The defence called attention to the fact,

O'Meara Released on Bail.

Peary Reaches Almost To The North Pole

Gives North Will-o'-the-Wisp Its Hardest Chase.

RECORDS FARTHEST NORTH

Great Hardships of Trip—Incessant Battles With Ice, Storms and Head Winds—Message From Hopedale, Labrador, Tells of Explorer's Adventures—Point Reached 203 Miles of the North Pole.

New York, Nov. 3.—The United States now holds the record of "farthest north," 87 degrees 6 minutes.

This feat was accomplished by Commander Robert E. Peary of the United States navy. What Commander Peary did, and his experiences during the past year in the frozen north, are briefly but vividly summarized in a communication received by Herbert L. Bridgeman, secretary of the Peary Arctic Club. This communication follows:

"Hopedale, Labrador (via Twillingate, Newfoundland), Nov. 2:

"To Herbert L. Bridgeman:

"Roosevelt wintered north coast of Grantland, somewhat north of Alert's winter quarters. Went north with sledges in February via Heckla and Columbia. Delayed by open water between 84th and 85th degrees. Beyond 86th six days. Gale disrupted, stroyed coaches, cut off communication with supporting bodies, and drifted due east. Reached 87 degrees 6 minutes, north latitude, over ice, drifting steadily eastward. Returning ate eight dogs. Drifted eastward and delayed by open water; reached north coast of Greenland in straightened conditions. Killed musk oxen and returned along Greenland coast to ship. Two supporting parties were driven on north coast of Greenland. One rescued by me in starving condition. After one week recuperation on Roosevelt sledged west, completing north coast of Grantland, and reached other land, near 100th meridian. Homeward voyage incessant battle with ice, storms and head winds. Roosevelt magnificent ice fighter and sea boat. No deaths or illness in expedition.

"(Signed) Peary."

Over a Year Gone.

Commander Peary's polar steamship, the Roosevelt, left New York on her long journey in search of the north pole on July 16, 1905. The vessel for which funds were furnished by the Peary Arctic Club of New York, was designed particularly for Arctic exploration. She cost about $100,000. The Roosevelt had a crew of twenty men.

The previous record for the point nearest the pole was made by Captain Cagni of the Duke of the Abruzzi's Italian expedition, who reached 86.34 north, or within 237 statute miles of the pole. The point reached by Peary (87.6) places him about 203 miles from the pole.

HENRY BAILEY'S HILARITY.

Found Guilty of Murder, Laughs and Spits In Jurors' Faces.

Hamilton, Nov. 3.—A special from Hartford, Conn., says Henry Bailey, when found guilty yesterday of murder, for killing his employer, a farmer named Goodall, created a scene by his loud laughter, and by spitting tobacco in the jurors' faces.

Bailey was recently arrested near St. Catharines, where his relatives live. Witnesses from Hamilton, St. Catharines, and Niagara Falls testified at the trial.

The Canadians of Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 3.—The first annual banquet of the Canadian Society of Pittsburg was held at the Hotel Schenley last night, five hundred members and invited guests participating. The Canadian honor guests were the Hon. R. F. Sutherland, speaker of the Dominion House of Commons, and the Hon. Charles Marcil, member of Parliament from the Bonaventure district, Quebec. Speaker Sutherland responded to the toast "Canada," and Mr. Marcil emphasized the "Friendly Relations Between the United States and Canada."

Work for Bruce Walker.

Ottawa, Nov. 3.—J. Bruce Walker, the newly-appointed emigration agent to succeed W. T. R. Preston at London, is here, receiving final instructions. He will be required to keep in close touch with the High Commissioner and devote his attention more in the direction of securing British and Scandinavian settlers.

Fire on White Star Liner Baltic.

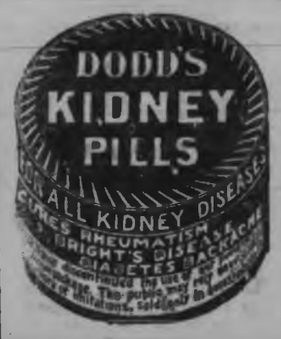
Liverpool, Nov. 3.—Fire broke out yesterday on board the White Star Line steamer Baltic, which arrived here Nov. 1 from New York. The flames were discovered in the hold No. 5, containing cotton, and for a time a serious conflagration was threatened. A large force of firemen hurried to the scene, flooded the hold with water and confined the fire and damage to that part of the ship.

Girl Acquitted of Murder.

Walkerton, Nov. 3.—The assizes jury has acquitted Agnes Murphy, on trial for the murder of her child, which the crown claimed was thrown from a train window near Chesley and killed.

Home Life Wins.

London, Nov. 3.—(C. A. P.)—The Privy Council allows the appeal, with costs, of the Home Insurance Co., New York v. the Victoria Montreal Life Insurance Co.



Price Of Hogs One Year Ago

Farmers Are Getting Good Price After All.

Hogs are selling at $5.50 per cwt., month ago, the farmers believe that the quotation is very low. However, if they kept an account of the prices of a year ago, they would find that they were not faring so badly after all.

The Examiner was speaking to Mr. Thornton, a local buyer ,this morning, who stated that on Nov. 8, 1905, he only paid $5.25 for hogs. a few years ago he remembered that they sold for $3, and less. Therefore, the present quotation, considering these facts, is not so bad for the farmers after all.

Mr. Thornton was in the country almost all week, and states that hogs are rather plentiful. He purchased a considerable number and intends shipping them with some cattle on Monday.

Reasons For Decline In Hogs

Supply Has Greatly Increased, Thus Flooding Market.

That hogs have taken a bad slump just at the time when the farmers were increasing their outfit after the recent wrangles between packers and producers is lamentably true. The William Davies Company say that the prices f.o.b. Toronto are even down to $5.50 per cwt., with no immediate prospect for higher figures during November.

It seems that the Davis people place the responsibility for such at the unusual supply from Denmark and Ireland on the British markets. The Danish have increased from 25,000 to 55,000 hogs per week, while the Irish pig is pushing into England at an increase of nearly 5,000 per week Added to this, the supplies at Toronto have doubled since August.

Station Loafers Must Move On

Police are on the Look-Out for the Idle Ones

The loafers, newsboys and weary Willies who make the C.P.R. station their hanging-out place, had better seek some other rendezvous. P. C. Nowell was seen lurking around the precincts of the station at noon to-day and keeping an open eye on the movements of all suspected ones.

Too much of this sort of thing has been going on for a long time, and the police are determined to put a pressure on it.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Nov. 3.—The stock market opened firm. London was unchanged and arbitrage houses were doing little. The slight advance in Union Pac. was not reflected here. Shorts seemed pretty well covered and profit-taking by the bulls was evident. The market was highly professional, especially in Reading, where the raid on the shorts seemed to be successful. There was little disposition to make new committments in the market. The election seems to be considered settled, but the foreign money market is still a problem.

A poor bank statement was expected and market continued dull after its publication. B. R. T. is strong on the theory that Mr. Hughes' election would benefit it most. We recommend purchases of good stocks on all recessions. The market closed very firm.

Paisley Works Will Be Closed

Coates Brothers Will Stop Manufacturing In That Town.

A story in an English paper sent to a gentleman in this city indicates that the Coates Company's establishment of works in this city means that the factory in Paisley will be closed. The paper in question says:—

Messrs. Coates Brothers, Limited, a large firm of carpet manufacturers at Perth, and who also have a branch at Paisley, have decided to stop their Paisley factory in the course of a year, and transfer the business to Peterborough, Ontario. There was recently a strike amongst their workers at Paisley, and it is believed that this led to the firm's decision. A representative of the latter admitted yesterday that the Paisley works will be closed within a year.

Husband Sleeps In Tablecloth

A Wife Makes This Charge Against Her Husband.

That he went to bed on the breakfast table, first wrapping himself carefully in the tablecloth, and then calmly proceeded to make a noise like a sleeping man, is one of the charges Effie M. Dear, of Detroit, makes in her bill for divorce against William L. Dear. The wife says her husband's mistaken impression about the proper place to lay his head came from over indulgence. The couple were married in 1902, and she says she has been unhappy almost ever since.

Was Increased in Size to Extraordinary Amount.

The Franklin Institute of Philadelphia recently awarded a gold medal to a metallurgist for demonstrating the phenomenon that a bar of iron will grow, by simply heating and cooling.

The experimenter took a bar of iron of known size and weight, and repeatedly heated it to its critical temperature, which was 735 degrees Fahrenheit, and cooled it, with the result that the size increased by the extraordinary amount of 45 per cent. The appearance of the metal and the texture did not alter during the expansion process, and the weight, of course, remained the same.

Blazing Man Plunges In Crowd

Cleaning Clothes With Gasoline and Caught Fire.

Examiner Special.

Jackson, Mich., Nov. 3.—Samuel Boom, while cleaning clothing with gasoline, caught fire. He ran out into the street, crazed, and plunged into the crowds that were pouring from two theatres. The flames from his clothing threatened to set on fire the dresses of the women with whom he came in contact. One of the theatregoers took after him, stripped off his own overcoat and wrapped the blazing man in the garment. The flames were extinguished, but Boom may lose the sight of one eye.

It's an old saying that contentment is better than wealth. A very limited amount of wealth is necessary to purchase a cup of tea contentment, as "Salada" Tea is packed in quarter, half and one pound packages, and sold at popular prices so as to be within the reach of everyone.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

GIRLS WILL BE GIRLS

Al. Leech, and the Three Rosebuds, in William A. Brady and Joseph Hart's production of "Girls will be Girls," scored a big hit at the Grand last night.

The production is bright and sparkling, with plenty of humorous situations, and the large audience was kept thoroughly amused from start to finish.

The plays deals with the adventures of Professor Ebenezer Ezekiah Dodge, principal of an academy and a candidate for the assembly. He gets into trouble over attending a cockfight, and has a hilarious time in dodging Sheriff Ketchem, of the Board of Health, Police Board, etc, and Abner Sankey, of the Watch and Ward Society, his rival in the election. Coupled with these troubles are his worries in teaching a big class of girls. Al. Leech, as the troubled professor, showed that an a comedian he has few equals. His dancing was especially worthy of note. Probably his most humorous piece of work was his attempt to climb a flight of stairs while in an intoxicated condition.

The Three Rosebuds, played by Maude Gray, Charlotte Towl, and Lily D. Hart, were most successful in their acting, singing and dancing.

Some very catchy song numbers were introduced among them "Sally," "Shady Side of Broadway," "Dora Lane," "Moon Eyes," and Al. Leech's great hit, "He walked Right In, and Turned Around, and Walked Right Out Again," which was encored half a dozen times. Edward T. Mora, the tenor of the company, has a remarkably fine voice.

Altogether "Girls will be Girls" is a very enjoyable and very funny bit of nonsense, calculated to drive away a violent attack of the blues.

FOR HIS SAKE

The Marks Bros. Comedy Company open a five weeks' engagement at the Grand on Monday night. The play selected for the opening night is "For His Sake," and in this Ernie Marks is seen at his best. With his clever company in repertoire, the patrons of the Grand are assured of some excellent productions. The specialties are very enjoyable. Mr. and Mrs. Bedard, in their acrobatic work, and the accomplishment of daring and endurance, are winning popular favour. The singing and dancing of Baby Rossa Meehan is also a feature, and she quickly gains the affections of her audience. Marks Bros. are favourites with Peterborough people, and will be heard by large crowds for five nights.

Twenty Million Feet Probable Cut

Of the Cavendish Lumber Company For This Season.

Bobcaygeon, Nov. 3.—Mr. William Cresswell was in town this week looking after the interests of his firm, the Cavendish Lumber Co., who took over the Dickson limits. Mr. Cresswell gets a large quantity of oats and mill stuffs from this point for his five camps. He is at present storing supplies for the teams he will have at work later on. He has already made good progress with the cutting, and has a fine lot of logs on the skid-ways, towards the season's out, which will probably reach a total of twenty million feet.

Public Benefits From Great Sacrifice Sale

S. J. Sheridan Stock of Men's and Boys' Clothing to be Sold Out at Slaughter Prices—The Chance of a Lifetime to Secure Bargains.

The public of Peterborough and vicinity will benefit greatly by the tremendous sacrifice sale of the S. J. Sheridan clothing stock, which has been sold to the National Salvage Company of Toronto, who having bought the entire stock at a very low figure, they say they propose to sell it out quickly at prices less than actual cost of the raw material. This will be a sacrifice sale of clothing and men's furnishings such as the public of Peterborough and surrounding country have never had, or will ever have, again. The National Salvage Company of Toronto, say that they will not move a dollar's worth of the clothing, and that at the prices at which the entire stock will be sold, every garment will be sold out quickly inside of ten days time. It is a sale which the public has an opportunity to attend but once in a life time, and the people of Peterborough and surrounding country will no doubt take advantage of this grand opportunity to secure for themselves men's suits and overcoats, underwear, shirts and hats, at about 40 cents on the dollar. The National Salvage Company informs us they have engaged twenty extra salespeople in order to serve the vast crowd who will attend this clothing quit business sale. We bespeak for this sale a gigantic business, as Mr. S. J. Sheridan's clothing stock is practically a new stock of goods, he only having been in business in Peterborough about 8 months time, and during his career in business here he has carried only the most reliable quality of clothing and piece goods. This closing out quit business sale, will no doubt attract thousands of people to Peterborough, as the public well know when they are getting big bargains, and the people are always ready to save themselves one-half on thier purchases whenever that opportunity presents itself. Merchants from Peterborough or vicinity wishing to buy portions of this stock, or any part of the fixtures, will please call between the hours of 8 and 9 a.m. as all other hours will be devoted to the immense crowds of people who will wish to buy this stock out at retail. The store which is now closed, will remain closed in order to get the entire stock invoiced and marked down to the lowest possible limit, in order to sell the goods rapidly, and the store will not be open for business until the opening day of this great sacrifice closing out quit business sale, which starts on November 7th at 9 a.m. Let all who can possibly take advantage of this tremendous sacrifice sale, and secure their share of the many clothing bargains at the prices we understand this stock of clothing, furnishings, underwear, hats, etc., will be sold. The people will take quick action and the entire stock should melt away rapidly, like a snowfall before a July sun. The opening day of this big sale, Wednesday morning, November 7th, will be a collossal event. We advise early morning trading in order to facilitate the serving of the immense crowd of people who will attend this gigantic quit business ten day closing out sale. A word to the wise should be sufficient and we advise you to be on hand early and benefit accordingly.

Synopsis of Market Prices of Groceries

General Tendency for Higher Prices—Reasons for Such—Sugar Shows a Tendency to Decline.

The housewife, who is ever looking after the interests of her family, and who buys her groceries and other necessities where they are offered cheapest may find the following article of value:

There is a tendency at present for nearly all articles to advance in price. There are but few that remain firm. This is rather alarming to the ordinary housekeeper, who declares that things are already high.

There are many reasons for these high prices, one of which is that there is a scarcity of freight cars everywhere. Business houses that have goods for export are anxious to have them reach the sea ports before the close of navigation. Another reason is that all over the world the average daily wage is larger, thus work is not done as cheaply, and the wholesaler has to pay a higher price. However, in spite of these drawbacks, a good fall trade is being transacted. It would not be amiss here to state the wholesale and retail prices of certain goods. People in general will be glad to learn that sugar shows a downward tendency, that is the high price is on the decline. Last Tuesday it dropped ten cents on one hundred pounds. This, however, does not materially affect purchases of one dollar's worth. The situation of the canned goods market is quite favourable. The wholesale price of tomatoes is $1.17 1-2 per dozen, which is rather high. This necessitates the price of two cans for a quarter to the consumer. The opening price of corn was 92 1-2c per dozen. (wholesale). This means that it must sell at 10c a can. The wholesale price of peas is from 85c to 97 1-2c per dozen cans. This is also a ten-cent article, with plenty at three cans for 25c.

From present indications it seems that 10c a pound must be paid for currants. There is a rumour to the effect that a large house in Greece has failed, but this statement has not been substantiated. However, the wholesaler is paying from 9 1-2c to 10c per pound for the finest selected raisins. Therefore he must sell at not less than two pounds for 25c. That is for the standard quality of raisins. There will be inferior grades that will be sold more cheaply. Currants are practically in the same state. A good quality of household prunes will run at about three pounds for a quarter, though they may be cheaper. The San Francisco earthquake did much damage to the crops and also increased the demand for labour. Thus there is a scarcity of hands to help and the price has advanced. Evaporated apples will likely be dear, owing to a dearth of the fruit, as well as of other fruits. The Japan tea market has advanced from 2c to 3c per pound, and has consequently increased the price of black tea by increasing the demand for it. Select white beans have not changed.

Rice and tapioca are considerably higher, especially the latter. The great competition in production has reduced the prices, until it was marketed at less than the cost of production. There was, therefore, a heavy market for a time, but a reaction has set in and tapioca is exactly double the price of a short time previous. Peels may be a little dearer. Lard is exceptionally firm. Shelled nuts are much higher in price. Almonds in shell are dear, too, but the rest (unshelled) are about the price.

This is a little synopsis of the market of household groceries at present. Housekeepers are enabled to see that the wholesaler's profit is not over-great, and at the same time what the latter are approximately paying.

Love Not Reciprocated; Young Man Threatens Murder

Romantic Story of Love Affair in Peterborough, Ends in Prison for the Offender—Followed the Girl He Loved to the Country Where He Created a Disturbance at Midnight—With Loaded Revolver He Demanded Her Presence—The Sequel.

More romantic than real appears the history of the love of two young Peterborough people, one of whom is now confined in the county jail, for threatening the life of his sweetheart, and her aunt. Tom Weller, a young Englishman, who came to Canada about two years ago, is the offender, and he still maintains that her life and his own shall be forfeited at the termination of his term in prison, no matter how long it may be.

For some time he boarded in Otonabee with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Sidders, where Miss Annie Coon, his prospective bride, had been raised from a little girl. It is probable there that he fell in love and has since become so infatuated with her that he has found it impossible to live alone. The young lady, who is most respectable, has been trying for some time to escape the frequent attentions of Weller, but found it impossible. Her footsteps were continually shadowed by him, and finally to elude him, she left her boarding house in the city and went to the residence of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Wright of Douro, who live about three miles from Lakefield. Mr. Wright, hearing of her eagerness to get away from Weller, promised her protection.

Weller, however, was determined to discover her whereabouts. He went to Mr. and Mrs. Sidders' residence on Friday night with a loaded revolver, and swore he would either have her life, or herself. Placing the revolver to his own head, he said to Mrs. Sidders, "I intend to put two holes through her with this very gun! What do I care! I am going to hell anway." That night he went out to Mr. Wright's, arriving there about midnight, and demanded Miss Coon's presence down stairs. In doing so he pointed the revolver at Mrs. Wright's head, saying that he would blow her brains out if she did not bring the girl down stairs.

Mrs. Wright complied, but her husband quickly hurried to Lakefield, and informed Constable Wm. Doidge of the affair. The latter was soon at the scene of the midnight disturbance, hand-cuffed the would-be murderer, and placed him in the lock-up at Lakefield.

Magistrate Edmison was informed on Saturday morning, and left on the noon train for the northern village, where he held County court. Besides the prisoner, Mr. and Mrs. Wright, and Miss Coon, were there. The latter told the facts as stated above, and her statements were brazenly substantiated by the infuriated Weller. He practically admitted his guilt, and declared that he would yet end the life of his sweetheart, even if he had to spend ten years in prison.

The little romance ended by a sentence of thirty days in the county jail by Magistrate Edmison, for pointing the revolver at Mrs. Wright. This is the maximum penalty for such an offence.

His friends in the city and vicinity believe that it would be dangerous to give him liberty in a month's time and are trying to arrange to have him sent back to England when his term expires. The young girl whom he asserts he will slay, is almost distracted with fear lest she should meet with him again. He has also declared that he will blow his own brains out when he obtains his freedom.

Weller is a young man of about 27 years of age. His father is a constable in one of the dockyards in England. He came to Peterborough a year ago last spring, and has been living mostly with friends. He worked for a time at the C. G. E. and the Brinton carpet factory, but lately the little romance of his has occupied the greater part of his time. It is probable that he will be shipped back to England, as the young lady will not feel safe if he remains on this side of the Atlantic.

Three Hunters Successful

Same Rifle Shoots Three Deer in One Hour.

The hunting stories from the back woods are beginning to arrive in the city, but up to date the best comes from the head of Stony Lake, where a family succeeded in bringing in three of the antlered monarchs inside of one hour. Mr. Christopher Crowe, a brother of Mr. Jos. Crowe, the Warsaw stage driver, went out last Friday for a hunt, and returned in a few minutes with a fine buck which, when dressed, weighed 250 pounds. His son took the same rifle, and in a short time had secured another which tipped the scales at 200 pounds, dressed. Mr. Crowe's son-in-law, Mr. McAdams, was the third man to handle the trusty rifle, and brought down a 212-pound buck. The three deer were shot inside of an hour on the shore of Stony Lake, and is a record hard to break.

The Anniversary To Be Celebrated

The 301st anniversary of the Gunpowder plot promises to be a great success to-night, at the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street. The speakers will be Dr. T. S. Refreshments will be served in the large dining-room adjoining, and no pains will be spared to make it a most pleasant and profitable evening. Recitations, readings and musical numbers are all arranged.

Hay Selling At $15 Per Ton

Local Consumers Are Becoming Surprised at the High Price.

The price of hay has advanced another step in the ladder, and to-day the best timothy brought $15 per ton. Last week a considerable quantity was sold for $14, and the advance this week will be a surprise to city consumers. The prediction which The Examiner made some time ago that the price would reach $20 per ton appears to be coming true.

Better Class Of Tailoring

Has Conquered the Prejudice Which Custom Generates.

The man who wears a comfort last, D width shoe does not of necessity wear a Physique Type C suit of Semi-ready tailoring, but the man who has studied the reason why he will to-day pay more for a store shoe than he would pay for a shoe made on the cobbler's bench, will understand why Semi-ready tailoring must of necessity win all the better class of tailoring trade. No tailor can possibly excel the work on a Semi-ready suit or overcoat, even though it be but a $15 serge or tweed, for good tailoring helps the new physique type system of the Semi-ready. The physique types A, B, C, D, E, F, and G, mean more than mere shoe widths, just as do the five variations of each type and the many sizes of each variation.

Cressman's have all the new Semi-ready styles and the exclusive agency for Peterborough and district.

At 100 Years Of Age All Night In Woods

An Unpleasant Experience Of A Hungerford Man—Was Working and Lost His Way.

On Tuesday of last week Mr. Peter Cassibo, of Clairview, who gives his age as one hundred, was working in the woods with his son. Towards evening they started for the house, the son going ahead with the team and the old gentleman following. The latter failed to put in an appearance at the house within a reasonable length of time, and on the evening were on an he had not yet returned, there was much anxiety in the household. A diligent search was made for him, but he could not be found. The search was kept up the following day, and at a late hour in the afternoon the old man was located none the worse for his experience. He seemed to be in a rather demented condition and did not want to go home, saying that he had a shanty and a fire, and was perfectly comfortable. His mental condition was no doubt the result of his advanced years.—Belleville Ontario.

Mr. P. J. Hurley Dead In Lindsay

Was a Brother of Mr. John Hurley of This City.

The death of P. J. Hurley of Lindsay, brother of John Hurley, the local grain inspector, occurred this morning at three o'clock, at his home.

The late Mr. Hurley was 55 years of age, and was well known, both in Lindsay, where he lived, and also in Peterborough, where he had a great many friends. His death was due to anaemia, after a three months' illness.

He leaves a wife, two sons and one daughter, and is survived by three brothers and three sisters. The brothers, besides John, of Peterborough, are Thomas, of Lindsay, and Michael, of Windsor. His sisters are Mrs. Hartnett, and Mrs. Twohey, of Ops, and Mrs. O'Neil, Lindsay. He was a member of the C. M. B. A. and the Knights of Columbus. The funeral will take place on Wednesday morning at nine o'clock from his residence in Lindsay.

Will Take Charge Of The Montreal Office

Mr. W. G. Cochrane Leaves For Eastern City To-night —A Promotion Well Deserved.

Peterborough boys are emphatically "making good" with the Quaker Oats Company. To-night Mr. W. G. Cochrane, who has been on the company's staff since the opening of business here four years ago, leaves to-night for Montreal, where he will take charge of the company's sales branch, the largest in Canada.

Mr. Cochrane is being warmly congratulated upon his appointment and upon the rapid progress he has made. He will have charge of the company's office in Montreal, where both the wholesale and retail business is handled. The Dominion's metropolis is a good field for the Quaker Oats Company, the business there being much heavier than in any other city in Canada. Three salesmen are required to cover the city. Mr. Cochrane has been on the sales department staff here ever since that department was opened, and for six months was travelling in the Province of Quebec for the firm. Since that time he has made occasional trips in Ontario, but has been in the office the greater part of the time, filling the position of correspondent in the sales department.

He leaves on the midnight train to take up his new duties, and carries with him not only the best wishes of his hosts of friends in the city, but the expressions of their assurance that he will be successful in his larger responsibilities.

Nervous Women

Their Sufferings Are Usually Due to Female Disorders Perhaps Unsuspected.

A MEDICINE THAT CURES

Can we dispute the well-known fact that Canadian women are nervous?

How often do we hear the expression, "I am so nervous, it seems as if I should fly;" or, "Don't speak to me." Little things annoy you and make you irritable; you can't sleep, you are unable to quietly and calmly perform your daily tasks or care for your children.

The relation of the nerves and generative organs in women is so close that nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous debility, the blues, sleeplessness and nervous irritability arise from some derangement of the organism which makes her a woman. Fits of depression or restlessness and irritability. Spirits easily affected, so that one minute she laughs, the next minute weeps. Pain in the abdominal region and between the shoulders; loss of voice; nervous dyspepsia; a tendency to cry at the least provocation—all this points to nervous prostration.

Nothing will relieve this distressing condition and prevent months of prostration and suffering so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Miss Lelah Stowell, of 177 Wellington St., Kingston, Ont., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Your Medicine is indeed a Godsend to suffering women, and I only wish that they all knew what it can do for them and there would be no need of their dragging out miserable lives in agony. I suffered for years with bearing-down pains, extreme nervousness and excruciating headaches, but a few bottles of your vegetable Compound made life look new and promising to me. I am light and happy and I do not know what sickness is, and I have enjoyed the best of health now for over four years. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has sent sunshine into thousands of homes and hearts."

Will not the volumes of letters from women made strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound convince all women of its virtues? Surely you cannot wish to remain sick and weak and discouraged, exhausted each day, when you can be as easily cured as other women.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Canada is making a great advance in the realm of literature — letters. The postal revenue for October was $660,796, a gain of $150,541, over October of last year, and a gain of $286,847 over October of 1904.

The population of Toronto has increased from 211,735, in 1902, to 253,724, in 1906, a gain of over 10,000 per year. In the same time the assessment has increased from $139,307,929, to $185,713,845, an increase of over eleven millions per year. We are all pleased to see the metropolitan city of the province grow, for its prosperity is not greater than that of the great province of which it is the centre.

A political party is only a means to an end, and its usefulness is only properly measured by the use it makes of the implements its represents. A party that claims consideration and support for itself, and not for the work it is able to do, or the services to the state or country it can give, sets no higher standard than the workman, who claims merit alone on the possession of good tools, instead of the use he makes of them. The principles and policy of a party and its equipment in men able to give them effect, are the things that should influence public approval.

The city of Peterborough is not an isolated example in advanced civilization, as evidenced by the prominence of musical culture. Toronto is a great centre of musical culture, and the proposed visit to New York of the Mendelssohn choir under the leadership of Mr. Vogt, will give our southern neighbours a new and larger idea of our advanced civilization, evidenced by our advanced musical culture, and capability. The exaltation of dollars and drudgery, by no means represent the highest in a country. Material development, no matter how great, makes for decay, apart from association with the diviner element of culture, as represented by art, literature and music.

One of the Canadian chartered banks is subject to an independent audit. This is the Bank of British North America. Every year chartered accountants appointed by the shareholders, and not by the directors, conduct an independent audit of the institution's books. A high-class firm of London accountants perform this office at present. Their inspection is in addition to that conducted by the bank's own inspectors. The Canadian Bankers' Magazine advocates inspection by independent auditors, acting on behalf of the shareholders. The requirements of the case might be practically met by the suggestion the Toronto News makes that the Canadian Bankers' Association should employ a corps of independent inspectors, or auditors, continually scrutinizing the head offices of all the chartered banks. These inspectors should be clear of all connection with individual institutions, and the Government should hold the Bankers' Association responsible for their work.

The Toronto Star on Saturday, celebrated its fourteenth birthday, and it has good reason to be proud of the lusty growth it has enjoyed. The Star entered the journalistic arena in 1892, and to many it seemed an intrusive element in a field, already then well occupied. In the long run, merit wins, but in the Star's case merit has triumphed in the short run of fourteen years. It has advanced to a foremost place in evening journalism, by force of its good qualities, as an energetic, sanely edited and truly progressive newspaper. True, the Star has grown pari passu with its inspiring environment, but, without enterprise, without real worth, it might easily have stood still, instead of forging ahead, and claiming, as it can now do, and holding, as it now does, a place in the front ranks of journalism, which it, however, will have to fight to retain. It has gained its pre-eminence, in the face of the keenest opposition, and it is easy and safe prophesying that the position held by the Star will be maintained, with increasing strength and security as the days advance. The Examiner very heartily congratulates the Star, and gives its best wishes for the success which it has well won the right to expect.

LETTER FROM EAST RIDING ELECTOR.

Havelock, Nov. 3, 1906.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I read the article in your issue of last week regarding nomination proceedings. The Liberals of East Peterborough were called in mass meeting to nominate a candidate. I remember well the proceedings on that occasion. It is all right to have a mass meeting where there is not likely to be any difference of opinion as to who the candidate will be; but when there is likely to be a ballot cast, there is sure to be dissatisfaction, as a public meeting held in any centre is sure to have a larger local number at the meeting than attend from distant points. For instance a meeting held in Havelock to nominate a candidate would naturally have four or five times as many present as would come from Norwood, Keene or Lakefield, and perhaps, the person receiving the greatest number of votes would be the Havelock local man. Your advice is quite timely, and we are sure that the Liberals feel that their candidates should in the future, be nominated by delegates chosen from all the subdivisions instead of at a mass meeting where the section in which it is held is sure to be over-represented, and it is easy to see that the direct will of the people is prevented, and trouble follows. Many claim that Mr. Lang at the last convention would have had the nomination if it had not been for so many Norwood people being at the meeting, and Mr. Findlay might claim that he would have had the convention more easily, and not have risked losing it, if it had not been for the presence of Liberals from other places. A candidate more acceptable all round to the party can as a rule be better chosen by properly chosen delegates than by a mass meeting.

Yours truly,
ELECTOR.

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

Editor Post Card Column:

Will you kindly permit a query as to consistency in citing Neh. 13: 15-20, as a relevant example or parallel case to the work of Rev. T. Albert Moore, and colleagues, in creating sentiment as to enforcement of religious dogma by civil law?

Nehemiah was defending the Sabbath which God claims as His—hence it was and is the Lord's day, for so the commandment states, (Ex. 20: 9 to 11) instead of its counterfeit. Another point seems to savor of incongruity. Ancient Isreal was ruled by theocratic government. With apostate Zedekiah theocracy fled from earth. Our Lord voiced his will in that matter very lucidly. "My kingdom is not of this world," and "Render unto Caesar, the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's". The Sabbath is His and is not to be rendered unto Caesar, (that is to earthly governments.)

QUANDARY.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—In recent report of annual meeting of Lord's Day Alliance, the word Sunday occurrs sixteen times, while the sacred word Sabbath does not once appear. This seems regrettable, as the word Sunday is of no good origin and has an unenviable history. In the language of the "North British Review" it was "the wild solar holiday of all Pagan times".

In remote antiquity it was set apart by the heathen world as a wild festal day in honour of their chief deity, the sun, and from this fact it obtained the name Sunday or Sun's day, by which it is known in many languages.

STUDENT.

No Difference.

No distinction is made as to the kind of piles that Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid cures.

The names, Internal, External, Bleeding, Blind, Itching, Suppurating, etc., are simply the names of the different stages through which every case will pass if it continues long enough.

Piles are caused by congestion or stagnation of blood in the lower bowel, and it takes an internal remedy to remove the cause.

Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid is a tablet taken internally.

It is a permanent cure, and no case of piles has ever been found it failed to cure. Money back if it does.

A guarantee with every package. Price $1, at any druggist's, or the Wilson-Fyle Co., Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont. 2

Sleepless Nights From Piles

SUFFERED FOR TWENTY YEARS AND CANNOT IMAGINE ANY GREATER DISTRESS ENTIRELY CURED BY

Dr. Chase's Ointment

This letter is valuable first because it so well describes the suffering caused by itching piles, and in the second place because it emphasizes the necessity of keeping up the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment until the cure is thorough and complete.

Because Dr. Chase's Ointment so quickly brings relief from the dreadful itching and burning, there is a tendency to neglect to use it regularly, especially if the itching does not return. Mr. McLaren's case was of twenty years' standing, but the cure was thorough and complete because he persisted in the use of the Ointment.

Mr. J. S. McLaren, farmer and contractor, Tiverton, Ont., writes: "I was troubled for twenty years with itching piles, during which time I suffered a great deal. They would bother me most when I would get warm in bed. I would wake up at night and lie for hours suffering the keenest misery, without being able to obtain relief. I cannot imagine any greater distress than the tortures of piles. "Dr. Chase's Ointment gave me relief from the first application, and now I am entirely freed of this horrible disease. For a time I would occasionally feel a slight return of the itching, but applied the ointment freely each time until the cure was thorough."

Piles or hemorrhids are among the most common as well as the most torturing ailments that afflict humanity. The keen distress caused by the itching, especially when the body gets warm, is almost beyond the powers of description.

There is positively no treatment so certain as a cure for piles as Dr. Chase's Ointment. This has been proven in thousands of cases, in many of which even surgical operations, with their risk, pain, loss of time and frightful risk, have failed. Dr. Chase's Ointment is 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto.

A Blind Beggar Found With Large Bank Account

Was Arrested With Others for Being Drunk — Surprised Searchers by Good Bank Account and Ready Change

An event happened on Saturday that is seldom met with in this city, and which savours strongly of New York or Chicago. No doubt many noticed a man bereft of his sight on the streets on Saturday, going around begging. He was to be seen in many public places throughout the day, and that he did a good business was brought to light later on.

Towards evening P. C. Newhall arrested John Rice and Michael MacFeeley, the latter being blind, for being drunk and disorderly in a public place. They appeared before City Clerk Armstrong, and Rice was fined the usual $2. MacFeeley on being searched sprung a surprise on the few witnesses that were near by. A bank book was found on him, showing that he was credited with $1358.68 in a bank in Syracuse.

There was beside $14.86, mostly in ten cent pieces in his pockets, which was probably his day's earnings. Mr. Armstrong let him off, provided he immediately left the city. P. C. Newhall escorted an express rig and put MacFeeley in it, and hustled him off to the G.T.R. station. There was but little time for this as the horse pulled off at a 2.40 pace to catch the train. A ticket was procured at Scarlett's and the professor bundled in. He stopped to treat the crowd at Scarlett's and left for parts unknown. It is most probable that MacFeeley will not be able to work for several weeks, his little bank account, has a splendid daily wage, and a little spree when he wishes.

E. Lee, a barber, was also found in a very drunken condition on McDonel street, and taken off to gaol. This morning he was not sober enough to appear for a hearing.

Notice 57th Regiment—Those entitled to Efficiency Pay for the past season are hereby notified that same is payable at the Bank of Ottawa and for the convenience of the men this Bank will be open Wednesday Evening from 7.30 to 8.30 o'clock.

Mr. Harry Gilman Returned Home

Was Injured in Bridge Wreck at Goderich.

Mr. Harry Gilman, who was injured in a bridge wreck at Goderich a few weeks ago arrived in Peterborough on Saturday. Mr. Gilman had a very narrow escape from death. He, with others were in a car that was carrying a huge girder. In some manner the car turned over into the river, four men going with it. One man, John Matterson, had his head crushed. Mr. Gilman had his back badly injured and will not be able to work for several weeks.

COLORED GOODS.

Maybe you've found it hard to bring your colored clothes out of the wash clean and bright, without fading or running or looking messy.

If you try "SURPRISE" Soap you will see the difference in results. You know, "SURPRISE" is a pure soap, and there's nothing in it to hurt either the color or the fabric. And then no hard rubbing or boiling is necessary, so the colors don't get weakened and smudgy.

Some folks say they would buy and use "SURPRISE" Soap for colored clothes if it cost a dollar a cake, so it's pretty plain why so many people use it when it costs no more than common soap.

To Make Report Re Dom. Heating Co's Franchise

It is not expected that there will be any startling legislation passed at to-night's meeting of the City Council although there is a large amount of routine business to be taken up. The Manufacturers' Committee will present their report, dealing with the application of the Dominion District Steam Heating Company for a franchise in this city. It is expected that the report will be a favourable one in view of the information gained by the Aldermen on their recent trip to Lockport, Detroit and Chatham. The Manufacturers' Committee meet at 5 o'clock this evening to prepare their report for presentation to the Council to-night.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, November 5. — The stock market to-day advanced from the opening on account of a general belief among the market interests that the election to-morrow would be satisfactory to the street. The strength was not unnatural in view of the desire of the controlling factors to prevent a runaway market because of the delicate monetary situation, which should be remedied soon by natural events. The buying of stocks to-day started with extensive short covering, continuing the movement after the close of last week with its bad bank statement.

Reading was the most active feature at advancing quotations, but there was good buying in U.P., St. Paul, Distillers and the Steels. No attempt was made to raise prices much but the market was kept firm and closed for about the best of the day in the active issues.

Would Be A Good Place For The Police To Visit

Shack is Being Erected on River Bank—Correspondent Calls It a "Hell-Hole" Where Manhood is Lost and Thieves Are Educated.

A number of boys are erecting a shack on the river bank at the end of Charlotte street, a fact which is causing those people who know the real state of affairs, considerable uneasiness. A similar clubhouse was in existence there before and became the haunt of a very bad class of boys who, it is alleged, used it as a smoking and drinking den, and for even worse purposes. It would be well if the police would cast a parental eye over the boys, who, although only a block from George street, are as isolated from people as if they were in the woods, and are apt to govern themselves accordingly.

In this connection, The Examiner has received the following communication:

"Somewhere, or the Street-gamers Shack"

Where the devil starts in.
Where dime novels are read.
Where that little game of draw starts.
Where the Bible is not read.
Where thieves are educated.
Where manhood is lost.
Where that stolen change is handled.
Where the school inspector should call.
Where daughters go wrong.
Where the police force should stop.

Where? Or the river bank at the end of Charlotte street, where there is an up-to-date hel-hole being inaugurated for the benefit of the small boy, who apparently has the run of the city, with nothing to hold, and where the truant officer (if we have one) could earn his yearly salary."

Yours,
"A Friend of All Boys."

How Peterborough Men Are Prospering In States

Mr. Patrick Devlin, of Black Creek, Wis., Visiting in the City and County for the Winter.

Mr. Patrick Develin, of Black Creek, Wis., is in the city on a visit to his brother, Mr. W. J. Develin, after an absence of thirty-five years. Mr. Develin left Peterborough in 1870 and settled in Black Creek County, near the town of Appleton, Wis., where he has since resided, and is a prosperous farmer, as are a number of other Canadians who have left this section of the country to settle in Uncle Sam's domain. During his absence from Peterborough this city has made rapid growth, of course, but Mr. Develin states that Appleton has it beaten in this respect. It has grown in the same length of time from a town of 3,00 souls to a city with a population of 20,000. Paper mills are the mainstay of that city, their successful operation being made possible by the abundance of water power on the Fox River.

The successful farmers in that section are Germans and Canadians. An example of the increase in the value of farm lands in that region, and, incidentally, an evidence of the prosperity of Canadians, is furnished by the experience of Mr. Thomas. McNeish, who left Cavan township about the same time as Mr. Develin and took up 113 acres of land for which he paid $20 an acre. He sold his farm recently for $11,800. The dairy industry has reached an advanced stage of development in Black Creek County, and it is largely due to it that the farmers have been so successful.

Mr. Develin who is accompanied by niece, Mrs. Sappington, will probably remain in the city and county visiting his brothers, for the winter.

Automatic Vaudeville's Successful Opening

New Amusement Place Demonstrates its Popularity with all Classes of Community.

Easily the most popular place in Peterborough on Saturday night was the "Automatic Vaudeville," or penny arcade, which opened its doors to the public Saturday afternoon, and which, almost from the time the doors were opened, until well on to midnight was crowded, men, women and children having hearty laughs at the moving pictures, having their fortunes told, testing their weight, or their capacity for electric current.

To the youngsters it was as good as a circus, with this advantage that it did not cost as much money.

The athletic machines, lifter, bag and pneumatic punchers, were busy all the time and some heavy hitters are being developed, judging by the records on the machine indicators.

The management express themselves as greatly pleased with the opening day, and are confident that it will prove a very popular amusement place.

It is stated that a number of additional machines are on order, but since they have to be manufactured especially to operate with Canadian coin, their immediate delivery was impossible. The arcade will be open every week day and evening.

A Somewhat Late But True Fish Yarn

Lungs was Captured Near Wolfe Street Wharf To-day

Mr. Thomas Desautels is responsible for the latest fish story, which good to show that fishing is still a live pastime. On Saturday afternoon Mr. Desautels, while strolling on the Wolfe street wharf, saw a young man unenx a fine lunge at the rear of the Matthews Company's premises. There are still fish within the city limits, despite the heavy inroads made on the finny tribe during the past season.

Duck Hunters Back From Lake

Mr. Chris. Wood and his party have returned from a two weeks' camp at Sugar Island, Rice Lake, where they have been duck-shooting. They report that the weather was too fine, and, as a result, the shooting was not as good as they would have liked. Forty ducks was their record, but this hardly satisfied these experienced duck hunters. "Father" Goselin was the chef for the party.

Official Train Escaped Injury

But President Shaughnesy of the C. P. R. Was in Danger.

The Lindsay Post says: — On Thursday, as the C. P. R. official car, conveying President Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and several other railway officials, was pulling out of the local depot yards, a mishap occurred which, had the train been going at faster speed, might have had fatal results. The large air chamber or tank loosened and one end fell to the roadbed, tearing up ties and displacing the track. The brakes were applied and the train stopped.

What Caused The Mariposa Wreck?

Lindsay Man Says it was Due to Defective Car Wheel.

The Lindsay Post says:—One of the Lindsay Model students who visited the scene of the G.T.R. wreck the other day, says that it was quite a success.

The accident occurred just as the train was crossing an overhead bridge, under which the public thoroughfare runs. He says the drop is probably fifteen feet, so results might have been serious if the passenger coach had dropped over instead of seven cars of coal. As it was the coal was scattered on both sides of the track for quite a distance around, while a car of grain was in some way lifted up and hurled about thirty feet away. Men are at work reloading the coal in one spot, while further away another gang, was shovelling up the wheat.

The accident was not due to structural weakness of the bridge, as stated in Toronto papers, but to the breaking of a wheel of one of the cars when about 160 feet south of the bridge. If a similar mishap occurred on the strongest bridge on the system, the result would probably be somewhat similar.

Deer Plentiful Say The Hunters

Have Been Visiting Gooderham Village This Fall.

A Gooderham correspondent to the Minden Echo says:—

Mr. Reid, the mighty Nimrod of the north, says the deer are unusually abundent. They are domestic, some of them would sleep behind the camp stove. I noticed a beautiful fawn sunning itself the other evening, not twenty feet from Mr. McDonald's residence, in the village. I asked Mr. Reid what excuse one could have in killing such a beautiful little animal. His answer was:—It enables a man to hang the stuffed head up in his home and lie to his visitors about what a terrible struggle he had in killing it.

High Compliment Paid To A Canadian Author

One of W. A. Fraser's Racing Stories to be Dramatized.

Proof of the high standing in the world of contemporary fiction, which Mr. W. A. Fraser's work has attained, is afforded by the announcement that Mr. Daniel Frohman has arranged for the dramatization of one of his racing stories. At Mr. Frohman's request, Miss Charlotte Thompson, a well-known playwright, has been in collaboration with Mr. Fraser at his home in Georgetown. She is seized with the dramatic possibilities of the work in hand, and expects to have the play completed by next spring. This will mean a New York production in the autumn of 1907. Mr. Frohman has given assurance that the play will be given the best possible cast, and will be staged in lavish style. The action of Mr. Frohman is a high compliment to Mr. Fraser's abilities as a writer.

New Members Of St. Andrew's

All the Pews Are Taken and Managers Are Giving Up Seats

St. Andrew's Church is adding a great many new citizens to its membership this year.

They have allotted over a hundred seats since July, and yesterday the Pew Committee reported to the church that all available seats had been taken, and all the elders and managers, with patriotic loyalty, at once placed all their seats at the disposal of the Pew Committee for the use of new citizens.

Until more room is provided, the elders and managers, with the pastor's family, have consented to take a seat just wherever they may happen to find one.

Park Street Church Was Crowded At Night

When Rev. A. H. Brace Preached to the Orangemen—The Old Paths and How They Are Departed From.

The True Blues, 'Prentice Boys and the Juveniles united with the Orangemen in their church parade to the Baptist church, Park street, last night. The result was the crowd filled the church, vestry and school room to running over. The selections by the choir were well chosen and helpful. The sermon was preached by Bro. Rev. A. H. Brace, his subject being "Church and State." His text was taken from Jer. 6; 16: "Stand ye in the ways and see, ask for the old paths. Where is the good way and walk therein, and ye shall find rest into your souls." He said the love of God was an arch that stretched out and embraced all the children of men. The love of God produced in the heart fidelity, a sense of the brotherhood of man; led them to take hold of their followers and lead them into the path of virtue. The word of God was the sword of the spirit and all should become skilful in its use. The salvation of God flooded at their feet as a river and all should stoop and drink. Faith in Jesus enabled them to look through the future to the Home prepared for His true followers.

The mistakes of the centuries were, the church trying to control the state, and the state attempting to control the church.

The old path of substitution and the blood of atonement in opposition to that of works. Abraham saw it in the sacrifice, caught in the thicket. Moses saw it in the passover lamb and the blood sprinkled on lintel. Isaiah saw it in the lamb led to the slaughter, wounded for our transgression. The old path of present salvation in opposition to speculation after death. Having been led into the old paths and the good way, walk therein and soul rest will be the result.

Tobacco And Drink Habit Was Strongly Condemned

Rev. Wm. Major Deals With Thee Problems in a Special Sermon to Young Men—Spoking in Public Especially Censured.

Rev. Wm. Major, rector of All Saints' Church, in the fourth sermon of his series to young men, last night, dwelt upon subjects of vital importance, not only to young men, but to all men.

"Young men should exert themselves to be sound-minded."

To aid the young men in solving the problem of becoming sound-minded, Mr. Major dwelt upon two subjects, one was the use of liquor, and the other was the use of tobacco. The man, young or old, who takes liquor freely is not free to leave it alone. Mr. Major also pointed out the great disadvantage a young man labours under when he drinks. It is very much more difficult for him to get a position or advancement.

In dealing with tobacco, Rev. Mr. Major stated that he realized he was treading on dangerous ground. But this object was not to find fault but merely to point out to the young men the detriment the use of tobacco is. Besides being very injurious to one's nerves and mind, it is, to those who do not use it, most disagreeable. Especially to the ladies is tobacco smoke and the odour very distasteful. A young man who respects himself and his lady friends as he should would not smoke.

Mr. Major also referred with emphasis to the disgusting habit of young men who are, in one way, common loafers, who stand on the street corners in the evening. He related an experience of his own, when, on Saturday night, he came up town and had to pass through a double row of loungers around the corner of George and Charlotte streets. Not only did he have to pass between the fellows, but they were puffing clouds of smoke into the air. Going home, the same crowd was standing there, and, in addition to the clouds of smoke, the sidewalk was fairly covered with their expectorations. It was most disgusting to passersby and very degrading to the youngmen who spend their evenings there.

In closing, Mr. Major earnestly asked all young men to refrain from smoking, if not altogether, at least in public, and to refrain from drinking, and then notice the benefit it would be to themselves and to others.

MARKS BROTHERS HAVE MADE GOOD

The Kingston Whig says: The Marks Bros. Company scored another success at the Grand Opera House last night. There was a large and delighted audience, which shows that the company is growing in public favour. "For His Sake" was the piece presented for the delectation of their patrons. The scene of the play is laid in old Kentucky, and gave a vivid description of life there in the old ante-bellum days.

A Veteran Orangeman Preached To The Order

Rev. Dr. McDonagh's Sermon on Orangeism at Charlotte Street Yesterday Morning.

The programme for the church parade of the Orangemen of the city and vicinity to the Charlotte street Methodist church yesterday was not carried out as it had been at first intended, the change being that instead of the sermon to the members of the Order being preached by the pastor of the church, Rev. H. M. Manning, a veteran Orangeman and a minister of the Methodist church of fifty-four years' standing, an ex-president of the London conference, in the person of Rev. Dr. John McDonogh, preached. He described the Orange Order as one of the most Biblical and Scriptural Orders in the world, remarking that he would take the liberty of making that statement whether the congregation agreed with him or not, some historical events leading up to the institution of this Order were referred to by the speaker, who demonstrated his familiarity with Orange history, and its relation to the national life at the time of its founding and since.

During the course of a sixty-minute sermon the reverend gentleman paid his respects to politics as represented by partyism, which he said might better be called devilism.

Referring to his association with Orangeism Rev. Dr. McDonogh stated that his father and grandfather were members of the Order before him, and that its principles which had been taught him in his infancy were dear to him to-day.

The text from which an interesting and comprehensive sermon was preached was, St. Matt. 5; 14: "Ye are the light of the world." This statement, the speaker contended, though addresses to Disciples of Christ, before the selection of His twelve Apostles, was intended to describe the attitude of the Christian church of to-day, towards the world, much as it did at the time it was made. One might well ask, the speaker thought, "what kind of a world is it, that they were to be its lights?" But Christians in the ages past had proven themselves illuminating influences, and the result was that the world of to-day was a totally different world from that when those words were spoken. Jesus Christ had fulfilled his promise: "Behold I will make all things new."

Graft and cheating, which the reverend speaker said, were becoming prevalent, were condemned and Christians everywhere were called upon to use their influence as lights to abolish these sinful practices.

The speaker referred to the events leading up to the establishment of the Orange Order, which, he remarked, some persons said hard things about, but this was because they did not understand it.

The members of the Order present were admonished to remain true to the principles for which it was established.

On their return to the hall the members of the Order, who had attended the service in a body, passed the usual resolutions of thanks to the church officials and to the preacher. They also decided to attend the Park street church for the evening service.

Staff-Captain Creighton Spoke

At Salvation Army Barracks Yesterday—Very Interesting Addresses.

Yesterday the local corps of the Salvation Army were honoured by a visit of Staff-Captain Creighton. The staff captain has succeeded Adjutant Jennings in Eastern Ontario, and was in the city on an official visit. He spoke in the Barracks at the afternoon service. In fact, he officiated at the services throughout the day. The subject of the afternoon address was on the work of the Army in immigration. The staff captain was thoroughly conversant with his subject and made his address very interesting and, at the same time, instructive. He gave reasons for the coming of people from the Old Country to Canada, and vividly described the methods of obtaining immigrants and the way they were sent to this country. He explained how the Army took precautions to obtain only those who were good citizens in the towns they came from, and how positions were procured for them throughout Canada.

There were Canadians who considered that the immigrants brought out by the Army were not what they might be. There were others who thought that they were the best immigrants that came to Canada. Both these parties, the speaker said, were wrong. The Army's immigrants have proved, in the majority of cases, that they are worthy citizens, but not entirely so. The staff-captain gave a history of the Army's work in connection with immigration work, how they were forced into it three years ago through force of circumstances, and how they gradually took it up and carried it to such a successful issue.

The staff-captain also spoke in the evening on "The Different Ways of Being Saved," illustrating it by the shipwreck of St. Paul and the many ways in which the sailors gained the shore.

Both addresses were very eloquent and interesting, and were heard by large audiences. If there are any persons who will desire labourers next spring they should apply at the Barracks for an application form.

Staff-Captain Creighton left this morning for Port Hope.

Cartridge Stuck Fast and Hunter Has to Climb Tree

Peculiar Flight in Which a Lone Hunter at Eel's Creek Was Placed—Attacked by Infuriated Bear.

With a cartridge stuck in his rifle and an infuriated, big, black bear fast approaching, a lone hunter on the shore of Eel's Creek, last Friday, almost lost his life. He was out hunting deer and had just killed a fine buck, when he got sight of bruin, which, he states, was the size of a full-grown two-year-old heifer, and the largest he had seen in his life. With a well-aimed shot, he struck the bear, but did not kill him. The enraged animal rushed on hind legs for the hunter, who quickly pumped out the empty shell to replace it with a loaded one. The second stick fast in the rifle so that he could not budge it. In the meantime the bear had made rapid headway and was almost upon him. He was forced to drop the gun and climb a tree, where he awaited, with his open jack-knife, the angry beast.

For an hour or more he remained on his lofty perch, and the bear waited, too. Finally a hunter from across the creek was heard approaching, and the animal hurried away.

Yesterday At St. John's

The great service of the day at St. John's yesterday, was the 11 o'clock choral celebration of the Eucharist. Woodward's service in E flat was used, the hymns being 3[illegible] (Communion), 428, (The Saints of God), 317 and 324, (Communion). During the offertory Rossini's "La Carita," was played as an organ solo by Mr. R. J. Devey.

Evensong at 7 p.m., was sung in Cathedral chant form. Hymns 215, 329, 438, and 437, "For all the Saints," were heartily sung by choir and congregation. The anthem, "No Shadows Yonder" from Gaul's "Holy City," [illegible] rendered by a very full choir, Mrs. R. J. Devey, Mrs. Seward, Mr. G. Chandler, and Mr. Jos. Halpany, being responsible for the solo and quartette.

The rector and choir welcomed Dr. Holloway, British Columbia, and Mr. Romney, St. James', Toronto, to assist in the choir for the first time. Both have recently arrived in the city.

STOMACH TROUBLES

To wrong action of the stomach and impaired digestion a host of diseases owe their origin.

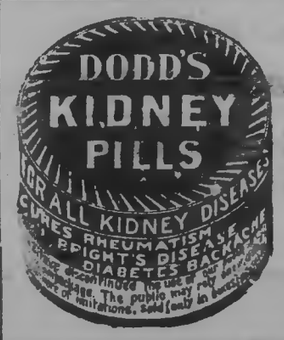
When the food is imperfectly digested the full benefit is not derived from it by the body, and then stomach troubles start to appear.

Thus you become thin, weak, nervous and debilitated, energy is lacking, brightness, snap and vigor are lost and in their place come dullness, dizziness, loss of appetite, depression and languor. The great point is to get the stomach back into good shape again so it can properly digest the food, and the easiest, quickest and best way to do it is by the use of

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

Miss Lizzie Furlotte, Jacquet River, N.B., writes: "I was very much troubled with my stomach and did not know what to do. I consulted several doctors, got medicine from them, but all to no purpose, and was constantly growing worse. One day I had the good luck to meet with a friend who had been troubled in the same way as myself. My friend told me of the wonderful cure Burdock Blood Bitters had made with her and advised me to try a bottle. I did so, and what a happy change the first bottle made. I took two more and am completely cured, and I shall ever sing the praises of B.B.B."

Price $1.00 per bottle or 6 bottles for $5.00.



Mine Fire Which May Burn For Years To Come

Fire In the Springhill Coal Mines In Nova Scotia.

SEALING UP THE LEVELS

Mine No. 3 Is to Be Completely Isolated to Make It Safe For the Miners—Large Loss of Coal, Tools, Plant In Consequence—Will Take Two Weeks to Do the Work, and 170 Men Are Out of Work.

Springhill, N. S., Nov. 5.—The fire in the Springhill coal mines, which was discovered in one of the deeps a few days ago, has turned out to be more serious than was expected. The fire area in No. 3 mine is so great and so far advanced that the management has decided that it can only be completely isolated, and the rest of the mine rendered safe by sealing up the whole of the 2,600 feet level and all the working places on the 3,200 foot level.

The haulage plant, rails, tools, and everything in this part of the mine have had to be abandoned. It means also the loss of a very large body of coal.

The company will replace all lost tools, and announce their intention within a few days, of placing every man at work in other sections of the mine. It will take about two weeks to seal up the fire sections.

170 Men Out of Work.

Closing down of the section on the 2,600 and the 3,200 feet levels means that 170 men are out of work temporarily, but it will only be a comparatively short time till all hands are again at work.

The total number of employes, men and boys at the Springhill collieries is 1,700, and the pay roll amounts to between $35,000 and $40,000 every fortnight.

It may be years before the fire is extinguished by the sealing-up process. No. 3 mine, where a fire broke out 12 years ago was sealed and while the fire is diminished, it is still in existence in that portion of the mine.

RIDING ON A HAND CAR.

St. Thomas, Nov. 5.—William Jones, aged 21, Tilbury, and William Butts, Hawtrey, were instantly killed, and Eugene Butts, son of the latter, and Norman Hanon, were badly mangled about a mile east of Shedden last night.

Two other men, George Wynn and George Burgh, jumped off in time to save their lives, but were considerably shaken up. The men had been working on the tracks and were on their way home when the accident occurred.

Coroner Gustin has ordered an inquest. The bodies were brought here.

Harrigan had both legs cut off. Larenzo Dansereau of Point St. Charles was so badly injured that he died later.

The two trains were backing into each other, unknown to the engineer of either train, and Harrigan and Dansereau were standing on the platform of the caboose when the trains came together. The impact forced the end of a flat car on to the caboose platform and the two men were terribly crushed.

NO REASON FOR DIVIDENDS.

Hon. H. R. Emmerson Says C. C. R. Is Best Investment Canada Has.

Ottawa, Nov. 5.—Hon. H. R. Emmerson was the guest at luncheon here Saturday of the Canadian Club. He spoke of the Intercolonial Railway.

He claimed that it was the best investment Canada had to-day. They had now a surplus, but that surplus did not go into coffers of the Intercolonial, but back into the pockets of the people.

The Minister urged that the railway had fulfilled its mission, for it had bound the east with the west, but he argued that it was not their purpose to draw dividends from the Intercolonial; rather was it their desire to work it just at and no more than a paying basis. There was no more reason to expect dividends from that railway than from a canal.

Peterborough Lost Game In Last Few Minutes

Fumbling by Back Division Gave Victorias Game After Locals Had Obtained an Apparently Safe Lead—Vics Got Eighteen Points in Last Quarter.

After Gillespie had apparently cinched Saturday's Senior O. R. F. U. game with the Victorias, by a brilliant forty yard run for a try in the last quarter, Peterborough's back division blew up, and fumbles by Quinlan and McWilliams allowed the visitors to turn defeat into victory. The score was 23—14 in favour of the Victorias, who led at half time by 4—1.

The game was played in ideal Rugby weather but the playing did not correspond with the atmospheric conditions. It was, however, a good exhibition from the spectator's point of view, as the play was open, and spectacular at times. Neither team had many trick plays, and end runs were not effective, so that both resorted to line plunging and kicking, and there was an abundance of the latter, which served to keep the ball always in sight.

The game was hotly contested, and the score does not represent the actual playing playing abilities of the two teams. Peterborough had the better of the playing until the middle of the last quarter, and looked to have the game well in hand, when Quinlan muffed a long punt from McWhirter, and Tiny Hewittson, the diminutive quarter back of the visitors, dropped on the ball for a try. It was all off after that. McWilliams presented the visitors with another six points a few minutes after, when he attempted to pass on his own line, and lost the ball. Peterborough worked hard, but the best was one point on a punt to Stollery, who showed that his think-tank was in working order, by batting the ball over the dead line, saving a possible try.

It was the first victory for the Victorias in two seasons, and naturally they were elated. They worked hard for victory, and although that victory was won more on the mistakes of their opponents rather than on their own good playing, it was nevertheless deserved. They seem to have the material for a winning team, but have absolutely no team play. Their repertoire was limited to three plays: Kicking, line bucking and an occasional long pass for an end run. The first of these, the punting of their half line, undoubtedly won them the game, coupled with the fast following up of their wing line, who seemed to gain fresh vigour as the game progressed. In Stollery and McWhirter they have an exceptionally clever pair of halves. Both play the same style of game, catching cleverly and punting splendidly. Either one of the pair was always on hand when the Peterborough backs punted, and they sometimes returned for a gain. Hewitson, at quarter, the lightest player of the visitors, was in the limelight at all stages and played a splendid game. On the wing line Holden, the American college player, Barber, the big outside wing, and Chamberlain, were the most prominent. The wing line was big and fast, and in the last quarter, especially, followed up like wolves.

The locals, with the exception of the fatal last quarter, played good Rugby, and apparently had the game won when the relapse came. Up to that time the backs had been playing a steady game, and although not costly. McWilliams, at full back, played his best game of the year. He relieved nicely on several occasions, when scores seemed imminent. He was called upon to do most of the punting and did it in his old time style. Gillespie contributed the sensational feature of the play, taking the ball on the dead line on a short kick, and tearing 40 yards through practically the whole Vic. team for a touch. Easton's tackling was again strongly in evidence, and Quinlan, with the exception of his fatal fumble, played well. Ford at quarter shone in his usual good form, his short kicks being of special service. The wing line all played well and it would be unfair to specialize. They followed up fast and tackled in better form than on their previous appearances. Craig broke through cleverly, blocking several kicks, and the following up of Crough and Crowley gained much ground; in fact every man on the line was down on the ball well and it was through no fault of the wings that the game was lost.

The match was long drawnout, caused by frequent stops for repairs on the part of the visitors' team. After nearly every scrimmage a visiting player needed attention. Stollery was the worst sufferer and was repeatedly getting hurt.

The work of the officials, Chris. Graham, as referee, and W. Whale, of Toronto, as umpire, was satisfactory.

The teams faced each other like this:

Vics.	Peterborough.
Back.
Keating (Morton)	McWilliams
Halves.
McWhirter	Quinlan
Stollery	Easton
Tyrell	Gillespie
Quarter.
Hewittson	Ford
Snap.
Brown	Hurtubise
Inside wings.
Chamberlain	Crowley
Jeffreys	Craig
Middle wings.
Holden	McDonald
Bothwell	Meagher
Outside home.
Barber	Crough
Dickenson	Gilbert

First Quarter

Crough kicked off for Peterborough, sending the ball almost to Vics' line. McWhirter returned and Peterborough got the ball. Quinlan tried to drop a goal but his kick was low. Gilbert secured the ball by fast following. Quinlan failed again on an attempt to drop a goal. The ball went to McWhirter, who was nailed near his own line by McWilliams. Hewittson tried a short kick to Stollery, who went 15 yards before being nailed. Meagher got the ball on a fumble. A buck by Hurtubise failed to gain, and Quinlan tried once more to drop a goal, the ball going low.

Peterboroughs were pressing, but did not seem to be able to score. Suddenly the play changed and Vics. assumed the aggressive. Quinlan fumbled Stollery's kick, and the scene had changed. Stollery made a nice run and then kicked to McWilliams. The latter returned, but Ford was offside, and it was Vics' ball on Peterborough's twenty yard line. McWhirter kicked over the line to Gillespie, who was forced to rouge. Score, 1—0.

Keating was hurt and was replaced by Morton. Vics. pressed, Stollery tried a drop kick, the ball going to Gillespie. A point seemed certain, but Gillespie passed to McWilliams who relieved with a long kick. It was Peterborough's' turn to press. Quinlan fumbled a long kick, but recovered the ball and a moment later kicked into touch-in-goal for Peterborough's first point. Score, 1—1.

Second Quarter

The wind was with the Vics in the second quarter, and they pressed. Gilbert got the ball on the kick-off and passed to Quinlan, who made a good gain before being downed. Easton fumbled a pass but recovered on his own thirty yard line. Gillespie punted to McWharter, and by fast following up nailed the Vics' centre half in his tracks. McWharten on the next down punted to Gillespie who allowed it to get away from him. McWilliams recovered his ball and was nailed near his own lien. A fake play did not gain. McWilliams punted against the wind to Stollery and was nailed thirty yards out. On the next down he kicked over to Gillespie, who was forced to rouge. Score 2—1.

The play was very even at this stage, although Vics had the wind. Easton made a pretty run when Stollery tried to drop a goal. Holden was temporarily knocked out but was soon able to resume. Crowley worked in a nice run for a gain. Vics got the ball on a short kick, but Ford broke through cleverly and intercepted a base. Crowley getting the oval. Peterborough lost possession a moment afterwards on an offside. Stollery kicked to Gillespie, and a clever combination run followed, the ball going from Gillespie to McWilliams, and then to Easton. McWharter secured a fence sentence for scragging. Hurtubise got the ball on a bad pass to Quinlan and on the next down kicked over the dead line. Score, Vics 3; Peterborough, 1.

The next point came quick. McWilliams kicked off to Stollery, who made a good return to Quinlan, and the latter was nailed behind the line. Score 4—1.

Half time was called a moment later.

Third Quarter

Playing with the wind in the third quarter, Peterborough forced matters. McWilliams was called upon to do the punting, and did it well. A long kick to McWhirter carried the play into Vics' territory. Stollery relieved, but McWilliams made another long punt to McWhirter, and the Vics' centre-half was nailed behind the line. Score, Vics. 4, Peterborough 2.

Peterborough continued to press. McWilliams punted over to Morton, who made a poor return, Ford getting the ball near the Vics' line. Peterborough tried to buck, and on the first down were shoved back for a loss of several yards. On the second down Ford kicked over the dead ball line. Score, Vics 4, Peterborough 3.

A nice run by Quinlan in the next few moments almost carried the ball right over the line. Two bucks failed to gain much ground, and on the last down the ball was only a foot from Vics' line. The visitors made a splendid stand, and Peterborough could not gain an inch, losing the ball on downs on the Vics' line. Stollery tried to relieve on Vics' first down, but the ball went straight into the air to McWhirter, who was forced to rouge. Score, Peterborough 4, Vics 4.

McWilliams punted to Morton, who kicked into touch thirty yards out. Ford kicked over to Stollery, who fumbled, and a try seemed certain, but the Vics' half dribbled into touch in goal. Score, Peterborough, 5, Vics. 4.

Peterborough kept up the kicking game, which invariably gained ground. Ford kicked to Stollery, who was dragged back over his own line for two points. Score, 7-4.

Last Quarter

The last quarter was signalized by quick scoring. Vics had the wind, and for a while forced the play. Stollery tried a drop on goal 30 yards out and the ball went to the dead line. Score, Peterborough, 5, Vics 5. Vics quickly added another point on a long kick by Stollery. Score, Peterborough 7, Vics 6.

Peterborough now rallied. Craig and Crough broke through and blocked Stollery's kick. Crough got the ball, but lost a great chance for a try by failing to dribble when there was a clear field to the line. He made up for it a moment after on a nice run down the side line. Peterborough lost the ball, and McWhirter kicked to Easton, who returned for a gain. Peterborough secured, and Quinlan tried a drop goal which fell short. Crowley nailed Stollery in great shape near Vics' line. Stollery kicked out to the 50-yard line. Ford made a short kick, and Gillespie, coming up from behind, nailed the ball and dashed 40 yards for a try, dodging nearly all the Vics' team. It was the feature play of the day. Crough neatly kicked the goal from a difficult angle. Score, Peterborough 13, Vics 6.

The locals looked to have the game won, but the situation soon changed. Vics pressed and the landslide commenced. Stollery made a splendid punt to Quinlan, who fumbled badly, and Hewittson dropped on the oval for a try, which McWhirter converted neatly. Score, Peterborough, 13, Vics. 12.

This was bad enough, but worse was to come. A few moments after, McWhirter punted over to McWilliams, and the latter had gotten outside, when he attempted to make a pass and lost the ball, Chamberlain dropping on it for a try. McWhirter kicked the goal. Score, 18-13.

Peterborough made a last rally at this stage. Crough made a magnificent kick-off, the ball going almost to the Vics' line, and Craig, by fast following up, secured the ball. Things looked bright for Peterborough. Two attempts at bucking were futile. Quinlan, on the third down, kicked almost up into the air, and although Ford got the ball, many yards were lost, and the opportunity was over. McWilliams punted over, and Stollery, rather than take any chances of missing, batted the ball over the dead line. Score, Vics 18, Peterborough, 14.

There was only a short time left to play, but Vics made good use. A couple of kicks carried the play into Peterborough territory and then McWhirter got away for a nice run, crossing the line just as time was called. He failed to convert, and the game was over. Score, Victorias, 23, Peterborough, 14.

Canadian General Team Win From The Bankers

Game Played In Semi-Darkness—Score Ended 6—0—C. G. E. Had the Better Team—Bankers Lacked Weight But Had Plenty of Speed.

The C.G.E. played and defeated the Bankers in a short, snappy game in the City League on Saturday afternoon, by the score of 6 to 0. The game was played at the conclusion of the senior game and on account of the lateness of the hour of starting only two fifteen minute halves were played. The C.G.E. team had their opponents beaten in strength and almost invariably made their yards in downs. The coin handlers, however, although they had scarcely any practice were speedy and often broke away from the Electric men for a substantial gain. Darkness intervened long before the game finished so that it was almost impossible to locate the pigskin among the two dozen dirt revellers.

The Bankers, whose unsoiled suits were baptized for the first time, reminded one of the words of the great poet "Imperial Caesar dead and turned to clay." They worked like trojans to win and probably had they had better light they might have held their more experienced opponents down. Fred. Whitcroft's men were in good shape and played to-gether well. They made their first point on a rouge when Cahill was turned behind the touch line in trying to run out. The next was a touch down by Roddy, who caught the Bankers pass and evaded the backs.

Regan, of the seniors, refereed the game and Meagher was umpire. Both officials were entirely satisfactory and no decision was disputed.

The line-up of the teams was as follows:—

Bankers,—Back, Cahill; halves, Watson, Carmichael, F. Craig; quarter Graham; Snap. Nelson; wings, Helmstead, Saunders, Rogers, Porter, Sawers, Rush.

C. G. E.—Back, Lang; halves, Whitcroft, Dorris, McGrath; quarter, Dercher; snap. Hook; wings, Armstrong Dickson, Heffernan, Williams, Hendry, Roddy.

THE GAME.

The Bankers kicked off and the C.G.E returned, but the former lost the ball on yards. On the first down Whitcroft bucked through for a gain of a few yards. The ball was next snapped back to Roddy who punted to Cahill who returned it. McGrath got the ball and got off for a good stunt. The C.G.E. kicked on the first down, but Cahill, who played a fine game was on the spot to receive and gained a few yards on a run. The Bankers fumbled the pass and a C.G.E. man dropped on the ball. Whitcroft made a zigzag run for some ground. Dixon tried a buck and made good. He tried again, but Watson stopped his aspiration. The C.G.E. next tried a fake buck, which succeeded but on an offside lost the ball. The Bankers punted, but the ball was quickly returned to Cahill, who was downed for a rouge. Score 1-0.

Shortly afterwards as the play was in centre field, Roddy caught the ball on Banker's pass and went over the line for a touch, making the score 6-0. The try was not converted.

What happend afterwards still remains a mystery to the fans on account of darkness, but it was stated at the end of the game, the Bankers secured a rouge, making the score 6-1, in favour of the C.G.E. That was a mistake, the score is 6-0.

BASKETBALL LEAGUE SCHEDULE ARRANGED

The schedule of the Y.M.C.A. Basketball League has been arranged, and the series of games promises to be very interesting, the generosity of Mr. Crossman in donating the trophy being warmly appreciated by the different teams in the league. Home and home games will be played, the schedule for the first half being as follows:—

November 7.—Alerts at Tigers; Arrows at O. T. C.

November 14.—Harriers at Arrows.

November 16.—Tigers at O. T. C.

November 21.—Alerts at O. T. C.; Tigers at Harriers.

November 28.—Alerts at Harriers; Tigers at Arrows.

December 5.—O.T.C. at Harriers; Alerts at Arrows.

This order of games will be repeated; the dates, however, are not yet settled.

Scrimmage Rules Against Crescents

Trinty Seconds Defeat Them on Saturday on the Oval.

Saturday afternoon's rugby menu included an exhibition on the Oval when the T.C.S. team of Port Hope, defeated the Crescents by the score of 23 to 6. The local team owes their defeat to intercollegiate or rather the old scrimmage rules, which was played in the second half. The half time score was 6-1 in favour of the school boys and their first score was a very shady one. The Crescents have no kick coming as it does not gain them anything but they feel that they are the equal of T.C.S. under the Burnside rules, although the scores do not look very flattering. However, the game was only for sport and the best of feeling was displayed throughout. The Port Hopers are young gentlemen of whom their parents and the Dean of Trinity, should be proud. They acted as true sports on the field and as gentlemen off. The referee was the Junior Master of Port Hope, Mr. Carr, and it speaks well for his decisions that not one argument resulted during the game.

For Port Hope the back division played their usual good game, handling the ball well and running in splendid form Their centre half out-punted any of the Crescents' kickers. Their wings, however were outclassed. They were unable to hold the Crescents and were themselves unable to break through the Crescents' line. The game was a good exhibition and was not as onesided as the score denotes.

For the Crescents Elliot on the half line played a good game as did all the boys. They seemed to be up against it, however, especially in the second half. Ray, at quarter, worked hard all through. Roy Walker, the fast wing man, of the Quaker team, umpired the game to the satisfaction of all. He was right on the job for off-sides and allowed no forward passes. Ford Turner and Jas. Collins also of the Quakers, handled the 10 yard line in a satisfactory manner. The teams lined up as follows:—

Port Hope.—Back, Pinkham; halves, MacGibbon, McNeil, Caruthers, Scrimmage for second half, Taylor, Lace, Stroud; wings, Pepler, Porter Gustin, Ball, Harris, Wilmot, Referee, Caniff; Umpire, Walker.

Crescents.—Full, Gordon Cummings; halves, Flowers, Elliott Hamilton; quarter, Ray; snap, Patterson; wings Curtis, Stone, Jewett, Monroe, Haskill, Theobald.

Kennedy Brothers Played With Varsity

Both Are Well Known in Peterborough.

Two boys who are well known in Peterborough played with the Varsity team against Ottawa College on Saturday. They are Murray and Hal Kennedy, who for a short time played a prominent part in athletics in Peterborough, Murray, it will be remembered, caught for the Oriole baseball club in the City League three years ago, while Hal played on the half line of the Rough Riders in the City League that same season. Both played fine rugby for Varsity on Saturday. The Toronto Collegians lost the game by 5-4.

HOCKEY

The Brantford Expositor says:—Mr. Roy Brown has definitely decided to take charge of the Sault Ste. Marie team this winter, and is gathering the team together. He has already five players signed all of whom, he states, are exceptionally fast men. Billy Taylor of this city will be at the Sault this year.

Severe Kidney Trouble

Mrs. George Lawson, of Consecon, Ont., writes: "Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills completely cured me of constipation, rheumatism, stomach troubles, and a very severe kidney trouble, after years of sufering. I am now 68 years of age, and very grateful for what Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills have done for me."

Peterborough Play Argos On Saturday

And will Make an Effort to Defeat the Sailors.

Although defeated for the fourth time on Saturday, the Peterborough rugby team are not quitters and will finish the season by playing the Argonauts in Toronto on Saturday next. The team will practice to-morrow night at the rink and every player is asked to be out. A grand effort will be made to defeat the Argos on Saturday, a feat which, is accomplished, would make up for the defeats of the season. With a week's hard practice there seems no reason why, after the locals' splendid showing a week ago against the soullers, they should not be able to defeat them in the last game of the season.

C. G. E. Team Are City Champions

Quakers Have Decided to Drop Out of the Running.

The C.G.E. team by their defeat of the Bankers on Saturday, are virtually City League champions, as it is likely that the Quakers will drop out. It is probable that an exhibition game may be arranged between the Bankers and C.G.E. for Saturday afternoon. It would afford a splendid exhibition of rugby as the Bankers with a week's practice will be able to make a good showing.

RUGBY.

The dope artists were all to the bad in their sizing up of Saturday's Argo-Tiger game. True the Tigers won, but by the narrowest possible margin. On the past performances of the two, the score is hard to understand.

• • • •

The standing in the O.R.F.U. senior series is as follows:—

	Won.	Lost.	To Play.
Tigers	6	0	0
Argonauts	3	2	1
Peterborough	1	4	1
Victorias	1	5	0

• • • •

The secretary of the City League has received word from the secretary of the Quaker rugby club that his team have decided to withdraw from the City League, owing to the fact that the original schedule of the league was not adhered to and the Quakers do not consider that they have been fairly treated by the league. The C.G.E. are therefore, champions of the league. Saturday's game with the Quakers going to them by default.

Anniversary Services Held

Good Congregations at Gilmour Memorial Church Yesterday.

The anniversary services in connection with the Gilmour Memorial church, Smith, were held yesterday, and were well attended, sermons being preached by Rev. J. E. To-night the annual tea will be held.

First Hunters Have Returned

Party of Two Bring Home the Maximum Number.

Messrs. Bert McCollum and Jas. Storey are the first hunters to return from the northern woods. They left last Wednesday, hunted Thursday and Friday, and returned to the city on Saturday, with their allowed number of deer.

Mr. McCollum stated to the Examiner, that the deer in some places were very plentiful, but at other camps a scarcity was reported. He and Mr. Storey had no difficulty in getting two each at Gull Lake, where they camped. They had no dogs with them but could hear dogs baying all around. Returning they stopped at Thomas Eastwood's camp, and on Friday night the camp reported that they had only secured two deer.

SPLIT, BRITTLE, DULL HAIR.

All Come From Dandruff, Which is Caused by a Germ.

Split hair, hard hair, lustreless hair, brittle hair, falling hair, all owe their origin to dandruff, which is caused by a measly little microbe that burrows into the scalp, throwing up the cuticle into dandruff scales and sapping the vitality of the hair at the root, causing the several diseased conditions of the hair till it finally falls out. Modern science has discovered a remedy to destroy the dandruff microbe, which is combined in Newbro's Herpicide, the delightful hair dressing. Allays itching instantly and makes hair soft as silk. Take no substitute; nothing "just as good." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, special agents.

In Jamaica 29,000 acres are devoted to the cultivation of bananas, and about 14,000,000 bunches are exported yearly.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

Two good audiences greeted the melodramatic sensation, "The Man of Her Choice," Saturday afternoon and evening, at the Grand Opera House. It was of the usual type of such plays, and deals with heroes, villains, faithful friends, revolvers, fighting and a happy ending—all wrong thoughts being removed and everything lovely as a marriage bell. The audience showed a fine appreciation of the work of the heroine, Mabel Mordaunt, who showed all the tenderness and unselfishness of her part, as it also did of the hero's straight forward actions and strong denunciation of the insults cast upon him by his enemies. A feature was the particularly fine singing of "Somebody's sweetheart I want to be," and "I'll do anything in the world for You", by Julius Marx. The support given was good, the evil genius, Aubrey Noyes, coming in for plentiful hisses from the "gods", and Ralph Samone and Florence Ockerman also receiving a fine hearing, as "Dutch and Bridget."

Dummer Pioneer Visits In City

Mr. R. Brown Lived at Stony Lake when It was Broken to Tourists.

Mr. R. Brown a life-long resident of the township of Dummer, residing on a prettily situated farm on the shores of Stony Lake, was in the city on Saturday, and was warmly welcome, especially by some of the "old guard," whose acquaintance with Mr. Brown, and his good wife and family dates back a number of years, when the tents and tourists were few and far between, on this now well known and popular stretch of the Kawartha Lakes. Mrs. Brown's homemade bread and pies are always a pleasant recollection.

Steamer Made Her First Canal Trip

"Lady-of-the-Lake" Visited Peterborough on Saturday.

Mr. Wm. Hickey, the well-known boat-builder, was naturally a little elated on Saturday when one of his products in the steamboat line pulled into the city dock at 3 o'clock, after having made her first trip down the canal and over the lift lock. This was the trim little craft, The Lady of the Lake," from Bridgenorth, one of the fastest boats on inland waters. She carried a scowload of mixed lumber from Blewett's sawmill, Buckhorn, to Mr. E. H. Mann, proprietor of the Dublin street factory. The consignment was a record one at the local wharf, consisting of forty thousand feet of lumber. The crew of "The Lady of the Lake" are T. N. Kelly, captain; J. Young, mate, and J. J. Coons, engineer.

Bad Attack of La Grippe.

A year ago I had a bad attack of la grippe, and all the doctor's prescriptions proved to be of no avail. I was told to try Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and found it a great blessing, as it thoroughly cured me. I told my doctor that I intended to recommend it to all my friends." — Mrs. L. Good Meeting At The Y.M.C.A.

Rev. H. M. Manning was the Speaker Yesterday.

The evangelistic meeting for men at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday was a good start for November. Continuing the well attended meetings of October. Yesterday's gathering was not only large but very impressive throughout. Rev. H. M. Manning's plain, forcible address was listened to with marked attention. His subject was "Will Your Anchor Hold?" He dealt with some of the poor anchors young men carried and closed with a stirring appeal to connect by faith with the anchor within the vale—Jesus Christ.

Rev. A. W. Beall, M.A., was present and took part in the meeting.

Mr. Duncan Campbell sang a selection, after the address, with strong expression and good effect.

The Misses Chasty sang an appropriate selection before the address which added much to the meeting.

Celebrated Anniversary Of The Gunpowder Plot

Large Gathering in the Foresters' Hall—Some Excellent Addresses—A Musical and Literary Programme—Refreshments Served.

In commemoration of that old-time event, the Discovery of the Gunpowder Plot, 301 years ago, a grand celebration was held last night in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, under the auspices of Diamond L.O.L., No. 80. The hall had seated its full capacity long before the beginning of the programme and many were forced to stand outside the doors in order to listen to the timely addresses of the various speakers and hear the remainder of the delightful programme.

Orangemen were there from the Lakefield, Nassau and Otonabee Lodges and all took a deep interest in the events of the evening. The speakers were all enthusiastically received and listened to with the deepest of interest throughout. No pains were spared by Lodge No. 80 to make the evening an agreeable one and all who attended certainly profitted by their presence.

Rev. A. H. Brace, of Park street Baptist church, acted in the capacity of chairman. His stirring address and his humourous comments which interspersed the various numbers were appreciated and he proved to be most efficient in presiding over the large assembly.

Those who occupied seats on the platform besides the chairman, were, Dr. T. E. Sproule, M. P., the Grand Sovereign of the Orange Order of British America; Rev. A. Bright, Rev. Dr. McDonagh, Mr. Geo. Barclay, W. M. L.O.L. No. 80, and Mr. Stewart, Grand Master of the Lakefield District, and Mr. Jas. Stevenson, of Peterborough.

The programme opened with an instrumental solo by Mrs. R. Wright which was a most enjoyable one. The address of the chairman, Rev. A. H. Brace came next. He referred to the great, underlying principles of the Orange Order and the influence it was exerting in the lives of men. He was pleased to see such a large number present, which demonstrated the interest taken in the Order and in a few well chosen words introduced the speakers of the evening.

The opening address was followed by a duet from the Coleman Bros. The comic song, "Strolling Down Lover's Lane," captivated the audience and an encore was demanded and given.

Mr. J. Runnett was next heard in a recitation which clearly brought out the Orangeman's principles and showed the true, brotherly spirit existing among all men no matter of what creed or nationality they happened to be. Mr. Runnett's recitation struck the key note of the audience and he was complemented for his oratory and for the selection of such a subject by the chairman.

A delightful cornet solo by Mr. Walter Northcott added a bright tinge to the programme. He was warmly applauded and called upon to duplicate the selection.

Rev. A. Bright's Address

Rev. Mr. Bright was the first speaker whom Rev. Mr. Brace called upon to speak. It was a pleasure for him he said, to be present at such a large and representative gathering of Orangemen and although not a member of the Order himself, he was pleased to associate among them which he did for the first time. He had never been at a similar meeting before but he understood that many of the most influential men of the city, the province and the dominion were to be found in the ranks of the Orangemen.

In his address he confined his remarks to three things: Our position as a nation; our privileges as a nation and our responsibility as a nation. It is often found, he said, that old country people have very wrong conceptions of the extend of the Dominion of Canada. He referred to its size in comparison with other countries and its great resources. In dealing with the privileges which we enjoy he mentioned the fact that Canada was the most temperate country in the world. In Germany 32 gals. of intoxicating liquor per capita was drunk; in great Britain, 30; in the United States, 15; and in Canada only 4. Canada was also the only country that had attempted a plebescite campaign. Other privileges which we enjoy is our exemption from poverty and our freedom from caste. Any man to-day of the average ability, he said, can rise from the humblest of circumstances to the highest position in the land. He also referred to the manner in which we observe the laws compared with other countries and also to our religious privileges. In regard to the latter, all receive the same recognition in the eyes of the law. He exhorted all in conclusion, to foster a spirit of nationality and make Canada a home for Canadians and not separate disunited bodies of people from every land. Our chief responsiblity was that of the Gospel and if we do not evangelize the pagans who come to our shores they will certainly heathenize us.

A solo by Miss Fry, "Book of Ages," with mandolin accompaniment was next enjoyed and this concluded the first part of the programme.

After a brief intermission Mr. Mr. Chambers was heard with good effect in a vocal solo, after which Mr. Leader favoured the audience with a violin solo.

Dr. Sproule's Address

The chairman next called upon Dr. Sproule to address the gathering. His time as a lecturer had evidently preceded him and on rising he was given quite an ovation. He felt he was honoured he said by such a large and intelligent looking audience and congratulated L.O.L. No. 80 for the preparation of such a concert to commemorate the 5th of November, 1906. He was glad to visit Peterborough, he stated, as this city was considered by outsiders as a properous spot, the bee hive and the industrial centre of Ontario and it was no wonder, he remarked, that Orangemen were numerous here. He was glad to see such a large and mixed audience before him as it indicated the great interest taken in Orangeism. He humourously paid a pretty compliment to the ladies for their ability to attract the young men to similar gatherings and to thus make the events more popular. In speaking of the object of the celebration of November 5th, he gave a full history of the Gunpowder Plot and the capture of Guy Fawkes 301 years ago. He believed that it was only through the intervention of Providence that the British Parliament was saved then. He also referred to other historic events that will always be remembered. The chief of these were the Battle of the Boyne and the destruction of the Spanish Armada. Memorable events in a nation's life are potent factors in the future of that nation, he remarked.

Dr. Sproule's eloquent address was followed by Rev. Dr. McDonagh, who was heard in Charlotte street church on Sunday morning.

An instrumental solo by Miss J. Byers brought the pleasant programme to a close, after which the gathering adjourned to the refreshment room where the ladies had a most excellent assortment of eatables arranged and where all were made to feel at home. About midnight the gathering dispersed, after having spent a most profitable and sociable evening with the Orangemen of L.O.L. No. 80, to whom all were indebted.

Council Passed Several By-laws Last Night

Much Routine Business Was Transacted at Regular Meeting—Usual Grist of Communications Was Received.

Considerable routine business was transacted at last night's meeting of the City Council, but beyond this very little of importance came up. There was not even a "scrap" to relieve the monotony, and no one was sorry when the Council adjourned a few minutes before 11 o'clock. Merchant Tailors Are Alarmed

At the Progress Made by Semi-Ready Tailoring.

Referring to the progress made by the new art of men's tailoring a New York journal recently prophesied that in a few years the old time journeyman tailor would be as scarce as a brevier compositor in a daily newspaper office. Semi-ready tailoring has made such strides in recent years that the tailoring journals are advising organization and action on the part of merchant tailors to combat the new idea. In bold type the National Fashion Bulletin recently issued "Confidential Circular No. 1," to the custom tailors, and quoted a prominent speaker at the merchant tailors' banquet, who said:

"Unless we combat the Semi-ready houses our profession will in a few years be in the same condition as the custom shoe trade is now. A few will pay big prices for custom-made. The rest will wear Semi-ready"

• • • •

The strides made by the Semiready tailoring in Canada have been remarkable. In Toronto recently two new Semi-ready Wardrobes were opened, Ed. Mack, one of the prominent merchant tailors, having secured the agency. In Montreal three new Semi-ready agencies were opened. A. M. Campbell, a manager of the Merchants' Bank, joined forces with R. C. McLean, a merchant tailor. The third was opened by F. X. Bourdeau, a merchant tailor, who had been in the business for nineteen years.

From three wardrobes in 1898, the Semi-ready Company announce in their new booklet, just published, entitled "Manners and Modes for Men," that there are 69 Semi-ready Wardrobes in Canada.

The Winnipeg house of the Semi-ready Company is to be in charge of William T. Pesce, who for 15 years conducted the most prosperous and high-class custom tailoring business in that city.

In every town and city the Semi-ready Company seem to have no difficulty in getting the best agencies. While a merchant tailoring experience is not absolutely essential the system upon which Semi-ready tailoring is based, appeals more quickly to a man of practical experience. A practical tailor grasps the idea at once.

CRESSMAN'S have all the new Semi-ready styles, and the exclusive agency for Peterborough and district.

Victoria Avenue People Are Up In Arms Again

Once More Call Attention to "The Disgraceful and Dangerous" Condition of That Thoroughfare — Threaten Damage Suit.

The residents of Victoria avenue are again up in arms over the condition of that thoroughfare, about which frequent complaints have been heard. At the meeting of the council last night a communication was received from them, drawing attention to the disgraceful and dangerous condition of the thoroughfare, and the unfair manner in which they claim to have been treated. The letter stated that several applications have been sent in to have this street graded and water tabled, and also for a sidewalk, but that nothing, thus as yet been done. In the past they have suffered considerably from floods and have received no compensation from the city. The complaint gives notice that legal action against the city will be taken to recover damages sustained in the future from the spring and fall freshets.

Ald. Ball said that he did not think it right to neglect this street, when work was needed.

Ald. Hicks said that the engineer had stated that it would be impossible to build a granolithic walk there, as the street would have to be raised. He had recommended that gravel be put there, but this was a large contract, and there was not enough money to do it.

The matter was left in the hands of the Board of Works.

AFTER THE RECORD OF RIP VAN WINKLE

(By Examiner Special.)

Columbia, Ky., Nov. 5.—The sleep for twelve years, without once waking, is the strange fate of Marshall Grider, 63 years old, Rowena.

Grider's case has puzzled physicians who have attended him. All possible efforts have been made to awaken him, but none has proved successful.

He is fed liquid nourishment twice a day. His pulse and physical condition are normal, while his muscles are more supple than those of a man who takes exercise.

Prominent citizens of Russell County vouch for the genuineness of the remarkable case.

ON PAROLE WITHOUT BAIL

Murder or Accessory to Murder Is the Charge Against Them—Judge Choquette Will Arrange For the Preliminary Hearings on Friday—Insurance Companies Interested In the Protection of Lumber.

Ottawa, Nov. 5.—Twelve men at Buckingham, named in the verdict of the coroner's jury, as being guilty of murder or accessory thereto, in connection with the strike riots, were formally arrested on Saturday afternoon.

Pleas of not guilty were entered in each case, and parole was continued until next Friday, without bail.

A guarantee was given by the lawyers that all would appear next Friday.

On that day Judge Choquette will be present and arrange for the preliminary hearings.

Ex-Ald. W. G. Black of Ottawa, inspector for insurance, visited Buckingham Saturday to see that the Maclarens have a sufficient watchmen and detective force guarding the mills and yards. He say the insurance companies are more interested than any one else, as the lumber is insured up to the limit.

Detective Picard, the 13th man indicted, is in a Montreal hospital.

Mills Close on 300 Men.

Quebec, Nov. 5.—More trouble is reported to have arisen at the Fitch mills, at St. Romuald. It appears that four of the men employed were non-unionists, and a demand was made by the other workmen that these be dismissed or they would not work. As an answer to this demand the mill was closed down, throwing some 1300 men out of employment.

WEILER'S NAME ON BOOK.

Evidence That Alleged Murder Victim Reached His Destination.

Morden, Man., Nov. 5.—A sensation was created on Saturday in the trial of Doyle for the murder of Vincent Weiler on Nov. 20, 1905, by the production of the register of the Albion Hotel, Battleford, with the name on it of V. Weiler on date of Dec. 26.

Battleford, it was claimed by Doyle, was Weiler's destination.

The defence endeavored to prove that the clothes found on the dead body could not have been exposed to the elements all winter, and also that the body would have been eaten by wolves.

The theory of the defence is a startling one, namely, that a body has been dressed up as Weiler and substituted for it to secure the reward offered.

KLEINGBEIL SENTENCED.

Justice Britton Not Too Severe On Man Who Killed Wife.

Belleville, Nov. 5.—At the opening of the high court Saturday morning, Ferdinand Kleingbeil, who was brought in guilty on the charge of manslaughter, came up for sentence by Mr. Justice Britton.

When asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed, the prisoner replied in a low voice, "No," and then wept bitterly.

His honor said that, owing to his age, and the fact that the jury made a recommendation for mercy, he would sentence the prisoner to four years in the Kingston Penitentiary.

The passengers and crew of the launch were robbed, and the pirates then raided several Chinese laundries and engaged in a running fight with an armed launch of the salt commissioners. They finally escaped in the darkness with booty estimated at $10,000

The Church Is Now Under The Common Law

Roman Catholics In France On Equality With Other Beliefs.

CHURCH LOSES $8,000,000

Declined to Take Advantage of Its Privilege Under the Law as the Other Religions Did—Neither Martyrdom Nor Persecutions For Faithful—An Official Statement by the Minister of Public Instruction.

Paris, Nov. 5.—The Minister of Public Instruction and Worship, M. Briand, Saturday announced in an authorized interview that the Government did not regard the Roman Catholic Church as being in revolt against the law providing for the separation of the church and state.

The Roman Catholic Church having simply declined to take advantage of its privilege, under the law, as the other religions did, on Dec. 11 would forfeit its $8,000,000 of property and thereafter would live under the common law. There would be neither martyrdom nor persecutions of the faithful. The churches, as state and communal property, would remain open for Roman Catholic worship.

The object for which the Republican party in France had struggled for thirty years, the Minister said, had been achieved. The concordat was at an end, the state would no longer contribute to the support of any religion, and priests would no longer enjoy privileges. In both their duties and obligations they would be on an equality with other citizens.

In other words, the state was at last neutral toward all religions and would permit the exercise of all of them with special favors to none.

ALL POWERS SIGN TREATY.

Radio-Telegraph Conference At Berlin Brought to Successful Finish.

Berlin, Nov. 5.—The representatives of all the powers signed the document, but Great Britain, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Persia and Portugal did not join in the special article containing the United States' proposal that inter-communication be obligatory between ship and ship.

Great Britain, Italy, Japan, France, Spain, Denmark, Persia, Portugal and Turkey did not sign the renunciation provision, thus excepting from the provisions of the treaty such stations as these Governments might select. All the other powers agree to free ship to shore inter-communication with all stations open to the public, naval and military stations excepted.

The period for the ratification of the treaty ends July 1, 1908. The next conference will take place in 1911.

TO PREVENT TECHNICAL DEFEAT.

Newfoundland Government Preparing For Big Legal Fight.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 4.—In order to avoid the possibility of any legal defeat or technicality vitiating the proposed test cases which the Newfoundland Government intends to bring against colonial fishermen employed on board of American herring vessels to determine whether the modus vivendi arranged betweeen the United States and Great Britain is valid or otherwise the Government will send competent legal counsel to the west coast to arrange for these prosecutions, to draft the necessary papers, and to oversee the enforcement of the bait act.

It is the purpose of the Government to carry these cases to the Privy Council if necessity arises.

Conference On Boundaries.

Toronto, Nov. 5.—Next Monday the conference is to assemble at Ottawa at which the provincial boundary questions are to be discussed. It will be remembered that this matter was left over from the recent conference of provincial Premiers to be taken up later by those directly interested. It is understood that Premier Whitney will be accompanied by Hons. Mr. Foy and Mr. Matheson. The point of interest to Ontario naturally is the partition of Keewatin.

The extent of the damage is unknown. Commander Peary also reported that the steamer was in need of coal. These disabilities lead to the belief that the explorer is coming home soon.

LONDON IS FICKLE.

An Extraordinary Change In the November Civic Elections.

London, Nov. 5.—To appreciate the extent of the sweeping change in London a few figures will be necessary. Three years ago, with a Unionist Government in power and with London represented in the House of Commons almost entirely by Unionists out of twenty-eight London boroughs seventeen returned Progressive or Liberal and in most cases the majorities were decisive and overwhelming.

To-day with the Liberal party newly arrived in power in unprecedented strength, out of London's twenty-eight boroughs only two certainly and one doubtfully remain to the Liberals. In a few others they form a respectable minority, in which they have practically ceased to exist. East, west, north and south all tell the same story. The poor and rich populations, the business and leisure classes alike, have abandoned the Liberal party in these elections.

In the borough elections in the provinces there were similar results.

The Unionists are now loudly expressing the hope that the House of Lords will keep a stiff upper lip over the education bill, and in the face of the declaration of Chancellor of the Exchequer Asquith Saturday night, that the Government would remain firm on the education bill, make the Government either drop the bill or appeal to the country.

WILL BE NO HURRY WORK.

Hon. Dr. Pyne Talks of Effect of Christian Brothers Judgment.

Toronto, Nov. 5.—From an interview with Hon. Dr. Pyne it would appear that those Christian Brothers who choose will be accorded plenty of time in which to make the necessary review of the work necessary to obtain teachers' certificates

The Minister of Education was not in a position to say what action the Government would take in the matter, but gave assurance that the best interests of the schools would be well considered.

"Everybody concerned may rely upon receiving fair treatment," he said. Nothing will be done suddenly in the matter, and the process of eliminating the unqualified teachers will be gradual.

"The Government realize that this is a most serious question, and careful thought will be brought to bear upon it.

"I have no doubt whatever, that this decision will be for the ultimate benefit of both teachers and pupils."

Railway Strike In Hamilton.

Hamilton, Nov. 5.—The Hamilton street railway employes went out on strike yesterday morning. The employes of the Hamilton and Dundas line, another Cataract Power Co. line, went out in sympathy, not a wheel turned on either the street railway or the Hamilton and Dundas lines. There are about 160 men involved. The trouble is caused by a dispute over hours and the alleged efforts of the company to break up the union.

Jews Expelled.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 5.—In spite of protests lodged by the students, the rector and the council of the University of St. Petersbur, the prefect of police has refused to allow Jews who do not belong to the university, to attend lectures and has ordered them to be expelled from the capital, on the ground that they have not the right of residence.

BETTING AT THE WOODBINE.

Magistrate's Conviction of Bookmaker Upheld by Court of Appeal.

Toronto, Nov. 5.—The bookmakers and others interested in the continuance of betting at the Woodbine received a hard jolt on Saturday, when three of the five judges of the Court of Appeal upheld the conviction in the Police Court against J. S. Saunders and others for conducting common gaming houses at the Woodbine racetrack. The decision will, of course, be taken to the Supreme Court, although had the Court of Appeal been unanimous, this resort would have been cut off and betting at the Woodbine would have been declared dead.

"The questions submitted by the magistrate should be answered in the affirmative and the conviction affirmed," is the judgment of Chief Justice Moss, and this is concurred in by Justices Maclaren and Osler. Chief Justice Meredith and Justice Garrow dissent.

The questions submitted are:

(a) Am I right in holding that a betting booth, as aforesaid, falls within the terms of section 197 of the criminal code as a house, office or other place?

(b) Am I right in holding that the provisions of sub-section 2 of section 204 of the criminal code do not apply to the offence of which the defendants are found guilty?

The nature and disposition of the betting booths at the Woodbine lawn are set forth with much detail and particularity, and the regulations and terms governing them described in connection with the questions submitted.

FORECAST OF THE MODE.

A Quaint Japanese Girdle—Crossed Over Redingote a Modish Style.

For the woman who is addicted to eccentricities in dress there is the "mousmee" ceinture. This girdle is a broad ribbon carried high up about the figure and tied in the back in a wide outspreading bow in real Jap fashion.

There is a strong leaning toward crossed styles in bodices, and the crossed over redingote is a novelty worth noting. There is only a suspicion of fullness in the body, all the folds being kept well toward the upper part of the figure, while the waist is fitted into the shape without a wrinkle. Two buttons fasten over on the right side, one about three inches above the waist line and the other just below.

GRAY SILK BLOUSE.

The new skirts fit more snugly over the hips and flare out immensely at the feet, where they are much betrimmed. Those designed for dressy wear are long all round, and on many smart models there are decided trains.

The latest sleeve is a Paquin creation modeled on the lines of the mandolin sleeve of a few years ago. It has a number of tiny gathers at the top, with none at all at the elbow, where it is simply faced and opened for three inches directly on top, with small buttons and buttonholes set close together. This sleeve may be varied in a number of charming ways with frills, undersleeves and bands and cuffs both long and short.

The blouse seen in the cut is of dove gray silk. Under the shawl collar of crochet lace is a folded piece of rose colored silk, finishing in a smart bow in front. The blocked yoke is trimmed with loops and tiny steel buttons. The high collar and chemisette are of spotted net. JUDIC CHOLLET.

SNAPSHOTS OF THE STYLES

What Sleeves Will Be Like—Fichu Effects For Party Gowns.

Sleeve fashions run in two extremes—the tight mousquetaire sleeve, trimmed with buttons and braid, and the very full sleeve, with the material set in box plaits and tied over the elbow with a huge knot of ribbon.

Elbow sleeves appear on some of the fur coats, with deep cuffs that turn down to the wrist when required. This style is both convenient and smart.

HAT IN BURGUNDY COLORINGS.

The fichu effect is to be popular this winter for evening wear, the ends of the fichu being nearly long enough to reach to the hem of the skirt in front, while the "shawl point" at the back is admired.

Instep is the correct length for the trotting dress, which is the same all the world over—a frock to walk in in all weather and all kinds of dirt.

Colored crepe de chine underwear is considered the height of lingerie luxury.

The hat illustrated is one of the happy creations of Caroline Reboux, a famous milliner of Paris. It is of soft short haired beaver in an exquisite shade of burgundy. The spoon crown is wreathed with large roses, toning from dull pink to a deep mauve. The attractiveness of the model lies in the coloring. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Stylish Suits For Girls—Handsome Checked Materials—Ultra Coats.

Coat suits for girls are extremely pretty in the two and three toned plaids shown this fall. The plaids are large, but the colorings are so soft and invisibly blended that the effect is quiet and rich. A charming suit, with plain tailored coat, is of large red and blue invisible plaid, very soft, very dark and very smart. A little dark red braid trimming appears on the revers and cuffs.

Mixed cloth suitings are attractive this fall. One of these patterns is a dark green and blue check, with small embroidered dots of red and pale yellow silk sprinkled over the surface at intervals.

Many of the light fabrics for evening, such as voile, crape and grenadine in pale yellow, pink and white, have either a satin stripe or narrow satin check over them. Such a gown needs no trimming save a little good lace.

The ultra coat of this season is distinguished from last year's design by its collar and cuffs of contrasting material. Quite elegant is a pale tan colored coat, with a roll over collar of brown.

Wonderfully stunning is the plaid gown illustrated. It is made in princess style. Plain cloth trims the skirt, and makes the belt, sleeves, straps and buttons. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Ceylon For Clever Doctors.

The native medical profession of Ceylon is envied by half the population of the island, as it comprises the highest their learning can afford. But it is deplorably becoming extinct owing to lack of encouragement and shortly will be as much a thing of the past as the Egyptian embalming system. Ceylon dentists never extract a tooth. Their medicines are strong enough to arrest corruption, giving vitality to the gums. Surgeons never amputate an injured limb, but cure the break, fracture or dislocation by powerful vegetable oils. There is no union among these mysterious doctors, however. They are jealous of one another, are continually running each other down, and so the Europeans and high class natives seek European advice, and the native science is being gradually ruined.—Pearson's Weekly.

New to Him.

At a musical comedy in London from his seat in the stalls Clyde Fitch noticed a young man in one of the boxes laughing uproariously. His companion was a critic, and Mr. Fitch said to him, "That chap in the box seems to be enjoying himself." "He is the author," said the critic. "Well, then," said Fitch, "I think he ought to have better taste than to laugh so loud." "Oh," said the critic, "he is the author, but he never heard these jokes before. They were put in by the comedian."

Stevenson's Samoan Residence.

It is reported that the Samoan residence of Robert Louis Stevenson, Vailima, will become a tourist hotel, or it may be that it will be made the official residence of the German representative. A syndicate of Philadelphians is negotiating with the present owner of the villa with the tourist hotel plan in view, while the German Government is desirous of acquiring the property and contemplates making an offer.

HERE AND THERE.

Coats Fit Closer Than They Did Last Year—Waistcoats Popular.

Coats on the fall suits do not take on any wonderfully new forms, although there are more close fitting models than we have had recently.

Apple green, the shade that was so popular the past summer, is to the fore on all the fall and winter models.

Waistcoats are to be very much worn this season—not the velvet and braid trimmed fancy vest fitted in the jacket, but a real waistcoat of a separate and mannish finish.

Mink, Persian lamb, broadtail, ermine, blue and white fox and lynx, with all the lesser pelts, are to be seen made up into fascinating wraps and neck pieces. Lace braiding and large, handsome buttons are the trimming employed.

The girl's evening frock seen in the cut is of gobelin blue silk tissue made over shot silk. The baby bodice has a fichu of lace edged with tiny plaitings of the dress fabric. Tiny pompadour bows are placed at intervals over this shoulder trimming, which is repeated on the skirt. JUDIC CHOLLET.

WHAT IS WORN.

Laces That Will Be Worn—Scotch Fashions High in Favor.

Maltese and cluny laces are going up in popularity, while valenciennes is waning a trifle. Spanish laces are by no means to the fore, as we have been led to believe they would be.

High Spanish combs are the smartest adornments for the coiffure. They are most attractive on the head when it is uncovered and act as a support for the new hats that tilt well over the face. The combs range in price from $4 to well up into the hundreds.

Scotch fashions are being enthusiastically adopted this season. There are plaids galore to be seen in dress materials that no clan in the Land o' Cakes would recognize. The latest addition of things Scotch is the cap, which in the millinery world is creating quite a furore among young wearers. It is seen in felt, in plaid silk and in soft fur and is trimmed with a round rosette and a long quill.

The correct pocketbook for ordinary wear is a flat book shape with a short finger strap. In black, soft gray and buff these pocketbooks are favorites, though one may wish to match the costume in tone. Flat chain purses incrusted with precious and semiprecious stones still continue in favor with formal costumes.

Newer than the bolero or Eton jacket are the little fall coats that combine the good features of both. These models are really jaunty pony jackets cut off above the waist line and trimmed in some fanciful way with braid. Some of the coats have tiny waistcoats.

The costume illustrated is a charming little suit carried out in green broadcloth. The only trimming is stitched bands of velvet in a lighter shade than the cloth. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Maple Leaf Rubbers

"If I were to return to earth again I would provide my entire family with 'Maple Leaf' Rubbers."—Wireless from "the old woman who lived in a shoe."

You see the "old woman" is somewhat of a philosopher. She knows it would take a pile of money to keep her big family supplied with ordinary, go-to-pieces rubbers.

But "Maple Leaf" Rubbers are different. They're long wearers—money savers.

Only the finest Para gum, which makes the toughest, longest-wearing, most waterproof rubbers, is used in the manufacture of "Maple Leaf" Rubbers.

They are not loaded with any cheap, stiff, tarry substance which makes ordinary rubbers split, crack, wrinkle and become prematurely old and worn-out before "Maple Leaf" Rubbers show a sign of wear.

The Land of "I Forgot."

Little Trit Trot was a poor little slave
In the land of "I Forgot."
He ran and he ran the livelong day,
Did little Tritity Trot,
Who lived with his mamma just over the way
In the land of "I Forgot."

It was "Where is my hat, and where is my cap,
And where is my brand new ball?
And where is my bat and my catching glove?
I cannot find them at all."
And he hunted and looked upstairs and down,
In kitchen, chamber and hall.

The hat was found in the top of a tree
By the side of a tattered kite;
The cap was left in old Blackie's nest
When he gathered the eggs at night.
The bat was wet, and the cap was torn,
And both were a sorry sight.

The ball and the bat and the catching glove
Were down in the pasture lot,
And the slate and sponge and strap and books
Had hidden under the cot.
For this is the way things lose themselves
In the land of "I Forgot."

—Mary Morrison in Youth's Companion.

Use Both Hands.

That people should learn to use both hands with equal freedom is a matter of great importance. If when the right hand of a workman is tired he can continue his task with the left, then it is obvious that he will get through more work than a right handed man. In the boys' mechanical department in the German schools much of the work is done by the left hand under compulsion. The boys are taught to saw, plane and hammer with the left hand as well as the right. The scholar is also taught to draw large circles on the blackboard, first with one hand and then with the other. Man is the only one who cannot use all his limbs with equal facility. Man uses his eyes equally well and also the legs, except that most people kick with the right foot. But how few can use more than one hand to advantage? And this is so simply because of lack of early training.

Birds of Prey.

Most birds of prey are provided with nictating membranes that serve to keep the eye perfectly clean and bright.

Glass.

According to Pliny, the discovery of glassmaking was purely accidental. He tells us that two merchants were carrying a quantity of niter over a desolate tract of country and at length paused upon the banks of a river to rest. Wishing to partake of some food, they built a fire, and, not finding any stones on which to place their kettles, they put them on some pieces of niter. The heat from the fires melted the niter, which mixed with the sand and formed a transparent matter, which was glass.

How to Get Taper Fingers.

Some people have fat, "podgy" hands, with large, square tipped fingers. If the bones are proportionately large it is very difficult to effect any improvement, but when the largeness is due to excess of soft tissues one can get very excellent results from careful bandaging.

It is well to treat only one finger at the outset. When skill has been acquired in applying the bandage and if the results appear satisfactory one may extend the treatment. The bandage for each finger should be very narrow, about one inch in width. Unbleached calico is a good material. It is essential to apply the bandage from finger tip to finger base, and if it is sufficiently long to allow its being brought over the back and palm of the hand and fastened at the wrist it may be made more secure.

Each finger treated should be bandaged tightly near the tip and less tightly as the palm is neared. The bandage may be applied at night and removed in the morning.

Premier Roblin Has Sold Lands To Foster

Sale of Swan River Lands to The Union Trust—Were Bought From C. N. R.—Carrot River Lands Included a Rake-Off—Attorney-General Campbell Got a Thousand Dollars—Mr. Pritchard's Evidence—Union Trust Co. Has a Claim For Shortage—Evidence Before Commission.

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—The Insurance Commission resumed here yesterday morning.

Union Trust Land Transaction.

James W. Bettes of Bracebridge was examined in reference to land and dealings of the Union Trust Co. by Mr. Tilley. Mr. Bettes is managing director of the Ontario, Manitoba and Western Land Co. He held that position in 1903, and was familiar with the transactions of his company with the Union Trust Co. for that year, and knew of the sale of townships 45 and 46, 40,900 acres, in the Canadian Northwest, to the Union Trust Co. There was some deficiency in the land, but the figures were approximately correct. He carried on the negotiations on behalf of the company. The only one he consulted was the president of the company, Hon. Colin Campbell.

Communicated With All Directors.

The land was purchased from the Canadian Northern at $5 5 per acre, in August; about September it was sold to the Union Trust Co. The witness admitted that he communicated with all of the directors.

Col. McGillivray was a director in both companies interested. The price finally obtained from the Union Trust Co. was $5 per acre less 25 per cent. commission; the first understanding was 25 per cent., but finally it was made a round sum of $10,000. A. W. Pritchard of Winnipeg came into his office and the sale was made through him to the Union Trust Co. The sale was made almost immediately. He negotiated only with Mr. Pritchard.

Contradicts Hon. Mr. Foster.

Mr. Tilley—"But Mr. Foster says that the negotiations took place between you and himself."

Mr. Bettes—"Mr. Foster was in error. There was no negotiations with him. The sale was made through Mr. Pritchard; there was no letter to Mr. Foster until after the sale was concluded, when our solicitors wrote to him in reference to the surveys."

Mr. Bettes then produced an order from Mr. Pritchard to pay $5,000, one-half of the commission agreed upon, to Hon. George E. Foster or the Union Trust. The other half was paid to him direct.

More About Land Deal.

F. W. Whitelaw of the firm of Macdonald, Haggart and Whitelaw, of Winnipeg, testified that he had sold the Swan River lands, consisting of 9,520 acres, to the Union Trust Co. In 1902, he entered into an agreement with the Canadian Northern Lands Co. to purchase about 10,000 acres. He made the purchase for Premier Roblin and C. R. Gordon. He agreed to take the lands in his own name. Premier Roblin and Mr. Gordon were equal partners in the transaction. The Canadian Northern agreed to sell the land for $3.10 an acre.

During the summer of 1902 Hon. Mr. Roblin made some effort to dispose of the lands. In August Gordon sold out his interest to Mr. Roblin, owing to financial difficulties. Gordon made some profit. He put in about $1,500 and got for his share $4,533. Mr. Roblin became sole owner. The negotiations for the sale of this land to the Union Trust Co. were made through A. W. Pritchard. The price was placed upon the lands by Hon. Mr. Roblin. The first proposal by Pritchard Mr. Whitelaw thought was $5.50 per acre. This was what Mr. Roblin offered them for sale in the United States

Foster's Offer.

Hon. George E. Foster, as manager of the Union Trust, said the price was too much. He offered to buy the lands for $5.25 per acre, of which 25 cents an acre was to be commission, making the net price to the owners of the land $5 per acre. There was to be a cash payment of $1.25 per acre, and the remainder was to be paid within six months. With some slight change as to the time of payment, this offer was closed.

The witness could not say who got the commission. At the time of the negotiations Mr. Pritchard was an employe of the Manitoba Government, but he could not say that he was Mr. Roblin's private secretary.

A letter was read, written by Mr. Whitelaw to Hon. George E. Foster, as manager of the Union Trust Co., in which he asked Mr. Foster to send him a cheque for the lands, less the commission.

A letter was read from Mr. Foster, in which he suggested he should, on behalf of the Union Trust Co., send the full contract amount, of $5.25 per acre to Mr. Whitelaw for the lands purchased. Mr. Whitelaw should then send him back a cheque made out to George E. Foster for the amount of the commission, at the rate of 25 cents per acre.

Commission Went to Mr. Foster.

Cheques and correspondence were then put in, showing that while the amount paid for the lands was $12,400, the actual amount Mr. Whitelaw received was $9,920. The difference was the commission, which went to Mr. Foster, as a cheque drawn in his favor by the Union Trust Co. for $2,580 showed.

A. W. Pritchard said he had been a real estate agent in Winnipeg since Feb. 1, 1904. For 23 years prior to that he had been private secretary to the various premiers of Manitoba, with the exception of Hugh John Macdonald. He told of the transaction with Hon. Geo. E. Foster, as manager of the Union Trust Co., which was referred to by Mr. Bettes at the morning session. He learned that 40,000 acres were in the market, and he wrote Mr. Foster, offering the Union Trust Co., the lands at $5 per acre, and offering to divide the commission with him. He received a telegram from Mr. Foster accepting the lands offered, but he could not say that Mr. Foster had received his letter offering to divide commission before the telegram was sent.

Dealt With Pritchard.

Mr. Tilley called attention to Mr. Foster's sworn testimony that he had had no negotiations with Pritchard for the purchase of these lands and had never heard of him in the transaction.

"What have you to say about that?"

Mr. Pritchard—"I carried on the negotiations directly with Mr. Foster."

Witness then said that Mr. Foster got $5,000 commission and himself $5,000, $1,000 of which he gave to Colin Campbell.

Mr. Pritchard then gave an account of the Swan River transaction, in which he sold about 10,000 acres of land owned by Premier Roblin to Geo. E. Foster, for the Union Trust Co., for $5 per acre, and 25 cents an acre commission to Mr. Foster. The only commission Pritchard got was $500 which Mr. Roblin had given him. He had resigned his Manitoba office because he had not been made a deputy minister.

HE "DID" CANADIANS.

Hutton, the Swindler, Said He Wanted to Cable Home.

London, Nov. 6.—(C. A. P.)—Hutton, who is alleged to have swindled a number of Canadian visitors in London, succeeded on Saturday in doing a well-known Toronto professor out of a sum of money on the pretence that he required it to cable Toronto for funds. Hutton also obtained money from the London branch of a Canadian bank, but the authorities of the bank hope to get the amount from the relations of Hutton at Montreal. Hutton is believed to have attempted to swindle several Canadian ladies in London.

Chief Inspecor Frank Froast, the ablest "sleuth" at Scotland Yard, who has just been promoted to be chief of the criminal investigation department, has received complaints from Lord Strathcona's office regarding Hutton, and has put a couple of his best men on Hutton's track.

ILLEGAL UNDER COVER.

Otherwise Betting at the Race Track Isn't Against the Law.

Toronto, Nov. 6.—Discussing the decision of the Court of Appeal handed out on Saturday in connection with betting on the Woodbine race track Judge Winchester said yesterday that in his opinion the judgment was correct, according to law. But this judgment does not, nor will not, prohibit betting. It only does away with the bookmakers working under cover. If they do business with a roof—even an umbrella—over their heads, they are breaking the law. If they stand under an umbrella and make bets they can be prosecuted. If his honor is correct, the handbook men will have a chance, as no one will have to "weigh in," the Jockey Club being unable to collect any rental.

Colonel Olcott Badly Hurt.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 6.—Colonel Henry Steele Olcott, of Adyar, India, president and founder of the Theosophical Society and co-worker in her lifetime of Helena P. Blavatsky, has been seriously injured in a railway wreck in Italy, according to private advices received yesterday by a member of the society in Kansas City. Beyond stating that he had been placed in a hospital and is "in a bad way," no details are given. Because of his advanced age fears for his recovery are entertained. He was on his way home to India from the Chicago convention.

Toronto Civic Conspiracy Cases.

Toronto, Nov. 6.—Yesterday, in the Police Court, the civic conspiracy cases were again taken up and the vent pipe contract investigated. This involved the Bennett & Wright Co., A. M. Matthews, Alex. E. Wheeler and the Metallic Roofing Co. Thomas Douglas of Douglas Bros., who did the work, testified that Bennett & Wright and the Metallic Roofing Co. each got $300 and Wheeler & Bain and Matthews $250 each. An adjournment was made until this morning.

'GROWING OLD WHILE YET YOUNG

What a number of women there are who feel that these words exactly suit their case.

There are thousands of females all over our land, broken down in health and dragging out a miserable existence, overburdened with disease peculiar to their sex, apparently growing old while yet young.

From early morn till late at night they have been on the go year after year, attending to the household duties. Is it any wonder then that sooner or later there comes a general collapse? Palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, smothering and sinking spells, weakness, dizziness, sleeplessness and many other troubles follow. What a woman wants is something to build up the system and for this purpose you cannot equal

Terrible Tale Of Devastation Wrought by Sea

Three of Crew Drown and Captain Starves Eight Days.

ANOTHER CREW OF 7 DROWN

Terrific Hurricane on Eastern Canadian Coasts Causes Much Suffering and Enormous Property Loss—Shipping and Fishing Boats Go Down Before Its Fury—Heroes Rescue a Crew at Fox Point.

Quebec, Nov. 6.—After undergoing terrible sufferings for eight days, during which time he did not taste food, Capt. J. Languedoc, master of the schooner Torrides, which foundered near Gaspe Cape, was brought to port at 10 o'clock on Saturday night on board the North Shore line steamer King Edward, and subsequently removed to the Jeffery Hale Hospital.

The schooner, which was bound from Sydney to Gaspe, laden with coal, is lost, as are also the majority of her crew. She was owned by the Gaspe Lumber Co.

The captain and one of the crew, named Randall, after going through a fearful experience, reached shore after eight days, and three other members of the crew, George and Frank Fall and Brad Clements, all of Gaspe, who had made a raft when they were compelled to leave the sinking vessel, doubtless met a watery grave.

The captain's feet are both in a state of mortification and amputation will probably be necessary.

Adeona's Crew of Seven Drown.

Richibucto, N. B., Nov. 6.—During the northeast gale which prevailed since Wednesday the Norwegian barque Adeona, 700 tons, which was completing her cargo outside the bar, went ashore on a reef Thursday and her crew of seven men have perished.

Several unsuccessful attempts to reach the vessel were made yesterday morning. The men left the vessel in a boat, which capsized. Three bodies were washed ashore.

Several coasting vessels have been wrecked and many lives endangered.

Hurricane on P. E. I. Shore.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Nov. 6.—The captain and men of the steamer Turret Belle have been landed safely. The steamer is broadside 30 yards from shore. The captain says he thought he was off Magdalen Islands. The current carried him from his course.

The Turret Belle is valued at $100,000; insurance $75,000. Chances of getting her off are slim. She is lying on a rocky ledge so far in that the sea can's inflict much damage.

Many Fishing Boats Broken Up.

Sunday night a Newfoundland schooner loaded with fish was completely wrecked at Campbell's Cove. The crew was saved. Many fishing boats were broken up on the north side of the island, and some barns were blown over and trees uprooted. Minor damage was done in Charlottetown. The gable end and new wing of Prince of Wales College, which is being enlarged at the expense of Sir William C. MacDonald, was blown down. The storm was one of the worst the island has known for many years.

Crew Landed by Heroes.

Amherst, N. S., Nov. 6.—The schooner Omega, Capt. Sutherland, loaded with coal from St. Peters to Charlottetown, went ashore at Fox Point, near Pugwash Sunday, and is a total wreck. The crew in much danger were rescued through the bravery of John Halchie and Moses Tarrio, who at great personal risk in heavy seas, went out and rescued the men. They were obliged to make two trips. The vessel is valued at $10,000. No insurance.

22 Miles in 10 Hours.

Sydney, C. B., Nov. 6.—The heavy gale, which was raging Sunday, continues. The steamer Bruce left North Sydney for Placentia Sunday morning, put back after being out in the gale ten hours. In that time she made only 22 miles. Everything movable was washed from her decks.

Hurricane Off Cape Breton.

Port Hood, C. B., Nov. 6.—A hurricane has raged here during the past 36 hours, and tremendous seas are running in the bay and harbor.

Four of the schooners at anchor in the harbor were driven ashore and are lying on their sides with heavy seas breaking over them. The crews possibly succeeded in effecting a landing on Port Hood Island, but communication with the island is impossible, and nothing definite as to their safety is known.

Many small fishing boats were sunk and destroyed.

The Mabou coal mine was closed down on the 2nd instant. The manager could say nothing definite as to the resumption of operations.

Capt. Cosly Missing.

Brockville, Nov. 6.—Relatives here are alarmed over the strange disappearance from Cleveland, Ohio, of Capt. Thomas Cosly, a well-known upper lake master. His boat touched at Cleveland ten days ago and Cosly went ashore, leaving his money and clothing at an hotel. He failed to return to the boat and no trace can be found. He comes from Trooptown, Grenville County, where his wife and family reside. He has been sailing the lakes for 40 years.

Three Baggage Checks

By Donald Allen

Copyright, 1906, by M. M. Cunningham

Whatever caused Harry Lee, bachelor, club man and a good deal of a cynic, to saunter into the Central depot that afternoon he never has been able to explain except by laying it to fate. He wasn't going anywhere, didn't want to see anybody in particular, and he always kept clear of passenger depots on account of tearful old women and crying children. On this occasion he had scarcely caught sight of one tearful old woman when somebody caught sight of him.

"And who on earth told you that I was going to Buffalo?" exclaimed a voice at his elbow as he turned to go out.

It was Miss Remington, whom he had known fairly well for a year past and who had sometimes struck him as being rather good looking and of engaging manners. Just now she was looking unusually well in her traveling suit and her eyes shining with excitement.

"I—I came to say farewell," replied Lee, with ready wit.

"How nice of you! My trunk was sent on half an hour ago ahead of me and must be in the baggage room. I know you will take my ticket and get it checked for me. Brother Will said he would surely be here, but something has happened to detain him."

"YES, I KNOW," SMILED THE BAGGAGE MASTER.

"It will be something to remember all my life."

A child of ten, a bachelor of forty or an old woman of ninety can check a trunk when once the feat of getting it to the depot has been accomplished. All you have to do is to point it out with one hand while you show your ticket with the other and tell the baggage master that he must make no mistake and check it for Oshkosh instead of Kalamazoo.

Harry Lee had that trunk identified and checked in seven minutes, and he was feeling rather proud over the fact when a plain looking woman of forty appealed to him. She was looking for a trunk with a broken handle, but thus far it had eluded her. It tried to dodge Harry Lee, but in vain. He had his eyes on it in no time.

Just at this juncture a girl of eighteen, dressed in mourning and looking tearful and anxious, wanted help. Her trunk was all right as to handles, but she was afraid it had been checked to Rochester instead of Syracuse. She gave the bachelor her check to see about it, and thus it came about that he had three checks for three trunks in his possession. Moreover, he put them into the same pocket. Moreover, again, he'd have walked back to Miss Remington with them had not the plain looking woman and the girl in mourning hesitatingly reminded him of his carelessness.

"Ten thousand pardons, ladies," he apologized in confusion, and with that he gallantly pulled out the three checks and made a fair divide. There was just one apiece and nothing left over. It was train time now and everybody in a hurry, and Miss Remington's brother came rushing in, and so with it all no one made any discoveries, and the three women were hurried away with scores of other passengers.

For the first time in a year, so far as he could remember, the club bachelor had made himself useful for a few minutes, and there was something like elation in his eye as he left the depot to continue his saunter. Twenty-four hours later he received a call from young Winchester, who had an open telegram in his hand and who bluntly inquired:

"See here, Lee, what have you done with my sister's trunk?"

"Why, I checked it for Buffalo yesterday."

"She has telegraphed that she has another in the place of it."

"But, man, I surely checked it, and you saw me hand her the brass. Those confounded railroad folks must have made another of their stupid mistakes."

"Well, we'll let it rest for a day, and perhaps they'll rectify it."

During the next twenty-four hours Miss Remington sent two more telegrams from Buffalo, and the ease loving and complacent bachelor got a move on him and went to the depot to interview the president, vice president and general manager of the road. Being told that they had gone off on a Sunday school picnic, he decided to interview the baggage master instead. There was dignity in his bearing as he set out to crush the worm under his feet. The worm wasn't very busy just then and heard him through and then retaliated with:

"We have two telegrams from two other women about trunks having gone wrong, and it's all owing to your having butted in here the other day. I remember you very well. You had three trunks checked at the same time."

"Yes, sir, I did, and if the baggage department can't take care of the trunks all at once it had better go hang."

"Did you hand the three checks to three different women?"

"Of course I did."

"Are you sure you kept them separate?"

"Of course—that is—that is, you know"—

"Yes, I know," smiled the baggage master. "You handed out any old check, and as a consequence there is a mix. It's up to you to do some telegraphing and straighten things out."

Mr. Lee spent the whole day telegraphing and receiving "collect" messages from Buffalo, Rochester and Syracuse, but he made little headway. His messages were inquiring and pacific; his "collects" were vigorous and rather threatening. At the end of the day he decided on making a personal trip to straighten out the tangle. He could remember the trunks and their respective owners.

His first stop was at Syracuse. He was sure that the girl in mourning with a humble looking trunk had had it checked there. Two telegrams had passed and he had her address. In the course of an hour he found her. She hadn't quite so much mourning on now and was better looking than he had thought. She had received the plain woman's trunk with the broken handle. She was a refined, ladylike girl and in mourning for an aunt who had left her $50,000, but yet she used language tinged with acid. Next time she went traveling and had to appeal to a man for help she would make sure that he knew enough to check his own trunk, and so forth, and so forth. A woman may lose her sweetheart and say nothing, but let her lose her trunk while traveling and it takes years to exhaust the subject.

Mr. Lee got away with his ears burning, and yet he admired Miss Strothers. He arranged to have the trunk sent on to Rochester and then took the train for that city. The plain woman was expecting him. She had the trunk all ready to point at, but it didn't happen to be Miss Strothers' trunk. It belonged to Miss Remington. Here was another mixup.

The bachelor drew a long breath and started to explain, but was cut short after a minute. He was asked to identify himself as an honest man; he was asked to prove that he was not a baggage thief; he was asked to convince the plain looking woman, who looked plainer than ever in her own house and with her anger up, that his grandfather had never been hung for a capital crime.

At the end of half an hour the plain woman, soften on him a bit. She softened enough to say that perhaps after all it was his first crime and that if he hustled around and got that one handled trunk in Rochester inside of two hours she would not call in the police.

Bachelor Lee longed to return to New York and find rest and peace, but inexorable fate drove him on to Buffalo. There he found Miss Remington.

"I am not going to blame you at all," she said as she met him. "It was all my fault in thinking that you knew anything about the operation of railroads. You could have loaded that trunk into an auto and had it into the Staten Island ferry in half an hour.

Mr. Lee proceeded to explain, but it was not much of an explanation. However, the more he explained and the more he failed to explain the more he became interested in Miss Remington.

It was a matter of four days before the big trunk, the little trunk and the one handled trunk reached their respective owners.

The chapter was closed then and there with the plain looking woman, but not so with one of the others. Ever since that date, and particularly during the last three months, the bachelor club man has found it necessary to go up the road to talk trunk business, and he finds that the most effective way to remind Miss Remington of her duty toward the diamond ring she wears is to suggest that he take a trip to Syracuse to see the other young woman about her trunk.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

Shifting the Responsibility.

Sir John Macdonald, when premier of Canada, one evening was present at a public dinner at which he was expected to deliver a rather important speech. In the conviviality of the occasion he forgot the more serious duty of the evening, and when at a late hour he rose his speech was by no means so luminous as it might have been. The reporter, knowing that it would not do to print his notes as they stood, called on Sir John next day and told him that he was not quite sure of having secured an accurate report. He was invited to read over his notes, but he had not got far when Sir John interrupted him with "That is not what I said." There was a pause, and Sir John continued, "Let me repeat my remarks." He then walked up and down the room and delivered a most impressive speech in the hearing of the amused reporter, who took down every word as it fell from his lips. Having thanked Sir John for his courtesy, he was taking his leave when he was recalled to receive this admonition: "Young man, allow me to give you this word of advice—never again attempt to report a public speaker when you are drunk."

Not Flattering.

S. Baring-Gould, the English novelist, had the bitter pleasure of reading many not flattering obituaries of himself. Through an error he was reported dead, and the newspapers of his native land declared unanimously that he had left no good work behind. An American editor dined with Baring-Gould in London. The talk turned to the premature obituaries, and the American said, "How did you feel on reading them?" Taken aback, nonplused, the novelist grimly replied: "I felt like a lady who owned a parrot. This lady's cook came to her one morning in joyful excitement. 'Oh, ma'am,' she cried, 'the parrot has learned some new words.' 'Good,' said the lady. 'That bird is wonderfully teachable. It sits and drinks in every blessed word my husband says to me. What does it say now?' 'It keeps a-sayin',' said the cook, '"Shut up, you old fool!"'"

Kean and the Showman.

An amusing paper in Chambers' Journal on John Richardson, the illiterate and successful English showman of the last century, contains this story:

It was during the earlier and less fortunate part of his pilgrimage that he numbered Edmund Kean among his company. The old showman was not a little proud of this association and used to give himself some credit for having had a hand in Kean's theatrical education. When Macready's name was becoming known in the dramatic world Richardson was asked if he had seen him.

"No, muster," he said, "I know nothing about him; in fact, he's some vagabone as no one knows—one o' them chaps as ain't had any eddication for the thing. He never was with me, as Edmund Kean and them riglars was."

The Oldest Bank Notes.

The oldest bank notes in the world are the "flying money," or convenient money, first issued in China in 2697 B. C. One writer tells that the ancient Chinese bank notes were in many respects similar to those of the present day, bearing the name of the bank, the date of issue, the number of the note, the signature of the official who issued it and its value in both figures and words. On the top of these curious notes was the following philosophic injunction: "Produce all you can; spend with economy." The note was printed in blue ink on paper made from the fiber of the mulberry tree. One of these notes bearing the date 1399 B. C. is still preserved in the Asiatic museum at St. Petersburg.

The Equinoxes.

"The popular belief that storms are more frequent about the time of the equinox, or when 'the sun crosses the line' in March and September, receives some slight degree of support from the investigations of European scientists," states an expert of the weather bureau. "In southwestern Europe March is the stormiest month, while in the British Islands and Norway January takes the lead in that respect; but, considering Europe as a whole, it appears that storms preponderate near the seasons of the equinoxes."

A Word to Women

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points which nature has endowed her with. Sallow skin, dull eyes, a blotchy complexion—these no woman need have who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangement, blood impurities, and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes, and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, labored heavy movements, a constant tired feeling—all these mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Bileans give this necessary help. They are purely vegetable and they work in Nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels and clear out the liver cells. They tone up liver and stomach to fulfil their proper functions. Not only so, but while more effective than the medicines hitherto obtainable, they are, at the same time, more mild in their operation, and are suitable for the most delicate constitution.

A WOMAN WHO WAS AS YELLOW AS A GUINEA.

Mrs. A. Travis, of Gringley, says:—"I got completely 'run down' in health, my strength went. I was constipated, had frequent headaches, and my skin became as yellow as a guinea. Food gave me pain, and hours upon hours have I laid awake at night quite unable to get any sleep, because of indigestion. I lost flesh and became quite wasted. Medicine did not seem to do me any good at all. One day bileans were recommended to me, and I decided to give them a trial. They did what other medicine had failed to do, and soon after I began to take them I felt an improvement. I persevered with them until they cured me, they cleared my skin, rid me of constipation, banished my headache, ended the indigestion, and made me well and hearty again."

BILEANS ARE A CURE FOR:

headache, constipation, piles, liver trouble, indigestion, and all digestive disorders, female ailments, skin eruptions, biliousness, sick headache, bad taste in the mouth, foul breath, dizziness, wind pains, anæmia, debility etc.

Bankes and His Horse.

Animal trainers of the old days led adventurous lives. In 1600 all London was talking of a man named Bankes, servant to the Earl of Essex, who had taught his horse to count and perform a number of feats, including mounting to the top of St. Paul's cathedral, while "a number of asses," as the historian puts it, "brayed below." Sir Walter Raleigh in his history says of Bankes that he "would have shamed all the enchanters of the world, for whatsoever was most famous among them could never master or instruct any beast as he did his horse." When Bankes took his horse to Rome both were burned for witchcraft.

A Possible Exception.

A high schoolteacher was examining the physiology class.

"How many ribs have you, Charles?" he asked.

"Why—er—I don't know," said Charles.

"Didn't the text books state?" he then queried somewhat sharply.

"Yes—oh, yes—of course, but, you see, I'm long waisted."

Ben Butler's Retort.

An old lawyer in speaking about General Ben Butler said: "Ben Butler was a terror and a torment to the judges. On one occasion Judge Sanger, having been bullied and badgered out of all patience, petulantly asked, 'What does the counsel suppose I am on this bench for?' Scratching his head a minute, Butler replied, 'Well, I confess your honor's got me there.'"

Easy Answer.

A Liverpool paper tells the pathetic story of one A., who is compelled to grow a beard to ward off pneumonia and other ills. The woman with whom he has fallen in love, however, declines to marry him unless he will shave. "What," asks our contemporary, "should A. do?" The answer seems easy: Keep the beard and cut the woman.

Friendship.

There is a certain development of love in which the covetous longing of two people for one another has yielded to a higher mutual thirst for an ideal above them both. But who has found such love, who has experienced it? Its true name is friendship.

On the Safe Side.

Schroeder (to his neighbor, a widower)—Why did you send your housekeeper away, since she was such a good cook? The Widower—She made such splendid puddings I was afraid I should marry her.

A cubic foot of distilled water weighs very nearly 1,000 ounces.

TO PREVENT BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION

Do not neglect a cold or cough no matter how slight as the irritation spreading throughout the delicate lining of the sensitive air passages sooner or later will lead to fatal results.

If on the first appearance of a cough or cold you would take a few doses of you would save yourself a great deal of unnecessary suffering.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup contains all the lung healing virtues of the pine tree combined with Wild Cherry Bark and other pectoral remedies.

It stimulates the weakened bronchial organs, allays irritation and subdues inflammation, soothes and heals the irritated parts, loosens the phlegm and mucous, and aids nature to easily dislodge the morbid accumulations.

Miss Belle Campbell, Long River, P.E.I., writes: "For some time I was troubled with bronchitis. A friend advised me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. So I procured three bottles but it only took two to cure me."

Be careful when purchasing to see that you get the genuine Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark and the price 25 cents as all dealers.

PETERBOROUGH TUESDAY NOVEMBER 6 1906

Two Beavers, in the Indian River working within a few hundred yards of Warsaw's Business Street have felled more than 100 trees, cutting them into short pieces—Their work has just been discovered.

Conditional upon securing a lease of No. 4 Dam upon reasonable terms, the Otonabee Power Company offer to supply Electric Power to manufacturers at $15 a horse power for a period of 10 years—The plans of the company are explained below.

In seven years the Nicholls Estate Trustees have given $26,000 to the Nicholls Hospital Trust to meet deficits and pay cost of improvements. In the future the City will be asked to meet defecits for maintainance.

$26,000 Donated To Nicholls Hospital In 7 Years By Trustees

Through Their Generosity Deficits Have Been Met and Ratepayers Have Not Been Called Upon.

$7,500 Representing Bank Overdraft on Two Year's Operations Met by Cheque Yesterday.

In Future the City will be Asked to Provide for any Deficit in the Operations of the Hospital.

A fact which the citizens of Peterborough are not generally cognizant of is that during the past seven years Messrs. Hall and McGill, the trustees of the Nicholls Estate, have given $26,000 to the funds of the Nicholls Hospital to provide for deficits on account of maintenance and for improvements to the building from time to time during that period.

This generosity on the part of these gentlemen has relieved the ratepayers of Peterborough of considerable expense, which they otherwise would have had to bear. The Act incorporating the Nicholls Hospital Trust gives that body the authority to demand from the city the amount necessary to cover any deficits on each year's operations. This clause has not been taken advantage of in the last seven years, the trustees donating the sum mentioned to the hospital funds.

Many Improvements

A new ward has been fitted up recently at a cost of $2,000, and a cheque was promptly issued to cover this cost, by Messrs. Hall and McGill.

At the monthly meeting of the Board yesterday, a report was presented, showing a bank overdraft of $7,500, representing the deficit for the last two years, and this deficit has also been met by the trustees.

Citizens to Help

It is probable that in future the clause of the Act will be taken advantage of, as it was felt that the intention of the late Mrs. Nicholls was that her money should be used for improvements and enlargements to the hospital, and that the citizens should feel the interest in its maintenance, which they would do if they were contributing to its cost.

Committee Appointed

With this in view a committee was appointed at the meeting yesterday to consider the financial position of the Trust, and submit to the council the sum required to meet the difference between the expenditure and the receipts for next year, in order that it may be included in the estimates of the Finance Committee.

Well Equipped Buildings

The hospital building and equipment are now in splendid condition; very few similar institutions in the province, indeed, being as well fitted up to care for its patients as is the Nicholls Hospital, and it is expected that it will not require the expenditure of much money for some time, except for cost of maintenance, thanks to the generosity of the trustees of the estate of the lady, through whose beneficence the hospital was given to the citizens of Peterborough.

This hospital has been such a slight burden to the people of this city that they have not fully appreciated it in the past.

Rev. W. J. Creighton, the Congregation's Choice

He will Probably be the Successor to Ven. Archdeacon Warren, at Lakefield.

(Examiner Special.)

Lakefield, Nov. 6.—An imcortant meeting of the congregation of St. John's Anglican Church was held last night, when the question of a successor to Ven Archdeacon Warren, as rector of the church, was discussed.

In view of the fact that the Archdeacon's resignation had not yet been received, no definite steps were taken. On Thursday the Mission Board of the Diocese will meet in Toronto when the Archdeacon's appointment as Missionary Ispector of the diocese will be confirmed, and following that his resignation will be handed to the congregation of St. John's. The name most prominently mentioned last last night as his successor here was that of Rev. L. W. B. Broughall, curate of St. James' Cathedral, Toronto, but in view of the fact that he had entered into an agreement with the rector of St. James' to remain for two years, it was decided, of course, that his acceptance of the rectorship here was impossible.

Other names considered were.—Rev. W J Creighton, of Bobcaygeon; Rev. C H Brooks, Grafton; Rev. J H Teney, Omemee; Rev. W L Baynes-Reed, Norway; Rev. A J Reid, Campbellford.

The choice of the meeting was Rev. Creighton, and he will in all probability be asked to accept the rectorship.

After the Mission Board meeting on Thursday, another meeting will be held, when an appointment will, in all probability, be made.

Cheese Board's Closing Meeting

Last Sale for the Season Will Be Held To-morrow.

To-morrow, the last meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board for the season will be held. This season has been a most successful one in this district, and more money than in any former year has been paid for cheese.

Some of the leaders in the dairy industry in the province will be at the meeting to-morrow and give addresses of interest to those associated with this industry.

TO MAMMA IN HEAVEN

New York, Nov. 3.—A special from Atlantic City says: — A letter addressed to "Mamma, in Heaven," came to Atlantic City in the mail bag from Philadelphia last night. It contained, in a childish scrawl, the message:

"Dear Mamma,—Please come and see your boys, and bring papa, too. We pray for you. Jose, Georgie."

No clue is given to the home of the childish writers, or their identity, and the letter will be forwarded to Washington.

Two Gold Mines To Be Operated In Near Future At Marmora

The Delora and Pearce Properties Said to be the Ones Upon Which Work will be resumed.

Samples Being Taken From the Latter While Drilling will be Commenced in the Delora Mine.

Peterborough Man Tells of Prospectors' Activity in Marmora District—Some of the Places.

That the gold mines in the Marmora district on the Pearce and Delora properties will soon be in operation is the opinion of a Peterborough man who has recently returned after a visit of a few days to that section. He stated that a mining expert was there securing samples of ore from the Pearce property, which is believed to be one of the richest gold mines in the province, and yesterday, Mr. Jos. Judd, who some years ago was employed as assistant driller on the Goldfields mine, now, the Delora, arrived to superintend the work of drilling on the same property.

This activity has worked up interest in the mining industry and the universal feeling is that it will be a matter of only a short time before both mines will again be in operation. It is admitted that they are both rich properties, and that if operations are resumed it will be on an extensive scale, and one which will ensure the prosperity of Marmora and the entire district.

It is understood, too, that the activity in mining is not by any means confined to these two properties. The company which operates the Eldorado Lead Mines has secured control of a gold mining property in Sydenham near Kingston, and will develop it.

As a result of these activities and prospective activities Marmora is taking on new life and visions of future greatness are being indulged in by its residents.

Body Whirled Around Shaft In A Saw Mill

Horrible Death of Former Peterborough County Man at Parry Sound on Monday.

How John Johnston Met His Death—His Body Passed Through City To-day for Marmora.

The despatch which follows, from Parry Sound, tells of the death of a former resident of Peterborough County. This morning his mother, Mrs. James Johnston, who lives at the present time in Marmora, passed through this city on her way to Parry Sound in response to a telegram received yesterday telling her of her son's death. No details were given in the telegram, but they are supplied in the despatch, which tells of the shocking manner in which he met death. It is as follows:

Parry Sound, Nov. 5.—A fatal accident occurred at the Parry Sound Lumber Company's sawmills this morning, by which John Johnson, a floor foreman of the mill, lost an arm and part of a leg, and was so badly injured that he died soon afterwards. It appears that a belt which drove the slash table had slipped off, and Johnson ran down into the basement of the mill to put the belt on. It had slipped off on the inside and, in order to reach it, Johnson had to reach over the main shaft, which was driving part of the mill, and in some way the unfortunate man's arm was caught in the rapidly revolving shaft, and he was instantly swung around and must have been carried a hundred times at least before the arm was pulled off and he dropped to the floor. There was no one with him at the time, and the noise of Johnson's feet striking the mill floor as he was swung around the shaft attracted the attention of some of the men, who proceeded to investigate, and found the unfortunate man lying where he fell. In addition to the loss of the arm, a foot was cut off, and the ankle bones of the leg broken to splinters. He was also cut about the head and badly bruised about the chest. The mill was immediately stopped and the injured man carried to the Parry Sound Hospital, where he died about an hour after the accident.

RESULTS OF THE STATE ELECTIONS

Peterborough people are interested in the state elections which are taking place in the United States to-day. In New York state the struggle between Hearst, of newspaper fame, and Hughes, the insurance investigator. The Examiner has arranged for a special telegraphic bulletin service, giving the results so far as obtainable up to a late hour to-night.

If you are interested, watch the bulletin boards at the Examiner to-night.

Snow-Plowing Should Be Done In A Better Manner

Ald. Ball Says that the Outlying Districts are Neglected.

Ald. Ball is determined to have the snowplowing carried out in a more satisfactory manner than it has been for some time. At last night's meeting of the Council the alderman said that it was time the question of letting the snowplowing contracts was taken up, and not leave it until the people were buried up to their necks in snow. He called attention to the way in which snowplowing was done in the outlying districts. There, he said, the snow was not taken off, it simply looked as if it had been gone over with a crooked stick.

Ald. Hicks said that the matter would be dealt with at the next meeting of the Board of Works, which will be held this week.

$15.00 Per Horse Power, Offer Of The Otonabee Co.

If Lease of Dam No. 4 is Secured—500 Horse Power Will be Given at This Figure.

Otonabee Power Company Makes Voluntary Offer to City—Will Spend $150,000.

If the tender of the Otonabee Power Company for the lease of the power at dam No. 4, on the Otonabee River is accepted, the company offers to supply a quantity of power up to 500 H.P., to manufacturers, at $15 per horse power per annum.

To an Examiner representative today, an officer of the company explained the plans in connection with the proposed development.

The available power of No. 4 dam, transmitted to Peterborough is 500 horse power, and if this were developed by an independent company and, transmitted to Peterborough to pay interest on the investment, power would have to be sold at not less than $25 per horse power, which, of course, places it outside the reach of commercial practicability.

The proposal of the Otonabee Power Company, if the lease is secured on reasonable terms, is to develop the power at No. 4 dam, and convey it to the power plant at No. 5 dam by a canal along the west side of the river where it will be generated into electric energy.

This is a much less expensive method of development than it would be to generate the electric power by erection of a plant at No. 4 dam, and only by this plan being followed will cheap power be available in Peterborough from this source. It will thus be seen that the Otonabee Power Company is in a position, if the lease of the dam is secured; to serve the city in a very substantial manner. The ability to offer to manufacturers electric energy at $15 a horse power, per annum for ten years will, it can easily be seen, prove a strong incentive to them to locate here. The Company proposes to practically reconstruct its power house at No. 5 dam and $150,000 will be spent on this work, and in the construction of the raceway from No. 4 dam. The action of the Company in voluntarily offering an option of the power to the city, at a nominal price of $15 per horse power shows that it is interested in the industrial development of the city; the result which this offer, if conditions make its acceptance possible, will undoubtedly produce.

M. H. O. To Act As Inspector Pro Tem

Board of Health Have Not Yet Defined Duties of Milk Inspector.

Ald. McIntyre, chairman of the special milk committee, at the council meeting last night, stated that the Board of Health had not made any report as to the duties of a milk inspector. He said it was up to the council to take the matter into their own hands, or wait on the Board of Health. The bylaw comes into force on December 1st.

Ald. Ball moved that the Medical Health Officer act as inspector, until the Board of Health takes some action in the matter.

Ald. Duncan seconded the motion, which was carried.

BEAVER COLONY LOCATED AT WARSAW

Animals Are Labouring at Their Underground Home—Situated at the Foot of Quarry Lake on the Indian River—Dozens of Poplars Cut Down by the Industrious Animals---Have Been Seen at Work By a Village Resident.

Special Staff Correspondent.

The population of the village of Warsaw, the capital of Dummer township, has recently been increased by a new colony. The colonists are beavers, who are at present vigourously working on the Indian River just a few hundred yards from the heart of the village, and have already erected their domicile, where they will hibernate for the winter. Since the recent restrictions have been placed upon the killing of this sagacious animal it has gradually worked its way farther south to civilization, confident that its home will not be disturbed and that cold steel will not waylay its approach. The citizens of Warsaw are taking great pride in their new arrivals, and although many visit the scenes of their midnight labour, none disturb their little mansion.

There are probably a great many citizens of Peterborough who have read of the homes and the way they are constructed by the beaver, but few, however, have yet had the opportunity of personally viewing the fruits of their industry.

An Examiner representative visited the scene of their operations the other day and it was amazing to see the great work they had accomplished in building their winter home and in preparing their winter food.

The Beaver's Home

The colony is located just below the old mill, down at the foot of Quarry Lake, on the Indian River. They have built their house in a place which cannot be approached except by a canoe, so that the situation must have caused them considerable thought. Water surrounds the home, so that it can easily be entered without building a dam to supply sufficient water. A large pile of dirt, leaves and sticks, about five feet high, marks their earthly domain. Where this dirt came from or how they carried such a heap cannot be explained, but nevertheless it is there. The entrance to their cave is by water, but where it is cannot be seen.

Expert Lumberman

But the more tangible indication of the presence of the beavers lies on the section of the old dam which yet remains, and which is now an island. It is thickly covered with trees, poplar predominating. This is, of course, the reason why the animals have selected the spot for the scene of their operations, as their winter food is the bitter bark of the poplar. More than one hundred trees have been cut down by their sharp teeth, cut up into sticks of timber from a couple of feet in length to six or eight feet. The reported secured one about four inches in thickness from Oliver Douglas, a youth, who picked it up on the island. It shows the point where the tree had broken off from the stump and the marks of the animals teeth, which, judging from the smoothness of the ridges, must have been as sharp as a chisel. The piece of wood is at The Examiner office at the present time and may be seen by any person interested in the habits of the beaver.

Their Sagacity Shown

The largest tree gnawed through by the little animals was about eight inches in diameter. They have since been cutting it up into smaller pieces, and part of it, together with the stump, still remains on the old dam. A few of the trees lodged in branches of others, and as soon as the cunning animals discovered this they abandoned their work, knowing that it would be useless to cut the tree entirely from the stump. Many still hang partly gnawed.

The lengths of the pieces of sticks into which the trees are cut depends on the size of the tree. As soon as they are cut they are rolled down the bank into the stream and floated down to their house. Poplar, being a damp wood, easily sinks, and already hundreds of sticks can be seen beneath the surface in the vicinity of their home so that they may be easily procurable when the water freezes. The beaver lives on the bark, and can therefore pull the wood up to the underground home at leisure.

Another indication of the sagacity of the animals is seen from the fact that their work on the dam has been so far confined to the part where the water freezes early in the season. The section nearest their home has not yet been invaded, as the water at that point never freezes. They can therefore work there at any time.

Have Been Discovered

The beavers only work at night, and have been seen by Mr. George Tucker cutting down the trees. Where they came from is not known, but it is supposed that they followed the Indian River from Stony Lake.

The authorities of Warsaw are keeping a vigilant watch on the movements of the diligent animals, and will prosecute any person found disturbing or attempting to destroy them. They are a curiosity in Dummer, and the residents are hoping that the colony will survive.

THE REMEDY

It is expected that at the next session of Parliament the Dominion Election Law will share revision with the tariff, with the probability that the former revision will be the more drastic. One correspondent from the capital states that the Government has already given consideration to the subject, and a forecast is made to the effect that the penalties for the infraction of the law will be made much more severe. But no penalty, however severe, no law, no matter how exacting in its provisions, can eradicate reprehensible practices in elections, any more than the law against stealing can completely prevent theft. Without corrupt practices being general, there will always be some who will, in their party zeal, break the law. Parties may honestly desire that elections be honestly conducted, but individuals are ready to transgress, not because the success of their party demands it, but because they are human. Stringent laws may minimize corrupt practices, but not entirely eliminate them. Effective measures to the prevention of corrupt actions in elections can come only through the elevation of the moral sentiment of the elector to the point of holding his franchise as a trust, to be exercised under no influence but a desire for the best interests of the country. When that time comes the electorate will be incorruptible, and the occupation of the corruptionist gone.

STANDING ALONE

Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Minister of Railways and Canals, the other day addressed the Canadian Club at Ottawa on the subject, "The Intercolonial, Its Aims and Results." The aim of the Intercolonial was designed to link the Provinces of the new Confederation together and develop interprovincial trade. It has done both, but at a pretty large cost. For a third of a century the Intercolonial has been a going—behind—concern. For that term, nearly every year there have been deficits. In the course of his remarks, Mr. Emmerson said that last year the Intercolonial had a surplus, and would have another this year. He added that he might confidently say that the day of deficits on this national railway is past. Mr. Emmerson is entitled to no little degree of credit for this result. His careful, painstaking and business-like administration has given results that have come under no former management. It may be said that good times have been largely responsible. Of course, good times would account for increases of travel and other traffic, but at the same time, the expenses of everything that enters into railway operation have increased—wages, material, etc. Mr. Emmerson has recently advanced the wages of the employees. It is largely due to good management that the Intercolonial has been made to pay, and it is very largely due to Mr. Emmerson's application of business methods to its administration that such gratifying results have been forthcoming.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Canada's "white elephant" has changed its colour. The Intercolonial Railway is no longer a hearty feeder at the Federal treasury crib, but is self-supporting.

The wisdom of dividing city taxes into instalments and giving a discount for prompt payment is shown by the fact that this year, the payment for the August 15 period amounted to three-fourths—$94,487.21—of the total levy—$125,742.68—leaving $31,255.47 to be paid by November 15.

Next week, a conference between the Dominion Government and the Provincial Government interested in the extension of the boundary of Manitoba to Hudson Bay, will be held. This will probably result in Ontario adding a considerable slice to her territorial area and considerable shore line on the great inland sea, called Hudson Bay. We shall then have, in addition to our splendid fresh water fishing fields, salt water fishing available in our own territory.

The decision of the Court of Appeal, upholding the conviction of one Saunders, for conducting gaming houses, on the Woodbine race track, implies the idea that, though betting in booths, on race tracks, is illegal, it is not contrary to law to practice betting at large. Devotees of the turf can therefore play the ice races with no penalty, except for the crime of betting on the wrong horse.

The United States' courts are actively, and, in some cases, successfully, prosecuting the trusts, for crimes against the common weal consisting in criminal conspiracy to restrain trade. While the trusts are public enemies, robbers on a gigantic scale, it seems illogical for the central authority to visit punishment upon concerns whose operations are made possible by virtue of laws passed by the very body which is now using another set of laws in punishment of crimes that they have have legalized. The high tariff legislation of the United States, has made trusts possible and probable, and the latter are practically legalized by the laws that permit them to thrive, and put their screws, to the tune of countless millions upon the United States consumers.

Our southern neighbours are up to the eyes in politics to-day. In forty-two states to-day elections are in progress for the election of state governors, congressman, judges, etc. Our neighbours take their politics very seriously, and the fight is bitter, and absorbing, to the exclusion of almost every other consideration. The greatest interest centres in New York state, on which the contest for governor focuses the gaze of the whole Republic. The fight between Hughes and Hearst is largely dependent upon personal issues. President Roosevelt favours Hughes, and even descended from the presidential throne to take the stump in his interest. We shall see to what extent the president's personality, and personal preferences will exercise an influence upon the New York electorate.

Team Must Get Into Shape for Toronto Game

Every member of the Peterborough rugby team is asked to turn out to practice to-night at the rink at 7.30 o'clock. The locals will finish the season by playing the Argos in Toronto on Saturday and will make a big effort to win from the hardy oarsmen. A victory over the scullers will go a long way in atoning for the series of defeats which the locals have encountered this season. To have any chance of beating the Toronto bunch, however, the team must practice hard this week. The following are asked to turn out:—Mulhern, Easton, Gillespie, Quinlan, Ford, Hurtubise, Craig, Crowley, Crough, McDonald, Meagher, Gilbert, Carmichael, O'Connor, Dickson.

Executive To Deal With Matter

Quakers will Withdraw Unless Schedule is Followed

The secretary of the City League has received a communication from the Quaker club enclosing the following resolution, and asking that the matter be placed in the hands of the executive to be disposed of, as they see fit:

"Believing that we still have the game of October 27th to our credit since the protest entered by the C. G. E. was not considered at the meeting on Thursday night, resolved that we will withdraw our team from the city league, unless the schedule as originally drawn up by the executive be followed."

A meeting of the city league executive has been called for Wednesday night at 7.30 o'clock, at the Examiner office, to deal with the matter.

Ben Simpson Responsible For Tigers' Victory.

The Tigers have Ben Simpson to thank for the O.R.F.U. championship this year. Has Left Milwaukee to Take Position in Columbus.

A Milwaukee paper of a recent date has the following to say of an old Peterborough boy, a nephew of Mr. Jos. Dolan and who is very well known in this city:—

"Milwaukee will lose one of its most popular bowlers to-day, when Jimmy Dolan, the crack finger ball expert, will leave for Columbus, O., to take up the management of one of the big department stores in the Onio capital. Dolan, who is a member of the Blatz Wieners of the Badger League, the squadrons of the Mayor League and the Sentinels of the Business Men's League, has a host of friends in the local bowling colony and they wish him success in his new business venture. Dolan intends to remain in the bowling game and he will join one of the leagues in Columbus, as soon as he is settled in his new home. W. H. Terry tendered him a farewell banquet at his bowling alleys last night. A large number of prominent bowlers were present to give him a proper send off.

"Suffer" Wants Measure Abolished

The Clouds of Dust on the City Streets Subject of a Letter

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—The merchants as well as the pedestrians are with one accord crying out against the dust nuisance. What a farce for the council to award contracts for the watering of our streets and then not make the contractors live up to their agreement. They are not so lax in making us pay taxes for the same without any deduction for the default of the contractors. These contractors would not dare to disregard their obligation, were the council not derelict in their duty. It would be well for each ratepayer to ascertain whose fault it is and see that their services are dispensed with when the next municipal election comes around. Almost everyone you meet is complaining of having a bad cold, when the fact is, as any doctor will tell you, that it is caused by the dust. There are also many cases of sore eyes from the same cause, to say nothing of the propagation of consumption and other pulmonary diseases which the country is now combatting in a Titanic struggle by the aid of modern science and the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars. Better by far one ounce of prevention than a pound of cure.

Yours, etc.,

SUFFERER.

Threatened With Bright's Disease

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

This case well illustrates the way in which kidney diseases of the most serious form are developed from derangements of the liver, and emphasizes the extraordinary control which Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills possess over such complicated ailments.

Mr. John Wilson, 918 Esplanade avenue, Montreal, Que., writes: "Last February I was taken sick and had to have the doctor, who said that my ailments was a disordered liver. A few weeks after completing his treatment I began to notice symptoms of kidney disease. The urine took on a reddish appearance and continued to get worse, until there were brick dust deposits, and then I knew that the kidneys were seriously affected, and that I was threatened with Bright's disease.

"I obtained some of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and as a result of this treatment was completely cured. My water became a natural colour, and is still so. The cure was thorough and lasting.

"My first experience with Dr. Chase's Medicines was with Dr. Chase's Ointment, which completely cured me of itching piles, with which I was tortured for nearly twenty years. I am now perfectly convinced of the reliability of these two great medicines.

No medicine which acts on the kidneys alone can possibly prove effective, because in the great majority of cases the liver and bowels are also deranged. Because Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have a direct and combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels, they bring about satisfactory results in the most complicated cases.

By using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose at bedtime, as often as is necessary to keep the bowels in regular healthful action, you insure yourself against kidney disease and the subsequent suffering from Bright's disease, dropsy, apoplexy or other equally dreaded ailments.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are the most certain for constipation, biliousness and kidney disease. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

The Public Are Amazed

At the Great Sacrifice—Sensational Bargains—S. J. Sheridan Stock Selling Fast

Never in Peterborough's history of merchandising were such immense crowds of people seen in one store before. The National Salvage Company's closing out sale of S. J. Sheridan's clothing stock has attracted the people of Peterborough and surrounding country for thirty miles in all directions. The store has been crowded with eager buyers since the opening day, and the 20 extra sales people have been worked from morning until night supplying the vast crowds of patrons that are thronging the store daily. Such a great sacrifice sale of clothing was never given in Peterborough before, and will probably never occur again. The National Salvage Company say they are making tremendous sacrifices on the S. J. Sheridan stock, and are selling most of the goods at about one-half manufacturers' actual wholesale cost. Their reason for so doing is that they do not wish to move a dollar's worth of the clothing, and all of it will be sold in Peterborough during the ten days of this closing-out, quit business sale of the S. J. Sheridan stock. It certainly is a rare opportunity for the people of Peterborough and vicinity to outfit, especially so as it is right in the height of the season when you need the goods the most. A great many are taking advantage of this great closing-out, sacrifice, clothing sale—and well they may—as the prices are less than cost of the raw material, it is a time for clothing bargains, when one dollar will go as far as two would ordinarily. This coming Saturday, November the 10th, will be marked as the greatest day's selling of men's clothing, etc., ever attempted in Peterborough. The people are actually attending this sale from a distance of thirty miles, and no doubt were well repaid for their trip, as such a sacrifice clothing sale as this comes about once in a life time. At the way the merchandise was carried out upon the first day of the sale the entire stock should be sold inside of five days more. From remarks heard upon all sides, this clothing sale has proven a veritable feast for the public who are never slow to appreciate great bargains, the crowds attending were something wonderful and it is hard to imagine where all the people came from. It simply goes to show that when you sell goods away under the regular price you will always find people willing to take advantage of a money-saving opportunity, such as this closing-out clothing sale affords. Extra sales people have been added and this coming Saturday, November 10th, will no doubt see the greatest crowds of people in Peterborough to attend this closing-out clothing sale, that have ever been seen in this city heretofore.

Returned From States To Visit Old Home

H. W. Gill, of Portal, N.D., at Mount Pleasant—Other News From That Section.

Examiner Special

Mount Pleasant, November 5. —Mr. H. W. Gill, of Portal, N.D., custom officer, was here for a few days visiting with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McLean. Some twenty-five years ago he left here along with the other members of the family, and settled in North Dakota. Although living so long under the Stars and Stripes, he has a love for his native land—Ontario.

Mrs. William Marsh, after visiting at the parental home, along with her two daughters, returned home last week to Richmond Hill.

Messrs. Clew Morden and Arthur Brown have returned from Manitoba, after spending the summer there.

We have had warning of the near approach of winter, but we are unprepared for it. Many farmers still have their roots in the ground.

There was not much difficulty in housing the apple crop this season, as it was only about one-third the volume of the crop of 1905. Reports from other places say the crop of apples is a failure. Winter fruit, especially, is very scarce. Pears have been a failure also, in an orchard here, that should have produced 70 bushels. Only about 5 bushels of really good pears was the yield.

We have heard no sound yet of the drain digger in the Cavan swamp. What's wrong? "Large bodies move slowly."

The price of cheese has been good for the patrons this season.

Fine Display Of Cut Glass Ware

Diamond Hall Window Attracts Public Attraction

A window that is the object of considerable admiration is that of Frost's Diamond Hall. This window has always been well decorated, but Mr. Frost has surpassed himself in this attempt. The feature of the decorations is a beautiful display of cut glassware. These goods are of the very best make and of the latest pattern. The quality of the glassware, however, is greatly enhanced by the artistic grouping and by delicate surrounding shades. A large bouquet of carnations are made prominent by the surroundings and add to the beauty of the window. The whole effect is that of delicacy of colouring behind an excellent exhibit of crystal glass.

Up to date in every respect, Mr. Frost has arranged his lights in the window so that at night they are diffused from every direction. His signs, "Frost's," "Diamond Hall," are so arranged that at night, when the store is closed, the lights make them very prominent, and they are bound to attract pedestrians.

Otonabee Power Co. Submits Its Offer

To Supply 500 Horse Power of Electric Energy to Manufacturing Concerns at $15 Per Horse Power Per Annum—Letter from Company Read at Committee of the Whole Council Meeting Last Night.

The Otonabee Power Company last night made an offer to the council, (contingent upon the company securing a lease of No. 4 dam for power development purposes) which means great things for Peterborough, nothing less than to supply electric energy at $15 per horse power, for new industries. The offer holds good for any amount of power up to three hundred horse power.

The significance of the offer from the standpoint of the city, can easily be realized. It places Peterborough in a position to deal with manufacturers intending to locate here, on a definite basis, as the council will be able to point out to these manufacturers, that electric energy at $15 per h.p., can, and will be supplied.

The offer makes the carrying out of the agreement with the Coates Manufacturing Company, of Canada, Limited, a very easy matter, and relieves the council of any anxiety they may have had on that score.

The council met in Committee of the Whole, before the business session.

His Worship, Mayor Best, stated that the city had requested Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., to state what quantity of power they could supply, and had received the following letter:

Mayor Best,—

Dear Sir,—We beg to state that in the event of our securing a lease of Dam No. 4, upon reasonable terms, we are prepared to go ahead at once and develop the same. Our intention, if we secure the lease, is to develop the water powers of dams No. 4 and 5 under one development. By adopting this plan we hope to be able to generate much more electric power, than can possibly be developed by two independent plants and at fully one third of the cost.

We are advised by our engineers that under present conditions at Dam No. 4, not more than five hundred electrical horse power could be developed and delivered at the city of Peterborough and that at the whole of this power would require to be sold at a minimum price of not less than $18.50 per horse power in order to pay reasonable interest on total investment and by selling at that price there would be no provision made for depreciation.

We would be prepared to supply as soon as our plant is installed to the Coats Company and any manufacturers who may hereafter locate in Peterborough, five hundred electrical horse power at $15 per horse power per annum, to be taken from our main conducting wires for ten years.

Yours, etc.,
Otonabee Power Co., Limited,
W. H. Meldrum,
Managing Director.

Messrs. Hall and Meldrum, of the Otonabee Power Company, were both present. Mr. Meldrum said that by coupling Nos. 4 and 5 dams, they would get 3,000 horse power. A new power house would be built at No. 5 dam. This would be necessary under the new conditions. A raceway would be excavated, and a head of 27 feet could be obtained.

Mayor Best asked how long the offer would hold good?

Mr. Hall stated that it would be good as long as they had power to sell; they would give a ten year lease.

Mr. Meldrum said he thought the work could be done in less than a year.

Ald. Hicks said that the scheme seemd a good one, but in view of the negotiations with the Coates Company, he would like to have the company promise to renew the lease of power at the end of ten years.

Mr. Meldrum said that their company might be willing to go on with the lease at the end of ten years at the rate at which power was selling then.

Ald. McWilliams stated that he would be very favourable to the proposition.

It was moved afterwards by Ald. Hicks, seconded by Ald. Mason, that the matter be referred to the Manufacturers' Committee. — Carried.

Independency Of Knox Church Is Now Assured

Amicable Agreement Reached at Joint Meeting of Sessions Last Night—Question Will Come before Presbytery for Endorsation—Separation to Take Place New Years Day.

That Knox Presbyterian Church will become independent of St. Paul's in January, 1907, except by the common ties of faith which bind the two together, is now practically an assured fact. A joint meeting of the session of St. Paul's and Knox churches was held last night at the former and the proposition of separation was discussed. All present were unanimous in their opinion that it would be to the best interests of the congregations to promote the separation scheme and amicably reached the decision mentioned above.

The question was considered at the last Presbytery meeting in Hastings when a memorial was presented by Knox church stating they were desirous of separating. The following resolution was passed at the meeting referring the matter to the sessions of the two churches:—

"That the Presbytery refer the memorial back to these joint sessions, expressing its opinion that, in order to do effective work, Knox church should be entirely separated from St. Paul's, and have a duly ordained minister solely to themselves, to devote his entire time and energies to build up the congregation. The Presbytery further desires the mind of these joint sessions regarding their action, and report the same at the December meeting in Port Hope."

Rev. Dr. Torrance, Moderator, occupied the chair. The report of the session of Knox church regarding their congregational meeting of a few days ago was first presented, showing the result of the canvas for subscriptions. It also stated that so far as Knox church was concerned its office bearers had decided that they would be strong enough financially to become independent and able to support their own minister.

When the report was presented, the session of St. Paul's very cordially agreed that separation should take place so far as they were concerned on Jan. 1st, 1907. The decisions arrived at last night, however, must first be substantiated by the Presbytery which meets again on Dec. 11th, at Hope.

Representatives of both sessions will appear before the Presbytery on that date to state the results of the various meetings and conferences held.

The members of Knox church session immediately after this decision of St. Paul's was reached, all spoke in complimentary terms of the way in which the work at Knox church had been fostered, encouraged and sympathized in by the session and Board of Managers of St. Paul's church. They considered it was in a large measure due to these gentlemen that the work had come to the present style of usefulness.

In their reply several of the members of St. Paul's session indicated that they were pleased with the advancement at Knox church and wished the work there God-speed.

Fell Twelve Feet From Scaffold

Mr. Alvah Wilson was Badly Injured

Mr. Alvah Wilson, foreman for the Toronto Savings and Loan Company, met with a serious accident yesterday afternoon, which might quite easily have had a fatal termination. He is in charge of the renovation work at the Bank of Commerce building and went up on a scaffold to superintendend some work. In some manner he lost his balance and fell to the floor a distance of some ten or twelve feet. He received injuries to his back and legs, and his body was badly shaken up.

The injured man was carried into the manager's office, and afterwards conveyed to his home on Westcott street in a cab.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

FOR HIS SAKE

The Ernie Marks' Dramatic Company hold the boards for a five nights' performance at the Grand this week. If the large crowd which greeted these well known performers last evening is any criterion, both the management and the patrons will be served with a choice and edifying variety of entertainments. The play last evening, "For His Sake," was one of those bright, catchy dramas, with just enough love, adventure and excitement in it, to keep the audience in continual good humour. The entire company, judging by the ability displayed by each member last evening, is a well-selected one — the different characters being portrayed with a realism seldom seen outside of the leading companies. Ernie Marks as Col. Sandusky Doolittle, made a typical Kentucky gentleman, while Miss Kittie Marks as Madge Bryley, portrayed the little mountain maid and the unselfish heroine, to perfection. The other characters were also well received. The olio is a particularly good one, and contains many specialities, such as singing and dancing by little Miss Rosie Machan; a clever and acrobatic turn by Bedad and Bedard; an amusing clog dance by six young juvenile coons and difficult slack wire performances by Prof. R. Dee. All who were in attendance last evening could not fail to be well pleased with the fine evening's entertainment.

"An Irishman from Canada," is the title of the play to be given at this evening's performance at the Grand. The play was composed by Howard Wall, and is said to be a fine comedy and well worth hearing.

Wanted Earlier Date Set For Some By-Laws

Aldermen Afraid that the Bill of Fare on Election Day will be Too Big

At last night's meeting of the city council, Ald. McWilliams pointed out that there were an unusually large number of bylaws to be voted on, and stated that he thought the bill-of-fare, including, as it will, the election of aldermen, and likely a mayoralty contest, would be too heavy for one day's voting. Some of these bylaws might be voted on before the day of the municipal elections. There were the Collegiate Institute bylaw, the Smith street bridge bylaw, and others which could be voted on before that time.

Ald. Adams also spoke in favour of the proposal.

The Mayor demurred on account of the expense of voting on two separate days.

The matter will likely come up at the Committee of the Whole Council on Monday night next.

DRUNKEN MAN LOSES 60 DOLLARS

Before City Clerk Armstrong this morning, Edward Lee pleaded guilty to being drunk and disorderly on the corner of George and McDonel streets on Saturday. He was fined $2 and costs to be paid in ten days, or the usual sojourn at the gaol.

Edward Welsh presented a sorry sight, when he entered the prisoner's box this morning. He looked as if he had been through a Tiger-Argo Rugby match, he was so badly disfigured. His lips were swollen and cut, his nose badly bruised, and his hands considerably lacerated. His home is in Lindsay, and he went to a local livery stable yesterday and engaged a man to take him to Lindsay, where he had been working all summer. He was in an intoxicated condition and did not know very much of what he was about. In an inside vest pocket he had some $62, which he was relieved of. He says that he remembers nothing after having started on his drive. He certainly paid dearly for his liquor as he not only lost this money, but is also badly disfigured. The city clerk considered that he had been sufficiently punished and allowed him to go.

Bright Paper Has a Birthday

Lethbridge Herald One Year Old This Week.

With this week's issue the Lethbridge Herald, of which Mr. W. A. Buchanan, formerly of this city, where he was very well and favourably known, is the presiding genius, is celebrating its first birthday. The Herald is one of the most newsy of all the western papers, and is a credit to the young city of Lethbridge, and to its enterprising business head. If there are any better weeklies in the west the Examiner has yet to see them. The Herald is doing its best to boom Lethbridge, and, judging by the progress that is being made, it is succeeding pretty well. No doubt the Herald will live to celebrate very many happy birthdays yet.

Ald. Duncan Charges That Mr. D. Belleghem Has Charged for Use of Ambulance.

The ambulance question was brought up again last night by the report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee. Ald. Duncan asked that the clause appointing D. Belleghem, as custodian of the Dan Spence ambulance, be referred back to the committee. He stated that Mr. Belleghem had gone as far as five miles out of the city for patients, and he made a charge for the same. This, Ald. Duncan contended, was not fair to Mr. Comstock, who had a private ambulance.

Ald. Wilson also expressed the opinion that it was not fair for the city to go into competition against a private business man.

The clause was referred back to the committee, on motion of Ald. Duncan, seconded by Ald. Graham.

T. A. S. Literary Society Hold Their First Meeting

Large Assemblage — Good Programme — Rev. Father F. O'Sullivan Gave a Lecture.

Last evening the first regular concert of the literary section of the T. A. S. was held in the assembly hall at their rooms. In past years this feature of the society was always successful and well patronized. Not only that, but the people must have received many benefits, for these events were always marked by splendid lectures and good music. It was the literary section, too, of the T. A. S., that inaugurated the library and has since, to a great extent, financed it. Thus it has done a great work, and from last night's entertainment should long continue so doing. The hall was, as many times before, filled to its utmost capacity with a thoroughly appreciative audience, who listened attentively throughout to Rev. Father F. O'Sullivan's address. Father O'Sullivan, as founder of the society, is always a favourite with Peterborough people, and has taken a deep interest in the society and its efforts. His address on "Catholic Literature" last night was very appropriate, inasmuch as the T. A. S. is making an addition to its library.

REV. FATHER McCOLL

Who presided at the first meeting of the Literary Society of St. Peter's T. A. S. Last Night.

Father McColl presided during the evening, and the following clergy were also on the platform: Rev. Fathers Fitzpatrick, O'Brien, Bretherton, and the speaker of the evening, Rev. Father O'Sullivan.

The following is a synopsis of the programme:

Instrumental Selection, by Messrs. Holland, Cranfield and Theobald.

Vocal Solo, Miss N. Fitzgerald.

Vocal Solo, Mr. Jno. King.

Instrumental, Miss Kline.

Lecture by Rev. Father F. O'Sullivan, "Catholic Literature."

Instrumental Duet, Miss Doherty and Miss McCabe.

Vocal Solo, Miss L. Hallihan.

Instrumental Selection by Messrs. Holland, Cranfield and Theobald.

Vocal Solo, Mr. Jno. King.

The first number was an instrumental selection by Messrs. Cranfield and Holland with mandolins, accompanied on the piano by Mr. H. Theobald. This number was a popular one. Miss Fitzgerald's vocal solo was well received. Mr. John King made a hit in a splendid vocal solo, entitled "Go to Sea." He received a well-merited encore. After the address Misses Doherty and McCabe rendered a spirited duet, which was followed by a vocal solo by Miss L. Hallihan. Her number was enthusiastically received and she had to respond to a hearty encore. The mandolins and piano were again heard and elicited much applause. Mr. King's strong basso voice was heard to good effect in his rendition of "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep." Mr. King is a favourite with T. A. S. audiences.

The Lecture

"After the grace of God flowing into our souls through the medium of prayer and the sacraments, I know of no more soothing solace than good books." Rev. Father O'Sullivan thus introduced his address on Catholic literature.

He first dealt with the study of the classics, that is, those works which remain as monuments of good literature. They were primarily the works of the ancient Romans and Greeks. These dead languages have a beneficial effect upon students, young and old. First, one easily gets the meaning of a word through its derivation. Thus, one who has studied the classics has a great command of, and an easy key to, many languages. Then it adds to one's speech. All great writers and orators have been students of the classics. An oration is often made flowery and emphatic by words acquired through a thorough knowledge of Latin and Greek. Pitt, Gladstone, and, in our day, Laurier, all those famous men owe their oratorical renown to a thorough study of literature, and especially the classics. The speaker encouraged the young men to pursue this branch of study. It was one of the greatest means of fine, intellectual development.

In our own language there were three classes of literature and literary personages. The first are like Homer, Horace and Virgil, that is, they are the standard writers of English. The Bard of Avon, Milton, and other renowned English writers belong to this class. Then there is the literature of to-day. The popular authors are writing books that will not endure. They are not worthy of perusal, for it is a waste of precious time. The market is flooded with them, and from an educational standpoint they are practically worthless. Then there are the works of those authors who have attained sufficient fame by the beauty of their works to be always remembered by the English people. They might be called the popular English classics. There is a great number of writers, such as Wordsworth, Tennyson, Keats, Macaulay, and so on, and all their writings are held up as some of the most beautiful specimens of our language.

In the majority of these writings there is a materialism prevalent that was imparted by England's position as a leader in commerce and power. But this feature does not detract from the beauty of the writings. In the works of nearly all these men is found, physical, intellectual and moral beauty, such as is obtained from a purely religious atmosphere. Many of them show the effects of the old religion, and these are generally the most beautiful.

Wordsworth's "Sonnet to the Virgin Mary" was surely prompted through a love for Mary. It is as follows:

Mother! whose virgin bosom was uncrost,
With the least shade of thought of sin allied—
Woman! above all women glorified,
Our tainted nature's solitary boast,
and so on.

This and many more or Wordsworth's poems are coloured with a thought purely Catholic.

One writer said: "The Catholic spirit still hovers in the cloistered domes and alcove of Oxford." He meant that the famous scholars of that time were imbued, to a certain degree, with the spirit of Catholicity. The beauty of most of their works is the strong moral truth that is evident.

Then, coming down to our own time, among the many writers of today, there are some whose writings have the essentials to be called classics. Morris, Francis, Eagen, John Boyle O'Reilly and others, who have given to the literary world writings that will always be read. Then there was Thomas D'Arcy McGee, and Father Sheehan, and Father Benson, a son of the Archbishop of Canterbury, who has given to Catholic literature three of its best works.

The best book is that which upbuilds the intellect and strengthens the character. Therefore, the classics were the best reading for those who wished to be well educated. Father O'Sullivan again urged the young men and women to pursue this branch of study, and he gave a practical outline of the best way to succeed in it. After the address, Mr. Chas. Murty moved a vote of thanks to Father O'Sullivan for his kindness in giving his address, which was an interesting and beneficial one. Mr. N. Bibby seconded the motion. Father O'Sullivan expressed his gratitude at the appreciation of the audience of his efforts. Rev. Fathers Fitzpatrick, Bretherton and O'Brien expressed their pleasure at being present to hear Father O'Sullivan speak. The concert was closed by the singing of the National Anthem.

City Laying A Sewer On Aylmer Street

Mr. John Thirnbeck in Charge—Sewer and Sidewalk Work —A Difficult Piece of Work.

The city is doing a piece of sewer work by day labour on Aylmer street between Edinburg and Smith streets, and this stretch of work promises to be somewhat costly, by reason of the nature of the soil and the depth to which it is necessary to go, in order to give the houses on the lower side of the street the connection. Mr. John Thirnbeck is in charge of this work, in the absence of Mr. Evans, and is making an excellent job of it. Jack is a pretty busy man these days. In addition to this sewer work he has charge of a force of men laying four concrete street crossings. In all he has about a dozen men working under him.

The sewer on Aylmer street will be about 700 feet long, and it will be some days before it will be completed.

Gilmore Memorial Harvest Festival

Closed With a Most Successful Tea

The annual harvest home services and tea in connection with Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church, Smith, were concluded last night with the tea and entertainment. The tea was served in the basement of the church and was attended by a record crowd, a large number of whom were present from Peterborough. The tea served by the ladies of this church is recognized as of the very highest quality, and abundant evidence that it was appreciated was furnished last night, the Peterborough visitors giving special proof of this fact.

In the church, after the tea, a splendid programme was given, contributed to by members of the congregation and others. Addresses were given by visiting clergymen, including Rev. J. E. Trotter, of Port Hope, the preacher of Sunday.

Several musical numbers were given, and the contributors gave ample proof of their musical ability.

City May Take Over The Heating Co's System

Manufacturers' Committee Recommend That Committee of Whole Council Deal With Matter—Have Nothing But Good Things to Say of the System.

From the report of the Manufacturers' Committee last night it is altogether likely that instead of the city granting the franchise asked for by the Dominion District Steam Heating Co. to a company of local capitalists that they will take over the business as a Municipal enterprise if it proves a feasible scheme. A meeting of the whole council is called next Monday night to consider the proposal and as the deputations who visited Lockport and other cities last week have nothing, but good things to say of the heating system it looks very much as if the city will take charge of the business.

The Manufacturers' Committee reported as follows:—

1.—In view of the circumstances attending the vote taken on October 2nd, we recommend that the by-law to aid the Rapid Tool Co., be again submitted to the ratepayers on the day of the Annual Municipal Elections, and that the Council strongly recommend to the electors the passing of the by-law and agree to take all necessary steps to carry it into effect.

2.—Your committee received a proposition from Messrs. Freedman & Penwick representing Mr. Samuels, of Chicago, to establish a cigar factory here. They said they would employ about 50 hands and within six months expected to employ 100. The men employed would be paid from $15 to $25 per week, and the women and boys $5 to $12. They would pay at the beginning $1,000 to $1,200 per week. They asked for a fixed assessment for a term of years and we recommend that the proposition be agreed to and a by-law prepared.

3.—Your committee sent representatives to Lockport, and other places to inquire into the District Steam Heating System and having considered their reports, we recommend that at the meeting of the Committee of the Whole Council be held on the evening of Nov. 12 to consider the advisability of looking into the matter further with a view to establishing it as a municipal enterprise.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

R. F. McWILLIAMS, Chairman.

Ald. McWilliams stated that the Dominion were entirely indifferent as to whether the city took over the business or gave a contract to a local company.

The Board of Works was last night granted a further sum of $1,500 to enable them to carry on much needed repairs on certain streets, whose present condition is a disgrace to the city. This money will be taken from the Fire, Water and Light Committee and other sources. Repairs will be made on Water street, north, and other places where they are urgently needed.

The grant was made last night on motion of Ald. Adams, seconded by Ald. Elliott, the Finance Minister, Ald. Mason, reporting that sufficient money was available for this work.

Ten Per Cent. of Sales Donated to the Association.

Mr. A. W. Cressman is giving a practical evidence of his interest in the work of the Young Women's Christian Association. He announces that Saturday, Nov. 10th, will be "Y.W.C.A. Day," and that on that day 10 per cent. of the entire sales in his stores will be donated to the funds of the Association to be used for the prosecution of the work of that organization in this city.

Those who are interested in the cause for which the Association stands will now have an opportunity of helping it, and at the same time not paying out anything directly. The prospects are that the funds of the Association will, as a result of this special day's sales, be largely augmented.

Lighting Clause Referred Back To The Committee

Fire, Water and Light Committee Have Obtained New Information Since They Decided to Recommend the Granting of the Request of Peterborough Light and Power Co.

The question of whether the city will agree to the Peterborough Light and Power Company's request, to be allowed to change the present street lighting system, is not yet settled, although the report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, at the meeting of the council last night, contained a recommendation to that effect. Since the meeting at which that recommendation was decided upon, the committee has gained further information, and will not hurry the matter through.

The recommendation was as follows:

That, provided the Peterborough Light and Power Company, will hang the street lights in the centre of the streets where directed to do so by this committee, will furnish lighting for the municipal offices, police station and fire hall, up to the number of 150 16 c.p. incandescent lamps, free of charge, and agree to keep the street lamps turned on until one o'clock a.m., on nights when there is not clear, unclouded light from the moon, in addition to the 300 full nights mentioned in their present agreement with the city, this committee recommend that the council approve of the substitution of 7.5 ampere enclosed arc lamps of a pattern approved by the committee, for the lamps now used for street lighting.

This was referred back to the Fire, Water and Light Committee, in view of further information on the subject which had been obtained by the committee, which made it advisable to reconsider the matter.

A Former Resident Died In Spokane

Mr. Edward Smith who died in United States—Buried in St. Joseph's Douro.

Examiner Special.

Indian River, Nov. 6.—The body of Edward Smith, who died in Spokane, Wash., on the 25th of October, arrived at Indian River station on Saturday. Deceased, who was 35 years of age, was a son of the late John Smith, who at one time was proprietor of the Heeb ing Hotal at Indian River.

Mr. Smith left here just ten years ago and began working in he mines in British Columbia. He worked there for some time. About two years ago he found his health failing him and decided to retire from work until such time as his health would be improved. After a couple off retirement he began at the mining works. About a year ago he again found himself in declining health, and his attack brought on consumption, and despite all medical treatment, nothing seemed to improve his condition, and, after lingering for nearly a year, his death came on October 25. His mother, Mrs. O'Brien, and sister, Mary, of East City, were at his bedside when he was claimed by the hand of death. They also accompanied the remains here on Saturday last. Interment took place in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Douro, on Sunday morning, and the large cortege showed the high esteem in which the young man had always been held.

He leaves to mourn his loss a mother, and two brothers, Patrick, who is in Montana, and John, who resides at home. The sisters are Mrs. John McKenty and Mrs. John Lonergan, of this place; Mrs. James Conroy, Peterborough; Mrs. Daniel McKenty, Montana, and Mary, Louisa and Veronica, who now reside at home.

IN THE FRENCH CHAMBER.

Deputies Assemble and Carry Ministerial Policy by Immense Majority.

Paris, Nov. 6.—Parliament re-assembled yesterday. The Chamber of Deputies was crowded when the Cabinet Ministers entered, and all eyes were on Premier Clemenceau and War Minister Picquart, but there was no demonstration of an extraordinary nature.

The Premier, when he read the Ministerial declaration of policy, was followed attentively and evoked several rounds of applause, especially when he announced that the law separating church and state, as applied, would insure full exercise of liberty and conscience.

A motion approving the Government's program was carried by the great majority of 395 to 96.

The debate which followed the declaration of policy was confined exclusively to the matter of the separation of church and state. There was a perfect volley of interpellations with the object of learning the intention oft he Government in the matter of application of the law of separation.

MUTINY OF BRITISH TARS.

Recent Order of a Short Statured Officer to Kneel.

Portsmouth, Eng., Nov. 6.—A mutinous outbreak on the part of five or six hundred sailors Sunday night necessitated the immediate mobilization of the entire force of the naval barracks here in order to prevent the affair from developing into a serious mutiny.

The men had assembled in the gymnasium when the senfor officer, a man of short stature, wishing to administer a reprimand for breach of discipline, ordered the front ranks to kneel so that he could see the men in the rear.

The order was resented and some of the sailors who refused to obey were arrested. Their comrades, aggrieved, ran amuck, wrecked the canteen and other premises, started to break out of barracks with the intention of wrecking the quarters of the obnoxious officer, and were only prevented from so doing by the fixed bayonets of an overwhelming force.

A number of the men who attempted to break out of barracks also were arrested.

Quality Was Inferior And The Price High

One Expert's Opinion of Some Ontario School Books.

THE TEXT-BOOK COMMISSION

Charles B. Fleming of Norwood, Mass., Offers to Produce a Better Book at a Lower Figure—Thinks Better and Cheaper Work Would Result If One Firm Was Given the Whole Contract For a Term of Years.

Toronto, Nov. 6.—The Ontario Textbook Commission heard only one witness at yesterday afternoon's session, Mr. Chas. B. Fleming of the Norwood Press, Norwood, Mass., who gave expert testimony. He criticized the Ontario public school books chiefly from the standpoint of the binding, which, he said, was inferior to that of the school books published by his firm, as well as being higher priced. He would produce the public school books in a much more durable style at the following prices:—Ontario Readers—First Book (first part), 6 1-10 cents per copy, (second part) 6 9-10 cents; Second Reader, 9 1-5 cents; Third Reader, 11 3-10 cents; Fourth Reader, 13-3-4 cents; Public school Arithmetic, 9 4-5 cents; Public School Grammar, 11 1-2 cents. The readers would be sewn with thread, and would be superior to the present books. The grammar and arithmetic would be reinforced in the binding.

Mr. Fleming said that the maps in the geography should be printed on better paper than used in the other portion of the book, which was not the case with the Public School Geography. He did not think uniform printing could be done in a book which was printed by three firms, as the ink would not be uniform.

Mr. Fleming agreed with Mr. Cooper's suggestion that one firm, if given the contract for printing the whole of the school books for a term of years, could put in the latest machinery and do the work in an up-to-date manner, at a less price than ruled at present.

The commission adjourned till 11 o'clock this morning. Hon. S. H. Blake, K.C., and Mr. W. A. H. Kerr, representing the W. J. Gage Co., the Copp, Clark Co. and the Canada Publishing Co., arranged at the outset for a copy of the evidence being furnished to them, and for the hearing of representatives of the companies in question next week, if they wish to testify. Mr. Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., was to have looked after the interests of the three firms in connection with the inquiry, but he is ill at present.

BULLET FOR BRAVE COLONEL.

But This Mishap to Russian Soldier May Have Been Accidental.

Nizhni-Novgorod, Russia, Nov. 6.—Col. Bozheranoff of the Viborg regiment, of which the German Emperor is honorary commander, was seriously wounded yesterday by a bullet fired by a member of his own command, while the soldiers were practicing volley firing with blank cartridges. It is stated that the shot was fired accidentally.

During the Russo-Japanese war the Viborg regiment distinguished itself at the battle of Sha River, and was more than decimated at the battle of Putiloff Hill, for gallantry on which occasion Col. Bozheranoff was decorated by Emperor William.

Immense Soo Canal Traffic.

Detroit, Nov. 6.—With six weeks of navigation yet to come, the Soo canals have already broken the record of the greatest year in their history in point of tonnage, which was in 1905, when it reached 44,270,680. Up to the first of November this year's tonnage has exceeded that of the entire season of 1905 by 134,000 tons. The tonnage for October was over 7,000,000, the greatest month of all. This year's tonnage will be double that of 1900.

Afraid of Spitting Law.

Montreal, Nov. 6.—Recorder Weir heard complaints yesterday against two young men who were arrested on Sunday for spitting on the sidewalks on St. Catharine street. These are the first cases which have resulted from the enforcement of the new city bylaw in this connection. The recorder said he did not wish to express an opinion on the new law, and the men were allowed to go on suspended sentences.

Bulgarian Cabinet Resigns.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 6.—The Petroff Cabinet has resigned, as it did not enjoy the cordial support of Parliament. Minister of the Interior Petroff, the leader of the Stambuloff party, which now has a majority in the Chamber, will form a new Cabinet.

Struck by a Second Train.

Brighton, Nov. 6.—Wm. Yarrow, living near Brighton, was killed about a mile east of Brighton Station yesterday by noon train going west. Yarrow was standing on the track watching a down train go by when the up express hit him.

Millions of Stamps Useless.

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—Millions of postage stamps belonging to the Government have been rendered useless. They were part of the reserve stock, placed in a new strong room in the postoffice. They became damp and stuck together.

True Bills Returned.

Toronto, Nov. 6.—The criminal assizes got down to business yesterday with Justice Riddell on the bench and H. H. Strathy as crown prosecutor. The grand jury returned true bills against the Toronto Railway Co. for maintaining a common nuisance; John O'Meara, perjury, and Patrick Doyle, attempting to carnally know a girl under 14 years of age.

Burk's Falls Man Killed.

Sundridge, Nov. 6.—David Henderson of Burk's Falls, who was visiting relatives in the Township of Joly, while hunting on Saturday, was accidentally killed by the discharge of his own gun. It is supposed he stumbled and fell. His companion hurried to him after hearing the shot, but he lived only a few minutes. He leaves a wife.

BOTH WILL WIN.

Claims Made By Republicans and Democrats On Eve of Polling.

Washington, Nov. 6.—The campaign in forty-two states for the election of the sixtieth Congress passed into history last night. Besides the Congressional balloting, twenty-three states elect Governors. Arizona and New Mexico will accept or reject a jointure in statehood. Oklahoma and the Indian Territory will adopt a state constitution, and twenty states will choose Legislatures which, in turn, will elect United States Senators.

The Republicans claim the next house by fifty; the Democrats claim it by twenty-two.

New York, Nov. 6.—Both Hughes and Hearst leaders last night claimed majorities ranging up to 200,000. Murphy says Hearst will carry New York City by about 130,000. Betting is 4 1-2 to 1 on Hughes.

CRIES OF "LYNCH HIM."

Bricks Hurled at a Car, Crowd Stops a Radial in Hamilton.

Hamilton, Nov. 6.—Last night in vigorously using his baton in dispersing a street car strike crowd Policeman Campaign cut open the head of Dennis Bennett, the recent winner of the Chicago Marathon race. There were cries of "Lynch him," and the officer was hurried away. Bennett will lay a complaint with the commissioners.

Bricks were hurled at a car being sent out to Burlington, but fortunately no one was hurt. At another place a radial car was stopped, but later completed its journey.

Public sympathy seems to be with the striking street car men, who will attempt to meet the situation by running busses and motor cars.

Lindsay Well Pleased With The Government

In Its Treatment of That Town in Respect to the Trent Canal—Many Improvements Have Been Effected.

Lindsay is evidently well pleased with its treatment by the Dominion Government in connection with the Trent Canal. The Post of that town says:—

The passing of all streams tributary to the Trent Canal under the regis of the Dominion Government has already been attended with results calculated to lead our citizens and the people of the district to hope that in the near future the good work already accomplished, will be doubled and trebled in this locality.

There is need of many improvements. Probably 90 per cent. of the traffic on the Trent Canal centres on the nine mile stretch between Sturgeon Lake and Lindsay, the freight and passenger business being truly enormous. This traffic is handled under disabilities all the more to be deplored because easily removable, but while the waters remained under divided control it was found difficult to get the right thing done at the right time. Now that the Dominion Government is in full control we hope that a new lock and dam and improved canal basin will be speedily undertaken, and that the channel between the town and the lake will be straightened. In the meantime we point with satisfaction to what has already been accomplished.

This season a new dock has been built at Coboconk. This is a great help to steamboat men, and is very much appreciated by the people of Coboconk.

A new dock has been built at Chemong Park. This was also necessary, and is a great convenience to the steamboat men and travelling public.

Sturgeon Point dock has been repaired and is now in first-class shape.

The Lindsay street and Wellington street bridges have been overhauled and painted. The Lindsay street south bridge will be replaced at once with a new bridge on concrete piers.

The water in the river between Sturgeon Lake and Lindsay has been good all season—at no time has there been low water as in days gone by. This has been appreciated by our excursion trade, and we hope that next year, when the channel is buoyed out properly, that our excursion trade will increase.

Certainly the Dominion Government deserve credit for the way they are looking after the important interests on the Trent Canal and waters adjacent thereto. We hear nothing from the steamboat men, the lumber men and power companies but praise of the way in which the water has been controlled during the last year.

War Against the Trusts Being Strongly Waged

Sugar and Standard Oil Trusts in the Toils.

The sentencing of the New York Central to pay a fine of $108,000 for giving the Sugar Trust a secret rebate on freight rates, and the conviction of the Standard Oil Company in a county court at Findlay, Ohio, on a criminal charge of conspiracy in restraint of trade, prove that at last the artillery that is being brought to bear in the warfare against the Trusts is beginning to find the range and prove effective. One of the counsel for the prosecution in the case against the Standard Oil Company exclaimed, when the jury rendered its verdict, "This is the beginning of the end of Trusts in the United States." The verdicts are certainly to be regarded as marking a new era in the campaign against those corporations in the United States which control trade and dictate prices and terms, in defiance of the law of the land.

Both cases were tried before juries. The New York Central case arose out of the action of certain Detroit dealers in the spring of 1901 receiving a consignment of 10,960 barrels of sugar by water from the seaboard at the rate of 13 cents per 100 pounds. The dealers threatened to get all their sugar in that way. In order to hold their trade, the Sugar Trust arranged with the New York Central to receive a secret rebate on the regular railway rate. The railway company at the trial attempted to shift the responsibility upon its official who had made the arrangement, but the Elkins Law, under which the prosecution was undertaken, was specially framed to make the illegal act of a corporation the act of the corporation itself. The railway's audit accounts had been destroyed, but the banks were subpoenaed to produce the telltale drafts.

In fining the company $108,000 (almost the maximum provided by the law, which would have been $120,000), and its traffic manager, Mr. Pomeroy, $6,000, Judge Holt said: "Such a violation of law is much more heinous than the ordinary, common, vulgar crimes usually brought before the criminal courts. Those are crimes of sudden passion and temptation. These crimes we are dealing with were committed by men of education, business experience, and standing in the community, and as such they should be expected to set an example of obedience to the law, on the maintenance of which the security of their property depends."

The case against the Standard Oil Company disclosed the elaborate system of "holding" companies devised for the purpose of making it difficult to locate the responsibility for the illegal acts proved. One of these companies was the Manhattan Oil Company, whose business was the pumping of crude oil. Of the 1,500 shares of that company, only five were held in Ohio, the remaining 1,495 being held by the General Industrial Development Syndicate, Limited, of London, England, which was found to be located in a small room in London, the door of which bore the names of seven other syndicates. The syndicate in question has two officers, one of whom, a secretary, named Francis, declared he "had no information to communicate," and the other, a director, Mr. H. M. Johnson, could not be located, and was said to be absent on a hunting trip.

The fines which may be imposed in this case, if the conviction is not quashed upon appeal, may amount to $8,000,000, the penalty provided being from $50 to $5,000 per day for each day in which the Anti-Trust Law of Ohio has been violated. Similar cases against Mr. John D. Rockefeller and three other companies controlled by the Standard Oil Trust and operating in Ohio are ready to be gone on with. The spectacle of the richest man in the world in the dock, standing his trial on a criminal trial of violating the Anti-Trust Law of Ohio, is one which the trust magnates would, a few years ago, have believed to be as remote as the Greek Kalends. Certain rapid developments of late have brought remote things unpleasantly near for these gentlemen.—Montreal Herald.

Balloon Flies 70 Miles An Hour

Lands Passengers in Tree-Tops in Short Beach, Conn.

Special to The Examiner.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 7. — Capt. Homer W. Hedge, and Lieut. Samuel L. Butler, of the United States Signal Corps, with Aeronaut Leo Stevens of New York, landed at Short Beach, on the Sound shore at 7.15 to-night, after an exciting trip from Pittsfield, Mass., in the balloon Centaur. The trip was in charge of Stevens, while Captain Hedge and Lieut. Butler carried instruments to record the height and velocity of the balloon.

The balloon at one time attained a height of 5000 feet, and the the aeronauts claim that they were travelling at a speed of 90 miles an hour at one time, which is the fastest time any of them have ever been carried through the air.

The drop to earth was made from from a distance of over 3000 feet, and the balloonists landed in the trees a short distance from the water. The balloon is still in the trees. The aeronauts say it is their last trip this season.

Call in and see what we are offering in Ladies' Coats and Furs for the balance of this week, we have put on prices that you cannot get at the end of the season. These are not old out of style garments but all bought this season. Don't forget that our Great Power of Money Sale positively closes on Saturday Nov. 10th.

Duck Hunters Are Meeting With Luck

Paris Has An Army Of 50,000 Thugs

Dreaded "Apaches" Commit 200 Burglaries a Day in French Metropolis.

Examiner Special.

Paris, Nov. 7.—More and more are the "Apaches" or Hooligans of Paris drawing attention to themselves by their murders of each other or of law-abiding citizens, by the fights between their different gangs, and by burglaries as well.

It has been remarked many a time that most of the big crimes perpetrated in this city are committed by mere youths, who seem to be utterly devoid of the ability to draw a distinction between right and wrong, and whose cynical demeanor when they are caught indicates that they rather glory in their infamy than otherwise. The moral has been pointed over and over again, but the evil has not abated.

Some critics hint that the police might be more active, but it is plain that they are not sufficiently numerous to cope with such a lamentable state of affairs. According to one estimate just published, there are upwards of 50,000 individuals who are ready for any enormity, and who deliberately act the agents of the law at defiance.

There are 10 times as many attacks of a night on peaceable persons in Paris as there are in London, while no less than 200 burglaries are committed every day in this city. The police, it is aided, have only leisure to occupy themselves with the very worst cases, as they are impotent to deal with the whole lot.

Hundreds Fight At A Funeral

For $3,000 Found Sewed Up in His Trousers.

Examiner Special.

Ansonia, Conn., Nov. 7. — Harry Lintsky, who died in a New Haven hospital, had so many mourning friends and relatives at his funeral here to-day that the police force of the town was called out to keep order. Lintsky was a quiet man, with few friends and fewer relatives. When his body was brought to the home of Mrs. Harry Cohen here yesterday the undertaker found $3,000 sewed up in his trousers.

The news spread and "friends and relatives" appeared from all sides. Mrs. Cohen demanded the custody of the trousers. Four women got the coffin and locked it in a room. The undertaker broke a window, got into the room and held the trousers against all comers. He refused to allow any one to enter and asked who would take charge of the funeral.

A score of men and women insisted on the privilege, claiming at the same time the custody of the pair of trousers. The din became so loud that 500 persons congregated about the house.

The confusion became so great that the undertaker called Chief of Police Ellis and turned over the trousers to him. The chief had his man scatter the crowd and ordered the funeral to proceed.

Ellis found friends who said Lintsky had a widow in Philadelphia. They got a lawyer who, after much dickering, secured possession of the trousers and wired the widow to hurry to Ansonia. The funeral was delayed three hours.

Time Changes Many Things

Advances Being Made To-day Just as Actively as in the Past.

Quarter of a century ago there were many makers of custom-made shoes in the cities. Is there one known to-day—really known?

Machinery, supplemented by method, made better shoes, finished them better, and fashioned them right, so that all men could get the style they wanted, the size they wear, and the width that would fit.

A shoe in B width does not necessarily mean that its wearer must buy a suit of clothes of Semi-ready physique type B. But the physique type system of tailoring, used only by the Semi-ready tailor shops, assures the same variety in sizes of suits or overcoats as do the shoe sizes and widths. With this perfect system it is possible to make up, ready to be fitted on and finished in an hour, a suit of clothes from the best and most expensive cloths. It can never be dead stock. For every Semi-ready type there is a man. Cressman's have all the new Semi-ready styles, and the exclusive agency for Peterborough and district.

It is said that nearly 8,000 school gardens exist in Austria, not including the sister kingdom of Hungary. They are connected with both private and public schools, and are used for purposes of practical instruction in horticulture and tree-growing, and often contain botanical museums and bee hives.

Toronto Men at Keene Bagging Many—Coming Events of Interest in That Village.

(Examiner Special.)

Keene, November 5th. — Mr. W. Campbell and Miss Lillian Campbell, are visiting friends in Toronto.

Rev. Mr Harcourt of India, conducted services in the Presbyterian church, Sunday, giving an account of mission work in India.

The annual bachelors' ball will be held in the town hall, on Friday evening, November 9th. About one hundred invitations have been issued.

Mrs. Neill of Toronto, is visiting friends in the village.

The township road gang was at work in the village last week, grading the street and filling in the old ditch in front of Stillman Bros.' shop.

Arrangements are being made for a concert under the auspices of the Presbyterian Y. P. S. C. E., about Christmas week. The Village Improvement Society also intend holding a concert soon.

The bridge construction gang began work on the Keene bridge on Thursday, and it is expected that it will be ready for traffic about the middle of the month.

The cheese factories have all closed down. Lang factory commenced making butter on Tuesday, Nov. 6.

A number of Toronto duck shooters arived on Saturday, and are registered at Oak Lodge, Mr. Jas. Ashburn's popular resort. The cold weather is making the ducks more plentiful, and Mr. Ashburn's hospitality is taxed to the utmost.

The usual number of gates were taken off and hidden on Hallowe'en night, but beyond that very little mischief was done.

NEWSPAPER MEN ARE NOT SO BAD

A printing office is usually considered a rather tough place and the newspaper worker a mighty bad man. Statistics, however, do not bear out that idea. Of 3,800 in the Texas penitentiary, there is not a printer or a newspaper man, while there are ministers, lawyers, music teachers, doctors, bankers, cooks, photographers, barbers and members of other professions and callings. The printer gets a bad name because the nature of his business teaches him to detect shams, and scorn hypocrites.—Phoenix.

WHAT
Fruit-a-tives
OR "FRUIT LIVER TABLETS" ARE

Fruit-a-tives are the marvels of modern medicine. They have accomplished more actual cures—done more good to more people—than any other medicine ever introduced in Canada for the time they have been on sale.

Fruit-a-tives are fruit juices. They are nature's cure for —CONSTIPATION

—BILIOUSNESS
—BAD STOMACH
—DYSPEPSIA
—HEADACHES
—IMPURE BLOOD
—SKIN DISEASES
—KIDNEY TROUBLE
—RHEUMATISM
—IRRITATED HEART

Fruit-a-tives are the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes. These juices are concentrated—and by a secret process, the juices are combined in a peculiar manner. This new combination is much more active medicinally than fresh juices—yet so perfect is the union that Fruit-a-tives act on the system as if they were in truth a natural fruit, medicinally stronger than any other known fruit.

To this combination of fruit juices, tonics and internal antiseptics are added, and the whole made into tablets.

These are Fruit-a-tives—sold everywhere for 50c a box or 6 boxes for $2.50.

Humble Pie

By Louis J. Strong

Copyright, 1905, by P. C. Eastment

"You're a heartless coquette! You've driven my boy away forever! He's gone—he's gone!" Mrs. Hale wailed, with angry, tearful eyes.

"Gone?" Dora repeated, the indignant red fading from her cheeks.

"Yes, gone! And I hold you little better than a murderer, miss!" with which startling declaration she was leaving when Dora caught her arm.

"Mrs. Hale, please tell me, do you mean that Steve is really gone now?"

"Yes, I do mean that he is really gone now!" Mrs. Hale's eyes snapped with vindictive satisfaction at the girl's distress. "He went across country in his buggy, meaning to stop at his uncle's to tell them goodby. He'll take the train at Lynchburg. Oh, I'll never see him again, and it's your doing, you good for nothing"— She left the unpleasant epithet unspoken and stalked away.

Dora fled to her room and fell upon her bed in a tempest of grief. It had not seemed possible that Steve could carry out his threat and leave her. As she thought of it the long years ahead without him seemed to envelop and smother her. She sprang up, gasping. She must get out.

"I'm going for a long ride, mamma," she announced later, and, pulling her cycling cap over her swollen eyes, she rushed away.

She skirted the village with head down, vowing she would not speak to a soul, but an insistent voice hailed her from a small house out on the road, and Miss Prissy Allen, the old maid seamstress, hurried to her.

"Of all people in the world!" Dora groaned, dreading the sharp eyes and usually sharper tongue of Miss Prissy.

"I've heard all about it, Dora," Miss Prissy said bluntly, but with unwonted kindness. "I happened to be there when Mrs. Hale came from your house, and her wrath boiled over to me. I was just going to see you. I—I—want to—advise you, my dear girl. Don't let foolish anger and foolish pride ruin your life. Never mind what Steve said or did. You know he loves you, and you love him. Let everything go. Think of the long years"—

"Oh, Miss Prissy," Dora broke in tragically, "I do think of them and how

HE STOPPED, BLOCKING HER WAY.

I'm to live through them. I can't! It will kill me!"

"Yes, you can—you will—live through them and grow withered and hard and sharp tongued and unlovely, as I have. Folks can't die any time they please, and you can live with a heart like a desert of ashes."

"Oh, Miss Prissy, do you mean"—Dora hesitated, the unasked question in her wide eyes.

"I mean that I was a hot headed, proud young fool. I would not yield an inch. I told him to go, and he went and never came back. I might have brought him back at first, but I wouldn't, and see what I am."

"But, Miss Prissy, Steve declared he would go if I—if I"—

"Yes," Miss Prissy interrupted, "that's man's way. And you told him to go, never dreaming he'd do it. That's woman's way. And you're both miserable. He'll marry, likely, though he'll never care as much for another. That's man's way too. And you—you're not the kind that changes. Look at me and see what you'll be! But you mustn't. I've opened my grave to you as a warning. Make it up with Steve now at any cost. Write to him, and be sure you eat your share of humble pie. You deserve it, I dare say, for you are a bit of a flirt, Dora. Write at once and every day till you hear from him." And she bolted into the house, leaving Dora staring at the unexpected romance, the secret of Miss Prissy's lonely life.

What a pitiful tragedy, rather! And one could live on and on! Oh, if she could see Steve! It might be weeks before a letter! If she could only see—She stopped abruptly, shocked with the audacity of a thought that popped into her head. The next moment she swerved from her course and sped away on the trail of Steve.

She was uncertain of the distance. It might be fifteen or twenty-five miles; but, long or short, she would make it in time. He was going to stop at his uncle's. That was a guidepost.

The open surprise and curiosity of Steve's relatives at the questions as to his movements from the flushed purser, little more than a stranger to them, overwhelmed her with an agony of embarrassment. It was plain that they had heard nothing of the short engagement and its violent rupture, and she was not in a position to explain, for only humiliating defeat might meet her attempt at reconciliation. She was obliged to leave them with an obviously unflattering opinion of a girl who was confessedly chasing a young man and who only blushed painfully and looked distressed instead of giving satisfactory reasons.

"That was a big piece of humble pie. It almost choked me!" she gasped when once more pedaling for dear life. "But, anyhow, I know he's going to stop twice more and intends taking the early train at Lynchburg. It was worth it to learn so much. I can—I will—make it!"

Noon came and passed. The weary miles seemed to stretch interminably, but she pushed on, feeling that the only impossibility in existence was failure. A friendly boy assured her of the route and gave her directions for saving a couple of miles.

This maneuver came near being her Waterloo, for on the crosscut she met young Lawson, a one time suitor, whom she had rejected in favor of Steve.

"Why, Miss Dora!" He stopped, blocking her way. "Are you lost or merely working off injured feelings?"

"Neither!" she replied curtly, attempting to pass.

He ungallantly wheeled his horse, preventing her, saying slyly: "Your face answers as to your feelings. I might ask you how you like the sack yourself, but I'm generous. Oh," he laughed at her look of surprise, "it's no secret that Steve shook you and put out this morning."

"You are very wise!" she retorted, endeavoring to pass.

"Oh, it's common wisdom," he grinned, still preventing her. "It wasn't gentlemanly of Steve to jilt a girl so publicly. Come, now; let me make you Mrs. Lawson at once, and you'll turn the laugh on him good and hard."

"Steve did not jilt me! I was to blame myself!" Dora flared. "Let me pass, please. I must go on!"

"Why, you don't mean that you're tagging the fellow to try to coax him back?" he jeered insolently.

Scarlet, but disdaining denial, Dora evaded him and fled, murmuring with a long breath: "That was a horrible piece of humble pie! But it's better than eating bitter bread the rest of my life!"

With a sickening fear that she was already too late, she scorched desperately over the remaining miles and dashed, panting and disheveled, into Lynchburg, coming almost immediately upon Steve, with Don and the buggy, at a sale stable. With a pang she noted that Steve was pale and haggard. He, too, had suffered, and yet he looked so stern and grave. Her courage faltered. He might not—but she must take it, this last and biggest piece of humble pie, and if Steve were implacable she was so exhausted she was sure she would die and there would be no Miss Prissy's fate for her.

As she timidly approached Steve turned, saw her and with an exclamation darted to her, and at the sudden light in his eyes Miss Dora lopped over in his arms, half fainting, murmuring heartbrokenly: "Oh, Steve! Steve!"

That was all, but enough.

"The humble pie I've eaten! I certainly deserve entire absolution!" Dora cried self righteously when the high stepping Don was prancing home with them.

"Humble pie!" Steve exclaimed. "Your little piece is nothing to the hunk I've got to swallow—going back after all the fuss—and how I'm to do it I don't see unless we're married at once and run away on a long trip."

Dora blushed, but said nothing, and—silence gives consent!

Safety In Thunderstorms.

According to Professor Rowland, the safest of all places in a thunderstorm is an iron bedstead. Lying on this, one is in a kind of metal cage which acts as a lightning screen. This is contrary to a very generally accepted theory, as metal of all kinds and forms is generally avoided under the belief that it attracts the electric fluid. Trees, experience shows, are very dangerous places to shelter beneath in thunderstorms, and isolated trees more so than a clump, especially if near water. An oak tree by the side of a pond is considered by electricians as peculiarly unsafe, but water and damp ground are to be avoided quite as much as trees. If the storm is directly overhead it would be safer to lie on the earth flat than to stand up. Indoors the safest place—next to the iron bed—is in the middle of the room, and a room in the middle of the house is safer than one at the bottom or top. All drafts and air currents should be avoided, and all metal objects, such as mirrors, picture frames and wire bell pulls, should be kept as clear as possible.

English Ladies and Floral Fascination

English ladies partake the character and the aspect of flowers. I do not mean merely that their visages shine with the pure freshness of matutinal flowers even when within they are contrariwise affected, nor am I thinking solely of their azure eyes, limpid as lilies, or of their blond heads of hair, golden as ears of wheat, or of their transparent skin of roseate hue. No. Apart from all these natural personal traits, English ladies betray in their headgear, in their methods of combing and dressing and general adornment that they have ever before them the flowers as patterns and models.—Naples Mattino.

Good Dog.

The brave Newfoundland had just rescued his young master from the boiling surf.

"My dog, too," said L'Oignon pensively, "once saved my life."

"Tell us about it," said Tete de Veau, with eager interest.

"I sold him for $3," said L'Oignon, "when I was nearly starving."

Mrs. Skrimper—One can never believe one-half that is said in advertisements. Blasfold & Tating had an advertisement in yesterday's paper saying that everything was marked down. Mrs. Bargainhunter—Yes, I saw it. Mrs. Skrimper—Well, it was false. I bought two postage stamps there this morning, and I had to pay as much as ever for them.

A WONDERFUL CURE OF RHEUMATISM

THE CAUSE An excess of uric acid and ureates are deposited in the tissues of the body and joints, causing aches and pains which are called rheumatic.

All the various causes of rheumatism, such as the acute, articular, muscular and gout, have the same common cause—Uric Acid.

To effect a satisfactory cure the uric acid must be removed. This can only be done by introducing into the circulation a remedy which will dissolve the uric acid and stimulate the action of the excretory organs.

No Case That Ferrozone Can't Cure

The remarkable success of Ferrozone is due to the fact that it attacks the disease in the blood. It goes right to the root and cause of the trouble.

Ferrozone is a perfect solvent for uric acid and quickly destroys its evil effect. It stimulates and quickens the sluggish circulation and drives every trace of rheumatic poison out of the system.

Rheumatism Can't Last If FERROZONE is Used.

We have conclusive proof of this. The strongest possible endorsements from people who have been cured after all else failed. If you suffer from rheumatism yourself, or in case you have a friend or relative subject to this disease, read the following—they tell their own tale.

LIFE-LONG CRIPPLE CURED

Mr. Louis Noll, 15 Fulton street, New York, N. Y., writes: "Ever since boyhood I have been a sufferer from rheumatism. My joints were twisted and swollen, and the pain at times was really intense. I used gallons of liniments, vapor baths, and other treatments, but was first noticeably relieved by Ferrozone. It cured me perfectly after taking twelve boxes."

Mr. Henry Heer, Pharmacist, 23 Eldridge Ave., New York, vouches for Mr. Noll's absolute cure. He says: "Mr. Noll has been freed from chronic rheumatism by Ferrozone. For years he has not been so well, and today shows no signs of rheumatic trouble. It is a pleasure to recommend Ferrozone."

The BEST remedy for rheumatism that science has produced is Ferrozone—it is unquestionably the only sure and lasting cure. Sold everywhere by druggists. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50—by mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. POLSON & CO., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

FERROZONE, THE ONE SURE CURE.

The Wreckers of Scilly.

As far back as the time of Henry I. there were royal grants of "the islands and their wrecks," and frequent was the phrase in centuries following. With royal encouragement, why should they not be wreckers? One Sunday, long ago, in Scilly, service was in progress when there came the cry of "Wreck!" The men started from their seats. In a moment there would have been a stampede, but they cowered back as the minister sternly thundered a warning. He strode to the door. Again his voice arose. "Let's all start fair!" he shouted, throwing off impeding cassock as he ran, while his congregation labored at his heels. Most curious of all wrecks was that of a bark, with a cargo of beads, that went ashore 200 years ago. So generous has been the ocean with this treasure that throughout these two centuries it has intermittently been tossing beads ashore, yet so frugally that the supply is not yet exhausted, for in a few minutes' search I found that some had been thrown there since the last search of the islanders.—Robert Shackleton in Harper's.

An Old Meat Bill.

The state historian of New York in compiling some records brought to light some amendments to laws confirmed at "ye General Court of assizes held in New Yorke, beginning on ye 5th & ending on ye 8th day of October, 1670." The following catches the eye:

"Whereas, divers Complaints have been made of the great abuse of bringing dead hoggs & Porke into this city & it not being discernible how long they have been Kill'd by reason they are too often brought frozen, so not capable of being preserved by Salt which tends much to ye disreputacon of that Commodity when sent abroad, and ye Merchants who Export it into Warmer Climates, for ye reasons aforesaid it is Ordered, That henceforth no hogg or hoggs shall be brought dead to this place either for sale or payment of debts, except it shall be in cask well Salted & Packt according to ye Law, otherwise smoak't or dryed of which all persons are to take Notice, as they will answer ye contrary at their Perrills."

History on a Watch Face.

Almost the last work of the Belgian astronomer Houzeau was an article in which, while arguing in favor of a decimal division of time, he pointed out the origin of the double set of twelve hours represented on our watch and clock faces. The ancient inhabitants of Mesopotamia chose the number 12 as an arithmetical base because it has four divisors—viz, 2, 3, 4 and 6, while 10 has only two divisors—viz, 2 and 5. They counted twelve hours in the day and twelve in the night, measuring the day by the progress of the sun and the night by the progress of the stars across the sky. This system, prevailing over all others, has come down to us, and so our watches bear on their faces a souvenir of those ancient days when the sun served for a clock hand half of the time and the stars the other half.

Nothing New Under the Sun.

I remember the surprise with which I heard a cornet solo first recorded and then reproduced by a Scott graphophone, the construction of which, if I am not mistaken, antedated the birth of Edison. The record was made upon a sheet of tin foil wrapped around a brass cylinder which was actuated by means of a weight, a train of wheels and a butterfly regulator. In this connection—to show the antiquity of the germs of another modern invention—one day when looking through the files of the Journal des Savans I came across the account of a machine which was presented to the Academy of Sciences of Paris somewhere around the early years of the eighteenth century. This machine was nothing else but a typewriter; the description was very summary, but I remember that it had individual type bars, the keys of which were made of ivory. It was the work of M. Leroy of Versailles, who was styled Horlogeur du Roy, the reigning king being Louis XIV.—Alfred Sang in Engineering Magazine.

Widows.

Widows exist in all countries, thus counterbalancing the matrimonial decadence which might otherwise result from timid men. Widows are clinging by temperament and attach themselves readily to any object that can't help itself. It is generally considered unlucky to meet a widow on a dark plaza by the light of the moon. In many countries to be kissed by a widow means endless trouble. Widows are frequently accompanied by children, whose number is constantly liable to increase. They roam at large over the principal sections, and no man is safe when they are near. All the perfect men now dead have married widows, thus forming a continuous contrast to the miserable specimens who still live. It has been said "Beware of widows," but this is unnecessary, for no man can really shun himself.—Life.

At the Other End

By CLAUDE PAMARES

Mr. Felix Bradbury sat in the smoking room of a hotel and smoked a cigar. Last week he was Mr. James Taylor; the week before that he was Mr. Hiram Brown. Mr. Felix Bradbury changed his name and his habitation as often as he thought the police had discovered him.

Sometimes they hustled him around pretty lively, and again they let him rest and take on flesh. This was one of his resting spells, and yet he was not quite happy. His funds were at a low ebb, his partner was in Sing Sing on a ten year sentence, and nothing in his line seemed to turn up.

Mr. Bradbury's specialty was cracking cribs. With him "crib" meant anything with a roof on it—dwelling, store, bank or warehouse. He was also a fair hand at the confidence game and had been known to rob half a dozen guests of a hotel the same evening. Taken all in all, he was a good all round man, and it wasn't his fault that luck was against him. Even if his money was low he was making a big bluff by dressing well and ordering the best the menu afforded. Mr. Bradbury was wondering how much the next detective who arrested him would demand for letting him go again when one of the bell boys suddenly appeared and said:

"You are wanted at the telephone, sir."

The gentleman of the jimmy gave a start of surprise and then proceeded to the instrument in the next room. Few knew of his presence in the city, and they would hardly chance calling him up over the wire. The problem was soon solved, however. In answer to his hello a girl's voice started off with:

"So I've got you at last, have I? I've been trying for half an hour. Are you coming home this evening?"

"I don't know," was the doubtful reply of Mr. Bradbury, who instantly realized that a mistake had been made, but had a natural curiosity to hear more of it.

"But you must come. Papa is in a great stew. He meant to go down today and deposit some bonds in safe deposit, but has sprained his ankle and is laid up and swearing at a great rate. The safe has got out of kilter and can't be unlocked, and there are $30,000 worth of bonds lying around loose. You must come up for the night and take them down in the morning. It may be a week before papa can get out. You know mamma is in bed, and I can't leave her. And you will come?"

"Why, yes, I guess so. Where are you?"

"At home, of course."

"Well—er—you know"— stammered Mr. Bradbury, with his heart in his mouth as he thought of those bonds and realized that he didn't know where the other end of the wire was located.

"If you don't come papa will have a fit. Have you got a cold that your voice sounds so husky?"

"Yes, a bad cold, but I will get up there. It may be late, and you'd better leave the front door unlocked."

"You mean the side door."

"Yes; the side door. Leave it unlocked."

"Have you been losing your key again?"

"It's either lost or mislaid. You can leave the door unlocked and all go to bed. Sorry for the governor. He shouldn't try to be so spry. Goodby."

Somewhere within a few miles of Felix Bradbury was a house in which there were a sick mother, a father laid up with a sprain and a girl of eighteen or twenty the sole protector. In that house were $30,000 worth of bonds ready to be had for the taking, and it is needless to say that the man of many names felt his mouth water at the prospect. At the same time he cursed fate because he didn't know the location of the house and couldn't see how he was going to find out. Two minutes later Providence came to his assistance. Providence does assist the wicked as well as the good, at least on occasions.

Two young men sat down near him, and he heard one call the other Bradbury. So there were two Bradburys, and the bell boy had summoned the wrong one. A little later there was talk of the country, and within half an hour the crib cracker had his case at his fingers' ends. The girl had telephoned him from a few miles out of Boston. He could reach the country seat within a few hours by train.

Mr. Felix Bradbury bought a quarter cigar on the strength of his prospects and made for the depot. The girl's brother wouldn't be troubled to take those bonds to the safe deposit in the morning.

In the country house Miss Bessie Bradbury sat up until 11 o'clock. It was at that hour before her father ceased swearing at the stairs on which he had slipped, at the doctor who told him to lie quiet for a week and at the family burglar proof safe for getting out of order.

"Will probably will come on the midnight train," she mused as she saw that the side door was left free for him to enter, "and I am going to give him a scare about those bonds. If I lead him to think that the house has been robbed, maybe it will scare his hoarseness away."

There were old bonds in the safe and out of it. There were silver mine bonds worth 1 cent on the dollar for the pictures on them, and there were coal oil bonds worth 3 cents a pound as paper rags. The elder Mr. Bradbury had invested in his time. It was no trouble at all for Miss Bessie to hunt up thirty $1,000 bonds, worth altogether 30 cents, and put them in the envelope in place of those issued by Uncle Samuel. The latter she carried up to her room with her, and by and by the house grew quiet. It was then that Mr. Felix Bradbury approached to reap the ripening grain. He had the girl's word that the side door would be left unlocked. He found it so. He entered noiselessly, turned on his dark lantern and proceeded to business.

What more fitting place in a house for bonds than the library! Only now and then is a man mean enough to hide them in the oven of the cook stove before going to bed. On the way to the library Mr. Bradbury stopped to partake of a glass of wine and a cold lunch in the dining room. His appetite was good and his prospects all that could be desired. He expected to have to spend some time in search, but no sooner had he entered the library than there on the table lay the big bulging envelope.

At 7 o'clock next morning Miss Bradbury's papa was swearing again. He swore so hard and so continuously that it was ten minutes before she found out that the house had been robbed during the night. The bonds were gone! The burglar had entered by the side door, which she had been silly enough to leave unlocked. She had been promised a trip to Europe. Now she couldn't have it. She had been promised an auto. Now her father would see her riding in a wheelbarrow first. He was going on to check off other pains and penalties when she laid the good bonds under his nose and told of the joke she had put up on Will. While she was telling it the young man arrived.

It required considerable Sherlock Holmesing to clear up the mystery, and the problem had not yet been solved when the telephone rang and Miss Bessie was called by a servant. It was the same voice as on the previous evening, only there was an aggrieved tone to it.

"Well, what is it?"

"I found the side door unlocked."

"Yes?"

"I found the bonds on the library table."

"Yes?"

"I have tumbled to your little joke."

"Yes?"

"And if I commit murder while cracking my next crib you may know that you drove me to it. Goodby!"

The man who sows kindness in the furrows of human need will reap a rich reward.—W. Smith.

Ants as Guests of Plants.

The ants which are really protective to plants are not those which obtain their food, indirectly for the most part through the aphides, from the vegetable kingdom, but those which are really carnivorous. These are numerous in temperate climates, and their usefulness to agriculture and sylviculture is incontestable. Thus the field ant is a great insect destroyer. A nest of this species is capable of destroying as many as twenty-eight caterpillars and grasshoppers a minute, or 1,000 an hour, and such a colony is at work day and night during the pleasant season. In the arid plains of America the beneficent work of ants is revealed in the isles of verdure around their hills. There are plants hospitable to ants, which furnish them shelter and often food, within the cavities of which the instincts of the ants prompt them to take their abode. This is the case with several ferns, among them the Polypodium pectariferum, the sterile fronds of which bear nectaries on their lower face and are, moreover, of a shape favorable to sheltering the insect.

Sign of a Trained Nurse.

"I used to wonder why it was that I noticed so many young women lugging suit cases all over town," said the man on the street corner. "At first I thought perhaps they were independent young persons who were on their way to the Grand Central station or to the ferry-boats to take trains, but then I noticed them in parts of the town where they couldn't possibly be making for a railroad station, since they were going in the wrong directions. Now I have learned who these women are. Most of them are trained nurses. When they leave the hospitals or their homes to attend a case they pack their uniforms and other necessaries in these suit cases, which they carry with them. So when you see a young woman carrying a suit case and bound in a direction away from a boat or railroad station it's very likely she's a trained nurse and is either starting out to attend a case or is returning from one."

Colors of the Bluebird.

Of the male bluebird Thoreau said, "He carries the sky on his back." To this John Burroughs added, "and the earth on his breast." The bird's back, wings and tail, chin and throat are a vivid blue, while his breast and flanks are a chestnut brown and his abdomen a dirty white. The female is very much duller in coloring, often having a reddish tone that extends from the middle of the back over the shoulder. The Seminole Indians say that the male bluebird once flew so high that his back rubbed against the sky, which imparted to him its own azure tint. Returning to earth, his wife so admired his new coat that she determined to have a like one for herself and the next morning flew away to get it, but the day proving somewhat cloudy the color given to her dress was not so brilliant as was that received by her mate.

The World as It Is.

A world without mistakes and without suffering would be a world without real men and women, without literature, without music, without painting or sculpture and without love, and even without history, for history is a record of struggles toward better and higher things. Without obstacles to overcome and errors to correct men and women would lapse to a level with beasts in mentality. Intellectual and spiritual development would cease and souls not refined by the fire of ordeals would die of something akin to fatty degeneration. The races would perish of ennui or inanity. After all, it's a pretty fair sort of world as it stands.

The Aleutian Islands.

Until the time of Peter the Great the Aleutian islands were unknown. The famous Russian monarch, consumed with curiosity as to the distance between Asia and America, started, in 1725, the first of the expeditions that at last revealed those haunts of the bear, the beaver, the ermine and the seal. But Captain Cook told more about the islands than did all the Russian explorers before him.

The Price.

If one sets one's heart on the exceptional, the far off—on riches, on fame, on power—the chances are he will be disappointed. He will waste his time seeking a short cut to these things. There is no short cut. For anything worth having one must pay the price, and the price is always work, patience, love, self sacrifice—no promise to pay, but the gold of real service.

His Name.

An unpopular man who was refused membership in a certain aristocratic club had the audacity to write to the club secretary demanding the name of the man who blackballed him. The secretary could not resist the chance of sending the following reply: "Sir, I have received your letter demanding the name of the man who blackballed you. His name is Legion."

Sparkling Water ("SPARKS") is ideally pure spring water charged with purified carbonic gas. Its constant use as a beverage will surely give you a better digestion, a stronger stomach, and healthier blood. No water you ever drank is quite so refreshing, so zestful, so wholesome.

York Sparks quite lacks the salty taste common to imported charged waters; it does not change flavor in the slightest when mixed with spirits, but improves their taste while diluting their strength.

A Dramatic Climax Reached In The Case

McGill Arrested as Embezzler From Ontario Bank—He Spends Night in Jail—Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars Declared to Have Been Lost by Manager's Speculations Written Off in the Accounts as Bank's Losses—Transfer Clerk for Years Obeyed Orders to Deceive.

Toronto, Nov. 7.—The re-arrest of Charles McGill, erstwhile manager of the Ontario Bank, on the charge of embezzlement was the sensational denouement of the continuation before Magistrate Denison of the preliminary proceedings in the process of commitment for trial. Over Mr. McGill's head is now hanging a charge, recognised by the court, as much more serious than that of falsifying returns to the Government in contravention of the banking law. The ex-manager is now amenable to the criminal code, and the stubborn refusal of Magistrate Denison to allow bail emphasized strongly the nature of the position of Mr. McGill.

Spent Night in Jail.

The Attorney-General was less obdurate to the urgings of E. F. B. Johnston, K. C., counsel for the accused. Hon. Mr. Foy, agreeing last night to allow the prisoner his freedom on an additional surety of $25,000. Bondsmen could not be found on short notice, and the banker spent the night in the jail over the Don.

It is confidently stated, however, that the required bond, which is equal to the one previously furnished for Mr. McGill's release on the "misdemeanor" charge, will be forthcoming this morning, when he will regain his liberty once more, to appear in court on Friday to answer the dual charges.

The charges against Mr. Cockburn will not be heard until after McGill is disposed of.

Outgrowth of Striking Evidence.

The information sworn out was the outgrowth of the most striking evidence in yesterday's proceedings that brought to light many traces of what was manifestly deliberate juggling with accounts to preserve the credit of the bank in the eyes of the world. The official blue document, read as follows:

"That Charles McGill, between the years 1900 and 1906, at the City of Toronto, in the County of York, did, contrary to law, steal the sum of $136,049.91 in money, the property of the Ontario Bank."

It was the story revealed in the inspection of the bank's reserve accounts by James Bicknell that laid the basis for the charge and it was at the outset of the examination of Transfer Clerk Richard Chenoweth that the mine was sprung, and the hint given of the climax that was to come three hours later in the placing of the ex-manager in custody.

Star Witnesses.

There were but two witnesses during the afternoon Mr. Chenoweth and A. E. Ames, of A. E. Ames & Co., the well-known brokerage firm. The former was on the stand for almost three hours, and bore the brunt of a searching enquiry with a self-possession that was shaken only once or twice under the battering-ram tactics of Mr. Johnston, who forced the plain admission that he had altered accounts and figures with the intent of concealing the true position of the bank. It was claimed by Mr. Chenoweth, who proved an admirable witness from the standpoint of readiness to impart information, and ease in handling figures under question, that the changes were made entirely under instructions from the general manager.

Mr. Ames' evidence summed up, was that he was unaware that his account had been written off in the bank's books, and that the bank had suffered loss through his firm, and that McGill had speculated extensively in highly-fluctuating securities, but, so far as the broker was aware, on his own personal account.

The Denouement.

It was after 6 o'clock and while Mr. Ames was still on the stand, that the magistrate called upon Mr. McGill to stand up. The ex-manager rose steadily from his seat at the desk and was advised that a more serious charge had been laid against him. He exhibited no tremor during the reading of the information, and to the usual question, replied, "Not guilty," in a low but firm voice.

The court informed Mr. Johnston that bail could not be accepted for his client. Mr. McGill's counsel took exception to the ruling in a few words, and the magistrate went on to say that there was a great difference between the two charges. The first was merely a misdemeanor, the present charge was a much more serious one. It named a large amount and the act constituted a theft under the criminal code.

Mr. Johnston mildly dissented, and the magistrate referred to the "wholesale appropriation."

Others Equally Guilty.

"What about these other men?" demanded Mr. Johnston, hotly. "They are manifestly in the same box as he is."

"Then lay an information against them," retorted the magistrate sharply. Mr. Johnston's warm rejoinder was that the evidence had "clearly showed the state of affairs," and yet an information had only been laid against his client, which was unfair.

After adjournment Mr. Johnston declared in vigorous language that there was no hope of getting justice from the court.

"It's not a court, it's a persecution," he asseverated.

One Day's Revelations.

Walter Chenoweth, the chief witness, has for six years been transfer clerk at the Ontario Bank, and, acting under instructions from McGill, he had been systematically juggling the figures to create deception as to the true state of the bank. He knew things were wrong, but told no one.

The August report was signed by Vice-President Donald McKay, Manager Charles McGill and Walter Chenoweth, pro-chief accountant. McGill signed it in blank, expecting to be away.

The Government was deceived by false transfers to "current loans in Canada" account.

The amounts charged up as "bad debts," making losses in the reserve account, really represented losses in stocks. They were: A. E. Ames & Co., a total of $13,049.91; Gordon Donnell & Co., $16,000; McIntyre & Marshall, $30,000; W. H. Goadby & Co., $15,000 and $10,000; Consolidated Lake Superior Co., $19,821.18; Tyler, Morgan & Co., $229,000; Marshall, Spader & Co., $285,139.91, and Charles Head & Co., $75,824.47.

Bank Dealt in Own Stock.

The Ontario Bank was regularly purchasing and selling its own stock and covering up the transactions by making transfers of shares before annual meetings to accounts of certain shareholders.

A. E. Ames declared that the stock dealing were apparently personal with McGill. The Ontario Bank had never lost anything through his firm. The stocks dealt in were of a highly speculative kind. McGill had three accounts, one in his own name, one as in trust, and the third a "special" one.

The Ames company are debtors to the bank to the extent of about $100,000, giving collateral security therefor.

E. F. B. Johnston, K. C., counsel for McGill, declared his client was no more guilty than others, against whom information should also be laid.

HAD THIRTY-TWO BOILS AT ONE TIME

Two Bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters Cured Him.

Imperfect organic action makes bad blood, so, too, bad blood, in turn, makes imperfect action of every bodily organ. If the blood becomes impure, poisoned or contaminated in any way from constipation, biliousness or any other cause, some especially weak organ must soon become diseased thereby, or the whole system may suffer in consequence.

Pimples, boils, blotches, ulcers, festering sores, abscesses, tumors, rashes or some serious and perhaps incurable blood disease may result. There is no medicine on the market to-day to equal the old and well-known remedy, for all cases of bad blood.

Mr. Ernest B. Tupper, Round Hill, N.S., says: "I think Burdock Blood Bitters a great medicine for boils. I had them so bad I could not work. I had thirty-two on my back at one time. I used only two bottles of B.B.B. and they completely cured me. I cannot recommend it too highly." Price $1.00 per bottle or 6 bottles for $5.00.

FOR STRIKERS AT HAMILTON.

Already $30,000 Has Been Contributed By Sympathetic Citizens.

Hamilton, Nov. 7.—Last night here was a combination of election night and mardi-gras. From 8 o'clock till 10, there were probably 10,000 people on James street, and from the corner of King street north, the crowd extended at times from wall to wall. Beyond one slight mix-up with the police, there was no serious disorder.

The strikers themselves were not on the street. The great majority of them were assembled a mile away, at the Twentieth Century Club, on Locke street, where a huge mass meeting of citizens listened to addresses, and pledged them hearty support.

The strikers have already at their command $30,000, and as much more is pledged, should it be called for.

N. S. Coal Strike.

Westville, Pictou County, N.S., Nov. 7.—Yesterday the employes of the Drummond Coal Co., to the number of 300, went out on strike. The cause of the strike is a difference between union men and non-union men, in which the management incidentally figures. The non-union men number 209. The strike at this time is a serious matter with the company, as it has been hard put to in filling orders. The mine is now idle, except for the pumpmen, engineers and firemen.

STOKERS ATTACK OFFICERS.

Rioting Continues At the Portsmouth Naval Barracks.

Portsmouth, Eng., Nov. 7.—The rioting in the naval barracks was resumed at midnight and continued until past 2 o'clock yesterday morning.

A gang of several hundred stokers attacked the officers' quarters, assaulting officers, smashing windows and otherwise damaging property. Several policemen who attempted to enforce order were seriously injured.

Armed sailors and marines had to be called out. They overpowered the rioters and made many arrests.

In French Parliament.

Paris, Nov. 7.—The debate in the Chamber of Deputies on the church and state separation bill was continued yesterday.

War Minister Picquart, who mounted the tribune for the first time, to answer an interpellation regarding the bill reducing the term of service in the army to two years, was greeted with a burst of applause from the left party.

The extreme left demanded that the fiscal transfer of the church property take place Dec. 11, 1906, instead of Dec. 11, 1907.

Ontario Horticultural Show.

Toronto, Nov. 7.—The third annual Ontario Horticultural Exhibition, which continues in Massey Hall throughout the week, was formally opened by Premier Whitney, in his response to an address read to him on behalf of the various societies represented, in general excellence and attendance at the opening the show reached a new record. Lieut.-Governor Clark, Hon. Nelson Monteith and Mayor Coatsworth also spoke. There are 1,200 more entries than last year.

THEY WERE NOT FAIR.

Publisher Morang Tells of Trouble With Ross Government—Evidence Before the Text-Book Commission.

Toronto, Nov. 7.—The Text-book Commission yesterday recalled three witnesses who had previously testified, Mr. Geo. N. Morang, Mr. H. M. Grantham and Mr. John C. Saul of the Morang Publishing Co. Mr. Morang told at some length of his futile attempts to secure from the late Government contracts to publish public school books. Mr. Grantham gave the manufacturing cost of books, and Mr. Saul made a comparison of books printed by different firms.

Mr. Morang's Complaint.

Mr. Morang was questioned by Mr. James A. Macdonald, one of the counsel for the Government, on some points not brought out on Mr. Morang's previous examination. He said that in March, 1901, when he applied for the privilege of publishing the Ontario readers, Hon. Geo. W. Ross, the then Premier, told him that he could not give Mr. Morang the plates. The witness produced several letters which were exchanged between him and Hon. R. Harcourt, then Minister of Education, over the matter. They indicated on Mr. Morang's part dissatisfaction with the Government's treatment of him, and displeasure at Mr. Harcourt's action in marking as private and confidential letters from the Minister of Education in reference to the question of the readers. The Minister's letters, which were treated by the commission as public property under the circumstances, were of a business nature and not of special public interest.

The Phonic Primers.

A letter from Hon. Mr. Ross, dated January 16, 1901, intimated that he was pleased with the Morang phonic primer, but it could not be used as an alternate reader without the consent of the then contractors. A letter from Mr. Ross on March 8, in reply to an application to be allowed to publish readers, stated that it would be Mr. Morang's advantage to communicate with Mr. Thompson of Copp, Clark Co. Subsequently the Canada Publishing Co.'s Ontario phonic primer was authorized, as well as the Morang primer. Mr. Morang had objected because the color work on the Ontario phonic primer was done by a New York firm, contrary to the regulations as laid down to him. This primer was supposed to have been deauthorized, but if so it was reauthorized, and was circulated among the schools. Mr. Morang said that he had never received decent treatment from the Government. Although his primer was authorized, the Canada Publishing Co.'s primer was authorized before it was published, which was not fair to the Morang Co.

Mr. Grantham gave information as to the cost of publishing school books. Mr. Saul spoke of the system of authorization in Manitoba, where only one book on each subject was authorized, and of the Ontario system of authorising several books on one subject, including a Latin grammar published by Morang Co. He made a comparison of books printed by several firms.

THOMPSON, BURGLAR.

Tells of Jail Schemes of Doyle's to Get Rid of Witness.

Morden, Man., Nov. 7.—The Doyle murder trial seems to bring forth a sensation daily. Yesterday Thompson, a burglar, sentenced at Winnipeg last week to seven years imprisonment for housebreaking, was on the stand.

According to Thompson's testimony he was in the cell next to Doyle's and he heard Doyle arrange with Pat Rooney, a well-known American criminal, who was in jail for train robbery awaiting extradiction, a scheme to get out of the way, Ernest Bailey, the missing witness. His testimony created a great sensation.

R. A. Bonnar has asked, in view of the new and unexpected testimony, that the case be held over until next assizes so that he may secure witnesses to refute it. His lordship was inclined to side with the lawyer for the defence.

Stoessel Almost Destitute.

London, Nov. 7.—A despatch from St Petersburg to Reuter's Telegram Co yesterday says that Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel, the defender of Port Arthur, is in much financial straits, and that he has applied to a charitable institution for wounded soldiers for assistance to enable him to employ a servant. The officers of the institution asked the general to produce a medical certificate showing that his health required the services of a servant.

Three Horses Burn.

Toronto Junction, Nov. 7.—At 10.21 last night flames were in full possession of the stable and sheds of Matt Beatty, in rear of 92 Dundas street. The loss to Mr. Beatty is $1,200, with $400 insurance. Three horses were burned and one of them, Gertie P., a prize winner at fall fairs, was to have changed hands to-day for $250. A ton of hay and five sets of harness also went up.

Entire Battalion Dismissed in Disgrace

Washington, Nov. 7.—Unprecedented in the history of the army of the United States is the action of the president, just announced, in dismissing in disgrace from the army an entire battalion of colored troops because of their failure to disclose the identity of some of their number who had been guilty of violence and murder.

Goes Through Bridge.

Stratford, Nov. 7.—C. Bolton was moving a threshing outfit in Downie and while crossing a wooden bridge it gave way. Bolton and the engine were precipitated to the creek twenty feet below. Neither man nor engine was injured seriously.

Hamilton, Nov. 7.—John Goddard, 55 Crooks street, a laborer, was electrocuted last evening at the G. T. R. roundhouse at Stuart street. He was helping to adjust an electric lamp, and came in contact with a live wire, being killed instantly. Coroner McNichol will hold an inquest.

Night Operator Arrested.

London, Nov. 7.—Elmer Vrooman, night operator at Dorchester station, was arrested on a charge of rape yesterday afternoon. The complaint was laid by Mr. Cusson, station master at Dorchester, who alleges that Vrooman attacked his 12-year-old daughter.

Canning's Cruise

By CLARENCE ODELL

Canning, running down the beach, looked about for the familiar blue and white turban. Somehow he had come to expect the sight of the odd little bathing cap, and it was with a gesture of impatience that he searched the beach and the little knot of bathers clinging to the life ropes.

Ever since the girl had first appeared on the beach Canning had been interested. She was a splendid swimmer, vastly different from the girls who clung to the ropes and gave little shrieks every time a wave rolled in. She headed straight for the raft with strong, steady strokes and kept away from the flirtatious group in the shallows.

Canning admired her for it, and he was frequently found on the raft watching the little head bobbing through the surf to the same goal. He never had a chance to speak. She was not the kind of girl a man spoke to without excuse, but of late there had been a sort of friendliness in her glance as she had climbed to the raft. More than once Canning had wished that she might have a cramp—just a tiny little one—so that he might go to her rescue and thus break the conventional ice.

She was nowhere in sight today. The water was unusually rough, and the life guards were pacing the beach restlessly instead of occupying their usual perches, but rough water could not prevent her from taking her daily dip, and Canning wondered what the matter was.

Then suddenly he caught sight of a blue and white dot out on the water, and he strode into the surf. It was reckless for the girl to try to make the raft in this sea. He wondered that the guards had not called her back.

Once in the water, he advanced with powerful strokes, following the girl ahead. It was no easy matter for him to make headway at first, and he wondered how she was faring farther out.

She must have been making slow progress, for he could see that he was gaining on her. She was not more than a hundred feet from the raft now, and he was some fifty feet behind her, when suddenly she threw up her arms, with a cry, and disappeared under the water.

He fought his way desperately toward the spot where she had disappeared and came up to her just as she rose for the second time.

"Turn on your back," he commanded. "I will get you to the float. Don't be afraid."

He caught her just in time, and slowly he paddled with one hand toward the raft. It was a difficult matter to get her on the raft unaided, but the realization that he would have to work quickly gave him new strength. She had lost consciousness, and his first care was to administer first aid. It was several minutes before her eyelids fluttered and he knew that he had won that battle. When at last he was assured that she was all right he sank down on the boards beside her to rest before even trying to signal the life guards.

"You seem to be more exhausted than I am," she said after a moment. "It must have been hard work getting me on to the raft."

"The swell made it difficult," he explained. "Once or twice I thought I had lost you, but I held on."

"I suppose we can get them to send out a boat for us," she commented. "It would not be easy to swim back."

"It would be out of the question," he declared.

"It looks longer than ever before," she said, with a little shudder as she glanced out over the heaving water. "The hotels seem so much smaller."

Canning glanced up for a moment, then sprang to his feet, with a cry. Presently he turned to her with a grave face. "Do not be alarmed," he said quietly, "but I am afraid the raft is loose."

"But it was moored at four corners!" she exclaimed. "How could it get loose?"

"The logs rot in the water. I suppose I raised the edge out of water as I climbed on, and the swell tore it loose. At any rate, we are in for a cruise unless we can signal the shore."

They stood up together and waved frantically, but apparently the little tragedy had passed unnoticed on shore, and there was no answering signal that they could perceive. At last, tired by their exertions, they sank down on the raft and faced the situation.

"The coastwise steamers come close in to shore here," he said reassuringly. "There will be a good chance of being taken off before night. Perhaps at the turn of the tide we may drift back."

"I hope something happens," she shivered. "It seems so dreadful to be carried out to sea."

"We at least have a raft," he comforted. "Suppose you had to keep swimming?"

"I should have given up long ago," she said. "As it was I should be dead now had it not been for you."

"I was afraid you would have some trouble," he said, "when I saw what you had undertaken to do."

"Did you follow me out on purpose?" she asked wonderingly. "I didn't know any one had seen me. The guards warned me against trying, but I wanted to see if I couldn't, and I did—almost."

"That was the only reason that brought me out," he said. "I saw your bathing cap, and I knew it was you."

"And I am the reason for your being out here?" she asked wonderingly. "I am responsible for your danger too?"

"Not at all," he protested warmly. "I am only too glad that I was in time to be of service."

"I thought it was because you wanted to come," she explained. "I have noticed that you were such a good swimmer."

"I have wished hundreds of times that I knew you," he admitted. "I have admired your swimming ever since you came."

"My name is Rose Wilcox."

"I am Harry Canning," he responded formally. "I'm glad to meet you, Miss Wilcox."

Their hands met in hearty clasp. She colored when she perceived that he was still holding it, and for a moment she moved away. Then she drew closer to him again, and they sat there and chatted while their eyes searched the horizon for the sign of sail or steamer.

They soon found that they knew common friends, and this swept away Rose's last barrier of reserve, and she gossiped on as if they had known each other for years.

So engrossed did they become that they forgot the peril of the situation, forgot everything save the fact that they found each other wonderfully congenial.

It was with a start that they heard a panting behind them and turned to see a steam yacht drawing alongside. In a few minutes they had been taken off and, with the raft towing behind the yacht, turned back to shore.

"I like this style of cruising better," laughed Rose as they sat on the deck wrapped in blankets. "And just to think that we were in sight of the yacht for half an hour and never thought of turning around."

"It never occurred to me that they would have to telephone the inlet for a boat," he explained, "though I might have known."

"I'm a little sorry the cruise stopped so suddenly," she confessed shyly. "I had even forgotten that it was getting near luncheon."

"Let's make the next cruise in a yacht," he suggested.

"We could get up a party," she assented.

"I don't want a party," he declared. "A party would be de trop on a honeymoon."

"Yes," she admitted shyly, her color deepening.

But later he managed to obtain a less vague acquiescence to his proposal.

KIDNEY DISEASE
COMES ON QUIETLY

Perhaps no other organs work harder than the kidneys to preserve the general health of the body and most people are troubled with some form of Kidney Complaint, but do not suspect it. It may have been in the system for some time. There may have been backaches, swelling of the feet and ankles, disturbances of the urinary organs, such as, brick dust deposit in the urine, highly colored scanty or cloudy urine, bladder pains, frequent or supressed urination, burning sensation when urinating, etc.

Do not neglect any of these symptoms, for, if neglected they will eventual., lead to Bright's Disease, Dropsy and Diabetes.

On the first sign of anything wrong

Doan's Kidney Pills
SHOULD BE TAKEN.

They go to the seat of trouble, strengthen the kidneys and help them to filter the blood properly and flush off all the impurities which cause kidney trouble. Mr. Thomas Petty, Massey, Ont., writes: "After I arrived in Canada from New Zealand, a couple of years ago, I suffered very much from kidney trouble. I tried several remedies, but they did me no good. Finally my back became so lame I could scarcely work. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and after taking them I felt like a new man.

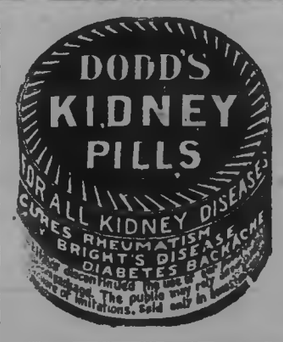
His Specialties.

Captain Spencer of the Church army once asked a convict what he did for a living when he left prison. "Well, in spring I does a bit o' pea picking and in summer I does a bit o' fruit picking and in the autumn I does a bit o' 'op picking." "Yes," said the captain, "and what do you do in the winter?" "Well, mister, I may as well be honest with yer. In the winter I does a bit o' pocket picking!" Captain Spencer next asked, "And what happens then?" The convict replied, "Why, I comes 'ere and does a bit o' oakum picking!"—London News.

Homesick Spencer.

When Herbert Spencer was a boy his father sent him away from home to school. The youngster became homesick and, with 2 shillings in his pocket, made his way home, over 120 miles, in three days, walking most of the way. He did forty-eight miles the first day and forty-seven on the second. On the third day a friendly coach driver took him most of the way for nothing.



VANITY'S VISIONS.

Shirt Waist Materials—The New Muff. Changes of Style in Fur Scarfs.

The shirt waist flannels are in aggressively large stripes, and plaids and the tartan colors and Roman stripes will be favorites, while the simple white flannel with every variety of stripe and check is good style. These waists are made with tucks or box plaits, and sometimes a yoke is added, trimmed with buttons.

Roman plaid waists are affected by the schoolgirl, and they are particularly youthful trimmed with large, round brass buttons and worn with four-in-hand silk ties. These waists have bloused fronts and are absolutely plain with the exception of the buttons. They fasten in front, of course.

Among the furs to be fashionable this winter are astrakhan, bear, chinchilla and what is known as sable in the less expensive varieties, while sable, lynx and mink will be worn by women whose pocketbooks can stand the strain.

There are two new styles in muffs, the half round model and the flat muff, the latter being a trifle smaller than it was last season.

The new fashions shown in boas and scarfs have wide pointed ends that give them the appearance of being tied in a bow when fastened. When hung straight around the throat they reach to the bust line and gradually widen from the base of the neck.

This pretty wee girl's gown is of blue serge. The braid is black and white and the tie black silk drawn through a gold buckle.

Farragut's Pig.

David G. Farragut was but thirteen years old when he served as midshipman under Porter in the battle of the Essex against the Phoebe and Cherub. He was taken to the Phoebe as a prisoner of war, says his biographer, and came aboard crying from mortification. At the same moment, however, a British middy also came alongside with a young pig in his arms.

"A prize! A prize!" he was shouting. "Ho, boys, a fine grunter!"

It was a pig that had been a pet in the steerage of the Essex, where it was called Murphy. Farragut at once claimed it as private property.

"You are a prisoner, and your pig, too," replied the British middy.

"We always respect private property," said Farragut, grabbing the pig and determined to hold on till forced to surrender.

"Go it, little Yankee!" cried the oldsters present. "If you can thrash Shorty you shall have your pig."

A ring was formed, and Shorty came at Farragut hammer and tongs, but the American was handy with his fists. He quickly laid his opponent low. The British bluejackets cheered him heartily, and the pig was declared to be his.

Large hats are the shapes for dressy wear, while general utility chapeaux will be small.

Velvets will be worn extensively this winter, and they were never lovelier. In certain shades of blue, wine or sherry tones they are exquisite. Velveteen, with its beautiful chiffon finish, will also be much favored.

The blouse pictured is a fall model that is suitable for silk or woolen materials. It is laid in pin tucks at the shoulders, and the band down the front is of the same kind of tucks. The trimming is of embroidery galon.

Motor coats are made full in the skirts, thus providing a covering for the knees and making it possible to dispense with a supplementary rug these pleasant fall days.

Embroidered turnover linen collars are worn with severely tailored shirt waists. Dainty ties of handkerchief linen or a combination of lace and linen are arranged at the throat.

There is a pointed, narrow toque that is very smart and becoming.

The elegant theater waist illustrated is of white mousseline de soie, with bolero and cravat of real Irish lace.

SPASMODIC EFFORTS DETRIMENTAL TO SUCCESS OF EPWORTH LEAGUES

One Cat Power Man Who Keeps Busy Better Than the Sixty Horse Power Leaguer Who Loafs by the Way.

REV. DR. CREWS' STIRRING ADDRESS AT CONVENTION

Peterborough District Epworth Leagues' Annual Gathering Held Here Yesterday—A Successful Meeting—Officers for the Year Elected.

1—To make young Christians.
2—To make young Christians work.
3—To make young Christians work to the best advantage.

In these words Rev. Dr. A. C. Crews, General Secretary of Sunday Schools and Epworth Leagues of the Methodist Church of Canada, summarized the objects for which the Epworth Leagues were organized, in his address at the Annual District Convention, which was held in the George street Methodist Church yesterday, and which was attended by a large number of interested young people, from not only the city, but from all parts of the Peterborough District. The Convention must be characterized as a gratifying success, those attending giving evidence of a deep interest in the work of the society. It is anticipated that as a result of the convention the Leagues of the district will make greater progress in the future than they have done in the past.

The new President of the District League is Rev. Dr. Metzler, of Bridgenorth. Mr. Garnet Galley is the 1st Vice-President, and Mr. H. Latimer, also of this city, is the new District Secretary.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The annual convention of the Epworth Leagues of Peterborough district opened yesterday afternoon in George Street Methodist Church with a fairly large attendance of representatives from all parts of the district. Rev. Dr. Crothers occupied the chair.

The convention opened with devotional exercises conducted by Rev. H. M. Manning, pastor of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church.

Rev. Dr. Crothers was glad to welcome the convention to George Street Church. Some people might say that the convention did not amount to much when they looked upon the number present, but numbers were not everything. Peterborough was somewhat different from other districts, geographically, and there was difficulty experienced in getting the Leagues together.

Nominating Committee

The following nominating committee was then appointed: Rev. J. G. Miss Nugent, Mrs. Lewis, Rev. Dr. Metzler, Rev. Mr. Clare.

Reports Received

The Bridgenorth Epworth League reported, through Rev. Dr. Metzler, that the number of members was 28, an increase of six over the previous year. The total funds collected during the year were $103.24, the expenditure, $91.48, leaving a balance of $11.76.

Rev. Mr. Manning reported for Charlotte Street League that there was a membership of 110, with an average attendance of 67.

Rev. J. G. Lewis, on behalf of Mark Street League, said that his report was not very encouraging. The attendance had not picked up in the fall as it should. The membership was between 40 and 50. Good work had been done and they were very hopeful for the future.

The Millbrook Epworth League reported that they had 19 active members and nine associate members, and that the League was in good financial condition.

Cavan South League reported that the membership was very weak and that they had only four active members. Prayer meeting work and missionary work was being carried on.

The Lakefield Epworth League reported that last year the League had a membership of 29 active and 23 associate members, an increase of six active and five associate members. One hundred and eight dollars had been raised, $15 of which had been used in local option work. Three delegates had been sent to the Summer School.

Mr. Garnet Galley, on behalf of the George Street League, reported a membership of 90, 50 active and 40 associate members. Eighty-five dollars had been raised for missionary work. The attendance during the hot weather had been especially encouraging, there being never less than 48 members.

Rev. Mr. Mickle reported from Warsaw, and said that there were so few young people at the appointments that there was difficulty experienced. The work was still going on, however.

Excellent Addresses

Miss Higgins, of Lakefield, read a most interesting and inspiring paper on "The Chief Purpose of the League, and How the Departments Are Related to It." She dealt with the objects of the League, dealing with the different departments. From the consecration service, she said, must come the result. She referred to the importance of a faithful Lookout Committee, and gave some helpful suggestions as to how the League could be made a success. Soul-winning was the object of the society, and it should ever be kept in mind. The Christian enthusiasm

CONTINUOUS WORK IS AN ESSENTIAL

"It's up to you" said Rev. Dr. Crews, in speaking to district Epworth League delegates of their duty to the league, which is an essential part of the work of the church at the convention last night.

The Rev. Doctor has no use for those who work spasmodically, and said last night that "a member of the league who has energy of one-cat power, and uses it faithfully, is more valuable than one who may possess energy of sixty-horse power, and who works only at intervals."

The Lift Lock Had Busy Day

Many Steamers Being Locked Through To-day

This afternoon the Ajax went up over the lift lock, to Lakefield, where she will take in tow a scow load of cement for this city. The Beaver also left for the north for a load of wood, while the Water Lily returned from those waters with a similar cargo. With only three days of navigation until the close of the lock, the staff was kept busy locking through steamers, the owners of which want to get all the work they can in before the close.

Austria has a peculiar law as to the death penalty. Generally a premeditated murder is punished with death, but in cases where between the time of the murder and the arrest the prisoner has been punished for some other crime, a sentence of death cannot be passed upon him. In a recent case a murderer had served a week's imprisonment for petty theft before his arrest for the murder, and that saved him.

Cool Curing Rooms Are Strongly Advocated

Mr. N. G. Summerville Addressed the Peterborough Cheese Board This Morning--Peterborough to Keep Up With Other Districts Must Have Cool Cured Cheese.

At the last meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board for the year, this morning, Mr. N. G. Sommerville, Brockville, who is in charge of the Government cool-curing room there, and Mr. R. W. Ward, the dairy instructor for Peterborough, were present and addressed the dairymen on the advantages of the cool-curing room. Much helpful advice was given and the remarks of the speakers received close attention.

Mr. Warde, the first speaker, said that the burning question at present was the cool-curing rooms for cheese. He congratulated the members of the Board upon the successful season they had had especially in the matter of prices. Things had been very satisfactory. There had been a better effort in regard to the delivering of the milk. The cheese during July and August had been exceptionally fine. In September he had not been as well pleased, no doubt accounted for by the bad weather in September. The September cheese was supposed to be the best of all the season.

The two most important things to be considered were the proper delivery of milk and the proper curing of cheese. He thought the time had come when every factory should have the cool-curing rooms. Peterborough district had a reputation second to none in the province, but if they did not take up the cool-curing they would have to take second place to other districts. Reference was made to the Belleville and Prince Edward sections where cool-curing rooms were being largely used.

Mr. Sommerville in beginning, stated that he had been particularly struck by the honest effort put forward by the dairymen of Peterborough section. Peterborough was fast forging to the front and it was due to this effort.

The time was coming when every section in Ontario will have to put in cool-curing rooms or take second place with their cheese as well as second money. Cool-cured cheese will set the standard. As soon as cool-curing rooms were generally established cheese cured in the ordinary way would be little better than culls. Cool-curing would not make a good cheese out of a poor one, but it would keep a good cheese good.

Mr. Sommerville pointed out the great saving there was from the use of the cool-curing rooms in the matter of saving from shrinkage. The fact that cool-cured cheese commands the biggest prices was also referred to by the speaker.

As regards the cost of installing the plant Mr. Sommerville thought that it could be placed in any factory of the Peterborough district for $500; perhaps less in some cases.

A vote of thanks to the speakers was passed on motion of Mr. John Riddell, seconded by Mr. A. Fairburn.

Votes of thanks were also passed to the manager of the Montreal Bank for the use of the Bank Chambers and to the press for their reports of the meetings.

Narrow Escape From Injury From A Flying Flange

Schoolboys were Watching Men at Work at Small Wreck on G. T. R. When Their Lives Became Endangered.

A miraculous escape from severe injury and probably death occurred last night about five o'clock as a number of school boys were watching the small wreck on the G.T.R. siding in front of the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company's storehouse. The boys only escaped by the merest chance and owe their lives more to sheer luck than anything else.

Some Trunk freight cars were being shunted from the main line alongside of the Fuel and Cartage Company's building when the east rail spread causing to cars, one open and heavily loaded with coal to become derailed. A number of men were quickly on the spot to clear the way for the 5.30 evening train for Toronto. The two freight cars had stopped just a few feet too soon for the passing express so that the men were forced to remove a portion of the main track some distance west to admit of its getting to the station.

A number of school boys rapidly gathered on the scene to inspect the work and ask questions.

One of the men was engaged with a large hammer in separating the siding from the main track. He first cut off the bolt heads and as the last broke the iron flange which connected the two rails sprung off slightning ten feet away. The bar of iron passed within a hair's breadth of the two boys between whom it passed almost grazing their heads. Had it been a few inches to the right or to the left there is no doubt that one of the boys would have met death. When this occurred there was a general scatter and in a few moments all were gone.

The cause of the spreading of the rails was due to the decayed ties. The railroad spikes gave way letting down the heavy cars. The wheels cut through the ties and rested on the ground, and before the cars can be removed they will have to be unloaded.

REPUBLICAN GAINS; RESULT OF VOTING

Republicans Elected 206 Congressmen Yesterday

While Democrats Have 133 ---Plurality of Hughes in New York State will be About 54,000.

Some Results of the Elections Yesterday in the United States--Buffalo for Hearst by 30.

Examiner Special.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Despatches this morning show that the Republicans have elected 206 members of Congress and the Democrats 133. The missing districts number 27, nearly all of which are now represented by Republicans.

Hughes Has 54,000

Special wires to Heinz & Co. this afternoon state that the plurality of Hughes will be about 54,000. In Buffalo, Hearst carried the city by 30 votes, which is a considerable Democratic gain, in the last election two years ago, Higgins, the Republican Governor, obtaining a big majority, but Roosevelt is credited with having been the cause of Higgins' good run.

Carry Hallowe'en Pranks Too Far

Missing Articles Should be Returned to Owners.

—It is all well and good for boys to have their amusement on Hallowe'en, but when they find that a citizen cannot locate what has been removed they should feel that the joke has gone for enough, and they ought to become men, and, if not return the missing article, at least give a pointer as to its whereabouts. Mr. Robt. Innes has not as yet discovered his gate, and the boys who removed it in fun, should feel that the joke has gone far enough—and make known where it is.

Mr. And Mrs. O'Grady Were Surprised By Douro Friends

Presented With Handsome Chairs Accompanied by An Address--Came to Peterborough Yesterday--A Pleasant Evening Was Spent.

Examiner Special.

Douro, November 7. — An interesting event took place on Tuesday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. David O'Grady, Douro, when a number of their friends assembled to say farewell to them on the eve of their departure to reside in Peterborough. Mr. and Mrs. O'Grady are respected residents of Douro, and it was with a deep feeling of regret that their friends learned of their departure from the community. Yesterday they moved to Peterborough, and will live on Rogers street, East City. The event on Tuesday night was a total surprise to them, and in addition to the gathering of friends they were presented with two handsome easy chairs, accompanied by the following address:

To Mr. and Mrs. David O'Grady—

Dear Friends—Having become aware of the fact that you are about to take your departure from our midst, to enjoy a well earned rest, which we hope will continue for many years to come, we a few of your many friends and well wishers, have taken advantage of the opportunity to bid you farewell.

During the many years which you have spent amongst us, you have by your honesty and uprightness in all your dealings and charity on all occasions, when it was required, gained for yourselves a name which any couple in their declining years, might well envy, and which will live in the memory of each of us during our stay on this earth.

The news of your departure from amongst us is received by us with mingled pleasure and pain. We derive pleasure from the fact that your declining years will be spent, we hope, in the enjoyment of the fruits of a well spent life; and pain from the fact that by your going away we are losing not only the best of neighbours, but also a friend in adversity as well as in success.

We hope that you will accept these chairs as a slight token of the esteem in which you are held in the vicinity, with the hope that in the coming years of leisure that they will not only enhance your personal comfort, but also bring to your mind pleasant memories of the many friends you left in Douro.

We wish you many years of unalloyed happiness.

Signed on behalf of many friends.

FRANK MEHER.
PATRICK O'BRIEN.

A suitable reply was made by Mr. O'Grady and after the spending of a pleasant time the gathering dispersed.

Bishop Scollard Tells Of Progress Made In New Ontario Province

NEW ONTARIO'S PROGRESS

HIS LORDSHIP BISHOP SCOLLARD of Sault Ste. Marie Diocese, who is in the city on a visit.

His Lordship Here on a Short Visit with Friends in the City and in Ennismore.

Sault Ste. Marie Diocese Has Made Rapid Strides—Many New Churches Erected.

His Lordship Bishop Scollard, of the Diocese of Sault Ste. Marie, is in the city, spending a few days, and will during his stay here visit his home in Ennismore.

His Lordship has just returned from a trip around his extensive diocese, and is therefore competent to speak of the condition of New Ontario, the greater part of which is embraced in his diocese, which extends 800 miles west of North Bay, to Ignace, west of the twin cities of Port Arthur and Fort William.

The progress which that part of the province has made, both from a material, as well as a religious standpoint, is, His Lordship states, remarkable, and at the present rate of progress, it is hard to say that in ten or fifteen years, New Ontario will not be divided into two or three dioceses. A large number of new churches have been erected in different parts of the diocese, during the past year, and several are now in course of construction.

For the present His Lordship is living in North Bay, where he was parish priest for a number of years prior to his elevation to the office of Bishop. Whether he will remove his residence to the new city of Sault Ste. Marie, in the near future, or at all, he has not yet decided.

The whole country there is in a state of evolution at the present time, and the growth in all parts is so rapid, that it is impossible to say where the centre of population will be situated. Despite the fact that Bishop Scollard has but recently returned from a hard trip through his diocese, His Lordship is looking well, and is filled with enthusiasm over the future prospects for that part of the province.

Cobalt is just now the border of the diocese of Sault Ste. Marie, and His Lordship is therefore not in close touch with the condition of affairs in that section. But Cobalt is not the only busy place in New Ontario by any means. There is almost universal progress and prosperity in the whole region, known indefinitely as New Ontario.

His Lordship will remain here for a few days.

Have Returned From The West

Dummer Men Passed Through the City To-day.

Mr. Jack Moore and Mr. Robert Hamilton, of North Dummer, have returned from Regina, where they have spent the past three months. They arrived in the city last night, and drove out to Dummer to-day. They stated to the Examiner to-day that the threshing in this West had been completed some time ago. The yield of wheat in the vicinity of Regina was between 30 and 35 bushels to the acre. The climate, they said, was somewhat milder than around Peterborough.

Lay Pinned Under Wagon All The Night

Unfortunate Plight of Hope Township Man -- Waggon Upset on Him--Death Resulted.

Newtonville, Nov. 6.—Wm. E. Parsons, of Hope township, was in Port Hope on Saturday with a load of grain. He did not leave town until nearly midnight, and when going into the lake shore route lost the road. Near Powers' Creek the waggon was overturned, pinning Mr. Parsons underneath. His cries for help were not heard, and the unfortunate man remained in that position until about 7.30 the following morning, when he was found by some persons who chanced to be passing. He was removed to a nearby residence and a doctor summoned, but he died later from the effects of exposure and internal injuries. He was conscious until a short time before his death, and, relating his terrible experience, said that several times during the night the horses made a bolt for liberty, but always stopped at his command. He leaves a widow. Deceased was a prominent resident of Hope township.

Cement Company Purchase Blue Clay In Otonabee

Supply at Lily Lake Almost Exhausted--Land Purchased Near Drummond Station from Mr. Jas. France.

The present is the last season when the Lakefield Cement Company will obtain their blue clay from the vicinity of Lily Lake. The clay there is almost exhausted and in a few more weeks it will all have been utilized so that the company has been forced to find other fields of labour. Otonabee is the next township selected and beginning with next year the blue clay will be obtained near Drummond Station. The property purchased belonged to Mr. Jas. France and is known as the old Doris farm. It is situated a short distance from the station so that a siding can be easily built on which to haul the cars to the main line.

Mr. France's farm consisted of about 100 acres and it is understood the price was in the neighbourhood of $5,000. The deal was consummated just a short time ago, Mr. France having come from the Northwest to meet the officers of the Company.

Lily Lake, for some time has been the scene of the operations in search of the blue clay which is so essential to the manufacture of cement and at one time it was believed there was almost an inexhaustible supply. The Company were looking at several farms in the vicinity of Drummond station, but decided on Mr. France's as being the best for their purposes.

The supply brought from Lily Lake this fall has been unusually large, 21 cars having made daily trips for some time.

Officials of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe at San Francisco deny the press reports that more than $10,000 has been remitted by persons to whom the company gave free transportation out of San Francisco at the time of the disaster of April 18. They say that not even the price of a single fare has yet been received.

Ketchecum Lake Party Increased

Two Sports Left This Morning to Join That Party and Hunt the Deer.

Mr. A. W. Laird, of Toronto, of the American Cereal Company, and Mr. J. H. Andrews, manager of the same company, in Akron, Ohio, passed through the city to-day for a hunt in the north country. They will join the Ketchecum Lake party and no doubt meet with success in the chase. This part should be one of the best and jolliest of those that that are engaged in hunting.

Buffalo Hunters Are Expected

Will go to the Back Lakes on Stoney Lake.

The steamer Stoney Lake, in command of Captain Scollard, came down the canal from Young's Point to-day, reaching the city shortly after noon. She is to meet a party of Buffalo sportsmen, who will hunt on the back lakes. Among the promoters of the party is Dr. Charis, of Buffalo, a well-known visitor at Mt. Julian, Stony Lake, during the summer months. The sportsmen are expected to arrive on the 5.38 G.T.R. train this evening, and will make an early start to-morrow. Last year, Capt. Scollard was presented with a loving cup by the bunch.

Lord Townsend, declared an imbecile by the English courts and restrained from managing his own affairs, retains his seat and vote in the House of Lords.

A BAD LIVER.

The Mail and Empire seeks to break the force of the terrible blow administered to the Conservative party by the triumphant election of Mr. Fielding—by a majority of 1,016. With its usual disregard for fairness and facts, it asserts that Mr. Fielding's return represented the election of "an apostle of corruption." The organ seizes upon the Government expenditures in the constituency of Queens and Shelburne for the past eight years as an evidence that the constituency was corrupted by the expenditure of public money. It is pointed out that the expenditure in eight years of $150,000 in this riding represents a sum of six dollars per head of the population, or seventy-five cents per year per head. There is no evidence offered that this is an extravagant sum to expend for public works, having a view to the local conditions. We spend millions in public works, and from the nature of things a large proportion is bulked in certain localities; that is, certain constituencies are, according to the Mail and Empire, corrupted by the spending of public money. Within the past few years—within the past twenty years—large sums have been spent in public works in East and West Peterborough, while the adjoining constituencies of Hastings and East and West Durham have been almost wholly neglected in this regard. But there is nothing corrupt in this. It was an accident of locality that large sums of Government money were spent in East and West Peterborough. Important sections of the Trent Canal were so situated that if expenditure were made at all, it must be made in what the organ would call favoured constituencies, and for corrupt purposes. The same explanation applies throughout the country generally. There are constituencies where millions of public money have been spent, and others where not a dollar has been laid out. It is practically impossible that, in dealing with public works, the Government should make an equable division as to amount between the several constituencies of the Dominion. The main point is, is the expenditure made in the respective locations, expended on needed public works, and, therefore, in the public interests. The money spent in public works belongs to the people, and should be applied to purposes of public utility, and cannot be distributed pro rata like a bank dividend, or in ratio to the amount contributed to the national treasury, by any constituency or locality. The Mail and Empire employs a very specious argument, indicative more of bad liver than good logic.

STRONG ENDORSATION

The official returns of the results of the voting in the North Bruce bye-election show that the first figures given out were not by any means optimistic. The official returns give the majority as 471. This majority in a riding, that for years returned a Conservative, is a striking tribute to the popularity and acceptance of the policy and administration of the Liberal Government of the Dominion. It is sometimes difficult to explicitly specify the influences that operate in an election, but there is no reason to doubt that the presence of the Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, Minister of Justice, and his statesmanlike presentation of the issues entering into the contest, had a large influence in effecting the triumphant return of Mr. Tolmie. This province is fortunate in having as a representative in the Cabinet a Minister whose large abilities contribute so effectively to the administration of our national affairs. The vindictiveness with which he is assailed by his political opponents, is in itself, a tribute to his importance as a public man. North Bruce, and Shelburne and Queens, where opportunities were presented for a square fight between the two parties, show that the strength of the Government has suffered no impairment.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Some persons in the United States enjoy more liberty and privileges than a similar class does in Canada. There civil servants are permitted to vote.

The fact that a large industry intends leaving Brantford on account of undue stringency in the enforcement of the Lord's Day Act, does not argue that the law is wrong, but rather that prudence has not been exercised in its administration.

The petitions presented to the City Council of Brantford in favour of submitting local option to popular vote, have been knocked out on account of insufficiency of signatures. The Expositor is disposed to think that it is not an unmixed evil, from the point of view of temperance reform, that the petitions have failed. There has not been a sufficient educative campaign thus far to make it desirable to risk a bylaw, and no harm is likely to come from fuller discussion, and possibly from a greater opportunity to study the workings of local option elsewhere. In moral reform movements—in temperance, as well as administration of the Lord's Day Act—zeal should be tempered with discretion.

Orangemen At Downer's Corners

Celebrated the Discovery of Gunpowder Plot.

A celebration of the discovery of the Gunpowder Plot was held last night at the meeting of the L.O.L. No. 321, Downer's Corners. A large number was present, and a most enjoyable evening was spent. The brethren of No. 321 were augmented by a quota from Nassau, who came as a surprise party with their fife and drum band, and assisted to make the evening the delightful one it was. Supper was first served and was followed by an interesting programme, which was listened to with great pleasure. Rev. A. H. Brace, of the Park Street Baptist Church, was present and addressed the assembly. The address of the Master of the lodge, Mr. R. Ritchie, indicated that No. 321 was in a flourishing condition and occupied the same prominent position among its sister lodges as in the past.

The following programme was rendered:

Chairman's Address—R. Ritchie, W. M.

Fife and Drum Band Selection — "Onward Christian Soldiers."

Recitation—"The Orange and the Green," Miss Watt.

Address—County Master Stewart.

Band Selection—"The Red, White and Blue."

Address—Lt.-Col. Miller.

Recitation—Miss Mina Waldie.

Tin Whistle Solo—Mr. Walter Kitsey.

Address—Rev. A. H. Brace.

Band Selection.

Dialogue from Coldsprings.

"God Save the King."

At the conclusion of the programme Guy Fawkes' effigy was burned, after which the gathering dispersed.

FEARFUL PAINS

SUGGESTIONS HOW WOMEN MAY FIND RELIEF.

While no woman is entirely free from periodical suffering it does not seem to be the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely. This is a severe strain on a woman's vitality." When pain exists something is wrong which should be set right or it will lead to a serious derangement of the whole female organism.

Thousands of women have testified in grateful letters to Mrs. Pinkham that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound overcomes women's special pains and irregularities.

It provides a safe and sure way of escape from distressing and dangerous weaknesses and diseases.

The two following letters tell so convincingly what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will do for women, they cannot fail to bring hope to thousands of sufferers.

Miss Matilda Richardson of 177 Wellington Street, Kingston, Ont., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Some four years ago my usually good health began to fail. I had severe pains in my back, my head ached, I would have dizzy spells, and during my monthly periods I would suffer intense pain. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so glad that I did, for it brought new life and health to me. My monthly periods were natural and painless, and my general health improved. I have not had an ache or a pain since, and I feel it a duty as well as a pleasure to tell you what your medicine has done for me."

Mme. Louise McKenzie, of Mount Carmel, Montreal, Canada, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I had heard so much good about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before I started to take it for painful periods so that when it cured me I was not surprised. I had suffered with blinding headaches and pain until it seemed that I must scream. These pains lasted from five to ten days every month, and you can understand how glad I was to get relief. I am in the best of health, and am pleased to give you this testimonial for what your medicine has done for me."

Such testimony should be accepted by all women as convincing evidence that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stands without a peer as a remedy for all the distressing ills of women.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound rests upon the well-earned gratitude of Canadian women.

When women are troubled with irregularities, displacements or ulceration of the organs, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation, backache, bloating, (or flatulency), general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about your sickness you do not understand. She will treat you with kindness and her advice is free. No woman ever regretted writing her and she has helped thousands. Address Lynn, Mass.

Quaker-Banker Game Saturday

Two Teams Have Arranged Match for That Date.

The Quakers and Bankers play rugby on Saturday afternoon at Riverside Park. This was a scheduled game, but on account of the C.G.E. protest and the Quakers declining to play them again the game on Saturday afternoon becomes an exhibition one. These teams are anxious to meet each other so that the match will be interesting. The Bankers are confident that with some more practise they will be able to trim their more experienced opponents. The play will be'n at 3.30, sharp.

Two Wrights To Play On Saturday

The Toronto Star of yesterday's date says:—

The senior Argonauts will finish their O. R. F. U. season at Varsity Field on Saturday, when they meet the Peterborough team in the final game of the series. The Argos had a hard game at Peterborough in the mud, winning out by 13 to 7 after a strenuous struggle, and the game here on Saturday should be a good one.

Owing to the injuries to Tommy Hay and Leslie Crooks, there will be two vacancies on the team, which will, in all likelihood, be filled by the veteran player, Joe Wright, and his son George, otherwise known as "Little Joe", and one of the most promising of the Argo intermediates. Joe, sr., was laid up all last week with lumbago, but took a long run yesterday, and will be out in uniform at the practice on Varsity Field this afternoon. This will be the first occasion on record in Canada where father and son played on the same football team. The veteran is as good as ever and "Young Joe" is [illegible]

Amendments To O.H.A. Constitution

Annual Meeting will be Held on Nov. 17th.

The sporting editor of the Examiner has received from W. A. Hewitt, secretary of the O. H. A., a copy of the amendments to the constitution, etc., which will be considered at the annual meeting of the association at 9.00 a. m. on Saturday, November 17th, at the Temple Building, Toronto. These amendments have been prepared by a committee appointed by the President, and are, with a few exceptions, a recasting and consolidation of the clauses of the present constitution, the general rules and regulations and the rules of competition.

The most important amendment noticed are in connection with the residence rules. One amendment proposes to make the residence rule September 1st and the other August 1st, instead of October 1st, as is the rule at present.

It is time that the organization meeting of the local club is called as representatives should be selected to attend this meeting and some of the amendments may have to be discussed.

Carbeau To Play With Galt Team

Former Barrie Hockeyist will be Seen In Iron Town Uniform.

Galt, Nov. 5.—As in former years, Galt will be strong in the senior series of the O.H.A. again this season, the latest addition to the team being Corbeau, who played last season with Barrie. He moved to Galt early in the summer and will be here for the hockey season. Corbeau plays the position of rover and is one of the best in the game.

The rest of the team will be practically the same as a year ago. Twaits will be again in line, notwithstanding many rumors to the contrary.

BASKET-BALL.

To-night in the Y.M.C.A. the first senior basketball games for the new trophy will be played, commencing at eight o'clock, when the Alerts meet the Tigers. At nine o'clock the Arrows meet the O.T.C. A silver collection taken at door. Come and see the games.

Threatened With Bright's Disease

BRICK DUST DEPOSITS TOLD OF DISEASED KIDNEYS, BUT CURE WAS EFFECTED BY

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

This case well illustrates the way in which kidney diseases of the most serious form are developed from derangements of the liver, and emphasizes the extraordinary control which Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills possess over such complicated ailments.

Mr. John Wilson, 918 Esplanade avenue, Montreal, Que., writes: "Last February I was taken sick and had to have the doctor, who said that my ailments was a disordered liver. A few weeks after completing his treatment I began to notice symptoms of kidney disease. The urine took on a reddish appearance and continued to get worse, until there were brick dust deposits, and then I knew that the kidneys were seriously affected, and that I was threatened with Bright's disease.

"I obtained some of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and as a result of this treatment was completely cured. My water became a natural colour, and is still so. The cure was thorough and lasting.

"My first experience with Dr. Chase's Medicines was with Dr. Chase's Ointment, which completely cured me of itching piles, with which I was tortured for nearly twenty years. I am now perfectly convinced of the reliability of these two great medicines."

No medicine which acts on the kidneys alone can possibly prove effective, because in the great majority of cases the liver and bowels are also deranged. Because Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have a direct and combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels, they bring about satisfactory results in the most complicated cases.

By using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose at bedtime, as often as is necessary to keep the bowels in regular healthful action, you insure yourself against kidney disease and the subsequent suffering from Bright's disease, dropsy, apoplexy or other equally dreaded ailments.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are the most certain for constipation, biliousness and kidney disease. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Nov. 7.—Developments over the election yesterday were not entirely what had been expected by the street, and speculative realizing, began in London, extended to the New York market which was worried a little over the money outlook and which was subjected in consequence of these several factors to professional hammering. Lower prices were brought about and the prospects favour a trading market for the time being until the digestion of events now taking place shall have been completed.

A heavy buying movement in Nor. Pac. and Great Northern, which advanced these over six points, steadied the market after noon, causing shorts to cover and bringing the general list back to about the opening. The prospects are that the Bank of England will not advance its rate to-morrow, as was feared. The market closed firm.

Premier Roblin Will Testify To The Commission

Will Appear Before Insurance Commission Next Week.

PURCHASE OF C.P.R. LANDS

General Manager of the Crown Bank Corroborates Mr. DuVernet—C. P. R. Lands Commissioner F. T. Griffin of Winnipeg Tells of Purchase of C. P. R. Lands by Messrs. Fowler, Pope and Bennett.

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—At the morning session of the Royal Insurance Commission, Mr. Whitla, barrister, Winnipeg, said that he had received a telegram from Premier Roblin, stating that he would be in Ottawa on the 11th, and would be glad to appear before the Commission, if they so desired.

Judge McTavish said that he saw from the papers that Mr. Roblin would be here, and if he had anything to say the Commission would be glad to hear him.

Mr. Shepley said the Underwriters' Association no doubt would want to be heard.

Union Trust Stock.

Gerald De C. O'Grady, general manager of the Crown Bank, Toronto, said that Mr. DuVernet was to have one-third of the Union Trust stock; Mr. Ormsby, one half, and they asked him to underwrite the other third. Mr. O'Grady said that he was a party to all the negotiations between the Union Trust Co., the Foresters and DuVernet.

He did not know anything of Wilson in the transactions, but he knew that Wilson received $20,000 in stock and $5,000 in cash. The cash was paid and the stock was to be delivered to him at the end of five years. Wilson also desired a share in DuVernet's stock, as it was good, and he applied for one-third of DuVernet's, and put up $2,500 for it.

He knew this through DuVernet. The stock was not taken up, and the deposit was forfeited.

Purchase of C. P. R. Lands.

The purchase of subsidy lands from the C. P. R. by Messrs. Fowler, Pope and Bennett, M. P.'s, was looked into by the Insurance Commission at the afternoon's session.

F. T. Griffin, C. P. R. lands commissioner at Winnipeg, detailed all the various steps taken in the negotiations regarding the purchase of certain subsidy lands, and especially emphasized the delays of the syndicate in closing the deal. Finally on Dec. 8 there was an interview between Messrs. Pope and Fowler, Mr. White, Sir Thos. Shaughnessy, Mr. Dennis, C. P. R. commissioner at Calgary, and the witness. Mr. Griffin had had no communication with anyone before the meeting.

"What took place at the meeting?"

Witness said the question of price was discussed.

The president asked him what would be a fair price, all things considered. He said that $3.50 an acre was a fair price. He recommended this and the president accepted it.

Special Terms Asked.

There was next a letter from Mr. Pope to Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, saying that in view of the fact that the C. P. R. was to reserve 25 per cent. of the land selected, the syndicate should have the right to pay for their purchase in ten yearly payments, instead of six, as was customary in the dealings of the C. P. R. This Mr. Griffin disapproved of, and Sir Thomas Shaughnessy apprised Mr. Pope of this disapproval.

A letter from Mr. Griffin to Mr. Pope was read, saying that the lands would reach 225,000 acres. For this the price would be $700,000, the first instalment of which would be $116,000. He asked for an immediate deposit of $20,000 on this, the balance of the first instalment to be paid before May 1. On Feb. 18 Mr. Pope replied that it was not the bargain that he had to June 1.

Mr. Shepley: "What do you say to that?"

"I never heard of such a thing. It was contrary to the conduct of my department. When the price was arraigned I expected the purchasers to follow the usual terms of payment."

Mr. Griffin was harsh in his response to this request, and finally, on March 17, notified Mr. Pope and Mr. Fowler that he had cancelled the reserve on the lands, and now considered himself free to dispose of them as he found convenient.

On April 6 Mr. Fowler wrote Sir Thomas Shaughnessy to arrange an interview with Mr. Pope.

Pope's Illusion.

On April 8 Sir Thomas Shaughnessy wired Mr. Griffin that he had seen Mr. Pope, that the latter was evidently laboring under an illusion, and that he would suggest that the syndicate be given until May 15 to complete his arrangement.

In the meantime Mr. Griffin notified Sir Thomas Shaughnessy that he had received an offer of $4 an acre from reliable persons for the lands. Sir Thomas replied on April 12, that unless he heard from Pope in a day or two the deal would be off. On April 16, Sir Thomas notified Mr. Griffin that Mr. Fowler would be in Winnipeg in a day or two to complete the deal. Then the matter was finally arranged.

Then Mr. Shepley asked: "Did Messrs. Pope and Fowler receive any special consideration for any reason, or did they get the same terms as others would have?"

Same as Others.

"They had exactly the same treatment as would have been meted out in the case of any other purchasers."

"Did you receive from anyone in authority in the C. P. R. authority to reduce the price of lands to these gentlemen?"

"There was not even a suggestion of such a thing."

At the close of the examination of Mr. Griffin, on the suggestion of Mr. Shepley, the Commission adjourned, as far as public sessions are concerned, until 4.15 this afternoon. Hon. George W. Fowler will then be the witness, and there will be an evening session.

Campbell Refutes.

Winnipeg, Nov. 7.—Hon. Colin Campbell emphatically denied yesterday the statements made by A. W. Pritchard on the witness stand at Ottawa, in connection with the Union Trust land deal.

"If," he said, "the commission desires my version, and if it forms part of its mission, I am quite willing to be called. The language used by Pritchard as being applied to me is absolutely untrue, and the animus and purpose of such testimony is quite apparent."

PE-RU-NA RELIEVES AFTER-EFFECTS OF LA GRIPPE.

La Grippe Sows the Seed of Chronic Catarrh, Indigestion, Nervous Prostration and a Host of Ailments Too Numerous to Mention.

PERUNA is a remedy for the after-effects of la grippe.

Nearly every person who has had the grip during the past winter finds himself left with some chronic catarrhal condition more or less intolerable.

It may be a hacking cough, or a tired, all-worn-out feeling.

Sometimes indigestion appears and hangs on in spite of all remedies.

A short course of Peruna removes all these symptoms and puts the patient right again.

We have a multitude of testimonials along this line.

La Grippe Leaves a Case of Systemic Catarrh.

Judge Horatio J. Goss, Hartwell, Ga., writes:

"Some five or six years ago I had a very severe spell of grip which left me with systemic catarrh.

"A friend advised me to try your Peruna, which I did, and was immediately benefited.

"The third bottle completed the cure."

Holds Pe-ru-na in High Esteem.

Miss Ernestine Durocher, 3611 Notre Dame, St. Henri, Montreal, Can., writes: "During several years I experienced much inconvenience on account of weakness and heart trouble.

"The best doctors treated me, but without success.

"A year ago I commenced to take Peruna.

"I persevered with it regularly and a change took place more rapidly than I expected. To-day I am entirely cured.

"I hold Peruna in the highest esteem and I am always ready to speak a good word in its favor. I owe my cure to Peruna."

"Pe-ru-na Was Recommended by One of My Friends."

Mr. N. Beauchamp, 126 rue Notre Dame, Lachine, P. Q., writes:

"I tried the famous remedy, Peruna, which was recommended to me by one of my friends, R. Pilon.

"I have not been without this valuable remedy for seven months, and now I see that I am entirely cured.

"Formerly, on lying down I was unable to breathe through my nose and I never passed a day without headache.

"To-day I experience none of these symptoms and this is due to Peruna."

MR. J. A. GOYER.

Mr. J. A. Goyer, president La Pharmacie Latouiuse, 1069 Berri St., Montreal, Can., writes:

"I can highly recommend your inestimable preparation, Peruna, to all those who suffer from the bad after-effects of la grippe.

"Two bottles of Peruna have brought to me a complete cure of that sickness, and it has acted as the best tonic for the system that I have ever experienced."

Head and Stomach Were Affected by Catarrh.

Miss Ollivine Perrault, 527½ rue Albert, Montreal, Can., writes:

"I write you a word to congratulate you on your famous remedy, Peruna. I tried other remedies, but my cold did not get any better, and I feared I was becoming consumptive.

"The condition of my head and stomach was very annoying. I had coughed day and night for three months, as the result of a cold which I had contracted from sudden change of temperature.

"My brother advised me to try Peruna and I did so, for he was cured by Peruna. I took it regularly and improved steadily. I have now taken three bottles of it and am completely cured."

TRAVERSE O'MEARA CASE.

Until Next Assizes—Cases Before Justice Riddell in Toronto.

Toronto, Nov. 7.—On the pleas of J. W. Curry, K. C., and J. M. Godfrey, the perjury trial of John O'Meara was traversed until the spring assizes by Justice Riddell yesterday. He will be arraigned this morning and furnish bail. If the grand jury bring in a true bill against Tom Lewis on a similar charge his trial will also go over.

His lordship agreed to this on the ground that the bribery investigation in the police court was not yet finished.

A verdict of guilty was brought in by the jury against Patrick Doyle, charged with an offence against a young girl.

Sentence was withheld in the case of James Jeffreys, found guilty of obtaining a loan of $200 under false pretences. Barrister Roche said that Jeffreys, if given a day or two, would settle up the matter.

Peterborough Experiences Boarding House Famine

A Serious Situation Which Confronts Young Men in This City — Who will Provide Remedy?

"Can you tell me where I can get a boarding house for this man?" asked one of a group of about five young men who were gathered on a city street corner last night about six o'clock. This question, and the situation which it represents is by no means an uncommon one in this city these days. To secure a boarding house is the greatest difficulty which confronts young men coming into the city. To get a position is easy compared with that ask of getting some place to stay.

What is to be done about the matter no one seems to be able to say, with any degree of satisfaction, but it most certainly is a matter which someone will have to deal with if Peterborough is to be relieved of a most serious difficulty in the way of its material progress.

That there is a very great scarcity of available boarding houses in the city is a fact which everyone who tries to secure one learns to his sorrow as soon as he starts out to find one. To aggravate the situation young unmarried men are coming into the city almost daily. They are for the most part young men who are taking good positions here, and intend to make this their home, but it must be confessed that their introduction to the city is not a very satisfactory one when they find that it is practically impossible for them to find any place to stay, and they frequently have to use some persuasion to induce some more tender hearted lady than the ordinary one who will consent—for a consideration—to take him into her home as a transient lodger.

The case cited above is not by any means an isolated one. There are scores of men in Peterborough to-day looking for boarding houses, and they cannot find them.

Deepest Gold Mine In the World

Shafts Sunk 4,.00 Feet Into the Earth.

Australia now possesses the deepest gold mine in the world. Within the last few weeks the shafts at the New Chum railway at Bendigo, Victoria, have been sunk to a depth of over 4,300 feet, and the quartz there tapped has been sampled and crushed, with the result that a yield of gold equal to an ounce per ton has been obtained. The operations in the mine have been tested by government officials in view of the fact that never before in the world's history has gold been obtained from so low a depth as three-quarters of a mile.

Every Home Needs Zam-Buk

Experiences of Housekeepers Who Keep It Handy.

In every home, cuts, bruises, scalds, and similar injuries, are sure to occur, especially where there are any children. In most homes too, chapped hands, chilblains, eczema, ringworm, ulcers, and other skin diseases occur. For these you need a balm that is pure, herbal, free from mineral compound, free from animal fat, antiseptic, able to stop bleeding, and which should heal.

Zam-buk meets all these requirements. Why not prove its merits. Read this:

Mrs. Angus of Fenelon Falls, says —"In forty years of housekeeping I have never met with such an excellent salve as Zam-Buk."

Mrs. Everett Brown, of Markham, Ont., writes: "Zam-Buk cured some bad bruises on my knee. I also find it excellent for chapped hands."

Mrs. Lizzie Gilmour of Kingston, says: "I had an ulcerated leg, which became so bad that I could not wear a boot. The foot and ankle were swollen to nearly double their ordinary size, and the pain was terrible. The ulcers spread in a ring all around the limb. Doctor's treatment brought no relief, and at one time it was thought that only amputation could end the agony I suffered. Zam-Buk was brought to my notice and I bought a few boxes. Each box gave me more ease and healed the ulcers. To-day I am quite cured, the limb is sound, and whereas before I could not stand, now I can go up and down stairs with ease. I owe it all to Zam-Buk."

Zam-Buk also cures eczema, cold sores, ringworm, stiff joints, bad legs, sore nipples, boils, abscesses, blood poison, poisoned wounds, etc. Used as an embrocation it cures rheumatism, and sciatica, and rubbed well into the chest cures lung trouble, colds, etc. For all purposes to which a household balm is put Zam-Buk will be found unequalled. All druggists sell it at 50 cents a box or direct from the Zam-Buk Company, upon receipt of price. Six boxes for $2.50.

Mrs. Baker Eddy's Condition Described

Citizen of Concord Makes Statement to the Effect That She is Mentally and Physically Fit.

The Concord, N.H., Monitor, in a recent issue contained statements from a number of residents of that city as to the mental and physical condition of Mrs. Eddy, the head of the Christian Scientist church. These statements seem to indicate that this lady has been misrepresented, when it was said that she was in a decrepit condition.

The Monitor summarizes them as follows:—

Mrs. Eddy is keen of intellect and strong in memory. She is a surprising illustration of longevity; bright eyes, emphatic expression, and an alertness rarely to be encountered in so venerable a person.—Mayor Chas. R. Corning.

Mrs. Eddy's mind is not only unimpaired, but she exhibits the same clearness, strength, alertness and vigour which have so long distinguished her.—General Frank S. Streeter.

Mrs. Eddy has no cancer, or any chronic or organic or functional disease.—Calvin A. Frye.

Mrs. Eddy herself has driven in her carriage daily, with the exception of one day in the early spring, when the roads were so bad that she did not go out.—Lewis C. Strang.

I have seen Mrs. Eddy's carriage on State street almost daily. The occupant has always been Mrs. Eddy herself.—Hermann S. Hering.

I most emphatically say that Mrs. Eddy is in every way capable of conducting her business affairs.—Fred N. Ladd, treasurer, Loan and Trust Savings Bank.

I can state from personal knowledge that it is Mrs. Eddy, and no other person, whom I see riding in her carriage.—Josiah E. Fernald, National State Capital Bank.

Mission Circle's Enjoyable Evening

Murray Street Circle Held Thanksgiving Meeting.

The annual Thanksgiving meeting of the Women's Mission Circle of the Murray street Baptist church was held last night, and was well attended.

A most successful meeting resulted, those present showing a deep interest in the cause of missions as it was presented in its different phases last night.

Mrs. (Dr.) Hunter, the president of the Circle, occupied the chair, and after a Bible reading by Rev. Mr. Scott, an interesting and helpful paper on "Stewardship" was read by Miss Maggie Mann, representing the Park street church. Miss Amy Hardwick, representing the Willing Workers, gave a reading. An original poem by Mrs. James Ellis was much enjoyed, as was also a paper on Home Missions, read by Mrs. (Dr.) Scott.

A paper on Foreign Missions had been prepared, but it was decided to hold it over until the next regular meeting.

Address On The History of Medicine

Interesting Talk by Dr. Neal Before Charlotte St. Y. M. G.

An address by Dr. Neal on "The History of Medicine" was the somewhat unique programme given at the meeting of the Charlotte Street Young Men's Guild last night. The subject is a fascinating one and was treated by Dr. Neal in a skilful and intelligent manner, which made his remarks most enjoyable to all present. The members voted it one of the best talks that has ever been given at their meetings. The attendance was fairly large, but it is safe to say that were the address to be repeated the room would be packed to the doors.

Music And Musicians Of Germany Considered

Interesting Lecture at St. Andrew's Hall Last Night by Mr. Forsyth.

Last night at St. Andrew's school room, Mr. Carl Cecil Forsythe, organist of the church, gave the first of a series of popular lectures on the history of music, dealing with German music and musicians. He treated the subject in a very interesting and instructive manner. There was a rather small audience, but the lecturer said that his course of lectures were somewhat in the form of an experiment, and he would be well pleased if he succeeded in inducing even a dozen persons to take a deeper and more intelligent interest in music. The importance was pointed out to the learning musician of knowing something about the life and conditions of great musicians, their style and temperament, to the end of a better understanding, and interpretation of their compositions. Germany was chosen as the first to be dealt with, as it was the most musical nation. The rise of music in Germany was traced from the volk songs of the earliest days, up to the time of the renaissance period. The Reformation in Germany gave the first impulse to musical composition, Martin Luther being a considerable composer, a notable example of his work being the hymn, "Eine Feste Burg," a type of his style. Then came Mozart, Beethoven, Mendelsohn, Schubert, Schumann and Wagner. The musical characteristics of all these great composers and musicians, were dealt with as well as their share in developing musical form from the contrapuntal period to the more involved musical forms, as found in opera, oratorio, symphony, sonata, etc. The later, and minor, composers and musicians were also dealt with in a very interesting way. The lecturer succeeded in presenting a very instructive lecture, and must have given his auditors a clearer conception of the characteristics of the composers, whose works are so universally played and sung.

During the progress of the lecture a pleasant programme of piano and vocal selections was contributed by Miss Mary Potter, Miss Ivory, Miss Bessie Elcome, and Miss Violet Copeland. Songs were given by Mr Jarman, (humorous), Mr. Stewart Lang, and Miss Mabel Harrison, of Keene, with a mezzo-soprano voice of fine quality, used with excellent taste and effect. Miss Hunter sang a solo with violin obligato, by Mr. Markle, and a duet was contributed by Mr. Stewart and Miss May Lang.

Social Bible Club's Social

An Interesting Evening Spent at the Y. M. C. A.

The Social Bible Club of the Intermediate Department of the Y.M.C.A., held a very interesting session last night.

After the regular study under the leadership of Dr. Jos. Middleton, an hour was spent in a social way.

A debate, "Resolved that the school boy has a better time than the working boy," showed considerable ability on the part of the young debaters. George Martin and John Evans took the affirmative, and F. Hall and S. Madill the negative. Decision was given in favour of the affirmative.

Several humorous readings were given, and one minute speeches on sundry topics. Light refreshments were served at the close.

A number of new members were enrolled, and the Club promises to be a great success under the able and popular leadership of Dr. Middleton.

Cashier "Embezzled" The President's Daughter

Alexandria Bay Bank Clerk Elopes with Banker's Daughter and Marries in Morristown.

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 6.—A message from Alexandria Bay, N. Y., a favourite Thousand Island resort, says that its people were aroused over a romantic elopement there. The parties concerned were Mr. J. W. Northrop, a prominent young man of this place, who has been employed at the First National Bank of Alexandria Bay for several years, and Miss Mary Cornwall, daughter of the president of the bank. This is a case where the embezzlement was the banker's daughter instead of the cash of the bank.

In order to escape parental interference, the young couple were taken in a yacht to Clayton, where they were married. They then went to Morristown, where Mr. Northrop has entered his new position as cashier of the new bank recently established in that place.

Both parties are among the most prominent and popular young people of Alexandria, and they have the best wishes of many friends.

Gold Lake Party Have 3 Deer by Saturday Night.

Last night Messrs. William and Harold Snowden and M. C. Tooley, who were with the Gold Lake Hunt Club, returned home and report good luck from the northern hunting grounds. They left the camp yesterday morning and at that time the party had bagged three deer—all big bucks. The deer are fairly plentiful in the section of Gold Lake, although they are reported to be more so in other parts.

Coming out the party learned that the Eagle Lake Hunt Club had gotten two and the Ketchecum Lake, five deer. These were the only reports from other camps.

Some little excitement was the other evening at the Gold Lake Club's camp when a big bear suddenly appeared on the lake shore in full view of the party. Guns were quickly grabbed but before the anxious hunters reached the spot bruin had disappeared and although a diligent search was made he could not be again located.

This morning Mr. Herb Snowden left for the north and will join Mr. Eastwood's camp for the remainder of the hunt.

Two Million Boxes This Season's Record

Of Cheese Shipments from Port of Montreal This Season—An Increase Over 1905.

In view of the fact that the last meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board for the season was held this morning, the following from the Montreal Star, showing the quantity of cheese shipped from that port this season will be of local interest:

The market for cheese was steady this morning, and the tone was generally firm. Reports of sales of September Ontarios having changed hands at 13c, came from two sources, and 13 1-8c was demanded for more. At the wharf yesterday, sales of Quebec cheese took place at 12 1-4c, the quantity offering not being very large. Locally, prices are unchanged for current arrivals, being 12 3-8 to 12 1-2c for Quebecs, 12 1-2 to 12 5-8c for townships, and 12-5-8 to 12 3-4c for Ontarios. Ontario coloured were sold on Saturday at 12 3-4c for Octobers.

Saturday's Liverpool public cable showed an advance of 1s to 2s over the previous day, at 62s for white and 64s for coloured, at which figures the cable still stands.

Shipments of cheese from the port of Montreal last week amounted to 71,058 boxes, against 84,748 boxes for the same week of last year. Total shipments since the first of the season amounted to 2,050,579 boxes, against 1,957,193 boxes for the corresponding period of last year.

Shipments via Quebec were 2,360 for the week, and 26,359 for the season.

Receipts of cheese reported on the Board of Trade this morning amounted to 3,562 boxes, those for the whole of last week being 69,248 against 68,052 the previous week.

DANDRUFF DON'T WASH OUT.

The Germ That Causes It Has to Be Destroyed, to Cure Dandruff.

Many a woman spends an hour twice a week scouring her scalp, thinking that by scrubbing off the scurf she will cure the dandruff. Two hours a week, at the age of 40 years, she has spent 260 days of 12 hours each, or two-thirds of a year of her life in that vain hope; vain because you can't cure dandruff without killing the dandruff germ, and the only hair preparation on earth that will do that is Newbro's "Herpicide"—also a delightful hair dressing, and thoroughly antiseptic against all contagion from use of other's hair brushes. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, special agents.

Brutal Assault On Edward Welsh

Lindsay Man was Robbed and Beaten By a Fellow Named Jordan.

A little light has been thrown upon the brutal assault made a few nights ago upon Edward Walsh, a Lindsay man. Mr. Walsh, as the story is told the Examiner, has been working in the country, a few miles out of the city, and came to Peterborough on Monday to go to a dance in another part of the country. He called at a local livery stable to hire a horse and buggy, but the proprietor was unable to let him have one because he had no one to drive. Finally a Water street man offered to go with Mr. Walsh, and they set out, both in a sober condition. However, the night was cold, and on the way a little bottle was tapped, and the contents disposed of. They were feeling rather hilarious when they reached their destination, but no hitch occurred in the evening's fun. On the way back they got over the line for another bottle, and by the time Peterborough was reached Mr. Walsh was a little bit intoxicated. He met another man, named Jordan, who invited him to a local hotel for a drink. Strange to say, Jordan had no money, and Walsh had to pay. Shortly after Walsh lost all consciousness of earthly things, so deep was the influence of the liquor on him.

When he revived, or rather, recovered his senses, he was in the police station; his money was gone, his watch likewise, his face was badly bruised, his lips were swollen, and he presented a pitiful sight.

The latest developments in the case were made known at the police court this morning, when Jordan appeared before City Clerk Armstrong on two charges. One was for the theft of money and a watch from Ed. Walsh, and the other was for assault and battery. He elected to be tried by a jury and was remanded until Monday next.

Attention is being directed to the invaluable service tea performs in furnishing a delectable way of supplying the body with the required amounts of water, but the good to be derived in drinking it depends on its proper selection and making. Of "Salada" is the only correct way that tea should be made.

The Collectors Busy Working

For the Funds of the Local Branch of Bible Society.

Those appointed to collect for the Bible Society have already begun work in the different districts of the city and country.

The collectors' cards have the names of the collector, secretary and treasurer.

The important work of the Bible Society ought to have the support of all citizens. It exists to translate the Scriptures into all languages and to circulate them amongst all peoples. It has made the Bible the most easily procured book in almost every language. It expends some $50,000 annually in gifts of the Scriptures, to orphanages, prisons, asylums and to philanthropic and charitable institutions. It supplies home and foreign missions of all churches with the Bible in their own language. It employs 950 colporteurs, and 650 native Bible women, and is the pioneer Christian force in many dark places in the earth.

Let everybody help a little.

The non-commissioned officers' class opened at the Drill Hall with a membership of 22. Sgt.-Major Brittain, who is in charge again reports that the interest being taken is greater than usual and he expects a few more to join at the next meeting. The evening was spent with the sub target guns. The Sargeant-Major first explained their intricate mechanism and then had the class use them. These guns are new here and were found to create considerable interest. Their purpose is to teach the young soldier how to aim and handle a rifle.

Sergt.-Major Brittain states there is room for a couple more and the first who come will be first served. The classes will be held every Tuesday evening.

Dan Spence Ambulance; Care And Maintenance

Mr. D. Belleghem Writes a Letter Answering Charges Made by Ald. Duncan—Contends That He Has Given Good Service—Made 239 Calls Last Year—Some Interesting History.

Peterborough,
November 5th, 1906.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I see by the report of the proceedings of a meeting of the City Council held last evening, that the matter of the care of the Dan Spence Ambulance has been referred back to the Committee for further consideration, and that in making this motion Alderman Duncan insinuates that I have made improper use of the Ambulance.

That the citizens in general, and especially the subscribers to the purchase of this conveyance may know the history of this matter, I wish to state a few facts.

When tenders for the care of the ambulance were invited, Mr. Comstock's figure was $300.00, mine was $150.00, thus effecting a saving of $150,00 for that year. Ashburnham, then a separate municipality, offered $75.00 a year on condition that the service be extended to that village, and the then town council agreed to this, but if Mr. Comstock had got the contract at his figure, $300.00, the city might now be paying that amount or even a much larger sum.

Two years ago the city council of their own accord, fixed the remuneration at $200.00 per annum, and last year the contract was renewed at the same figure, the Council being well satisfied with the service.

This year a determined effort is being made by Mr. Comstock to get the contract at any price, and he is now ready to undertake the work at $100.00. How is it that he asked $300.00 three years ago for the service in the town, then much smaller than now, and not including Ashburnham?

As to Mr. Duncan's insinuation that I am using the Ambulance in opposition to Mr. Comstock, let me inform Mr. Duncan that I have an ambulance of my own, much better fitted for long journeys than the heavy city ambulance, and that when I go to the country I take my own conveyance.

I admit that on three occasions I went further than the one mile from the city limits, as provided for by the contract, as follows:—George Dobbin, a subscriber to the ambulance fund, had a son requiring removal and I was sent for and refused, as the distance was about two miles from the city limits. When it was explained that Mr. Dobbin was a subscriber, and in addition, Dr. Carmichael, the attendant physician, insisted upon my going and stated that in case of complaint, he would stand between me and the authorities, I went, but made no charge,—not much profit in that trip.

On another occasion an employee of the Oriental, a citizen of the city, was injured at Milburn's School House, and in this case I was ordered by the Chief of Police and Dr. Boucher, to bring the injured man in, which I did, but made no charge—no profit in this.

On a third occasion I was called to Otonabee and brought in a patient, for which I received $3.00, but as a counterbalance I wish to inform Mr. Duncan that on five occasions while the ambulance was undergoing repairs, I used my own ambulance, making no charge.

These constitute the sum of my sins under this head.

As to Mr. Duncan's statement that I make a charge for carrying patients from the station to the hospital, I have this to say, —that the city does not profess to pay for the conveyance of outsiders to the hospitals and I defy Mr. Duncan to point out any case in which I have charged any citizen of Peterborough for the conveyance of any relative or friend to the hospital, whether a resident of the city or not.

My practice has been in special cases to make a charge to outsiders of one dollar, and in one instance only, when extra help was required, the charge was two dollars, but in most cases no charge whatever is made.

This, I claim, I am entitled to do under my contract, and let me here draw attention to the fact that the city Solicitor and two lawyers then in the council had a hand in the preparation of that contract, while I was not represented by any legal talent, so I guess the contract was a safe one for the city.

It will be remembered that at the time the ambulance was purchased there was a dispute between the council and the manufacturer, and the council refused to accept the conveyance, and that while negotiations were pending by direction of the mayor, the ambulance was used, thus placing the council in the position of having accepted and liable to pay. I then negotiated a settlement between the parties, got $100.00 off the price, had the necessary alteration made, which cost $5.00, and paid this sum out of my own pocket, thus saving $100.00 to the town, or when I am repaid this $5.00 a saving of $95.00.

I wish, also, to draw attention to the work which I have done. Last year I had 239 calls, the year before 230 calls, and as the manufactories increase in size and number, to say nothing of the increase in population, the number of calls is sure to increase. Also to this I may add that in all cases two persons have to attend to move the patient, and in many cases three and sometimes four, and in addition the blankets, sheets, pillow cases, etc., are never used a second time without being washed.

I would like to ask Ald. Duncan if he has ever heard a complaint from any doctor or patient as to the efficiency or promptness of the attendance; has he ever heard of an accident or a runaway, or if he thinks I have been overpaid in the past for my services.

Were it not for the underhand means that are being taken to get me out of the position in which I feel that I have given the best possible service, I would withdraw and let Mr. Comstock have the job, but no man with British blood in his veins would calmly submit to the treatment accorded me.

Thanking you for your valuable space, I am,

Yours very truly,

D. BELLEGHEM.

Spasmodic Efforts Is Detrimental To Leagues' Succcess

should be brought to the Sunday School. The missionary department was the most important in the League, and should not be neglected. The Temperance Committee had also a great work to do. The work of the Social and Literary Committees was also touched upon and some helpful advice given.

Ideal Christain Life

A very inspiring and instructive address on "The Ideal Christian Life, and How the League Helps to Attain it," was read by Mr. Harvey Thexton, of Millbrook. After first dealing with what constituted the ideal Christian life, he passed on to talk of how this was to be obtained.

An interesting discussion on the two papers followed, lead by Rev. Mr. Clire.

Mrs. E. B. Lewis read a helpful paper on the work of the Missionary Committee, especially dealing with the missionary meetings of the Epworth League work. She gave many excellent suggestions in reference to preparations for, and conducting, a successful missionary meeting.

A discussion on the paper followed, led by Rev. Dr. Metzler.

Miss Nugent, of Millbrook, sang a vocal solo in fine voice, much to the enjoyment of the gathering.

A round table conference was conducted by Rev. Dr. Crews, of Toronto, the secretary of the Sunday Schools and Epworth Leagues of the Methodist Church. This feature was very ably led by Rev. Dr. Crews, and as it was entered into heartily by the delegates present, could not fail to be helpful to all. Many topics of vital importance to the League work were touched upon.

EVENING SESSION

In the evening the Epworth League Convention was continued. The attendance was very encouraging, and the evening session was most successful. It was opened by song service, conducted by Prof. McCann, after which Rev. J. G. Lewis, led the assembly in prayer. Rev. Dr. Metzler was elected president.

On behalf of the Nominating Committee Rev. J. G. Lewis presented the names of the new officers. They are:

President—Rev. Dr. Metzler.
First Vice-President, Mr. G. Galley.
Second Vice-President, Mrs. Lewis.
Third Vice-President, Miss Nugent
Fourth Vice-President, Miss Spence, Lakefield.
Fifth Vice-President, Mrs. J. Speer.
Secretary, Mr. H. Lattimer.
Treasurer, Rev. E. Niobol, Warsaw.

Dr. Metzler's paper on Christian Stewardship, was one of the most educating and interesting features of the evening. The great aim of Christianity is to make men better, and as much like Jesus Christ as possible. This should always be remembered by everyone. One quality man needs to strive for to gain this end, or rather help to gain it, is love. Love was one of God's greatest attributes; therefore it should be the great aim of all those who are endeavouring to follow in His footsteps.

Then, too, men should bear all their crosses, as did Jesus, without complaining, and with a firm resolution to follow in His footsteps, for the love of God. While bearing those crosses that are sent to us, we should thank God for His goodness that He has not punished us more severely, and, at the same time turn eyes of love to Him while bearing suffering, which pale before those of His divine Son, who gave His life for our redemption.

Moreover, while Christians know that they are under the divine protection of Christ, there are still many outside the faith — that is, there are multitudes of people who are pagans, and who have no opportunity of knowing Christ, and following him. This selfish spirit is very common among the people, and should be overcome. Those who assist in spreading the Gospel will receive their reward hereafter, if not in this world. Besides personal sacrifice must be made in assisting missionary work. There is practically nothing accomplished in this life with sacrifice, and the same is true in missionary work. The majority of laymen assist in this movement by donations of money to help the missionaries at the front, and to finance them. Therefore, they are the ones who should be generous. Although they are not among the pagans, they are at least assisting to a great extent to better their condition, by presentations of money. These donations should follow as natural impulses from the heart—that is, it should be true generosity. "As we sow, so shall we reap," and this is especially true of the generous giver to the work of propagating the Gospel.

The League That Counts

The next important part of the programme was an address by Rev. Dr. Crews. The reverend doctor is the General Secretary of the Epworth League work in Canada. His address was on "The League that Counts." In other words he dealt with the best methods of making an Epworth League a success. This League has been very successful in Canada. During the past two years 5000 new members have been enrolled. When the statistics appear next spring, substantial figures of the numbers of Leagues, and their members, will be found. But the important point is—"How many will count? It is the duty of every League to see that it has been successful. Now, how is any league to be successful? This is the question that should be before the officers of the league.

For any project to be a success, there must be a definite object in view, and this is waht each and every league should begin its year with. The objects of the Epworth League are the same as those of the Wesley Guild, namely:

1st, To make young Christians.
2nd, To make young Christians work.
3rd, To make these young Christians work to the best advantage.

In other words, its purpose should be and is, evangelistic. It rescues young people, brings them into the church, then stirs and enlivens their interest in church work, and shows them how to facilitate this work. This last part can be done by having a proper system of committees, and having definitely outlined work for these committees to do. The Epworth League is the training institution of the church. Young people are educated in all the branches of church work, ending in that of the missionaries.

The best league is that which is always endeavouring to do better. It is never self satisfied, but is always trying to excel all past results. The reverse spirit benumbs a league, and robs it of further ambition. Rev. Dr. Crews said he had a little slang expression which he wished to be permitted to use to Epworth Leaguers, that is, "It's up to you." He said that it was up to the Leaguers to increase their interest, and especially to persevere in it. Let the young people interest other young people in the work; they are young and should be most ambitious. They should be amateur Leaguers—they should do the work for the love of it.

The League that counts is the one that is always seeking for more members and for better ones.

Part of Individual

How is the individual to assist a League? Rev. Dr. Crews answered that by the words "Personal Work." This is the best and the surest method of promoting any movement. Let each member bring along others; make them feel at home, and, especially, encourage them.

The model League is that in which every member is doing his or her best to promote the work. There are many who give lame excuses when called upon to do anything, and in fact assist only by being present. Everyone should participate. The worker reaps a bountiful harvest. It is for God's sake, and He never fails to repay many times over to any one who strives for His sake. Again, the members should persevere. This is a very important part. Slow and steady striving is better than spasmodic effort. "A member of a league who has an energy of one-cat power, and used it faithfully, is more valuable than one who may possess energy of sixty-horse-power, and who works only at intervals."

Revv. Dr. Crews' address was interspersed with fitting illustrations and was altogether a grand appeal to the young people of the Methodist church to take a deeper interest in Epworth League work.

During the evening solos were sung by Miss Belleghem, Miss Simpson and Miss Montgomery, the latter named young lady being from Lakefield. The solos were beautifully rendered, and were appreciated by those present.

The meeting was closed with the benediction and the singing of the Doxology.

"Solid" South Still True To Its Name

But Despite the Fact Congress is Republican—Hughes Wins in New York--So Far Republican Representatives Outnumber the Democrats by 37 Majority--No Returns Received from 113 Districts, But There Were No Great Surprises in the Vote in 42 States--Hearst's Claim.

New York, Nov. 7.—The latest returns indicate the election for the United States Congress of

Republicans 155
Democrats 118

No returns had been received from 113 districts.

The Democrats so far have gained two in Illinois, two in Missouri, three in Pennsylvania, one in Ohio, one in New York, one in New Jersey and one in North Carolina. The Republicans gain one in Kentucky.

No Great Surprises.

Elections were held yesterday in 42 states, and, generally speaking, there were no great surprises.

Throughout the south, the Democratic state and congressional tickets have been elected by the usual majorities.

In the west and east, the states that were aligned two years ago in the Democratic or Republican columns show no material change. The Republicans retain control of Congress by a good majority.

Hughes by 50,000.

Perhaps the widest general interest centred in the remarkable fight for governor in New York State between Charles E. Hughes, the Republican candidate, who has had the support of President Roosevelt, and William Randolph Hearst, the regular Democratic and Independence League candidate.

The latest returns available show that Mr. Hughes, while losing nearly all the principal cities of the state, was successful by about 50,000 plurality.

The rural districts brought about the Republican victory.

Hearst Claims Election.

Mr. Hearst still claims to have been elected by at least 20,000 plurality and charges that an attempt is being made to steal the election. He asserts that the returns are being held back in many districts in the country as well as in the city.

The New State.

The constitution of the new state of Oklahoma will be written by Democratic ticket almost solidly. Oklahoma also went strongly Democratic in choosing delegates to the constitutional convention.

New Mexico and Arizona have voted favorably on the proposition to enter the union jointly as a single state.

In Detroit the car franchise was beaten and the three-cent fare wins.

WHAT THE OTTAWA FREE PRESS SAYS

That always welcome story of the Scottish Hills "The Bonnie Brier Bush" was presented at the Russell yesterday, matinee and night, to audiences which tested the capacity of the theatre.

The company which is a large and capable one gives a delightful performance of the play. Chas. E. Bloomer as "Posty" is a delight. The humourous characteristics of the tippling postman are brought out with killing effect and this actor will hereafter be a welcome visitor to the local stage.

Miss Reynolds as Flora Campbell unites beauty with great dramatic ability and is easily the superior of any of her predecessors in the role. David Davies as "Lachlan Campbell" puts force and strength into his scenes and shows more than the ordinary ability. In saying that he is at home is saying little, but he gives a faithful portrayal of the character. Miss O'Meara as Kate Carnegie left nothing to be desired. She was magnetic at all times and possessive of an indurability that was active. The same can be said of Miss Warren as Annie. Miss Cairo as Margaret and Kenneth Mackenzie as "Tammas" were easily recognizable as being natives of Auld Scotland and Robert Ireland did exceedingly well as Robert McClure. The two Bennet children are clever in their roles. Maurice Savigne is good as Rev. John Carmichael and Mr. Lahey gives the proper dignity to the part Earl Kilspindle. A young actor who is sure of recognition is Leonard Howe, who gives a really finished portrayal as Lord Howe. A delightful feature of the performance is the singing of the male quartette.

BONNIE BRIER BUSH WILL BE WELCOMED

One of the most welcome pieces of news that our theatre goers have heard in many a day is the engagement of the "The Bonnie Brier Bush," which will be seen at the Grand Opera House on Saturday afternoon and evening.

The play is so familiar to the public through the book and its four years of stage life, that any extended comment is unnecessary. The play is wonderfully true to life in its delineation of Scotch character, such characters as may even now be found in country towns in Scotland, where the Calvinistic doctrines of redemption and damnation are lived up to so closely that domestic ties are apt to become sundered on what the "unco guid" consider the altar of religious duty.

In Lachlan Campbell is shown a man whose heart is overflowing with tender love for his motherless daughter, yet who in a moment of what he deems righteous wrath, drives her from his home, and struggling against his fatherly affection, tries to make himself believe that his act was that of a just and God-fearing man. How he is transformed from an ascetic and literal believer in the Calvinistic interpretation of the Scriptures to one who, after all, sees some good in the practice of the golden rule, is very beautifully brought out in the play.

The comedy element in the piece is strong and persistent. Its chief exponent is "Posty," whose droll philosophy and witticisms are an excellent foil for the more serious portions of the play.

The company this season is all that could be desired, while a quartette of male singers and Robert Ireland, the Scotch bagpiper, late pipe major of the 48th Highlanders of Toronto will add to the general effectiveness.

Dummer Man Was Forced to Use His Boots--Rev. W. L. Atkinson Will Remain at Warsaw--Fifth of November Processions--The Latest News from Dummer's Capital.

Examiner Special

Warsaw, November 7th. — A meeting of the managers and elders of the of the Cottesloe and Warsaw Presbyterian churches, was held in the church here on Monday evening.

The pastor, Rev. W. L. Atkinson, announced having received a call from the congregation of Maple Valley and Singhampton, in the Presbytery of Orangeville. The officers were unanimous in their request and invitation to him to continue his pastorate here. Rev. Mr. Atkinson finally decided to accept the call here, and decline that from Maple Valley and Singhampton.

The annual Sunday school convention will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 21st. Afternoon and evening sessions will be held at which Rev. Mr. McClennan of Norwood, Mr. Yellowlees, of Toronto, and Mr. Richard Lees, P.S.I., of Peterborough, will be the speakers.

The muskrats is not considered a very ferocious animal and is generally quite timid, yet Mr. Thomas Doughty has reason to believe that this is not always the case. On Monday as he was walking down a road near his home he was surprised by an animal, which afterwards proved to be a large muskrat, coming from a fence corner, and which made straight for him. It is scarcely conceivable that the little animal could have inflicted any serious injury, and after a couple of applications of the cowhides it gave up the battle and was counted out.

The 301st anniversary of the discovery of the Gunpowder Plot, was celebrated here on Monday evening. A large torch light procession was formed, in the centre of which was carried Guy Fawkes's effigy, mounted on a platform. The route taken by the procession was from Water street to Church street, along Church to Peterborough, Peterborough to Ford, Ford to South, South to Water, where the burning took place. A liberal amount of gunpowder had been placed in the image, and for a time some of the citizens were in doubts as to whether they were in Warsaw, Canada, or Warsaw, Russia.

The new cement flume of the W. Wason and Sons' mill, has been completed and is giving good satisfaction.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute will be held on Thursnext at the residence of Mrs. (Dr.) Douglass.

The creamery department of the Warsaw cheese and butter factory reopens on Wednesday, Nov. 7th.

The officers of the Presbyterian church have decided to make alterations and improvements in the manse, among which will be the construction of a vestibule.

School Law Changes Affects Municipalities

Increased Sums Required on School Rates by Reason of New Law—County Clerk Elliott Explains the Situation.

Mr. E. M. Elliott, County Clerk, gave the Examiner the following statement in connection with the new school legislation :—

Considerable change has taken place in the amount levied by township clerk on the ratepayers to meet the amount required by recent legislation to be paid by the township treasurer to each school section. Where the average assessment of the school section in a township exceeds a certain amount then the treasurer has to pay to each section $300.00 instead of $1150.00 as formerly, consequently the taxes in each municipality under the head of General Statutory levy for schools are doubled. Under recent legislation each county clerk is required to levy on the townships an amount equivalent to the special legislative grants to schools. Consequently the special legislative grant to this county being $1,072.00 an equivalent had to be levied on the township, the same being paid back to all sections not connected with urban municipalities for school purposes.

Of course the sections connected with urban municipalities for school purposes were exempt from the above levy.

The amount collected from each municipality as special levy to meet equivalent to special Legislative grant and amount paid back to each township appears as follows :

TOWNSHIP	AMT. LEVIED	AMT PD BACK

In some cases the grant to Continuation Classes was paid direct to School Board by Department of Education, the amount being $75.00, making a total of $5,696.00.

The above does not include inspectors' salaries, cost of examinations, etc.

San Francisco's Streets Unsafe

Letter Received in the City Tells of Conditions There.

A private letter received by a gentleman in the city from a relative in San Francisco, gives one a very unfavourable idea of the conditions following, if not directly consequent upon the terrible calamaty which befell the city last spring :—

Alameda, Cal.,
1005 Morton Street.

We have all been very well, and have had such gorgeous weather, It is beautiful to-day, the last of October.

It is marvelous the way the city is being re-built—labour and material are all so very high and yet nothing seems to stop the work of rehabilitation. You would enjoy seeing the hustle and activity going on everywhere; streets and sidewalks are being cleaned and teams and trucks of every description are hauling away bricks, iron and debris. The dirt is something terrible; brick dust and lime flying everywhere. When we go over to do any shopping we have to pass through the burned area to get to the shops and I can't get used to the terrible ruins, it seems so tragic. We go to the city as little as possible, although the stores are lovely and have such beautiful things. Everything they had was burned and it seems wonderful to see the fine new stock they have.

San Francisco is also having an awful time with local politics. The city is being run by organized labour and our mayor has made so much money by grafting that he has dropped everything and gone off to Europe to splurge, leaving the city at such an inopportune time in the hands of a terrible lawless gang. The consequence is there has been almost a reign of terror and people were afraid in the day time to go with any money on them and stay in at night. The citizens have become very much aroused and an investigation is going on now and our papers are full of talk of bringing our mayor home and putting him in prison with a number of his colleagues for the way they have stolen public moneys and taken advantage of poor San Francisco, when she was lying in her ashes. Yet with it all San Francisco is building by leaps and bounds.

Mother has had to make quite a lot of repairs on her houses in the city, so much plaster was knocked down by the earthquake and as plasterers get eight dollars a day, it is costing her so much, just to get it done.

Valuable Barn Burned in Belleville—Famous Jim K. T Had Narrow Escape.

Belleville, Nov. 7. — A very disastrous fire broke out in a brick stable belonging to the Victor Hotel, at one o'clock this morning, and the stable was burned to the ground. Great difficulty was experienced by the firemen in saving the surrounding property. The burned barn was one of the largest in the district, being 123 by [illegible]. The origin looks like the work of an incendiary, as it was first discovered in the corner where Ketcheson's famous trotter, Jim K. T. was kept. He was saved after considerable difficulty, along with three horses. The building belongs to Dr. Wilson's estate, and was insured for $1500 in the Anglo-American which will not nearly cover the loss. Mr. Ketcheson had no insurance. He lost two racing cutters besides several other rigs.

The barn adjoining, owned by Mr. Howey, cheese inspector, was also burned, including a new cutter. Mr. Howey rescued a horse while in his nightclothes.

HER KING CHARLES SPANIEL

By ABBIE F. RANSOM

Rodney Jackson was at his desk in the office of the Hustler in that enviable state of mind which usually follows a good dinner and makes a fine cigar a railroad on which to travel far into the castles of Spain.

Two months before he had been broken hearted because he and Della Baesden had quarreled. She had given him back his ring. It wasn't a diamond. He couldn't afford one. Instead he had bought her an opal—"to commemorate the mouth of our engagement," he said, "and no bad luck can follow so happy a courtship as ours." But it was over. The bad luck their friends had prophesied came. Her heart had been broken, his life ruined, and he ended it all by accepting a position on the staff of the Hustler, one of the "yellows," at nearly double the salary the staid, conservative Daily Chronicle had been paying him.

A lady's voice on the other side of the partition which separted his desk from that of the city editor's reached his ears. It wasn't an ordinary lady's voice—at least not to him—for it caused him to jerk his feet off his desk, sit upright and peer furtively around the corner to obtain a mere glimpse of a blue tailor made suit, the pink rim of an ear and some locks of brown hair under a brown veil.

Now, tailor made suits, pink ears and brown hair and veils are more common every day than sunshine, but these particular ones made his heart beat to the tune of "Come Back, Sweetheart, to Me," while he strained his own ears in most unmanly fashion to catch every word the voice was saying.

"I inserted the ad. day before yesterday," was what he heard, "and as yet have received no answer whatever. If you will put a little notice among your news items that my dog has been lost, perhaps the finder may see it there.

"I CALLED TO ANSWER AN ADVERTISEMENT ABOUT A DOG."

The dog is a King Charles spaniel, and his collar is marked 'R. J. to D. B.' He was a present from a friend, a very dear friend, and I prize him more than ever now because I have lost my friend."

"I understand." The editor's tone was kind—so kind, Jackson thought, listening behind his desk. "I'll make a note of it and mention it in tomorrow's paper."

The blue suit turned to go; then the voice spoke again.

"Please don't mention what I said of why I value the dear little dog," she said. "I'd much prefer you would not."

"I understand," came the suave reply. "I'll see that it is written in a way to please you, Miss"—

"Baesden. Good morning, Mr. Editor."

"Arthur Edson, at your service, Miss Baesden. And I hope our ad. will bring your dog. Good morning."

The blue suit left the office, and scarcely had it disappeared when Jackson was all action. Seizing a pencil, he scribbled a few lines and then dashed like a cyclone upon an innocent boy guarding the entrance of his stand of genius.

"Here, you rascal, get this ad. up, and get it quick! Tell 'em to hold back the earth if necessary to get it in today. Skite! Hurry up, double quick, or I'll order your coffin! D'ye hear?"

"Don't see what there is in that to make a fuss over," the boy muttered to himself. 'Found—A King Charles spaniel with initial collar. Owner can have same by calling at the editorial rooms of the Hustler and proving property. Inquire for Mr. Jacks.' Nothing in that 's I can see—nothing but a dog."

"All right," Jackson commented ten minutes later. "If any one inquires for Mr. Jacks send 'em to me and keep your mouth shut. Here's a half dollar. Go buy yourself a necktie. That one you're wearing reminds me of the time a rattlesnake bit me."

The boy looked up, his face full of solicitude.

"Did the snake die?" he asked seriously.

"You will, you young imp. You'll die of brains in the head if you're not careful. I'll be back at 6." And, shouldering his photographic kit, he was off after an illustrated story.

The next morning, back to the door and his head bent over his writing, a gloved hand laid a newspaper clipping beside him and a voice said:

"I called in answer to"—

He raised his head. Miss Baesden stopped, straightened up and said with a dignity sadly tinctured with embarrassment:

"Excuse me, Mr. Jackson, I called to answer an advertisement about a dog, and the office boy showed me here. I wish to see Mr. Jacks."

He rose. "Please be seated, Miss Baesden. What is it—trouble about a dog? Perhaps I can help you."

The girl's cheeks burned redder. Something in Mr. Jackson's manner held so much power, knowledge, possession, that she was mastered in spite of herself.

"I've lost my dog," she said, "the one you gave me. I was shopping with Aunt Esther and left the dear little fellow in the carriage. When we came out of Black's he was gone. I advertised him, and then I found this in the found column, and I came here."

"I see," Mr. Jackson responded. "Well, I found a dog—a King Charles spaniel, near Black's. Two other dogs were worrying him and I picked him up. I thought perhaps he'd been turned down because his owner was tired of him. I've been turned down myself that way, and I know how it feels, so I took pity on the little cuss."

The eyes opposite him filled slowly.

"Was it Teddy?" she asked. "Oh, I didn't tire of him; I liked him better than ever after—it was all that opal ring," she added irrelevantly.

He studied her narrowly.

"I gave the opal to another girl," he said, "and we haven't quarreled yet."

She rose. "Goodby, Mr. Jackson. Perhaps she will appreciate my dog too."

"Perhaps she might," he said, standing before her. "But, you see, you don't know yet that it is your dog. You haven't proved property."

"I leave it for you to do. Goodby."

"Don't hurry. I forgot to tell you that the other girl was my sister."

"Oh!"

"I've saved enough in the last two months in ice cream, candy and such to buy a ring."

Another "Oh!"

"Is it my dog, Mr. Jackson?"

"Shall I buy the ring?"

"You may bring Teddy up tonight if you like."

"Not unless I buy the ring."

A few minutes later the office boy remarked to himself:

"By gee, she looks as if Jack had been kissing her."

A Quaint Bird Legend.

A medical journal in a recent reference to a work on some old legends in connection with drugs said: "It would be interesting to know if the bird which the author calls 'aster' is known to modern ornithologists. Speaking of it, he remarks that its scent is said to be so strong that fishes are drawn by it as he is flying over the river and so taken up by him, having one leg like a hawk, the other like a duck." It is not difficult, however, to identify the bird in question. It is the osprey (Pandion hallaetus), which, although not today classified under the genus astur, is related to it. In the Rev. C. Swainson's "Folklore of British Birds" there is a reference to it from Shakespeare, "Coriolanus," act 4, scene 3:

Autidius, loq.—
As is the osprey to the fish
Who takes it
By sovereignty of nature.

And in Peele's play, called "The Battle of Alcazar" (1594), act 2, scene 1:

I will provide thee of a princely ospray,
That, as she flieth over fish in pools,
The fish shall turn their glistering bellies up,
And thou shalt take thy liberal choice of all.

Largest Leaf In the World.

The plant which has this most remarkable leaf is named after Queen Victoria. It was the tribute of a British traveler in a faraway land when he discovered the unusual growth. The leaf was more than five feet in diameter, and around it extended a rim about three to five inches high. When it first opens, the flower is white, with pink in the middle, which spreads over the whole flower the more it advances in age, and it is generally found the next day of a pink color. As if to enhance its beauty, it is sweet scented. Like others of the tribe, it possesses a fleshy disk, and petals and stamens pass gradually into each other, and many petaloid leaves may be observed. "We met them afterward frequently," says an explorer, "and the higher we advanced the more gigantic they became. We measured a leaf which was six feet five inches in diameter, its rim five and a half inches high and the flower across fifteen inches."

The Secret of the Maple.

No thoughtful person who has ever visited a maple grove in the early spring while snow banks are yet lingering in sheltered hollows and has seen pailful after pailful of sweet sap drawn from the auger holes in the shapely trunks can have failed to wonder what forces govern the flow of the sap. When the warm sun touches the treetops the flow increases. A rise of a few degrees in temperature often causes a great increase of flow, if the rise passes the zero point on the centigrade scale—that is, the freezing point of water. But a considerable change of temperature in which the fluctuations do not cross the zero line causes no marked change in the flow of sap. Dr. K. M. Wiegand, discussing these and other related facts in the American Naturalist, reaches the conclusion that neither expansion of gas in the wood nor expansion of water nor expansion of wood itself is the underlying cause of the pressure which produces the flow, but that this pressure arises from the effects of temperature in altering the osmotic permeability of the pith ray cells.

Stopping Runs on Banks.

Runs on banks, as all the world knows, are often stopped or restricted in the oddest ways. A rich bank knew that a run was to set in on a certain Monday morning, for it had been robbed of some postage stamps on Saturday night and the robbery had been exaggerated in the newspaper reports, and if this run was not kept within reasonable limits the bank would have to close its doors. It had plenty of money, but not plenty of cash. It needed twenty-four hours' time. Before sunrise on Monday morning a man put a fresh coat of paint on the front doors of the bank, on the wall panels and on the counters. The result was that people who made the run on Monday made rather a walk of it. They wanted their money, but they rushed no one. On the contrary, they came on with caution and deliberation. So careful were they lest they get paint on their clothes that it took longer to pay off one of them than it would have taken ordinarily to pay five. This is one of many odd tricks whereby, in a run, a bank has saved itself from wreck.

The Oldest Religions.

Judaism is the oldest existing religion. Brahmanism is second, Buddhism third and Mohammedanism fourth. Buddha was born in the sixth century B. C., at Kapilavastu, in India, near the Himalayas. He was named Siddhartha and Gautama and was the son of a wealthy Sakya chieftain, called a king in modern poetry. Buddha lived to be very old. Brahma is the all pervading soul of the universe, the creator of the universe, his brother gods being Vishnu and Siva. Mohammed was born at Mecca, in Arabia, in 570 A. D., and died in Medina, Arabia, June 8, 632. No one can say when the worship of God began. It is probable that the very earliest man worshiped some unknown power, who was his God. The religion of the Chaldeans antedated the Jewish religion. Noah worshiped God; so did Abraham. Judaism did not begin until late in Abraham's life.

Mistook His Destination.

An editor of a western exchange recently began worrying about how he would get his shirt on over his wings after reaching paradise. An envious contemporary sarcastically observed that his difficulty would likely be in finding out how he could get his hat on over his horns.—Gayman (Kan.) Herald.

Relief at Last.

Housekeeper—I hear your brother, who died in California, left you $1,000, Dinah. That will be a great help to you. Washlady—'Deedy it will, missis! Ah's been needin' a planner an' a phonograft an' a oil paintin' ob mahself in a gilt frame fo' yeahs, an' now, bress de good Lord, Ah kin hab 'em!

Every man will find his own private affairs more difficult to manage and control than any public affairs in which he may be engaged.—Lord Melbourne.

A Courageous Civil Servant.

Sir Charles A. Cookson, K. C. M. G., B.C., who died at his residence, Cheyne walk, Chelsea, had an interesting career in the public service. Once, during a riot in Alexandria, deeming it his duty to try to quell a disturbance by the authority of his presence, he courageously drove in an open carriage to the head office of the police. On the way he was attacked by the mob, felled to the ground by a nabout, and barely escaped with his life. For several years Sir Charles used in his house no bituminous coal, but only coke, which he ignited by pipes under the grate connected with the ordinary gas supply.

'Twas Ever Thus.

"I suppose you have found," said the plain citizen, "that every man has his price."

"Yes," replied the lobbyist, "except the man who is worth buying."—Philadelphia Press.

Pandora Range

A Ventilating Oven that Ventilates.

There is only one practical way of ventilating a range oven and that way has been adopted in the Pandora—is an actual, positive, working feature and not a mere talking point.

Fresh air is drawn from the outside through small vents into the oven while the odors and cooking fumes are forced by the fresh air out through small vents into the smoke flues, and up the chimney.

Roasts cooked in a Pandora oven retain their sweet, natural flavor, entirely free from cooking odors, absolutely unmixed with any foreign flavor. Puddings, cakes, bread, meats, etc., are always light, fresh and free from mixed odors or flavors.

In the Pandora range you get all that scientific study, practical experience, skilled workmanship and an immense and finely equipped plant combined, can produce—the highest possible attainment in range perfection.

Ask your local dealer to show you the Pandora range, or write to us for free catalogue before buying any other.

Sir Walter Scott's First Brief.

Sir Walter Scott had his share of the usual curious experiences shortly after being called to the bar. His first appearance as counsel in a criminal court was at Jedburgh assizes in 1793, when he successfully defended a veteran poacher. "You're a lucky scoundrel," Scott whispered to his client when the verdict was given. "I'm just o' your mind," returned the latter, "and I'll send you a maukin (i. e., a hare) the morn, man." Lockhart, who narrates the incident, omits to add whether the maukin duly reached Scott, but no doubt it did. On another occasion Scott was less successful in his defense of a housebreaker, but the culprit, grateful for his counsel's exertions, gave him, in lieu of the orthodox fee, which he was unable to pay, this piece of advice, to the value of which he (the housebreaker) could professionally attest: First, never to have a large watchdog out of doors, but to keep a little yelping terrier within, and, secondly, to put no trust in nice, clever, gimcrack locks, but to pin his faith to a huge old heavy one with a rusty key. Scott long remembered this incident, and thirty years later, at a judges' dinner at Jedburgh, he recalled it in this impromptu rhyme:

Yelping terrier, rusty key,
Was Walter Scott's best Jeddart fee.

—Westminster Gazette.

Wastebasket Treasures.

"I have in my employ," said a dealer in autographs, "a number of celebrities' housemaids. Thanks to these young women, I secure at nominal cost many an autographic gem. All I ask of the maids is that they ship me weekly the contents of their masters' wastebaskets. They bale the stuff up in burlap, and every Monday or Tuesday it comes to me by freight. I go over it carefully, making many finds. Here will be a begging letter from a famous author in hard luck. Here in a brief note a great actor will boast of his last success. Here will be a dinner invitation from a celebrated millionaire. Some celebrities, of course, save their valuable letters, and some sell them, but the majority throw into the wastebasket most of the mail they receive, and I, searching the baskets' contents every Monday morning, find my reward in many a letter worth $10 or $20."

The Bed and the Candidates.

Judge Harlan and James B. McCreary once canvassed Kentucky together as the Republican and Democratic candidates for governor. They traveled about the state on a joint debating trip and in many small mountain places had to sleep in the same bed. They were warm personal friends and so did not object to this intimacy. One night Mr. Harlan got into bed first. Senator McCreary was not far behind, and just as he entered the bed Judge Harlan raised his bulky form and said in his stentorian voice, "McCreary, there is one thing certain—the next governor of Kentucky is in this bed." As he spoke the bed slats broke, and Judge Harlan rolled to the floor. Senator McCreary caught and held himself in bed, and, as Judge Harlan reached the floor, said: "John, you are right. The next governor of Kentucky is still in this bed."

The Sea Horse.

This fish is found in the Atlantic ocean around the coast of Spain, the south of France, in the Mediterranean and in the Indian ocean. Sea horses are very small and have been found often curled up in oyster shells. The head is much like that of a horse, and the rings around the body and tail resemble those of some caterpillars. The habits of these fishes are singular and interesting. They swim with a waving motion, and frequently wind their tails around the weeds and rushes. They have fins to sustain them in the water, and even in the air. They live on worms, fishes, eggs and substances found in the bottom of the sea.

Odd Proposal of Marriage.

That celebrated painter of flower and figure subjects, William Hunt, was on one occasion commissioned by a gentleman to paint his portrait in the attitude of kneeling and holding in his hand an open scroll whereon were written a declaration of love and an offer of marriage. The lady to whom this unusual proposal of marriage was sent replied with a chalk drawing of herself with a sheet of paper in her hand, on which was inscribed a laconic "Yes."

Rubbish Heaps.

In a thousand miles of Europe I saw but one rubbish heap—some old metal cans at Carlsruhe. Everywhere else was a complete absence of all waste or carelessness and, above all, of defacement and roadside uncleanliness. The foul vacant lots and dirty dumps that abound in and about American towns are not to be found anywhere. —Exchange.

One of Them.

Struggling Artist—No use trying to compete with the picture factories, which are turning out cheap daubs by the million. The trouble is, the people are not educated. Lots of buyers can't tell the difference between those pictures and mine. Frank Friend—I presume that's true. I can't myself.

Study Yourself.

In order to judge of the inside of others study your own, for men in general are very much alike, and though one has one prevailing passion and another has another, yet their operations are much the same, and whatever engages or disgusts, pleases or offends you in others will engage, disgust, please or offend others in you.—Chesterfield.

They Knew Him.

Knox—It seems that Graphter's acquaintances are all very shrewd people. Jenks—Did he tell you that? Knox—He implied as much. He announced the other day that he doesn't owe anybody a dollar.

A Bright Recruit.

Lieutenant (examining soldier)—What should you do if you met an enemy on the field of battle?

Soldier—Shoot him dead, sir.

Lieutenant—Right. And what should you do if you met a whole battalion of the enemy?

Soldier—Shoot them dead, sir.

Lieutenant—You couldn't by yourself. You should fall back and give warning. What should you do if you met a cow belonging to the enemy?

Soldier—Shoot it dead, sir.

Lieutenant—Wrong.

Soldier—Fall back and give warning, sir.

Lieutenant—Wrong again. You should catch hold of it by the horns and bring it into camp. Now tell me what you should do if you met me in the field.

Soldier—Shoot you dead, sir.

Lieutenant—Rubbish! I'm not an enemy! I wear the same uniform as you do.

Soldier—Fall back and give warning.

Lieutenant—Wrong, stupid! I'm not a battalion of the enemy.

Soldier—Well, then, I'd catch hold of you by the horns and lead you into camp.

Lieutenant—You—

—Lustige Blatter.

Stevenson's Grave.

No English novelist rests in a more eccentric spot than that chosen by Robert Louis Stevenson, who is buried on the summit of the forest clad Valia, in the island of Samoa. The day after his death at Vailima, in 1894, his remains were carried to the top of this precipitous and picturesque peak by sixty sturdy Samoans, who had loved and now mourned their dead chief, Tusitula. A party of forty had previously cut a pathway through the thick, tangled wood with knives and axes, while another party had prepared the grave. With infinite care and trouble they bore him shoulder high over the rough ground to his last long home, and there, under the starry sky, they left him to sleep forever, with the Pacific at his feet. On either side of his tombstone is a bronze plate. One bears the words, "The Tomb of Tusitula," while the other is inscribed with his own requiem, beginning:

Under the wide and starry sky
Dig the grave and let me lie.

The American Buffalo.

The buffalo is the bulkiest living land animal native to North America. A full grown buffalo bull stands about five feet eight or ten inches at the shoulder and weighs about 1,800 pounds. But specimens of over six feet at the withers have been recorded, and Mr. Hornaday tells me that he weighed a living bull at 2,190 pounds. A full grown cow stands about four feet eight at the shoulders and, according to Audubon, weighs about 1,200 pounds, though Henry says seldom over 700 or 800 pounds. The lower weight seems to be nearer the average run, but I have seen cows that stood as high and looked as heavy as ordinary bulls. — Ernest Thompson Seton in Scribner's.

Fish Sold Alive.

Flensburg, a seaport town on the east coast of Schleswig-Holstein, has an excellent system of bringing to port fish which are intended for immediate consumption. Instead of packing the fish in the hold of the vessel the fishermen use flat, oblong boxes, drilled with holes to allow free access of water, and into these the live fish are placed as soon as caught and are towed under water. By this means the fish are kept alive until the harbor is reached, and they are then taken out of the boxes and sold alive on the quay, so that there can be no question as to their absolute freshness.

Life Preserver Seats.

Some pleasure steamers on the English coast employ a very good idea in connection with a few of their deck chairs. They are really air tight boxes to which a back and sides have been added. They stand back to back in the middle of the deck and are kept together by means of a piece of wood across the top. When this is removed the seats can be opened on hinges. If the vessel got wrecked the seats could be opened and flung overboard, and they would form a buoyant raft for passengers to cling to.—London Mail.

What the Jury Thought.

"Flatman, I hear you were arrested the other day for insulting and browbeating a janitor. How did you come out?"

"I was tried for it and acquitted."

"On the ground that it was justifiable?"

"No; the jury couldn't be made to believe such a thing was possible."

A Herd of Bulls.

The herding of bulls is not by any means confined to the Emerald Isle. It was a Scotchwoman who said that the butcher of her town only killed half a beast at a time. It was a Dutchman who said that a pig had no marks on his ears except a short tail. It was a British magistrate who, on being told by a vagabond that he was not married, responded, "That's a good thing for your wife." It was a Portuguese mayor who enumerated, among the marks when found, "a marked impediment in his speech." It was a Frenchman who contentedly laying his head upon a large stone jar for a pillow stuffed it with hay. It was an American lecturer who solemnly said one evening, "Parent, you may have children; or, if not, your daughter may have." It was a German orator who, warming with his subject exclaimed, "There is no man, woman or child in the house who has arrived at the age of fifty years but has felt the truth thundering through their minds for centuries."

Keats' Epitaph.

Shortly before his death Keats left strict injunctions that his headstone should bear these words:

Here lies one whose name was writ in water.

For nearly forty years a simple gravestone bearing these words marked the spot where Keats lay—the graveyard of the English church in Rome—but in 1859 Joseph Severn, whose hand Keats held when he died, wrote to Mr. Dilke, father of the present Sir Charles Dilke, suggesting the following epitaph, which was subsequently adopted:

This grave contains the mortal remains of John Keats,
A Young English Poet,
who died at Rome, Feb. 24, 1821, aged 23 years.
His short life was so embittered by discouragement and sickness that he desired these words to mark his grave:
"Here lies one whose name was writ in water."
Time
having reversed this sentence, his friends and admirers
now inscribe his name in Marble.
1859.

Odd Auction Incident.

"A Pittsburg millionaire once saved me from the commission of a dreadful error," said an Atlantic City auctioneer. "We put up a lot of second-hand art books, books with colored plates, one rainy day, and among the lot was a set of Audubon's 'Birds of America.' I knew little about books—the useful arts are my line—and I was quite ready to let this set go for $25 when my Pittsburg friend, happening in, bid $500.

"Of course the books went to him, but after the sale he told me he didn't want them.

"'Take them back,' he said, 'and ship them to New York. You can get $1,500 for this set. It is a first edition.'

"Sure enough, the set brought $1,700 in New York two months later. It had been forwarded to me through a shipping clerk's error, and I'd have let it go for nothing had it not been for the knowledge and kindness of this Pittsburg millionaire."

The Independent Shaver.

Two barbers were disengaged when the customer came in. Both got their chairs ready, but the newcomer dodged them.

"I need a shave all right," he said to the proprietor, "but I want to shave myself. Can you accommodate me here?"

"Certainly," said the proprietor, "but I'll charge you the same as if one of my men shaved you."

"That's all right," said the man. "I'm not kicking about the price. All I want is a chance to do my own barbering."

A tonsorial outfit was speedily produced, and the self sufficient individual set to work.

"Isn't that a new wrinkle?" asked another man who had been an interested observer of the proceedings.

"Not at all," returned the proprietor. "Every once in awhile we run up against a fellow who prefers to shave himself, but hasn't the apparatus at hand. We keep a lot of extra razors in stock for the accommodation of just such independent customers."—New York Press.

War of the Future.

It cannot be long before the torpedo controlled and directed from a depot ship becomes an actual factor in modern warfare. The advantages of such an arrangement are so obvious that progress in this direction will be watched with the greatest interest. A machine made war, governed as all wars are, simply by the question of cost, is a consummation devoutly to be wished. —Engineering Times

Dress and Mental Discomfort.

While much has been said, from a material standpoint, about the effect of dress upon the health, the spiritual side has been largely ignored. The mental discomfort of an unbecoming or badly fitting garment is probably greater than the bodily uneasiness occasioned by overtight bands or footwear, and the former, perhaps, causes more actual physical harm. It is not the least of the hardships of poverty that a garment that offends the taste cannot be discarded, but has to be worn, with all its depressing effects upon the mind, until something at least of its money value has been extracted from it. Alterations may mend matters, but that means additional expense, and the chances are that the last state of the garment will be worse than the first.

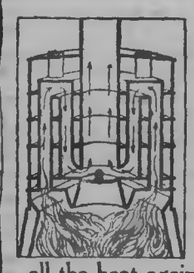
BISON FURNACE

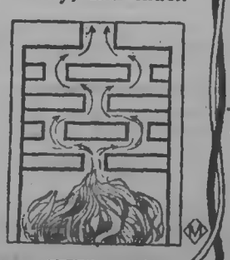


Twice as much heating surface is covered by the fire in a Bison Hot Water Furnace as in any other.

The flames are drawn up through the side flues, then down and to the chimney through the middle flue.

Burns all the gas and traps all the heat against the top section.

In other furnaces the fire travel is practically a direct one to the chimney, and much valuable heat escapes, the important top section getting less than any of the others.



The Bison has more good heating points than all other heaters combined.

Ontario Text Book Cases Are Being Heard

Publishers On Their Defence Before the Commission.

THEY DID NOT THREATEN

But Fortified Their Position by Securing Copyrights So That They Would Be Sure of Renewal of Contract—President Thompson and Mr. Gage Tell Steps Were Taken to Get the Contracts.

Toronto, Nov. 8.—The Ontario Text Book Commission continued its sessions yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. The first witness called was Mr. H. L. Thompson, president of the Copp-Clark Co., Limited.

To Mr. Staunton: In 1884, when the original contract with the Government was made, he was only a clerk. In 1896, when the new contract was made, he was president.

Getting Copyrights.

He had gone to England in 1893 after several conferences with the other publishers, including Mr. Beatty, president of the Canada Publishing Co., and Mr. Gage. They had heard prior to this that the copyrights of a number of the selections were not owned by the Government. At the conference they had discussed the dangerous position in which they were placed by the fact that neither they nor the Government owned the copyright. They were in the position of literary pirates. It was also felt that at the end of the term of ten years the Government might give them to some one else.

Fortified Their Position.

"In other words, the Government might act as a free agent for the benefit of the people?" asked Mr. Staunton.

"You are putting too much into my mouth," replied the witness.

"The real reason of this conference was to fortify your position?"

"Yes."

"It was to put the Government in a corner so that you could be sure of the contract?"

"Well, I suppose so."

"You didn't tell the Government about it?"

"No."

"It was a dark secret?"

"Well, we didn't tell the Government."

"You were all acting together in the matter?"

"Yes."

"They were to be paid for out of the common purse?"

"There was no agreement?"

"But they were finally pooled by the syndicate?"

"I suppose so."

Did Not Threaten Government.

Witness related in detail his arrangements with the English publishers whereby the three firms—Copp, Clark Co., W. J. Gage Co., and the Canada Publishing Co.—had secured the exclusive control of copyright selections contained in Ontario Readers for £50 a year.

He claimed that they did not threaten the Government, but simply told Mr. Ross of the matter to secure themselves against losing the renewal of their contract. Mr. Thompson stated that he thought the Government knew of the arrangement of the three firms to secure a monopoly of the trade. He admitted the Copp, Clark Co. owned a one-third interest in the Canada Publishing Co. An endeavor had been made, he said, to effect an arrangement with George M. Morang.

Mr. Gage's Testimony.

Mr. Gage of the W. J. Gage Co. was the witness of the afternoon. When informed that selections in the readers were copyright, his company had endeavored to get hold of those copyrights. Mr. Staunton suggested that this was in order to get a hold on the Government to secure any renewals of contract, and witness admitted that this was the idea.

Mr. Gage demurred at giving a list of selections on which he had secured copyrights and the price paid for them.

"You refused to give information as to the prices when asked by the Department before, and this Commission was appointed to get this knowledge," said Mr. Staunton. Copp, Clark & Co. had produced the information required and why shouldn't the Gage Co.?

Price of Copyrights.

Some correspondence was examined which revealed that Mr. Gage had paid Chapman & Hall, on Aug. 11, 1893, from one to five guineas each for certain copyrights. The agreement with the Department ran out Jan. 1, 1894, and it was at least two years before the contract was renewed. The copyrights were purchased in 1893.

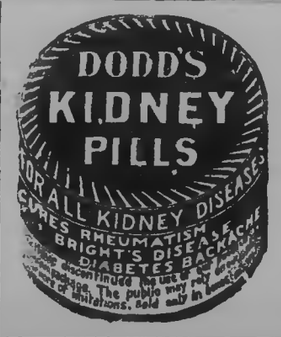
CURE SICK HEADACHE.



At the expiration of the first ten years, the contracts were secured at a lower figure, on account of lower tenders from the contemporary publishers. The profits were divided with the syndicate. His company could possibly have received a bigger price for the books than it had.

Mr. Gage could not recall having attempted to prevent other firms publishing the books.

To "Impress" the Minister.

Mr. Gage admitted having instigated the issuing of a writ against the Minister of Education to restrain him from using certain copyright selections in the reader which the Gage firm was under contract to publish. The object of this was to "impress" the Minister with the importance of giving the publishers in question a renewal of the contract. He admitted that shareholders in his company were shareholders in the Canada Publishing Co. to the extent of one-third of the stock.

Witness had not given a list of the copyrights to the Government, because he wanted to guard that information from rival publication concerns.

Mr. Staunton asked if the real reason for withholding the list wasn't in order to keep other publishers out of the field; and it took considerable cross-questioning before the witness admitted that this was in a measure true. He said his contemporaries could have gotten the information if they took the trouble of writing to England for it.

Profits Were Divided.

Mr. Gage admitted that the profits were divided, but not equally. The company selling the books was allowed a certain extra percentage on the selling price, while the balance of profit was distributed equally.

"Didn't you have an agreement with the other companies, limiting you to selling only up to a certain amount?"

"If we sold 1,000 more than the other fellows, we made certain amends,' was the reply.

"Which means that practically you divided the profits," declared Mr. Staunton.

Favors Competition.

Mr. Gage expressed a disapproval of Government supply of text-books, but did not desire to make suggestions offhand. He was given until the sitting concluded, in which to draft his ideas. For one thing, he said, he favored competition among the publishers.

The Gage Co. did not pay the Government anything except the original payment during the ten years they held the contract. Mr. Ross' expectation, as expressed in the House, that the Government would realize a revenue on plates, was not realized.

DENISON V. FOY.

So Ex-Manager McGill Stays In Jail For the Present.

Toronto, Nov. 9.—The refusal of Magistrate Denison to allow the release of the late Ontario Bank manager, Charles McGill, on bail, in the face of the acquiescence of the Attorney-General and Crown Attorney Corley, on the request of E. F. B. Johnston, K. C., has developed a situation that is almost unique.

In the meantime, pending a turn in his fortunes, Mr. McGill is an occupant of a cell in the jail beyond the Don. It is not through any lukewarmness on the part of his friends, for, so Mr. Johnston says, the added bond of $25,000 required, is forthcoming at any time.

"It is simply a question as to whether the Attorney-General or Col. Denison controls the situation," said Mr. Johnston, last night. "We have done all the pressing we can. It is a question of who owns the administration of justice."

FAITH OF ZIONISTS.

Voliva Converts Make Six Weeks' Trip From Collingwood, Canada.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Two families of Voliva converts reached Waukegan safely in an old sailing vessel after a six weeks' trip yesterday from Collingwood, Canada.

There were ten in the party, and wonder was expressed that they were all alive, as none was familiar with sailing. Soon after their conversion they decided they must go at once to Zion city.

"Our faith carried us through," said one of the men. "We believed and was not afraid and our prayers for safe guidance were answered." They later went to Zion City.

Bileans Is a Womans' Medicine

Grateful Wives And Mothers Testify to Their Value.

Bileans have been called "a woman's medicine" because of their exceptional fitness for the various ailments peculiar to the sex, as well as for liver disorders and stomach ailments generally. Unlike most liver and stomach medicines, Bileans contain no bismuth, mercury or any mineral whatever. From coating to kernel they are purely vegetable.

Mrs. J. Whitfield, of Swan Lake, Man., says:—"Bileans have done me a wonderful amount of good. I can hardly describe how bad I felt before I took them. I could not eat but that it caused pain. There was a constant sensation of tightness in my side, and my liver was entirely out of order. I could not sleep at nights, suffered also from kidney trouble, and was altogether in a rundown and very serious condition. I had been ailing in this way for years, and it is gratifying to find that Bileans were equal to my case."

Mrs. Wm. Hall, of Dean Lake, says: "I have proved Bileans very good for constipation, from which I suffered a great deal. They cured me."

Mrs. J. H. Thompson, of Cleveland Park, says: "For irregularities and painful periods I can highly recommend Bileans. They proved a great blessing to me and restored me to health when I had become very ill and very despondent."

Bileans are absolutely unequalled for female ailments and irregularities, constipation, piles, anaemia, debility, rheumatism, blood impurities, etc. They tone up the system and enable it to throw off colds and chills, strengthen girls just emerging into womanhood, and speedily restore energy and strength to those who are run down. Of all druggists at 50c. a box, or post free from the Bileans Co., Toronto, on receipt of price; 6 boxes for $2.50.

Stark, Mrs. John Hooper, Toronto; Mrs. Geo. Matthews, Brantford; Mrs. P. A. McEwen, York Mills.

Second Place In Doubt.

New York, Nov. 8.—At midnight last night there was still doubt as to who is elected Lieutenant-Governor of New York. Sixteen counties had not reported the official count at that hour, but on the face of the figures in hand at that hour the result seemed to favor Lewis Stuyvesant Chandler of the Democrat-Independence League ticket. Charles E. Hughes, Governor-elect, has a majority of 52,000 approximately.

Dr. Bell Appointed.

Winnipeg, Nov. 8.—Dr. Bell, formerly of Toronto, manager of the Winnipeg Exhibition, has been appointed secretary of the Manitoba Live Stock Association in place of Geo. S. Creig, who has resigned. Creig was secretary for twelve years.

FACTS AND FANCIES.

New Touring Coat For Young Girls. Oriental Head Coverings.

For girls of fifteen or sixteen there is a mannish looking touring coat that is out of the ordinary. It is developed from a large plaid, cut on box lines, but with seams from the shoulders back and front. These are covered from the shoulder seams to the line of the hips back and front, with a broad strap, cut on the bias, piped, and the ends held down to the coat with large pearl buttons. The sleeves are full length, full at the top and are trimmed their entire length with the bias band, its end overlying a small cuff at the wrist. The closing is double breasted, and the man's collar shows an inlay of black velvet. The closing is under a fly, and two large patch pockets on the fronts complete this coat.

The new oriental and lace head coverings for wear on cool summer evenings are fascinating. Plain girls become pretty and pretty girls dream of loveliness when arrayed in these dainty bits of lace and gauze. One of the prettiest styles comes from faroff Algeria and can be had in either black or white, richly wrought in gold or silver thread in odd eastern designs. There is a knack about arranging these head coverings, but individual ingenuity, if one has a speck of artistic feeling, will work out the problem to the satisfaction of the wearer.

CHAMPAGNE COLORED COSTUME.

The costume sketced is a Parisian confection evolved in campagne peau de cygne. The skirt is box plaited from the knees and inserted with narrow lace panels over pale pink silk. The bodice is composed of the champagne silk helped out with pink satin and filet lace. The small string tie is of black satin. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Italian Repeats Crime.

Brockville, Oct. 27.—Tony Raggazino, an Italian, who served a term in the Central Prison for abducting a girl, was arrested for the abduction of Luella Widdis, aged 14, from the public school at Sherwood Springs. The girl was found at noon in the woods west of the town.

The Social Round.

"I suppose," said the old time friend, "that your folks no longer feel the anxiety about social matters that they once experienced."

"Yes, they do," answered Mr. Cumrox; "mother an' the girls are now as busy keepin' other women out of society as they once were gettin' in themselves."

FORTUNES IN CHINA

MARKS THAT MEAN WEALTH TO THE POSSESSOR.

Distinguishing Traits of Crown Derby, Chelsea Derby and Royal Worcester Wares—Only an Expert Can Tell Forged From Genuine.

Antiquities lend themselves to forgery, china and porcelain, perhaps, more so than anything else. Consequently it does not necessarily follow that because you possess a cup or saucer, a plate or vase, bearing one of the accompanying marks, it is of great value. It may be a piece of inferior china or porcelain on which the mark of a famous maker has been forged, and only an expert can tell whether it is genuine or not.

These hints, however, will help you to learn whether among your bric-a-

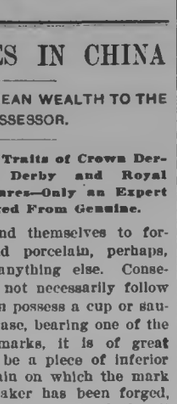
brac and family heirlooms' there is something which may be worth a fortune to you. Early Crown Derby china, for instance, dating back to between 1780 and 1830, is so valuable that it is doubtful if a single cup or saucer of genuine make could be bought for less than $50. There is still a good deal of old Crown Derby in existence, and this may be distinguished by either of the following three trademarks: A capital letter D, in ordinary longhand, over which are placed two cross swords, which in turn are surmounted by a crown. (If this sign is marked in violet on the bottom of any plate in your possession it may be worth $50 or $100.)

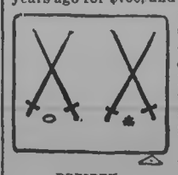
The mark may be stamped in blue, or possibly in puce or gold, the latter two colors being very rare. The letter D is the initial of Duesbury, the founder of the great porcelain works of Derby, and the crown was added to the initial on the occasion of the visit of the king and queen in 1773 to Duesbury's works.



WORCESTER WARE.

The letter D, by the way, also figures in the mark to be found upon another famous make of china—namely, the Chelsea Derby, which was manufactured by a long extinct factory. The complete mark used was a letter D crossed by an anchor, and any cup or saucer bearing this mark, if genuine, is worth even more than old Crown Derby.

There are many imitations of the Dresden china, but the real article, which is of immense value, bears the "hall mark" of a couple of crossed electoral swords, between the handles of which is either a round O or a star. As an illustration of the present day price of Dresden china it might be mentioned that a little clock was bought by one of the Rothschilds some years ago for $700, and is now probably worth twice that sum, while a couple of candlesticks of Dresden china were sold some time ago for $1,000.



DRESDEN.

The Worcester ware is almost as valuable as the Dresden. An imperfect dinner service, for instance, fetched more than $2,000 a short time ago, while two plates which were discovered in a cottage, the occupier of which had no idea as to their value, were sold for $45 each.

The Worcester potteries have changed hands a number of times since the factory was founded, 150 years ago, and the trademarks have changed accordingly. But in nearly all of them can be traced the letter W. The two crossed swords, for instance, with the figures 91 between the blades, will be noticed to have been so arranged that the letter W is formed at the top.

True Story of a Dog.

A gentleman once possessed a valuable sporting dog which was extremely clever in the retrieving of game. The owner, however, was a remarkably bad shot, and one day on firing both barrels hastily at a rabbit, he heard a mournful howl. The next moment his dog appeared, carrying a black object in his mouth, and laid it carefully at his master's feet. The animal had retrieved his own tail.—Calgary Herald.

ATTRACTIVE TRIFLES.

If You Would Be Modish Wear Brown, Velvet to Be Worn in the Fall.

Everything is brown, and if you want to be up to date you must wear brown gowns, shoes, gloves and parasols. So great has been the demand for brown that the shopkeepers and milliners have been driven almost wild, and shoe dealers can hardly meet the demand for shoes in all shades of tan.

The summer girl who goes in for white garb which delights the laundryman carries a little white satchel as spotless as the rest of her costume. It is a rival to the prevailing gold bag. A bag is a sign of the owner's taste. If she studies the perfection of detail and insists that every accessory of her costumes be "just so," bags are far from an expensive item in the summer schedule of outlay.

STRIPED VOILE SUIT.

Persistent rumor continues to reach this side of the water prophesying great things for the vogue of velvet next season. The fact that Paris dressmakers and milliners are using a great deal of velvet as trimming for summer dresses and hats is a very decided point in favor of the popularity of this becoming fabric later on.

The striped suit illustrated is carried out in black and white voile. There is a deep reversed hem at the bottom of the skirt, which is a two piece circular with a bias seam down the front. The little jacket is trimmed with raspberry velvet. JUDIC CHOLLET.

VAGARIES OF THE MOMENT.

All Fashionable Materials Are Soft. A Pretty Summer Gown.

All materials this summer are soft. Nothing heavier than marquisette, a sort of supple etamine, is permissible. Chiffon affords the handsomest afternoon gowns, making noticeable inroads on the ever popular foulards. The latter in radium variety is very smart.

When a slip is used china silk is more satisfactory in the long run than taffeta, but there should be even more care expended in the making. Princess slips are the natural outcome of the popularity of the princess gown.

A pretty checked taffeta silk gown is made in the following style: The skirt is plaited flat below the hips, forming a fitted yoke. The plaits below this point are pressed and fall in soft folds. The bodice is surpliced with three-quarter sleeves and a high girdle. The chemisette is of Irish lace.

INFANT'S DRESS.

Sheer stuffs are used for the majority of shirt waists, even those severe in style.

Everything about a white costume must be in keeping down to the tiniest accessories.

The infant's dress seen in the cut is a French affair of the sheerest nainsook, trimmed with real valenciennes lace and exquisite hand embroidery. The short waisted bodice has a tucked vest and side forms tucked on the bias in a very original fashion.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Wet Shoes.

To dry patent leather or other shoes, heat a pan of bran in the oven until quite warm, pour this into the shoes, filling to the top, wipe the outside with a dry cloth and rub into the leather vaseline or sweet oil and let stand until dry.

cleverly are they contrived that it is difficult to believe that the sun has not been at work upon them.

A shabby petticoat kills the smartest gown. Choose the underskirt to present a pleasing and harmonious contrast to the dress or to match the prevailing color in the hat. Study the art of holding up the skirt gracefully. Few women know how to accomplish this, and the general appearance of a costume is frequently spoiled by carelessness in this respect.

Very simple and childlike is the white china silk gown illustrated. The skirt is laid in plaits at the waist and trimmed at the bottom with graduated widths of white satin ribbon. The lace used is a pretty design in rather coarse German val. JUDIC CHOLLET.

A BAD COLD SETTLED ON THE LUNGS

All the most serious affections of the throat, the lungs, and the bronchial tubes, are, in the beginning, but coughs and colds, and failure to take hold at once and get rid of them will cause many years of suffering.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

contains all the lung healing virtues of the pine tree and will certainly cure all coughs colds and lung troubles.

Mrs. Jas. McDowell, Langton, Ont., writes: "In November, 1905, I caught a bad cold that settled on my lungs, so I got two bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and used one and a half of them and by that time I was cured. I laid the balance of the bottle away for future use. A few days after our eight months' old baby took the whooping cough.

He was so bad we had to call the family physician, but he said he could do but little.

I commenced using the Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and to my great satisfaction the baby was cured. I only used four 25 cent bottles; a small doctor bill.

I believe there is no other remedy for coughs, colds, etc.

PETERBOROUGH THURSDAY NOVEMBER 8 1906

A RELIGIOUS REVIVAL SERVICES IN THE CITY

Series of Special Evangelistic Services Commenced in Charlotte Street Methodist Church.

REV. H. M. MANNING IS CONDUCTING

The First Meeting Was Held Last Night—Many Were Present From Other Churches.

There are indications that this fall and winter will witness a revival of religion in Peterborough.

At the Charlotte street Methodist church last night, a series of special evangelistic services commenced. There was a good attendance, and deep interest was evidenced in the meeting, which was conducted by the pastor, Rev. H. M. Manning.

The spirit of revival was in evidence at the meeting last night, which singularly enough, was attended by a number of members of other church congregations in the city.

The services will be continued for an indefinite period, as long as the results seem to justify them continuing, and the interest is maintained.

Last night the first of what seemed destined to prove a most helpful and fruitful series of evangelistic meetings, was held in the Charlotte Street Methodist Church. These meetings will be continued for an indefinite time every week-day evening, with the exception of Saturday, and judging by the spirit which pervaded last night's gathering cannot fail but result in increased interest in church work, and in seeking to be saved and to save others. The attendance, considering that it was the first meeting, was very large, which augurs well for the success of the remaining meetings.

Rev. H. M. Manning, pastor of the church, conducted the meeting, and chose as the foundation for his remarks, Isaiah xxvii., 2-5,—"In that day sing ye unto her a vineyard of red wine, I, the Lord, do keep it. I will water it every moment, lest any hurt it. I will keep it night and day. Fury is not in Me. Who would set the briars and thorns against Me in battle? I would go through them; I would burn them together. Or let him take hold of My strength, that he may make peace with Me, and he shall make peace with Me."

In beginning, he stated that the Church of God was the Lord's vineyard. It was a mistake to suppose that because there were briars and thorns, that God would withhold His blessing from the whole vineyard. It was also an unseemly thing for the church to think that because there were a few briars and thorns that the blessing of God would be withheld.

A Blessing

God would rather have mercy upon the briars and thorns. "Lay hold of My strength" was good counsel for the church. There was strength of grace available in God for people. It was possible for people to be strengthened by the power of God. They endured many hardships by means of this strength. The power of grace was what God meant by His strength. This strength was mighty and equal to anything and everything. There were many people who had pent-up talents, but who were shrinking from the use of them, who should take hold of the strength of God.

God is covenanted to give to the followers of Jesus Christ power. He is to vouchsafe to the followers of Jesus Christ the fellowship of the Holy Spirit. It was the place of the followers of Jesus Christ to appreciate this privilege. There were reasons why people did not get the power, because they had not faith. It was necessary to trust God. They should make it theirs by an act of faith.

The speaker closed with an earnest exhortation to his hearers to take hold of the strength of God.

Isolated Cases of Destitution Reported

Some Families in This City Who Are in Need of Clothing and Shoes.

The Examiner is informed that there is a probability in some cases of some persons being in more or less of a destitute condition in this city during the coming winter. There are, it appears, a number of men who are out of work, with not a very bright prospect in store for them for the next few months.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt is taking an interest in a number of these cases, and states that he would be glad to receive donations of clothing, particularly for boys and girls, as he knows of a number of places where he could use it to good advantage in relieving some deserving cases of poverty. Shoes are also needed, and if any charitably disposed persons have such articles which they could dispose of, and would telephone or send word to St. Luke's Rectory, they will be called for and the assurance given that they will be bestowed on worthy objects of charity.

The Examiner is certain that this appeal will not be made in vain.

The Appointment is Now Being Ratified

That of Ven. Archdeacon Warren as Missionary Inspector, at Meeting in Toronto To-day.

The Mission Board of the Toronto Diocese of the Anglican Church is meeting to-day in Toronto, and one of the most important of the various matters up for consideration is that of the ratification of the appointment of Ven. Archdeacon Warren, of Lakefield, to the position of Missionary Inspector of the diocese.

The Bishop of Toronto has, as is well known, made the appointment, subject to the confirmation of the Board, which will be given to-day.

The Archbishop will in all probability be leaving Lakefield in a short time, and will take up his residence in Toronto.

In the near future a meeting of the congregation of St. John's, at Lakefield, will be held to receive the resignation of Archdeacon Warren, and to appoint his successor.

Mr. Elmhirst Buys Otonabee Cattle

During the past week Mr. Joseph Elmhirst, the Otonabee cattle king, purchased sixteen head of fat cattle from the vicinity of Lang's and Stark's, for Mr. J. J. Mervin, the local butcher. These cattle were among the choicest of the township. Mr. Elmhirst also purchased a load of first-class calves this week for Mr. Mervin.

Action to Quash Local Option

Brought Against Lakefield Village by Mr. Wm. Leahy

The action taken by Mr. Wm. Leahy to quash the Lakefield local option bylaw has been postponed for two weeks. It came up yesterday in Toronto in Single Court, before Justice Falconbridge D. O. Cameron and O. A. Langley are acting for the applicant and A. Mills and W. E. Raney for the corporation of Lakefield.

OLDEST LOCK-MASTER ON CANAL DROWNED IN THE BURLEIGH LOCK

Charles Fuller Met Tragic Death Last Night While Engaged in His Duties at Burleigh Falls.

FELL 30 FEET INTO WATER

Deceased Had Been Lock-master Since the Construction of Burleigh Locks —The Sad Details.

Death's summons came suddenly to Charles Fuller, the veteran lock-master of the Burleigh Falls lock, last night, when in helping to run through a boat he fell into the basin and was either drowned or killed by the fall.

It appears that shortly after 9 o'clock the steam punt owned by Mr. Thomas Nicholls, of Buckhorn, arrived at the locks on its way home from Stony Lake. Mr. Fuller was on hand as usual to assist in the locking through process and was walking along the top of the lock with a lantern in his hand. It is supposed that he tripped over one of the iron tie posts, commonly known as "nigger heads." At any rate those on the boat saw him fall over into the lock. He struck the water near the punt, was submerged for a moment and as he came to the top again was quickly rescued by the crew of the boat. Every effort was made to resuscitate him but the attempts were futile. Dr. Baker, of Lakefield was summoned and was on the scene as soon as possible, but could do nothing to restore life.

From the fact that he was not in the water over a minute it is generally supposed that death was due to the fall rather than to drowning. The theory is advanced that the unfortunate man in his descent struck the side of the lock and met his death in that manner. Dr. Baker is of that opinion.

The sudden death of Mr. Fuller removes a familiar figure from the Trent Valley Waterway. For years the deceased had been lock master at Burleigh, in fact he had served in that capacity since the locks were first opened for service. He was known, liked and respected by all the many steamboat men who navigate the Kawartha waters. To the many tourists who spend their summers at a tBurleigh Falls or in the vicinity, the deceased was also well known. He was a favourite with all and the intelligence of his sudden taking off will come as a shock to all who knew him.

The deceased was born in England and came to Canada many years ago. He was unmarried and with the exception of a nephew has no relatives in Canada. The nephew is Mr. Jos. Harvey, of Smith township. The late Mr. Fuller, of course, lived at Burleigh Falls during the season of navigation and during the winter months resided at Young's Point, by the residents of which village he was most favourably known.

Coroner Dr. Grey last night was notified of Mr. Fuller's death, but stated that in view of the fact that there was no doubt that the deceased's death was due to an accident there would be no necessity of holding an inquest.

Funeral, to-morrow at one o'clock from the Burleigh Falls Hotel to Harvey's Cemetery, Burleigh Road.

Buffalo Hunters Have Arrived

Have Made the "Stoney Lake" Their Residence for a Week or More.

Last night, at 10 o'clock, Dr. Claris, of Buffalo, and a dozen other of his friends, arrived in the city on their way to the hunting grounds at Stony Lake. They stopped at the Snowden House for a short time and afterwards took up their residence on the steamer Stoney Lake, which was lying in wait at the Wolfe street docks.

Capt. Scollard, who was in charge of the arrangements in Canada, had the steamer transformed into a comfortable dwelling house, with beds, dining-room, smoking-room and kitchen on board. The party will live on the boat during their stay of eight or ten days in the Kawartha region. The hunting grounds will embrace the northern shores of Stony Lake, and their expectations for a good hunt are great.

The trip over the lift lock this morning was novel to the most of them, and certainly the first part of their journey was enjoyed.

Dr. Claris is a well-known veterinary surgeon in Buffalo, and prominent in politics in his native city. With the "Doc." on board, there is every assurance of a jolly time, as all who know him can easily realize this.

Races Exciting On The Yukon River

Dawson Miners Who Put Up Some Big Wagers on the Run to White Horse Rapids.

Dawson, Y. T., Nov. 4. — Washington Star says: River steamers, like locomotives, look alike, but they are not. Piece for piece, bolt for bolt, the Victorian was like the Canadian, and the Columbian was precisely the same, yet the two last named steamers would use $100 worth of wood more on the four days' run from Dawson to White Horse Rapids. Naturally there was a good deal of jealousy between the crews of the three boats. Not only did the Victorian beat them in the fuel record, but she outran them all, and carried the "broom," which meant to all the other boats that she was the pace-maker.

But there was some racing, nevertheless. As we were coming down the river we met one of our sister boats hung high on a sandbar.

From this stranded boat we learned that a rival company was on the river with a fly steamer that was claiming a record of three days and something to the Rapids. There were three champions on the run now.

In less than an hour from the time we landed, our crew had wagered all their earnings on the Victorian. The Dawson papers were full of defies and notices of thousands of dollars deposited here and there to be covered by the opposition boat, and won or lost in a time race to White Horse.

With a long good bye we steamed away on a 450 mile run to the White Horse. Each hour from the moment we left she burned a cord of wood, that cost the company $8.

Four days and four nights she pounded away, stopping only when it was necessary to take on wood, or pick up the mail, at the mounted police stations. Many craft were floating down the Yukon — steamboats, rafts of logs and scows laden with freight of all sorts.

After the second day it became evident to all on board that we were not going to burn the river dry by the speed of our steamer. The general superintendent was on board and he seemed more interested in arranging for the new mail service than in brooms. We stopped to haul another steamer from a sandbar. At another place we pulled a number of trees up that were being washed out and were toppling over into the river. We were four days reaching the foot of Lebarge, with a good fifty miles to steam before we could see the tail of the White Horse Rapids. Lake Lebarge is a beautiful sheet of water, 30 miles long. The hills along either shore, while not high or imposing, are very pretty, and some are high enough to hold patches of snow the year round. When we had grown weary watching the mountains slip by, and the whitecaps slipping across the lake, we fell asleep to wake at White Horse. Time from Dawson, four and a half days.

THREE OUT OF TOWN ACCIDENTS OF ONE DAY

Manvers Township Man Killed by Fall From His Buggy---Otonabee Child Severely Scalded---Lakefield Youth Badly Burned by Electric Current.

(Examiner Special)

Millbrook, Nov. 8.—Manvers township to-day is in mourning over the death of Mr. John Vance, one of its most respected residents, who died last night from the effects of a fall from his buggy. He was returning home in the evening, and, from some unexplained reason, fell out of the vehicle, behind the horse's feet. When found he was unconscious and died last night about 11 o'clock from his injuries. When the unfortunate man was found the horse was standing still, which would indicate that the animal did not run away.

Mr. Vance was familiarly known as Sir John Vance, and was highly respected by all who knew him. Mr. Wm. Vance, postmaster here, and Robert, of Manvers, are brothers.

The Vance brothers are well known in Peterborough, having been connected with the local fall exhibition for many years.

(Examiner Special)

The little year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Rose, of Otonabee met with a very painful accident last night but from which it is likely to recover. The little child was toddling across the floor and on reaching the table pulled some boiling water over itself. It received some severe burns under the chin and its left shoulder, arm and hand were also badly scalded.

As soon as the accident happened Dr. Brown was telephoned and quickly arrived to dress the wounds. Although they were not sufficient to cause the death of the child, they were very severe and it will be some time before they will be healed.

Mr. and Mrs. Rose live on the River Road, Otonabee about a mile from the locks bridge and their many friends there sympathize with them on the accident to their little son.

(Examiner Special)

Lakefield, Nov. 8.—The village of Lakefield became stirred last night over the almost fatal accident to Mr. Wilbert Leonard, in the Lakefield power house. In the fore part of the evening Leonard attended a hockey meeting, at the conclusion of which he met two young ladies and walked down with them to the power house. The latter was in charge of Mr. Gordo Hendren, electrician, and while they were looking at the machinery, Leonard accidentally put his hands on a couple of switches, making a circuit for the electric current.

He instantly dropped, but before his hands could be separated from the switches the power house had to be closed down. He was picked up for dead, but in a few minutes he regained consciousness. His hands were badly burned, and he has not yet recovered from the shock. He works in the Lakefield News office.

Clerks To Get Higher Wages

Postmaster-General Promises This to Department Employees

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—A deputation of postoffice clerks from Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, and Montreal, headed by Adam Zimmerman, M.P., for Hamilton, interviewed the Postmaster-General to-day asking an increase of salary, based largely on the same grounds as have been cited in favour of increase to other branches of the service. Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, in company with his deputy, Dr. R. M. Coulter, listened to a presentation of the subject in all its bearings.

Upon the conclusion of the hearing the Postmaster-General told the deputation they might rely on its receiving his careful and favourable consideration.

Pain Drove This Man To Suicide

Life was Burden to Man who Lost His Legs.

Belleville, Nov. 7.—David Bowler, of this city, made an attempt to hang himself last night. Some time ago he lost both his legs in a G.T.R. accident and since then has been despondent, saying that the pain in his stumps was so great that life was a burden to him. He is now in the police station.

Non Coms Held First Meeting

Large Number Present to Partake of the Festivities.

The first monthly meeting of the Non-Coms. for the fall and winter season was held last night in their mess rooms on Simcoe street. A large number was present and after business of an introductory character was disposed of, the boys gathered around the festive board and enjoyed a luncheon of cake and coffee.

From present indications, as a result of the meeting, the prospects for the regiment next year are very bright.

Australian Visitor Likes Peterborough

Mr. Wm. Graham, of Australia, in the City and Tells of This Continent's Greatness.

An interesting visitor from the Antipodes, was in the city yesterday, in the person of Mr. William Graham, of Melbourne, Australia, who was here visiting his cousin, Mrs. Alexander Fitzgerald, on his way to London, England, where he will spend some time visiting and on business. Mr. Graham was in Peterborough for the first time, and was not slow in expressing his surprise and pleasure at finding such a prosperous and enterprising city.

Australia is, according to Mr. Graham, advancing rapidly, in commercial and industrial affairs, and while he admits that there is not the future before it which Canada has, he is confident that it is destined to form an important part of the British Empire.

There is, he says, a very warm feeling for Canada, and things Canadian, in Australia, and a number of enterprising Canadians are holding excellent positions in the large industrial concerns, and are emphatically making good.

Mr. Thomas Tate, formerly of the C. P. R., now manager of the Government railway lines in Australia, has placed the transportation facilities upon a most satisfactory basis.

Mr. Graham is a dentist in Melbourne, where he was born, and has lived, until he left on this extended tour of a year in England, the United States and Canada. He is a cousin of Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Fitzgerald and Miss Lizzie Graham of this city. He is also related to Senator Dobson of Lindsay.

Mr Graham left to-day on his way to Montreal, from which city he will sail for London, where he will join his wife and two children, who will accompany him back to Australia.

PREACHING AND PRACTICE

Mr. Border is evidently the favourite Conservative leader of our local contemporary, which quotes from a recent address of Mr. R. Borden, given before the Canadian Club, Montreal, in which he expresses some admirable sentiments. He said that the hope of the stability of our democratic institutions rested on three things, the chief of which was—"We must first have clean elections." This is so self-evident a fact that Mr. Borden is deprived of the credit of discovering it. He is, however, to be credited with good intentions—in the abstract, at least. The value of the possession and utterance of high-minded sentiments depends entirely, as Captain Cuttle would say, upon "the application on it." If Mr. Borden believes in the purity of elections we should expect him, to be consistent, to use every opportunity of exorcising his influence, not only as a responsible leader, but as a citizen, to give effect to his convictions. Now we are told by the Mail and Empire that Queens and Shelburne was something of a hotbed of corrupt methods. The fact of the Mail asserting this does not argue its correctness; quite otherwise. But, of course, Mr. Border believes the Mail and Empire, and one would have expected that he would have thrown himself into the thick of the fight in the Queens-Shelburne election, and have used his best efforts to counteract the alleged impure election methods employed. One would have expected that he would have gone to the rescue of Dr. Weldon, the Conservative candidate, who had thrown out signals of distress. If Mr. Borden had answered the call of the Mail and Empire, he would have, only, according to that veracious authority, been combatting "Grit" corruption, and his anxiety for "clean elections" might have involved the charge that he was influenced merely by partizan zeal, by a desire to circumvent political opponents. But we have Dr. Weldon's authority that there was danger of corrupt practices by Conservatives. He says that on one occasion he was asked to sacrifice himself as a candidate, and was willing to do so if the Conservative managers would assure him that the contest on his behalf would be a clean one on the part of the party managers, and not receiving this assurance, he was not a candidate that time. In the second election he came into the field and was left to fight the battle of political purity lone-handed. Mr. Borden, as leader of the party Dr. Weldon represented, would naturally be expected to come to his aid, but he did not. Mr. Borden, especially as the champion of clean elections, would have been expected to come to the rescue of another champion of clean elections, like Dr. Weldon, but he did not. Likewise, as champion of "clean elections," we should have expected Mr. Borden to have the sweeping investigation into alleged electoral impurity conducted under the regis of the Provincial Government, to include inquiry into the corrupt methods employed by Conservatives. The managers of the investigation are defeating the promise of the Conservative Government to probe things to the bottom. No matter what party suffered. The moment a witness opens his mouth to say something that would expose Conservative corruption he is told to "stand down"—his evidence not required. When such hypocrisy is practised we should expect Mr. Borden to carry his fine sentiments, regarding clean elections, into practice, and to insist, by the exercise of his authority, as leader, in adopting means to bring about clean elections, by exposing corrupt methods wherever they may exist. Preaching the doctrine of political purity is a good thing; practising it is a better. Mr. Borden has placed himself in the position of preaching clean elections and permitting his followers, without reproof or restraint on his part, to practise, unmolested, what he so unctuously condemns—in the abstract.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Hon. George E. Foster says his life has been an open book. Possibly; but it seems to require the knife of an insurance investigation to cut some of the leaves.

The Orange Sentinel is after Mr. Whitney for appointing Dr. Coughlin, a Roman Catholic, as head of the Deaf and Dumb Institute at Brockville. The Brockville Recorder says that Mr. Whitney appointed Dr. Coughlin because he was a defeated "Tory" candidate, though his Attorney-General dismissed a division court clerk at Belleville, because years before his appointment he had.

We have long ceased expecting Mr. Whitney to practice what he preaches.

The Retail Merchants' Association of Galt has decided to draw up a black-list of dead heads, which will be used to scare the slow-payers to liquidate their bills. A better plan, perhaps, would be, the Hamilton Times suggests, to follow the custom of the department stores, and do an exclusively cash business. It would pay some people who run accounts at stores to pay as they go. They would save money, and the stores would not suffer loss from bad debts.

The elections in the United States on Tuesday, especially in New York State, our nearest neighbour, aroused considerable interest in this country. The comparatively successful fight put up by Hearst, the Democratic candidate, as an enemy of the trusts and trade combinations, shows that public sentiment is crystallizing in opposition to the greed of capital, and also that the influence of President Roosevelt, who endorsed Hearst's opponent, is lessening. If a man of Hearst's antecedents, and questionable character for honesty, and honest methods, could give such an emphatic effect to Bryan's endorsation, as against Roosevelt's endorsation of a strong, straight man, like Hughes, the chances for Bryan's success, in a presidential contest, so far as New York is a measure, seem to be encouraging.

"Public ownership," says the Globe, "is a successful policy in Guelph. The street railway shows a good profit for the year. The best results are found in a complete control over the service, and in freedom from the continuous intrigues of a strong corporation seeking to perpetuate its franchise." It all depends upon the administration. Public ownership is no more unerringly automatic in its operation than any private enterprise. "Graft," under municipal ownership, will work as much evil as "graft," and grasp, and greed, exercised by private corporations. Our Water Works are a success, under civic ownership, because their management is good. If the same lax management were given them as obtains in some details of the general civic administration, we should expect deficits to replace dividends.

ET TU, BRUTE!

Hon. Geo. P. Graham, discussing the bribery investigation in Saturday's Recorder says:—

"The Recorder believing that the elections now in Brockville are carried on decently, has never approved the idea of delving into ancient history, but the Whitney Government, having initiated the movement by going back seven years, the Recorder believes that in justice to the Liberal party and for a perfect clearing of the atmosphere a thorough sifting of the former election methods should be had. The Ontario Government, it seems has no idea of prosecuting any but Liberals so that if the machine work of the Conservative party is to be exposed it must be by the Dominion Government.

"There is not a Liberal in Brockville but believes W. K. Comstock was robbed of his seat on a former occasion by ballot manipulation.

"There not a Liberal in Brockville but has reason to believe that up to and including 1896, the Tory party of Brockville worked the ballot scheme unblushingly.

"The Liberals believe that men were instructed how to do the ballot trick in a certain room in Brokoville to which the whisky was carried by a gentleman who is taking quite an interest in the present case.

"In the Comstock-White election every man in Brockville remembers the North Reddaway band of willing workers that was brought here to help defeat Mr. Comstock. The scandalous statements of disgust by one of the chief workers that "We bought the men but they did not stay bought," is well remembered.

"The story that certain old scores leading up into the thousands had to be settled before certain Conservative workers here would pull off their coats may have a good foundation. These things and a thousand others could be cleared up by a Dominion commission and the public would have some idea of what the Liberals in Brockville have had to contend with."

More Deer Arrive From the North

Some of the Hunters From Gull Lake Back

Messrs. J. Storey, R. H. Leary and H. Stewart returned last night from Gull Lake, where they have been pursuing the elusive deer. They were at George Ritchie's lumber camp in Cavendish, and report having a good time. That their efforts were not in vain is shown by the fact that they brought back with them three fine deer, two bucks and a doe, as well as four partridge. The woods are full of hunters, and most of the camps seem to be meeting with success, the Buckhorn party having already secured seven fine deer.

Says Headache Dope Killed Her

Doctor's Explanation For Strange Death of a Niles Young Woman

Special to The Examiner.

Niles, Mich., Nov. 7. — Miss Helen Knott, aged 25 years, was taken suddenly ill to-day, and a physician, thinking she was having an epileptic fit, administered a hypodermic injection. She rallied, but died within the hour. In her room was found a box of headache tablets containing strychnine. The physician attributes her death to an overdose of the powders.

An Interesting Romance In Standard Oil Co.

How Daniel O'Day Rose From a Humble Position to One of the Most Exalted in the Great System.

A Utican who knows the facts gives this sketch of Daniel O'Day, the Standard Oil man, whose death was reported recently.

The account of the death of Daniel O'Day, one of the big men in the Standard Oil Company, brings to my mind the fact that O'Day had a humble beginning. He was born in Ireland over 62 years ago and came with his father to Buffalo. The elder O'Day was finally led to buy some land in Cattaraugus County, near Ellicottville, and he moved there with his family of boys and girls. The family lived in a small house, away back from the main travelled road, and as the land was new and markets were not of thes amo character as they are now they had quite a precarious existence for many years. The boys and girls went to the district school when they had clothing enough to make themselves respectable, which was not always, and as they were Irish, keen-witted and quick to learn, they managed to pick up a pretty fair common school education.

Dan was a good-natured, happy-go-lucky fellow. If he got a job of work he performed it as best he knew how. He did not watch the clock or complain about an extra hour or two of work. He was ready and willing, and whether he was mowing with an old-fashioned scythe the steep meadows of a neighbour, chopping or hauling wood or digging drains for some of the swamplands in the vicinity, he put in a full day's work, devoted himself to the man for whom he was working and took an interest in what he was doing.

When the oil excitement broke out Dan managed in some way to get hold of a team of horses, and, like many other young fellows he went away to the oil country, which was not far distant, to make his fortune at teaming. Fabulous prices were often paid for the work of a team for a single day. Young O'Day had heard the stories and went out from the farm home with an indifferent team, an old wagon and a poor harness, determined to win a fortune. In his wildest dreams he never for a moment imagined the wonderful success that would come to him.

In the late sixties this was, and when Dan O'Day struck the oil country he prospered. While most of the young fellows who went there spent their time and money in gambling resorts, saloons and brothels, Dan O'Day took care of his horses, saved his cash, bought more horses and wagons, and soon became recognized as a power in the transportation problems which confronted the producers, whose wells were throwing out thousands of barrels of oil every day.

Dan went on, and before long he attracted the attention of John D. Rockefeller and those who were at the head of the South Improvement Company. He was put in charge of the first pipe-line that was ever operated, and as the lines began to extend, and as O'Day's responsibilities increased, he would send back to Cattaraugus County for other young fellows whom he had known and to whom he hoped to extend opportunities to do something better than till the stony and steep hills of that section. He became in time an employer of thousands of men, and finally was a principal factor in the Standard Oil Company.

In 1897 Mr. O'Day was indicted, along with John D. Rockefeller and others, in Clarion County, Pa., charged with conspiracy in attempting to get a monopoly of the oil business and with attempting to control the price of crude oil by fraudulent means and devices. Feeling was running high at that time; mob law was threatened, and, in some places, attempted, and the Standard Oil men were keeping ready for fear of the law or of private attacks. Mr. O'Day was not in the state when he was indicted, and Governor Hoyt, who was called upon to issue requisitions for the extradition of O'Day and several others, refused to do so, or delayed doing so for so long a time that the whole thing was lost in the events which followed. But from that time on, O'Day was the kingpin in the transportation department of the Standard Oil, and through it all still held his great interests.

Some years ago he began to take periods of rest, for he had overworked. He had built up a magnificent fortune at the expense of his health, and the warnings that came to him from time to time led him to believe that he had paid a dear price for his millions, after all. He went back to the old home on frequent occasions; fixed up the old farm; beautified the cemetery in which his father and mother were sleeping; had re-unions at the old homestead, to which he made old friends and new, and travelled extensively in this country, and occasionally abroad. All the time he kept in his hands a considerable part of the management of the large interests with which he had become identified.

Finally Dan broke down, simply because he could not let go. The habit to work on and on was a part of his life, and he would not hear the warnings. He did not need to do it—but he did. Then he sought springs and resorts here and abroad. In the south of France death overtook him—and he was only 62 years of age, with everything to live for.—Utica Observer.

Remarkable Cure of St. Vitus' Dance
ANOTHER ILLUSTRATION OF THE GREAT RESTORATIVE POWER OF
Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Mrs. Phillips is a widow who keeps a grocery store at 597 Gerrard street east, Toronto, and her daughter Susie, 14 years of age, is accustomed to deliver parcels when not at school. About a year and a half ago Mrs. Phillips noticed that Susie had difficulty in controlling her feet when walking, and would stray from sidewalk to boulevard and back again.

As she got worse she would helplessly drop parcels on the street and would fall prostrate on the floor, as though all nerve force had left her. The nerves and muscles of her face would twitch so that other children thought she was making faces at them.

"One day when Susie came from school," continued Mr. Phillips, "she said she had only written two words of dictation because she could not control her pencil, and then it was that I realized the seriousness of her condition. A friend told me that she had St. Vitus' dance, and described a similar case of a boy in Winnipeg who was cured by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

"I immediately got some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and it was not long before my daughter began to improve under this treatment. We kept up the use of this medicine for eighteen months, until Susie was entirely cured and was herself again. This statement is given with the idea of helping some poor sufferer from similar diseases of the nerves."

Because of its mild and gentle action and extraordinary restorative influence, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is especially suited as a treatment for children who are pale, weak and puny, or whose nervous systems have become run down.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50; at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 10

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Nov. 8.—The stock market this morning refused to bow to the London lower prices and after a hesitant opening, started to improve along specialty lines. The general list moved irregularly, however, and the outlook not favouring aggression along bullish lines generally. The professional element believed it to be a traders' market to be sold on rallies and bought on declines, which sums up the situation about right for the present at least.

Intense dullness prevailed during the afternoon, and towards the close a raid on American Wool'en which carried that issue off over 4 points, brought about some reaction in the general list. Call rates ran up to 10 per cent. in the last ten minutes and the market closed weak.

A Cold Yarn

"TALKIN' 'bout cold weather, why, onst, in the forties, I went out huntin' carryin' one of those old muzzle loaders, and when I'd used up all my lead, but had lots of powder, an old ugly she bear started to stalk me. Wall, I got so scared that the sweat was droppin' off my forehead. Just as the old bear was makin' for me, a bright idea struck me. I grabbed up the frozen sweat and put it in instead o' shot, an' let her have it. She dropped right in her tracks, by gosh!"

"Wonderful! Wonderful!" exclaimed his audience.

"Yes boys, but not so wonderful as what the horse doctor said she died of."

"What did he call it?" cried the bunch.

"Water on the brain," said the old inhabitant, with a wink.

Financial Position Of The Company Improved

Excellent Reports Presented at Annual Meeting of Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Company Yesterday—Working Capital Increased by More Than $55,000—The Output Will be Considerably Increased This Year.

The financial condition of the Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Company, as revealed by the reports presented at the annual meeting of the shareholders of the company, held yesterday afternoon in the general offices of the company, is highly satisfactory, the statements showing that the company is in a better financial position to-day than it was a year ago by more than $50,000, which sum, added to the working capital, will place it in a position to do business unhampered by any considerations of capital.

At the meeting held yesterday, about three-fourths of the capital stock of the company was represented in person or by proxy, and the meeting was very harmonious, the shareholders present giving evidence of their satisfaction at the reports of the business for the year, as presented by the officers for the consideration of the shareholders.

Shareholders Present

Mr. Adam Hall, president of the company, occupied the chair, and Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., acted as secretary of the meeting. Among the shareholders present were: Messrs. T. Gibson, J. Fallis, Geo. Singleton, J. N. Hortop, J. A. Bennett, A. Jackson, J. Waddell, R. R. Hall, T. I. Williams, E. Fuller, J. Lang, Adam Hall, J. Baptie, Samuel Edwards, J. S. Latimer, A. A. Fenrier, N. Nash, J. A. Blain, B. Williams, F. Gordon, W. G. Ferguson, H. McDonald, W. H. Meldrum, W. Fair, Jas. Miller, W. Toker, T. Southworth, G. Syer and N. G. Walsh.

Profits of $29,887.37

The report of the directors on the operations of the company during the past year was presented. It showed that the net profit on the business for the period named was $29,887.37, which was recognized as a very satisfactory statement indeed. The shareholders unanimously decided to pass the dividend and carry over the net profits to the credit of Profit and Loss Account. This sum, added to that of $25,800, representing the sales of preference stock during the year, and making over $55,000, is the increased financial standing of the company as the result of the work of the last year.

The shareholders expressed themselves as well pleased with the operations of the company during the year, and particularly with the excellent financial position in which the company stands at the present time.

To Increase Output

At the present time about fourteen tons of twine and rope a day are being manufactured, and the intention is to increase the output during the next year to the extent of about $100,000. This can easily be accomplished by reason of the fact that the company now has an additional working capital.

About half of the product of the mills here is sold in the United States, where a good market is found, the other half being divided between Ontario, the Northwest Provinces and the Argentine Republic, to which latter country the company sends a considerable quantity.

Election of Officers

The retiring Board of Directors was re-elected, and is as follows: Messrs. Adam Hall, John Lang, W. H. Meldrum, J. S. Latimer, and J. A. Bennett.

At a subsequent meeting of the Board of Directors, the following officers were elected:

President, Adam Hall.

Vice-Presidents, John Lang and W. H. Meldrum.

The prospects for the company for the coming year are represented to be very bright, and with the improved position, from a financial standpoint, there seems every reason to believe that the expectations of the directors and shareholders, in respect to the future of the company, will be fully realized.

This Sale Worse Than Run on Bank

People with Hunger for Clothes Crowd the Sheridan Store

People on George street, in the market block, imagined that there was a riot in progress when they passed the S. J. Sheridan clothing store yesterday morning and saw the crowd which blocked the sidewalk there. An Examiner reporter happened along, and, scenting a story, walked up with a businesslike air and tried the door. There was, however, nothing doing, the door was locked, and the scribe subsided, to wait patiently with the rest until the portal was thrown open.

Once inside, the mystery was soon cleared up. The entire S. J. Sheridan stock was found to be in the hands of the National Salvage Company, and was being passed out at figures that made the average clothing sale look like a fox-terrier pup chasing a Jackson Park street car. The store was packed to the doors with buyers, and even with the large number of extra salespeople engaged for the occasion, the management found difficulty in accommodating the crowd, which grew so big that the doors had to be locked until one section had made their purchases before another could be admitted.

The reporter, caught in the crowd, could do nothing but watch the sales, and what he saw was sufficient to convince him that bargains were being offered, such as never before were heard of in Peterborough, and it was no wonder that people were driving thirty miles to get their share of the finished articles of clothing at prices which made the buyer put on that "it's-a-shame-to-take-the-money" smile, while he dug for his wad before the man at his elbow could beat him out.

Ten days is the limit placed on the sale, but at the rate at which the people, with a hunger for fine clothes, are walking away with the goods, there will be nothing left but empty shelves and the clerks at the end of that time, and it would cause the reporter no surprise if some of the pretty salesladies were missing, too.

A Popular Norwood Lady Was Honoured

On the Eve of Her Marriage Which Took Place Yesterday in Buffalo—A Presentation.

Examiner Special.

Norwood, Nov. 8.—An event which will be of much interest to the citizens of Norwood took place in Buffalo, N.Y., on Wednesday, November 7th, when Ina, the youngest daughter of Mrs. A. Kempt, of this place, became the wife of Mr. John Brightwell, of Mooretown, Ont.

Miss Kempt will be greatly missed here in both social and church circles. In the former her genial, kindly disposition has made her a general favourite with her many friends, while in the the latter she has given unsparingly of her talents in the service of song and in other ways.

Before leaving town a few of the young ladies on behalf of the Presbyterian congregation waited on her and presented her with a cabinet of table cutlery accompanied by the following address :—

To Miss Ina Kempt,—

Dear Friend,—Your many friends in the Norwood Presbyterian Church, hearing of your approaching departure from your native town, desire to express to you the high regard in which you are held by all, enjoying as you do the respect of the older people and the confidence of your younger associates. Our congregation will be much the poorer through your removal from amongst us.

From childhood you have been closely associated with some part of its works, in the Sabbath school, the choir and particularly the Knox W.M.S., of which you have been for some time president. As a small token of the esteem in which you are held and as a reminder in days to come, of your many many friends here, we ask you to accept this case of table cutlery, with the request that in your new home and new relationship, you fall not to give them ample employment. Our prayer is that Heaven's smile may rest upon you, and in all the days to come, that your life may be filled with sunshine and crowned with blessings.

Signed on behalf of Congregation,

MAE LILLIE

EVA L. PATTERSON

Many Paid Tribute To Late Mr. Hurley

His Funeral in Lindsay Yesterday Was Largely Attended—Many From This City.

The funeral of the late P. J. Hurley, of Lindsay, took place Wednesday morning and was one of the largest ever seen in that town. Business was practically suspended out of respect to the deceased, who was one of Lindsay's most prominent citizens, who had been identified with the business life of that town for over a quarter of a century.

Since his demise on Monday morning hundreds of the citizens of the town and surrounding district viewed his remains at his family residence. Mr. Hurley was a man of exemplary character, the soul of honour and possessed many admirable qualities of heart and hand that endeared him to all classes of the community. The funeral Wednesday morning left the family residence at 9.30 and proceeded to St. Mary's church. The cortege was an imposing one, the members of Lindsay and Downeyville branches of the C.M.B.A., the Lindsay Council of the Knights of Columbus, a delegation from Peterborough Council K.O.C. and hundreds of citizens followed the remains to the church, which was filled to its utmost capacity. Grand requiem high mass was celebrated by Ven. Archdeacon Casey, assisted by Rev. Dr. O'Brien of Peterborough, as deacon; Rev. Father Phelan, Young's Point, sub-deacon, and Rev. F. J. O'Sullivan, of Lindsay, master of ceremonies. At the conclusion of the mass the cortege wended its way to St. Mary's Cemetery, the services at the grave being conducted by Ven. Archdeacon Casey and Rev. Father Phelan. The pall bearers were, Messrs. Senator McHugh, Thos. Brady, John Rogers, M. McGeough, B. J. Gough and J. Bulger, of Cobourg. The delegation from Peterborough Council Knights of Columbus were: Messrs. M. McFadden, H. Phelan, P. B. McGrath and Frank Pope. Among the Peterborough relatives and friends who attended the funeral were: Mr. John Hurley, Mrs. Hurley and Mr. Frank Hurley, sisters Perpetua and Annunciation, of St. Joseph's Community; Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Begley, Mrs. M. J. O'Brien and Mr. J. J. Burns.

North Monaghan Club Held Dance

Delightful Affair in Foresters' Hall Last Night.

A most enjoyable dance was held in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, last night, under the auspices of the North Monaghan Club. Some forty couples were present, and the evening was one of thorough enjoyment. Excellent music was provided by Wilson's orchestra, the floor was in splendid shape, and Mr. Archie Moore in his usual capacity of floor manager, left nothing to be desired. Delightful refreshments were served by Messrs. Coleman Bros., the caterers for the occasion, who, during the intermission sang several comic songs in excellent manner. The light fantastic was tripped until an early hour.

RING WORM AND DANDRUFF.

They Are Each Caused by a Pestiferous Germ.

Ring worm and dandruff are somewhat similar in their origin; each is caused by a parasite. The germ that causes dandruff digs to the root of the hair and saps its vitality, causing falling hair, and, finally, baldness. Without dandruff there would never be baldness, and to cure dandruff it is necessary to kill the germ. There has been no hair preparation that would do this until the discovery of Newbro's Herpicide, which positively kills the dandruff germ, allays itching instantly, and makes hair glossy and soft as silk. Take no substitute. There is nothing "just as good." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

Young Men Punished For Hallow E'en Prank

Appeared Before City Clerk Armstrong — Had to Pay $2.15 Each, the Costs of Case.

This morning the aftermath of the Hallowe'en pranks of six young men in the south end was a police court case before City Clerk Armstrong. It will be remembered that Mayor Best's fence was razed on that night. Wrecking a fence of high, close boards and 60 feet in length, was really a very destructive piece of work. However, the boys did not escape. Canadian law is too wideawake for such actions to go unpunished, and it is very creditable to P. C. Newhall, who was on duty in the south end that night, that the boys were captured. He shadowed them in all their movements, and when the deed was committed he was on the spot and caught them red-handed. The boys are all of respectable families, but, like even our fathers and grandfathers, they forget themselves on Hallowe'en, and do things, the serious nature of which they do not realize at the time. Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared for the boys and appealed to the Magistrate to be lenient with them. He was sure that this would be a lesson to them, and would cause them to think twice on another occasion. Besides, they had fully repaired the fence and were also sorry for having forgotten themselves on that occasion. Magistrate Armstrong certainly considered the offence a grave one, insomuch that it was diametrically opposed to law and order. However, the boys were sufficiently punished by being humiliated in appearing at court, and since they had rebuilt the fence he merely imposed the costs of the case on them. This amounted to $2.15 each, to be paid in five days, or the usual sojourn.

Ferry Steamer To Run To Port Hope

Biggest Boat Ever Built in Toronto to be Launched on December 1st—Will Have Provision for 100 Staterooms and Passengers—Will Run Both Summer and Winter.

The Toronto News of last night said: The biggest boat ever built in Toronto, the car ferry for the Grand Trunk Railway Company, will be launched at the works of the Canadian Shipbuilding Company, at the foot of Bathurst street, on the first of December. The vessel will cost $375,000.

In the meanwhile the city has agreed to expend $1000 in dredging the slip, which has been gradually filling up.

The Harbour Commissioners were asked to do this, but refused, and the Board of Control this morning authorized the City Engineer to incur the expense.

The new boat is 320 feet long, 56 feet wide, and when loaded will draw 15 feet. Her speed will be fifteen miles an hour. The steamer is equipped with twin screw triple expansion engines and Scotch boilers.

The steamer will run from Rochester to some port on the Canadian side, probably Port Hope or Cobourg, making daily trips, winter as well as summer.

"Traffic over the International Bridge is not fast enough for the Railway Company," said Mr. A. Augstrom, general manager of the Shipbuilding Company, to the News to-day. "They therefore decided to build a steamer to bring over coal to supply their system in Ontario. This steamer will hold 24 cars, and they can be run on the steamer just as they are. They propose going the full year."

The steamer is also supplied with 100 staterooms, and Grand Trunk passengers will be carried over. The decks themselves are large enough for 1,000 passengers.

"The construction of the boat has been under the direct supervision of Mr. Fitzhugh, third vice-president of the Railway Company," said Mr. Augstrom."

The boat is the same length as the Cayuga but more heavily built, and cost $100,000 more.

The name of the new boat is significant, "Ontario No. 1," and it is probable that others will follow.

Telephone Men Were Stranded

Experience of Lindsay Men Working Out of Town.

The Lindsay Post says: Yesterday afternoon the Bell Telephone gang drove out about two miles south of the town to fix the lines. While preparing to come back to town the throwing of some tools into the rig frightened the horses, and without warning they started on a gallop for town, leaving the gang to walk in. When the men reached town the horses were found standing in front of the telephone office. On their wild run in, they passed a half dozen farmers rigs but not one of them attempted to halt the runaways. The tools were scattered along the road, but no damage was done.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

LOST AND WON

Marks Bros. have certainly "caught on" with the people, using a slangy, but expressive, phrase, judging from the packed house that greeted their presentation last night. The prices suit everybody's pocket, and full return for the money is given. The play last night was "Lost and Won" — the same old story of the path of love never running smoothly, with the usual loving husband and devoted wife separated by the machinations of deceitful and false friends. The customary short-lived triumph of the plotters, with the final triumph of the wife, with her innocence finally vindicated. Miss Kittie Marks as Edith Vincent, the wronged wife, played her part well and pleased the audience at all times. Mr. Ernie Marks as Michael Casey, evoked much laughter in his comic parts. He is a still a prime favourite with the boys.

To-night a Southern comedy written for Mr. Marks, and which has never been presented, in Peterborough before, will be the attraction. It is entitled the "Mountaineer," and promises to "make good." On the whole these plays are well worth the money, and form a good means of spending the evening.

Where Manhood Is Lost And Thieves Educated

Shack Erected for This Purpose Has Been Burnt Down--Was at Terminus of Charlotte Street.

The little shack on the banks of the Otonabee, opposite Charlotte street is no more. Yesterday afternoon about four o'clock, when the proprietors of the mansion were absent it went up in smoke. When darkness fell nothing but the ashes remained and it is not probable the building will be rebuilt as there was no insurance. The origin of the fire is yet unknown but it is believed a fire bug—a good Samaritan—lit the fatal match.

Examiner readers will remember that in a recent issue a communication from "A Friend of All Boys" was published, who in some pertinent questions clearly set forth the evils and dangers of the completion of the shack, which he termed a hell-hole inaugurated for the benefit of the arabs.

The destruction of the haunt means a good deal to Peterborough boys as many who otherwise would have spent their evenings there will have to find some other, and probably a better employment. Those who set fire to the shack yesterday afternoon cannot be blamed as it is to the interests of the morality of the city that it has been "wiped off the earth."

The Closing Steamboat Movements On Local Waters

Captains and Crews Bid Goodbye to Lock Master and Bridge Tenders—Steamers Tying Up For The Season.

Many of the steamers in the upper lakes and on the Otonabee are making their final trips of the season this week. The canal will be closed on Saturday so that this will put a further stop to navigation and this week captains, mates and crews are bidding farewell to the lock masters all along the route.

The steamer Ajax went up the canal yesterday for her last load of cement from Lakefield of the season.

The Beaver left for her home in Lakefield yesterday after bringing in a scow load of wood.

Nicholls' steam punt left for Buckhorn yesterday after unloading a cargo of wood at Curtis' Landing on the Warsaw road. This was the steam punt which was locking through at Burleigh Falls last night when Mr. Chas. Fuller lost his life.

The steamer Water Lily reported yesterday at 3.30 p.m. at the Wolfe street wharf with 50 cords of wood from the third line creek, Stony Lake. She left the city on Monday last and was engaged for some time on the lake towing stone from Julian's Landing for the erection of the Government wharf at W. H. Hamilton's cottage. The construction of the wharf is under the supervision of Mr. Joseph Yelland.

The steamer Stoney Lake came down the canal yesterday afternoon to meet a party of Bufflonian hunters for Stoney Lake. She left the Wolfe street wharf this morning.

With so many steamboat movements in local waters the lock masters and bridge tenders are especially busy and the season is winding up with unusual briskness.

Publishing Committee Chairman's Statement

Alfred Farlow, of Christian Scientist Church, Writes Concerning Mrs. Eddy's Condition.

To the Editor of the Examiner.—

Dear Sir, — The New York World, of to-day, Thursday, November 1st, publishes the following statement: "The World is in a position to say positively, that Boston lawyers were to-day consulted by fair-minded Christian Scientists, who were convinced of Mrs. Eddy's collapse, and will force Calvin A. Frye and others in actual control of Mrs. Eddy, to tell what has become of her big fortune, estimated by those who should know, at nearly $15,000,000."

I have just returned from Mrs. Eddy's home, and am pleased to inform the World that she is well and happy, and is at her desk, giving instructions to her secretary, Mr. Frye, and conducting her own affairs.

Christian Scientists have no fear about their leader. They are well aware that the numerous statements, which have been given out by her friends, some who are Scientists, and some who are not Scientists, concerning her normal bodily and mendition, are true.

The church has nothing whatever to do with Mrs. Eddy's fortune, whether it be large or small. It is her own property and consists of a legitimate wage for her services as a teacher of Christian Science, and the legitimate profits on her books. Mrs. Eddy is not a trustee for any church funds, and therefore has no accounting to render to Christian Scientists. The church has no jurisdiction over her private holdings, and therefore has no more right to know what disposition she makes of them than they have to inquire about the affairs of any other citizen. Even a casual observer with a slight knowledge of arithmetic, can readily estimate that it is impossible for Mrs. Eddy to be even a millionaire. I hold in my possession an affidavit made by Mr. Edward L. Pride, the auditor of the books of the Christian Science Church, which states that Mrs. Eddy has never received any money from the Christian Science Church, with the exception of five thousand dollars, which was tendered her by the directors of the church for services rendered during the erection of the extension of the Mother Church in Boston. Mr. Pride is a well known business man, and is not a Christian Scientist.

No Boston lawyer, or any other lawyers, have been consulted by Christian Scientists with reference to interfering with the duties and accomplishments of Mrs. Eddy's faithful secretary, nor has there been any talk of such action, nor any occasion for talk on the subject.

The doors of Pleasant View stand open, as they have in the past. Mrs. Eddy will receive her friends as usual, and will go, as usual on her daily drives. She was out yesterday, and was recognized by many of her fellow townsmen.

(Signed) ALFRED FARLOW,

Eyes Worth Having

Did you ever stop to think that with the exception of the heart, the eye is the hardest worked part of the body.

As long as you are awake and your eyes are open they are working in your service.

Three pairs of muscles control the movement of each eyeball.

The two eyeballs move exactly together. Would you know the effect of their not working together—press your finger against one, so that its position does not exactly correspond with the other.

How important it is that if these muscles tire and you have headaches and require Glasses, that your Glasses suit your eyes—our long experience makes us experts and able to fit you correctly.

Last Practice of The Rugby Team

Team is Asked to Turn Out at the Rink To-night.

A practise of the Peterborough rugby team is called for to-night at the rink in preparation for the final game of the season with the Argonauts in Toronto on Saturday. The locals will be in good shape and should give the doughty sailors an even harder game than on the occasion of their recent visit here. The Argos will play the same team as against the Tigers with the exception of Hay and Crooks, who are both out of the game owing to injuries.

Gordon Campbell's Rugby Prowess

Captained the Sucessful Team on Saturday

In the report of the Crescent-T.C.S. rugby game in the city on Saturday, the Examiner omitted reference to Gordon Campbell, who captained the T. C. S. team and to whose good work much of the credit for the success of the team. This clever young player is a Peterborough boy, a son of Mr. Peter Campbell, and his record at Trinity College School both in academic and sporting pursuits has been watched with interest by his many friends here.

The Quakers will practise at 8.30 at the Brock street rink to-night. All the team is requested to be on hand to get in shape for the game with the Bankers on Saturday.

• • • •

A meeting of the City League Executive will be held to-morrow night at 7.15 o'clock at the Examiner office to decide upon what action the league will take in view of the resolution of the Quakers to drop out unless the original schedule is carried out. COMMENTS ON CURRENT SPORTS

Juno May, of London, 22 years old aspires to fame as a wrestler. She weighs 252 pounds and is six feet two inches tall. Her bust measures 50 inches, waist 33, biceps 14 and calf 16. Wrestling has been her hobby since she was a small schoolgirl of 12 years. She is now training Pierre, the terrible Greek. Juno says: "Father does not want me to wrestle in public, but I want to and I mean to. I have thrown in Graeco-Roman wrestling all the women I have yet encountered. I am willing to challenge any woman in the world for £1,000."

Frenzied by the sight of their respective teams on Marshall Field gridiron to-day, 500 athletic young rooters for Hyde Park and University high schools engaged in a free-for-all riot this afternoon, in which black eyes and smashed noses were exchanged by the score. Deans Owen and Belfield, of the two schools, backed by the few policemen on the ground, charged into the mob to separate the combatants, but only succeeded after several had been completely knocked out.

"Speaking of basketball", said Jake Mazer, the D. A. C. star, last week "from the first to the finish it is consistency that wins every game. Those long shots are good for nothing as far as science goes. A man may have a good day and shoot all that he happens to throw that way. Again he may be a little off and miss almost all of them. For the latter he gets roasted and for the former praised. It's not all his fault at that. When anyone throws the ball from one end of the field to the other, it is merely a matter of luck whether it lands in the basket or not. In other words, no one can control a long shot as well as a close one.

"The secret of the D.A.C. team was stick to short shots even if they got a chance at long ones. You could find that in all of our games. Some times we were six or eight points behind and only a few more minutes to play. Did we get rash and try pot shots? Not much, that wasn't our style. We'd get the ball close to the basket and then shoot. This knack of sticking to science won the championship for D. A.C. for the past three years.

"Most of our opponents knew this but the mere knowledge did them little or no good. In one of the games with a well-known local team I happened to shoot from a point to the left of the basket. My opponent seemed surprised and I told him the next one would come from the same place. He put his team wise. I got the ball from Richards. Lundy was standing slightly to the left of the basket. Our opponents thought I was going to shoot. Four of them crowded around me. Lundy was uncovered. I threw the ball around my neck and the ball and Lundy centre put it into the basket twice before the opposing team knew where it was."

WAVES' TOLL OF THE DEAD

Five of the Russian Barque Sevinde Drown, Seven Are Still on Wreck, While Captain and Eight Men Reach Shore—Seven More of the Norwegian Barque Adeona's Crew Go Down in Angry Deep.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Nov. 8.—The Russian Finn iron barque Sevinde, lumber-laden, is a wreck off Priest Pond, P. E. I. She was from Dalhousie, N. B., for Melbourne, Australia.

Capt. Wigland and eight men got to shore, three men washed ashore drowned and two more drowned, are still among the wreckage. Seven men are still in the wreck, three on one portion and four on the other, some distance apart.

The ship broke amidships and the centre is carried away. Two doctors from Souris have gone to attend to the injured, who were mangled by the floating lumber. The men on the wreck are without food, fire or water and can scarcely hold out until daylight.

Two Barques Ashore.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Nov. 8.—Two Norwegian barques are ashore between Priest Pond and Blackbush. One is the Olga; the name of the other is not known. The crew of the Olga will probably be saved, but most men of the other are likely lost.

All Adeona's Crew Drown.

Richibucto, N. B., Nov. 8.—It is now certain that all the crew of the barque Adeona, wrecked near here a few days ago, have been drowned. Monday a boat left the ship with seven men aboard, but all were drowned before reaching shore.

It was then believed that was the whole crew, but the next day seven more men were seen on the wreck. For ten days and nights these men would be seen lashed in the rigging, making frantic signals for help, while tremendous seas broke over the ship's hull. The cold was bitter and one by one the men perished and the bodies washed ashore. Yesterday morning was the first time no sign of life was seen aboard.

The gales continue and rescuers are not able to reach the vessel. There is no life-saving station near here and a staunch lifeboat hasn't been obtained. The bodies which were washed ashore were frozen stiff.

One body, washed ashore last night, was that of a German student who had been sent out by his father in charge of the captain for a trip for his health. He was still alive when pulled from the surf, but the excited shoremen neglected to do anything towards resuscitation. He was of wonderful physique.

COLLISION NEAR HELL GATE.

Steamer Maine Beached on Manhattan Island With Hole In Side.

New York, Nov. 8.—The steamer Maine of the Providence Line collided with a car float near Hell Gate yesterday morning, and was so badly damaged that she was beached on Manhattan Island at 36th street.

A large hole was stove in the Maine's side above the waterline. Several freight cars on the float upset, and she broke loose from the tug. When Capt. Hasard beached his vessel she ran on a submerged rock, and she went bow high out of the water.

The Maine was floated in the afternoon.

Two Dead in a Shack.

Haileybury, Nov. 8.—The bodies of two men, Thomas G. Porter, formerly editor of The Mattawa Tribune, and Geo. White, a stonemason, have been found in a shack, where they had been lying apparently for several days. Mr. Porter, it is said, was at one time a clergyman of the Church of England.

Brother's Shot Kills Brother.

Toronto, Nov. 8.—Little Cyril Storey, aged 7, of 189 First avenue, who was shot by his brother Willie, aged 12, while at play, died yesterday in the General Hospital. The accident took place on Sunday, Oct. 21. Willie found a 22-calibre rifle in the house and not knowing it was loaded snapped it at his brother. The bullet went into the head.

Mistaken For Deer.

St. John, N. B., Nov. 8.—While walking through the woods some miles from this town, James Billings was shot and badly wounded by Garfield Biggar, a hunter. Biggar mistook Billings for a deer. The bullet passed through his shoulder, tearing it to pieces, and lacerating the man's side. He was taken to Woodstock Hospital.

Thrown From Buggy; Killed.

Winchester, Nov. 8.—An accident which terminated fatally happened here Tuesday evening. John Purvis of Marvelville, on his return home and before he left town, was thrown from his buggy and instantly killed. He leaves a widow and four young children.

Fruit, Vegetables, Bees.

Toronto, Nov. 8.—The annual meetings of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association, the Vegetable Growers' Association, the Ontario Bee-Keepers' Association, and the Ontario Horticultural Society are being held here in connection with the great show of their products in Massey Hall. They will remain until Friday.

National Militia Reserve.

London, Nov. 8.—Premier Deakin of Australia gave a sympathetic answer to a deputation which proposed the voluntary enlistment of 50,000 Australian citizens in a national militia reserve. Personally he did not shrink from compulsory service, but some such scheme should first be tried.

LONG MAY HE REIGN

KING EDWARD VII

To-day, November 9th, celebrates his 65th birthday. His Majesty was born at Buckingham Palace on Nov. 9th, 1841, and succeeded to the throne on Jan. 22nd, 1901. He married Princess Alexandra, of Denmark, March 10th, 1863 His Majesty is the eldest son of the late Queen Victoria and the late Prince Consort, His Royal Highness Prince Albert of Saxe-Cobourg-Gotha.

Some Changes In The Local Banking Circles

Mr. K. Eardley-Wilmot, Report Says, to be Transferred From the Local Branch — Other Changes.

Some changes are imminent in local banking circles, and it is expected that they will be announced in a few days. Mr. K. Eardley-Wilmot, has been the popular manager of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, for the last three years, is, according to reports, to be transferred, and his successor here is, also, according to reports, to be Mr. Montezambert, at present manager of the Lindsay branch.

Mr. Warren Dean, who until the absorption, was on the staff of the Ontario Bank, has gone on the staff of the Bank of Ottawa, and will become a member of the local branch's staff. It is probable, however, that he will only be retained her temporarily, but will be given an accountancy in one of the other branches of the bank.

Mr. Graham Ferguson who has been with the Bank of Ottawa, in its Hawkesbury branch, has joined the Royal Bank, and will come to Peterborough to accept a position in the local branch.

The news that Mr. Eardley-Wilmot is likely to be removed from Peterborough, will be learned with the deepest regret. During the five years that Mr. and Mrs. Eardley-Wilmot have been here they have made a great many friends, and they will be sadly missed. In musical circles Mrs. Eardley-Wilmot's services have been cheerfully given, and her removal from the city will leave a vacancy which will be hard to fill.

Cordova Mines To Be Re-opened Soon

Rumor to This Effect is Credited in Havelock — Announcement Hailed With Delight.

A Belleville despatch says:—It is expected that work will shortly be resumed in the Cordova gold mine in Belmont township, which has been idle for some years. This is one of the most extensive and richest mines in this district. It was for several years a profitable producer, but differences among those interested caused it to be closed.

Referring to this the Havelock Standard this week says: — The above despatch agrees with local rumours, which state that the manager, Mr. Lamb expects to get orders any day, to start pumping the water out of the shafts. The announcement of the re-opening of the Cordova mine would be hailed with joy by the residents of Cordova and vicinity, many of whom own houses there and have to look for work elsewhere.

Voting took place at Stratford on the bylaw to guarantee bonds of the Kemp Company for $25,000. Over 1,250 votes were polled in favour of it and only 40 against it. The necessary minimum majority was 1100.

Mico Guiseppe Had Ribs Broken

An Accident to Italian on C. P. R. To-day.

This morning Mico Guiseppe, an Italian who has been employed on the C.P.R. under Foreman Spicer, on the work train, met with a somewhat serious accident.

He was standing in the caboose when the engine was being attached to the train, and the sudden jolt accompanying the coupling threw him forward on to a box, upon which he struck his side, breaking two ribs. He was brought back to the station, and Comstock's ambulance conveyed him to St. Joseph's Hospital, where Dr. Gray, the company's physician, attended him. He is in a rather serious condition, and, in any event, will be laid up for some time.

Peterboro' Lady's Death in Auburn

Sudden Taking Off of Mrs. Charles Maguire, who Died Before Her Sister Could Reach Her.

This morning Mrs. Joseph Redmond, Aylmer street, received a telegram from Auburn, N. Y., informing her of the sudden death in that city, from pneumonia, of her sister, Mrs. Chas. Maguire. No details as to the length of her illness were furnished, one telegram received early this morning stating that she was dangerously ill. Upon receipt of this message, Mrs. Redmond made preparations to leave immediately for her sister's bedside, but in a short time another wire came announcing that she had died. Deceased was about 60 years of age, and was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Foley, and formerly lived in this county, where she resided until her marriage to her late husband, when she removed to Grafton, about nine years ago removing to Auburn, where she had since resided.

Mrs. Redmond is the only relative in the city, but Mr. T. Welch, of Otonabee, and Mr John Welch, Douro, are cousins.

The funeral will take place on Monday in Rochester, to the Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Deceased leaves one son, Frank, who is a traveller, living in Winnipeg.

Otonabee Farmer Kicked By Horse

Was Leading Him From Watering Trough When Animal Rolled.

Last night Mr. Roy Spears, a young Otonabee farmer was kicked in the breast by a horse and severely injured. He took the animal out to the watering trough, and while returning, it lay down to roll, suddenly taking with it the halter shank. Mr. Spears, in attempting to catch the horse, which is a young, active beast, was kicked just below the left shoulder with both feet. He was knocked down, but quickly recovered, and aside from some slight injuries to the muscles of the shoulder, nothing of a serious nature is expected.

Modern Man And His Dress

Mrs. T. P. O'Connor, a London Lady of Wide Renown, Discusses the Sterner Sex.

In an article on Men's Dress, Mrs Jessie O'Connor, wife of T. P. O'Connor, M.P., says that "Some men are vain enough to imagine that neither men nor women pay any attention to the clothes of a man. There never was a greater mistake than this. Surely women, who are constantly studying the cut, the lines and the fashion of their own clothes, necessarily observe the cut and the fashion of men's habiliments.

"It was rather the custom of man to associate the idea of a well-dressed man with an empty fop," she forcibly writes, "but the modern man has an eye for beauty and appropriateness of attire, combined with great coherence in other directions."

The semi-ready plan to make dress permits the wearer to see a suit as it will look when he wears it. He does it at the semi-ready Wardrobe just as it stands ready to finish up. Tailored superbly, designed in a smart and cultured style, the fabrics are the best from England's mills. The modern man knows that misfits and cheap materials are not economical, for one's success in both social and business life depends much upon tailoring. There is a semi-ready tailoring shop in nearly all the chief towns of Canada. Cressman's have all the new semi-ready styles, and the exclusive agency for Peterborough and district.

THREE FACTS

For Sick Women To Consider.

FIRST.—That almost every operation in our hospitals performed upon women becomes necessary through neglect of such symptoms as backache, irregular and painful periods, displacements of the female organs, pain in the side, burning sensation in the stomach, bearing-down pains, nervousness, dizziness and sleeplessness.

SECOND.—The medicine that holds the record for the largest number of absolute cures of female ills is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It regulates, strengthens and cures diseases of the female organism as nothing else can.

For thirty years it has been helping women to be strong, curing backache, nervousness, kidney troubles, inflammation of the female organs, weakness and displacements, regulating the periods perfectly and overcoming their pains. It has also proved itself invaluable in preparing for childbirth and the change of life.

THIRD.—The great volume of unsolicited and grateful testimonials on file at the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., many of which are from time to time published by permission, give absolute evidence of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women.—Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. From symptoms given, your trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised.—Mrs. Pinkham is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years under her direction and since her decease she has been advising sick women free of charge. Out of the vast volume of experience in treating female ills Mrs. Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help your case. Surely, any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance

THE KING.

If every one of King Edward's subjects could send him a personal note of congratulation on the occasion of the sixty-fifth anniversary of his birthday, he would be inundated with a deluge of four hundred million letters. As it is millions of the hearts of the King's subjects in every clime will expand with grateful felicitation and ardent wishes, for long life and happiness to one of the best monarchs who ever sat upon the throne of Great Britain. He reigns over the most powerful nation in the world—in material things, as well as in influences, attending the most advanced civilization; and the quality of his reign becomes his position. With all his power he is the peace-maker pre-eminent. The tremendous moral influences he represents is exercised in the interests of the highest welfare of Europe and the world. He is worthy of the loyal respect, of not only his subjects, but of all who admire greatness devoted to the promotion of goodness. Long may he reign.

CANADA FOR CANADIANS

The patriotic and public-spirited action of the former Liberal Government of Ontario in providing that no pulp woods of any kind should be sent out of the country in an unmanufactured condition, is receiving distinguished endorsation. Years after the Liberal Government took this advanced step, Sir William VanHorne gives the opinion that a great mistake is being made in permitting the exportantion of spruce and spruce pulp. He pointed out at the annual meeting of the Laurentide Paper Company that a cord of pulpwood yields to all interests in Canada, the individual, the Government and the transportation companies, only six dollars. The same cord converted into ground pulp would yield $13; if made into sulphite pulp, $21; and if made into paper, at least $36. Here we have, according to Sir William's figures, a profit of $30 per cord lost to the country, representing very largely wages to Canadian working men. That money should be kept here. The thing might easily be done. Extend the provision against the export of pulp wood to wood pulp and the thing is practically done. The United States have so recklessly depleted their pulp wood areas that they are dependent upon this country for a supply of pulp wood or pulp for paper manufacturing. If this country as a source of supply for raw material, were shut off, they would have to establish mills in Canada for the manufacture of paper, or better Canadian capital would be encouraged to enter the field. We have the whip hand in the matter of pulp wood and it is a duty we owe to our people that this country should reap the full advantage. This would not represent unneighbourly action, it would simply be legitimate business.
